REDS PLOT EXPLOSION

Americans Foil Manila Blast

Admiral Reveals Attempt to Cripple Battleships in Chinese Emergency

MANILA, May 29. (AP)—Rear-Admiral Sumner E. W. Kittelle, commandant of the Sixteenth Naval District which includes the navy yard at Cavite, near here, today confirmed reports that certain radicals proposed and discussed a plot to destroy the naval ammunition dump at Cavite.

Discussing the situation today with a representative of the Associated Press, Admiral Kittelle said he did not believe the plan would have succeeded. He told of the situation believing that the best interests of the country would be served by truthful publicity.

Naval authorities were aware some time ago, he said, that certain emissaries of the soviet government came to the Philippines from China for the purpose of spreading their doctrines among the Filipinos.

OBJECT REVEALED

The ultimate object, Rear-Admiral Kittelle said, was to weaken the sovereignty of the United States in the islands, particularly as the campaign would aid the soviet cause. Supporting his statements as to the purpose of the campaign, the speaker referred to certain documents found in the soviet Embassy at Peking.

"You would be astonished at some of these disclosures," he said.

The rear-admiral did not reveal the nature of these documents as he said he was not in a position to do so but he intimated that some of them bear an important relation to the situation in the Philippines.

Today's statement was the aftermath of a dispatch printed in the Manila Times yesterday saying that Shanghai Communists in a communication to the "Legionnaires del Trabajo," the Philippine Labor Union, had urged blowing up the ammunition dump at Cavite and that this action was favored at a meeting of the Manila lodge of the union. The whole plot was based on the erroneous belief that such action would cut off the ammunition supply of American warships in Chinese waters.

About 2600 Filipinos are employed by the Navy yard at the Cavite post in civilian capacities. It is certain that these employees were kept informed as to the doings of the Legionnaires.

Unquestionably, the authorities said today, the Radical emissaries from China visited the Legionnaires and proposed the activities against the Cavite arsenal at one meeting

OLD-TIMER WILL MARRY FIFTH TIME

Illinoisan 99 Years of Age and Spry Will Wed Woman of 70 With Raven Hair

QUINCY (Ill.) May 29. (Exclusive)—William Henry Tyler, 99 years of age, of Chicago and a member of the Illinois Soldiers' and Sailors' Home of this city, will take Mrs. Martha Jellison, 70, of this city, for his fifth wife. Tyler will be Mrs. Jellison's third husband, the other two being dead. Tyler's divorced wife (his fourth,) resides in Quincy.

Last Christmas a local newspaper ran a story of Capt. Tyler. Mrs. Jellison wrote the captain after he had been to Florida for the winter and the correspondence became more frequent and animated. Three weeks ago when Tyler returned from Florida he called on the widow and as a result of the first call and subsequent ones they will be wed Tuesday. Tyler is as spry as most men of 70, while his bride-to-be has raven black tresses. They will reside in Quincy. The captain will draw $90 a month pension.

TORNADO IN ARKANSAS KILLS CHILD

Seventeen Injured, Two Seriously, When Farming Community is Struck

PARAGOULD (Ark.) May 29. (AP)—A child was killed and seventeen persons injured, two seriously, when a tornado swept through a farming community twelve miles west of here last night, according to information reaching here today over crippled wires.

Lawrence Faulconer, 4-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Faulconer, was killed when a piece of timber struck him on the head. Misses Ethel Roe and Reba Robbs were seriously injured when their home was demolished. Miss Robbs was not expected to live. Mrs. Faulconer suffered a broken arm and leg.

The tornado struck in the Stanford and Beech Grove communities.

ONE DROWNS IN ACCIDENT

SACRAMENTO, May 29. (AP)—John Newman, 67 years of age, of Marysville, was drowned in the Yuba River below Canyon Creek dam today when the raft on which he was riding with two friends struck a rock and broke. His companions managed to get ashore.

MAN FOUND HANGED

SACRAMENTO, May 29. (AP)—Coroner Ross Wilson of Yolo county is seeking to identify a well-dressed man whose body was found hanging from a tree on the Davis-Hixon highway this morning.

HOPE SHINES FOR SOUTH

New Area to Rise From Disaster

Hoover Plans for Permanent Improvement in Condition of Sufferers

Health, Reconstruction and Better Agriculture Under Federal Direction

NEW ORLEANS, May 29. (AP)—Out of the greatest disaster in the history of the Mississippi Valley Secretary of Commerce Hoover hopes to bring new and improved conditions of life and health to the 700,000 persons made homeless by the flood. Mr. Hoover, who left today for Washington, will return next Friday to the flood area for a week's survey and then, in about six weeks, will make a final inspection of the region.

HEALTH BETTERED

Improvement of health conditions in the flood section, it is expected, will result from two phases of Mr. Hoover's relief and reconstruction plan. The 600,000 refugees who were under the care of the Red Cross received typhoid and smallpox inoculations, the greatest single precautionary movement against these most dreaded diseases of the valley ever accomplished in the region.

After the waters recede, Mr. Hoover has ordered the health authorities of Arkansas, Louisiana and Mississippi to make a thorough inspection and sanitary clean-up of the inundated lands, burying dead animals and eliminating all disease menaces.

In giving the farmers a new start in life when they return to their homes, Mr. Hoover's reconstruction scheme will encourage the diversification of crops by grants of vegetable seed for the raising of "sustenance crops." Mr. Hoover believes the rehabilitated farmers should raise their own food supplies to tide them over until their basic crops of cotton, rice and sugar cane are matured.

MAY CHANGE HABITS

The Federal agriculture experts are inclined to think this method of rehabilitation will mean that in the future more sustenance and vegetable crops will be grown in the valley and the farmers will not "tend to put all their eggs in one basket," with the one basic crop.

A huge rescue machine of boats, airplanes and thousands of men was organized by Mr. Hoover in the flood-stricken valley, approximately 1000 naval seamen, aviators, Coast Guard life savers and army engineers participating in the rescue work.

In the relief of the homeless Mr. Hoover set up eighty huge tented cities which were organized and operated by more than 5000 Red Cross volunteer workers.

MILLIONS FOR RELIEF

Mr. Hoover estimated that the Federal government, in sending its forces to aid the flood-stricken valley, spent more than $5,000,000; the railroads and other industries, including the carrying of refugees free and the turning over of the entire fleet of the Standard Oil Company for rescue work expended $3,000,000; of the Red Cross relief fund of $14,000,000, all but $100,000, the cost of overhead expense and salaries for the Red Cross organization in the area, is being devoted to actual relief and rehabilitation.

FLOOD CREEPING OVER "SUGAR BOWL" PARISHES

NEW ORLEANS, May 29. (AP)—Half of the four parishes in the immediate path of the flood waters which gradually are spreading over the fertile Louisiana "sugar bowl" had been inundated tonight in the movement of the water on the last lap of its journey to the Gulf of Mexico.

Many of the inhabitants of the four parishes still were clinging to their homes or had assembled along levees where they were being fed by Red Cross boats. Evacuation of the area was slow and many persons, even after the water had driven them from their homes, sought refuge on the dykes that they might remain near by.

SWALLOWED BY FLOOD

An aerial survey today showed that approximately 340 square miles already was under water from the break in the embankment at McCrea on the east bank of the Atchafalaya, 130 miles northwest of New Orleans. These waters and backwa-

NUNGESSER CLEW FOUND IN IRELAND

Plane Reported to Have Been Seen Sinking in Castle Shannon Bay

LONDON, May 29. —The Westminster Gazette prints a report from Tralee, County Kerry, that what might have been Nungesser's plane sank in Castle Shannon Bay, off the Kerry coast, on the 10th inst.

According to Michael Casey of Castle Shannon, a strong smell of petrol was wafted shoreward over the surf at 10 o'clock that morning. Later he noticed an object floating a mile and a half off shore and as it sank, what appeared like two airplane propellers became visible.

Capts. Nungesser and Coli started from the Le Bourget airport on the trans-Atlantic flight early on the morning of Sunday, the 8th inst. They were reported flying over Ireland, but completely disappeared since.

NEW YORK, May 29. (Exclusive)—The entire amount of money required to search Newfoundland for Nungesser and Coli, the missing French airmen who attempted to fly from Paris to New York and have not been heard from since their take-off three weeks ago, was subscribed today by Daniel Guggenheim, the philanthropist. Mr. Guggenheim gave $25,000.

The searching flight is expected to start in two or three days, depending upon the speed with which mechanics complete adjustment of the plane and attachment of pontoons for landing on inland lakes.

DE PINEDO'S SHIP IN TOW OF STEAMER

Reported Twenty-five Miles Northwest of Azores Battling Heavy Seas

ROME, May 29. (AP)—The semiofficial Stefani News Agency at 6 o'clock this evening announced that the Italian steamer Superga, towing Commander De Pinedo's seaplane Santa Maria II, has communicated that it was about twenty-five miles northwest of Fayal Island, the Azores. A strong wind was blowing and heavy seas were running at the time the message was sent.

The Superga has the crew of the seaplane aboard, but it is believed to be moving at a snail's pace to protect the plane.

While information concerning De Pinedo's flight and its unhappy ending is still lacking, persons in contact with the Ministry of Aeronautics say that the leap from Trepassey, N. F. to the Azores must be chalked up as De Pinedo's "first knockout by atmospheric elements."

It is asserted that the wind forced the flyer out of his course, and that he used up so much gasoline he found it impossible to make the Azores. He took the opportunity offered by the presence of a Portuguese sailing vessel, and came down, being taken in tow by this ship, which later was relieved by the Superga.

Many Killed as Cyclone Sweeps South Sea Isle

[Copyright, 1927, by Chicago Tribune]

TOKIO, May 29. (Exclusive)—The naval commanders at the Caroline and Marianne Islands report that a disastrous cyclone swept the South Seas Saturday. Native villages were practically annihilated in the Palaos Islands and many Japanese lost their lives. About 60 per cent of the buildings were destroyed.

Saipan was swept by the storm. Many houses were destroyed but there were no deaths. The steamer Chikusan Maru was blown ashore at the mouth of the Malacca River. The navy will dispatch relief forces immediately.

Texas Baked by Record-Breaking Blanket of Heat

DALLAS (Tex.) May 29. (AP)—A suffocating blanket of heat was laid over most of Texas yesterday from the Panhandle to as far south as San Antonio. Only the Gulf Coast cities escaped the torridity.

All May heat records in the history of government weather bureaus in the State were broken.

Fort Worth and Wichita Falls each registered 107, apparently leading the State. There were three prostrations in Dallas, the thermometer here going to 101 at 2 p.m. Even Amarillo, in the Northern Panhandle, had a maximum of 94.

Vatican Decides on Consistories for Next Month

ROME, May 29. (AP)—Pope Pius has decided to hold a secret consistory June 20, next, and a public consistory June 23, creating two new cardinals, Mgrs. Van Roey, Archbishop of Malines, Belgium, and Hlonda, Archbishop of Posen, Poland.

Next Tuesday being the Pope's seventieth birthday he has decided to celebrate it by spending the day in spiritual retreat.

PLANE FALL KILLS FOUR

Bomber Plunges to Earth in Georgia After Its Trip From San Antonio

Blazing Wreckage Prevents Attempts at Rescue of Trapped Birdmen

AUGUSTA (Ga.) May 29. (AP)—Four aviators of the United States Army squadron en route from San Antonio to Langley Field, Va., were burned to death here today when the left motor of their machine went dead, 500 feet above the flying field, and the plane fell to the ground in flames.

The dead are Second Lieutenant Dan F. Voorhees, Air Corps Service, pilot of the plane; Staff Sergeant Clifford Glenn, Fifty-ninth Service Squadron; Staff Sergeant James Read, Twentieth Bombardment Squadron, and Corp. Melvin Andrews, Fifty-ninth Service Squadron.

The plane, one of the fourteen modern bombers that had participated in the maneuvers at San Antonio, ascended 500 feet to wait for the other planes to take off when the motor went dead, throwing the plane into a nose dive. It was in flames when the machine struck the ground and comrades were unable to go to the rescue of the occupants. When they finally succeeded in extricating the bodies they had been almost incinerated.

Several thousand persons witnessed the accident. They had gathered early this morning at the flying field to witness the take-off of the bombers that had stopped here Friday on their way back to Langley Field. At the request of the city government the War Department permitted the squadron to remain here until today and the officers and men were entertained by the Augusta people.

The bodies of the four men will be held here pending word from Washington as to their home addresses.

Nine planes will hop off tomorrow, but three, including that of flight commander Capt. Charles E. Rust, will remain until the bodies are sent to their homes.

Voorhees was flying No. 3 in an air formation when his plane was seen to cut away from the others and make a complete turn to the left and head back to the field.

The plane was apparently 500 feet up when the motor stopped and 200 feet up when it nose dived. The plane struck high-tension wires fifty feet from the ground, bursting into flames before it hit, head on.

Scores rushed toward the plane, but were unable to aid the flyers, who could be seen amidst the flames. They were apparently already dead or stunned.

The bodies were identified by their service identification tags.

Six planes which had preceded Voorhees returned half an hour after the accident, having run into severe storms in South Carolina.

WAR DEPARTMENT GIVES ADDRESSES OF DEAD

WASHINGTON, May 29. (AP)—Lieut. Dan F. Voorhees, one of four aviators killed in a crash today at Augusta, Ga., was a resident of Onarga, Ill., when he entered the service, War Department records show. His mother, Mrs. Elizabeth Voorhees, lives in that city. He graduated as a flying cadet only last September at Kelly Field and had been serving under a reserve commission at Langley Field.

Reports from that field tonight said Lieut. Voorhees was married and that his widow is visiting in Indiana.

Sergt. Clifford Glenn was from Akron, O. His next of kin was given as his mother, Mrs. William Glenn, 542 Grant avenue, Akron.

TWO KILLED IN PLANE CRASH NEAR SPOKANE

SPOKANE (Wash.) May 29. (AP)—Thomas R. Rogers of Opportunity, Wash., near here, and Buell Felts, pilot-aviator, also of Opportunity, were killed this afternoon in the crash of an ariplane Felts was flying. The plane took off at Parkwater Field, Spokane, and had flown only a short time when it fell, landing in a road near the field.

Rogers and Mrs. Rogers came to Opportunity from San Antonio, Tex., a few weeks ago, and made their home in a cabin. Felts, who has been flying for eleven years, learned to navigate at Kelly Field, Texas, and it was there Rogers met him. They renewed their acquaintanceship when Rogers came to Opportunity, the town being but a short distance from the flying field.

LINDBERGH TALKS TO KING AS ONE PAL TO ANOTHER

Flyer in Own Story Pleased at Order in Belgian Reception; Talks About Coming Home

Following is the third of Capt. Lindbergh's own stories of his flight and its aftermath, written exclusively for The Los Angeles Times, in conjunction with the New York Times and associated newspapers.

BY CAPT. CHARLES A. LINDBERGH

[Copyright, 1927, in the United States, Canada, Mexico, Cuba, South America, Japan, Europe and the British Empire by the New York Times Company. All rights reserved.]

BRUSSELS, May 29. (Exclusive)—I have met my first King, and if they are all like him, believe me I am for kings. Like every other American boy, I had always thought about kings, their greatness and grandness, all that goes along with the general idea conveyed by the word majesty. That had brought me around to the conception of coldness and excessive dignity, and that means aloofness. I had figured on bowing and scraping and kneeling and backing out of the mighty presence—all that sort of thing—and going on my way as a scepter waved me "begone."

Well, I was all wrong so far as my present experience with kings go. Albert of the Belgians isn't that sort of king. He is more democratic than a lot of other people I know who are not kings. Two minutes after I had met him yesterday afternoon in the royal palace I felt much more at home than I have felt a number of times in the last week. I was relieved to find he could speak perfect English, for one of my embarrassments during the wonderful reception Paris gave me was that, unfortunately for me, I was unable to understand completely all the nice things that were said to me. My advice to all young American aviators planning to fly from New York to Paris is to learn French.

CAPT. CHARLES A. LINDBERGH

King Albert treated me as if he had known me for a long time. He took me to one side and we discussed aviation problems. Our talk confirmed what I had heard, that he knew a lot about flying. He prefers that to all other forms of travel. That being how I feel about moving around, we had a good talk. Naturally, I am not going to set down what he said to me. I regard that as properly between the King and myself.

LOOK OVER PLANES

I do feel able to say that he expressed the greatest interest in my plane. I expressed a desire to see Belgium's latest planes and today before I leave to fly to London, I am taking him out to Belgium's great air field, where I landed yesterday, to show him over the Spirit of St. Louis and to look over the best that he has in the way of flying ships. I understand we can learn something from some of Belgium's military planes.

We have kept this little party quiet because I wanted it to be informal. That's what King Albert likes, so we will have no brass bands and soldiers at our little conference.

As I said to the King last evening, I regard the arrangements at Evere yesterday as perfect. There was not the slightest disorder and never once did anyone get by those ranks of soldiers. Naturally there came into my mind the difference between that landing and my landing in Paris. Of course I am not complaining about that human monsoon I got into at Le Bourget. Those enthusiastic Frenchmen meant well, and I know they were glad to see me, but that was rough enthusiasm. I have seen the official estimate that there were 150,000 people there but as I looked I saw 1,000,000 people. That's my story and I stick to it.

Now out at Evere there were a lot of people, but there was nothing but order and dignity. I understand the King personally arranged that reception, and both the plane and myself are in much better shape this Sunday morning than we were last Sunday morning.

CAN'T SEE REPAIRS

I wish to add that the French made complete reparations for any damage caused by their expression of joy at seeing me land. The Spirit of St. Louis is now in perfect shape and it almost takes a magnifying glass to see where the repairs were made to the ship.

It certainly was a great experience to be received as I was yesterday and I take it all as a tribute to aviation and to the United States. I just happened to be the tool in the whole business. I am happy to fill that role.

I feel regretful at times to think that other fellows will take the same chance I did and accomplish just as much, but will probably not get as much credit. It seems I am taking the cream of the credit dish.

But I would feel sad indeed if folks back home got the idea that I'm cruising around over here just through a spirit of vanity. In the first place I want to go about to learn of European developments in aviation and, in the second place, I want to see Europe. I go in my ship because that's how I like to travel.

There has never entered my head any idea of doing anything but being a flying man. That's my job and it's a good enough job for me.

Having got that off my mind, I want to thank the King and royal family, the government of the country and of the city of Brussels for the wonderful reception they are giving me. They have left nothing undone in their effort to pay tribute to aviation.

THEN THEY CHEERED

Like the French, the Belgians are great for sentiment. Yesterday at the tomb of the Unknown Soldier where I went, my attention was called to a war mutile. The ceremony had been solemn up to then, as of course, was quite fitting. But when I walked over and wished that poor soldier well, which seemed to me a natural thing to do, the whole crowd broke out in cheers, which lasted until I had gotten far away from the scene.

PLANS FOR PACIFIC HOP TAKE FORM

Bay City to Map Flight on Air Secretary's Arrival; Entries Already Posted

SAN FRANCISCO, May 29. (Exclusive)—Arrival here tomorrow from Los Angeles of Porter Adams, president of the National Aeronautic Association, and F. Trubee Davison, Assistant Secretary of War in charge of aviation, is expected to crystallize into official action several tentative plans broached for a trans-Pacific airplane flight.

The visitors will be met by Supervisor Milo Kent, head of the Chamber of Commerce flight committee, and the trans-Pacific flight venture will be thoroughly discussed. By Wednesday, when a luncheon is tendered the men by various organizations interested, it is hoped that an expression will be forthcoming as to the government's attitude toward the proposed "hop." Frank Lynn, secretary of the National Aeronautic Association, already has announced that the body he represents will be willing to sanction such a flight. The initial proposal is for a nonstop flight to Honolulu, with projected legs from that point to Manila, Hongkong and Tokio.

To date word has been received of the probale entries of Eric Nelson, 'round-the-world flyer; Maj. L. G. Irving, local aviator with a war record, who expects to fly a plane purchased from a fund volunteered by fellow-workers; Capt. William Erwin of Dallas, Tex., in the Bellanca monoplane Columbia, which entered the New York-to-Paris flight, but failed to fly, and Nicholas H. Putnam, 19-year-old Santa Barbara aviator.

Former Envoy to Spain and Venezuela Dies

WOODSTOCK (Ct.) May 29. (AP)—Herbert W. Bowen, 71 years of age, former United States Minister to Venezuela and Persia, and prominent as a diplomat, died at his home here today after a long illness. He was born in Brooklyn in 1856.

Bowen became United States Consul at Barcelona, Spain, in 1890, succeeding five years later to the office of Consul-General to Spain. He was the last man to leave the consulate when the Spanish-American War began and had a narrow escape from a mob. For the next two years he was Minister to Persia, then served until 1905 as Minister to Venezuela.

He was author of several books, including "Recollections Diplomatic and Undiplomatic." In 1902 he married Mae Clegg of Galveston, Tex., whom he leaves.

DENVER, May 29. (AP)—Ernest Stenger, 62 years of age, president of the Denver Tramway Corporation, died here last night, succumbing to an attack of pneumonia after an illness of three days.

RIOT GREETS LINDBERGH

Mob at Croydon Runs Wild

Plane Damaged and Officials Trampled While Aviator Seeks to Escape

CROYDON (Eng.) May 29. (AP)—This placid old town today had one of the greatest thrills in all its centuries of existence. Capt. Charles A. Lindbergh was responsible for it. The crowd which greeted the airman at the Croydon airdrome was the largest, wildest, most enthusiastic gathering of men, women, boys and girls, and even infants, ever assembled in this country to welcome a single individual.

There is nothing in English history to equal it. A crowd estimated by the police at more than 100,000, breaking down the barriers, swarmed over the field just before an airman came to earth and almost robbed him of a landing-place.

Lindbergh reached here at 6 o'clock this evening. He circled the airdrome and volplaned down, but owing to the masses of people invading the field rose again and made another circle, while the police endeavored to press the spectators back.

PLANS SMASHED

This was a task of the utmost difficulty for a time and the utmost confusion prevailed. But finally enough ground was cleared and the Spirit of St. Louis settled to the earth. The moment the machine came to a standstill it was surrounded by wildly excited crowds that ran pell-mell over the field and stampeded the quarters roped off for the official reception committee, thereby smashing all the carefully arranged plans for greeting the airman in a dignified manner.

As he looked into the faces of the seething mass, Lindbergh called out: "For God's sake, look out for my machine."

A moment later he hopped out of the monoplane into the thick of the struggling mobs and bobbies rescued him with the greatest difficulty.

Lindbergh's machine came to a stop severan hundred yards from where stood the American Ambassador, Alanson B. Houghton, Sir Samuel Hoare, British Air Minister, and Lady Hoare, and other officials who were there to receive him.

GREAT CONFUSION

In less than a minute the crush of people was so great that the Ambassador, the Air Minister, Lady Hoare and the others were swept in different directions. Silk hats were crushed, clothes were torn, canes and umbrellas broken, women were knocked down screaming, men fought, pulled and dragged at one another, while excited bobbies darted here and there, blowing whistles and calling for reinforcements.

But it was too late—the crowd had taken charge and cast aside all thought of the reception formalities which for days had been so minutely thought of. Lindbergh himself, after it was all over, declared that his Croydon experience, was "worse—or better"—than his experience at Le Bourget. He seemed to have in mind that so far as enthusiasm and crowds were concerned, this had been the greatest demonstration yet.

Frantic efforts were made by the crowd to carry the American aviator away from the Spirit of St. Louis, but the police prevented this. Meanwhile, the crowds surrounding the monoplane grew in leaps and bounds. Those nearest surged forward, endeavoring to pat the hero on the back.

LIFT HIM IN AUTO

They fought to touch his plane; desperately they endeavored to shake his hand, but the police finally succeeded in getting Lindbergh out of the mass by lifting him into an automobile.

But even with Lindbergh in the car, the trick now confronting the bobbies was to get him out of the struggling jam. Eventually a path was forced through the crowd toward the Civil Aviation offices, policemen lying at full length on the mudgards and blowing their whistles, thrusting their way through cheering thousands.

Realizing that Lindbergh was be-

Will Rogers Remarks:

NEW YORK, May 29. [To the Editor of The Times:] Didn't I tell you Saturday that there were 600,000 people needed help and that it would take more money than they asked for? Now today Mr. Hoover says there are 700,000, and he is asking for only two million more dollars.

This whole thing has been underestimated from the start. Why not ask for some real sum? It couldn't be too high. Remember Wednesday night to send a check to the Red Cross of New Orleans. We want to break all records at that benefit.

Yours, WILL ROGERS.

P.S. That Lindbergh is certainly showing up the diplomats in knowing what to say. No diplomat wrote any of his speeches. They haven't been able to think up any that good for themselves. He hit it right yesterday with the King of the Belgians. I suppose when he meets King George tomorrow he will say, "Glad to meet you. I have heard quite a bit of your eldest son."

FLYER QUITS CONTINENT WITH HEAD IN WHIRL

BRUSSELS, May 29. (AP)—Capt. Charles Lindbergh broke contact with the old continent about 3:30 o'clock this afternoon, his head so full of impressions that he admitted he was unable for the moment to collect them.

The American trans-Atlantic flyer took off for Croyden, Eng., in the bright sunlight, the wings of his plane glistening like burnished silver. He got into the air so promptly at the hour fixed that he surprised not only the spectators, but the commercial planes ready to follow him and the Belgian military planes detailed to escort him.

PASSENGERS LEFT

Some persons who had taken passage on the regular air liners were left on earth, because the pilots, who were ordered to keep close after Lindbergh, were obliged to go up before all their passengers were ready.

Before leaving Belgium, the aviator paid a tribute to the American soldiers who sleep in the cemetery at Werenghen, near Ghent. Cutting off his motor as he flew over the field, he slipped silently down to only a few yards above the rows of white crosses and let drop a wreath of flowers, then circled the cemetery twice before going to England.

Lindbergh started his last day on the continent by keeping a secret engagement with King Albert and Queen Elizabeth at the Evere airdrome, to show them his plane. He left the American Embassy early, without revealing his destination. He met the royal couple at the airdrome and took them to the shed where the Spirit of St. Louis was housed. He had the machine brought out into the open and explained every detail of it to His Majesty, who showed the liveliest interest not only in the machine, but in the details of the flight, whcih were told minutely.

CHUMS WITH PRINCE

The Belgian Crown Prince, who became a sort of chum of Capt. Lindbergh at the American Club dinner last evening, received a visit from the aviator soon afterward. Both Prince Leopold and his wife, Astrid, expressed their high regard and earnestly invited the flyer to come again to Belgium when he could stay longer.

The heroic burgomaster of Brussels, Adolphe Max, whose name acquired world fame during the war, greeted Capt. Lindbergh in the famous City Hall, while 12,000 persons, massed in front of the building, acclaimed him.

As a background to the scene at the Hotel de Ville were the rich Gothic facades of the century-old Guild Hall and the Grande Place in particular, one of the most quaintly beautiful public squares in the world. From ancient balconies thronged with people floated many American flags, while the front of the City Hall itself was bedecked with two old glories, one on the mast beside the Belgian tricolor, the other floating from the balcony where Capt. Lindbergh took the crowd's uproarious salute, while the band played the American national anthem.

MANY CONTRASTS

The youthful flyer officially was welcomed in the reception hall of the Hotel de Ville, with its wealth of delicate lace-like wood carvings, priceless tapestries and proud banners of the trade guilds fluttering from the roof beams. From the walls doughty old craftsmen of Flanders, in doublet and hose, looked down from their panels on the young navigator from the New World.

Behind rugged old Burgomaster Max of war fame, stood grouped the "schevins," the Aldermen of Brussels, as well as members of the American colony and their children, carrying small flags, and a delegation of "Old Volunteers of the Great War."

The "Old Volunteers" comprise an association of those Belgians who, despite their 50 years and more, on August 1, 1914, rushed to join the colors to repel the invader. Lindbergh obviously was touched at the turning out of these grizzled patriots, and had a cheery smile and warm handclasp for each of them. He saluted their banner with a profound bow.

Clad in a light gray suit, soft white collar and gray tie, Lindbergh entered the hall haltingly, as if trying to take in all its medieval splendor piece by piece. Burgomaster Max, taking him by the arm, brought him to the center of the room, and when the applause died down and the chimes in near-by St. Gudule cathedral were stilled, the Burgomaster in correct, deliberate English, said:

"Dear Capt. Lindbergh, I should like to welcome you in your own language. No doubt I shall make many mistakes and my pronunciation will be far from good, but I trust you will excuse and understand me. In this City Hall, where I have had the honor to receive so many great and illustrious men I am proud to salute a real hero."

Applause interrupted the war-time Burgomaster who continued:

"The feat which you have accomplished and which immediately created around your name world-wide celebrity is not the only wonderful sporting performance showing your remarkable sangfroid and courage. It was also an act which will start a new phase in the history of the world. Precisely because this non-stop flight from New York to Paris appeared to be undertaking beyond human forces your victory is the victory of humanity.

GREAT VICTORY

"In your glory, there is glory for all men. An apparently impossible task loomed before you. You surmounted it. It is helpful and encouraging for all those who think we must never despair of human effort. You must have heard many times during these last days that in crossing the ocean with your spirit of St. Louis you have done more than all the diplomats to bring closer together the different peoples. I repeat it myself.

"When a statement is being commonly used, a burgomaster should not hesitate to express it again, as his function when he speaks is to reflect public opinion."

Capt. Lindbergh and those assembled laughed, and Burgomaster Max resumed:

"In uniting by airway your young country with the old soil of Europe you have drawn nearer together these two continents, and you have the right to claim the title of citizen of the world. The way now opens; others will follow you, as others tried in vain to precede you.

DARING AND COURAGE

"I am thus certain, as we welcome you here, to express your own sentiment in mentioning with emotion the names of Nungesser and Coli, who a few days ago, with an assurance as great as yours, started over the Atlantic, but never reached their goal."

Lindbergh bowed his head in assent and the Burgomaster concluded:

"Seeing in you the symbol of daring and courage, it is impossible for me not to admire your modesty and simplicity. Heroes always consider what they have done a simple matter. This is precisely because they are heroes.

"I salute in you, dear Capt. Lindberge, a noble son of your great nation which, at an hour when civilization was in danger, came to its help and with us conquered."

Then amid applause, Bergomaster Max in real American fashion called:

Capt. Lindbergh replied:

"Two things I looked forward to—seeing France and Belgium. This afternoon I must leave, I wish I could stay here weeks instead of hours. I shall certainly never forget your welcome.

PRAISES BELGIUM

"Less than twenty-five years ago the first flight was made in an airplane. It will not be many years before we have regular trans-Atlantic service. I congratulate Belgium on her remarkable progress in aviation. You have a wonderful airport here. Aviation will be one of the great forces of the future to bring nations together."

As he clasped the Burgomaster's hand, the latter slipped a little leather case into the hand of the aviator. It contained a gold medal inscribed in English:

"To Capt. Charles Lindbergh—the City of Brussels, May 29, 1927."

The reverse side bore an heroic winged figure.

A piano struck up, and out of the crowd stepped the baritone, Bouillez of the famous Brussels opera troupe of the Theater de La Monnaie. He sang the "Star Spangled Banner." Lindbergh stood at attention.

The song ended, he shook hands warmly and asked the singer if he would oblige with "La Brabanconne." The aviator had heard the Belgian anthem several times since his arrival and wanted to hear the words sung. M. Bouillez obliged, surpassing himself, and the heavy oak rafters of the old hall fairly rang with the stirring refrain—"The King, the law and liberty."

Then with his arm linked in that of the Burgomaster he went to the balcony, where all the leather-lunged Burghers let him know just what they thought of him.

GUNNERS PERFECT IN AERIAL ATTACK TEST

SAN FRANCISCO, May 29. (AP)—A perfect score in gunnery was achieved by Battery A, Sixty-third Coast Artillery, in the annual efficiency tests of searchlights and sound locators, conducted near Palo Alto, it was announced here today. The purpose of the test is to aid in the discovery and illumination of enemy bombing planes by defense artillery. The plane used in the test was piloted by Sergt. Thomas J. Fowler, Crissy Field Air Corps. Capt. H. L. Whittaker commanded the defense battery.

RAYON TO BE TESTED

OZONA (Tex.) May 29. (Exclusive) The merits of rayon will be investigated and the findings of this investigation will be reported to the Sheep and Goat Raisers' Association of Texas, according to a resolution passed by that body at its last meeting at Sonora. The investigation is to be conducted by Congressman C. B. Hudspeth. Its purpose is to determine the possible influence of the increasing use of rayon on the mohair industry.

ALBERT GREETS ACE'S MOTHER

King and Queen of Belgium Send Congratulations To Mrs. Lindbergh

DETROIT, May 29. (AP)—Mrs. Evangeline Lodge Lindbergh today received a cablegram from King Albert and Queen Elizabeth of Belgium, expressing congratulations to the mother of the trans-Atlantic flyer. The cablegram, sent on the occasion of Capt. Lindbergh's visit to Brussels, follows:

"Very happy to welcome in Belgium the great hero of the air. We send warmest congratulations to the mother.

"Albert, Elizabeth."

LINDBERGH HAS CHAT WITH KING

I also wish to thank the Belgian Aero Club for its warm reception last night and the American Club at Brussels for the magnificent dinner given for me. There is nothing small the way Americans over here in Europe entertain their fellow-citizens who come roaming along.

As has been told, my flight from Paris yesterday was uneventful. Leaving Le Bourge about 1 o'clock, I flew over Paris, dropped an American flag in the Place de La Concorde, and then straightened out for Brussels.

I flew low over Senlis and dropped the Stars and Stripes there and then climbed to about 6000 meters until I got near the old battle line. Here I flew low for it was the first time I had ever been near that historic region and I wanted to see it.

It was quite easy to observe where the battle zone began and stopped. I could distinguish the towns which had been all but destroyed by the new roofs. I noticed where shell fire had destroyed forests and saw new small trees growing up amid the stumps of their ancestors. I could also distinguish marks of the old trenches. These marks are still quite plain from the air, zigzagging across fields.

THE MUSTARD GAS

It seems vegetation does not grow as well where trenches were as it does near by, and this leaves distinguishing marks. I am told this is because of mustard gas which settled in the trenches.

I certainly got a vivid idea of the wonderful reconstruction job the French and Belgians have effected. They have surely made good in repairing damage and wiping out ugly marks left by the World War. They are remarkably good on the comeback, are the French and Belgians.

After leaving the battle zone, I took a height of about 2000 meters. When I got near Brussels, I speeded up the ship to get rid of hangers-on and when I neared the air field I was making 160 miles an hour.

Flags down at the far end of the field near the new hangars caused me to think that was where I should land, so that's where I went. I quickly saw my mistake after touching ground and taxied over to where the reception committee was waiting.

Then Mr. Dunn took me in hand. He has handled me well, including his failure to keep his promise to wake me up this morning at 7 o'clock. So I slept until nearly 9 o'clock. But I guess I needed it. That good rest has chased my cold away, almost, and I feel quite fit today.

One observation I would like to make about my flight from Paris. I feel a lasting gratitude for the way the press has treated me, but yesterday those photographers in airplanes went too far. They flew too close to me very often.

I cannot see well from my plane and there is danger all around by their sweeping as close as they did yesterday. I gave one fellow a lesson and a busy minute in getting out of the way.

I wanted to meet those five Belgian military planes and fly with them to Brussels. But there was no way of getting rid of those photographers except by losing them, so before I got to Brussels I left them all behind. In the future I wish other planes would be more careful.

MEET ANOTHER KING

This afternoon I am flying over Croydon and will meet another king tomorrow. I'm glad the sun is shining, for I guess that means those famous London fogs won't bother me this afternoon. The flight should not take more than two hours. I hope to spend four or five days in London.

What my plans will be after that, it is impossible for me to say. I must make a decision Monday or Tuesday. I would like to see more of Europe, but some of my friends think I ought to be back in America. I will try to do the right thing. In any event, I guess my European holiday is coming to a close some time in the not-distant future.

I don't know yet just how I shall return to America. It certainly seems undignified for my ship to put it on a boat to cross the ocean, but it looks now as if that's how the Spirit of St. Louis is going home.

It's always on my mind, so I must say again how much we, my ship and I, appreciate the way we have been treated during the last week. Nothing has been too good for us and we have enjoyed it all.

I shall never forget Paris and Brussels, and am certainly going to come back and see them again. There are lots of things over here I haven't seen and which I won't get a chance to see this trip. Some day I will cross over from America either as pilot or passenger and take my time doing a sightseeing job. That takes time to be done right. There won't be as many brass bands and silk hats, but I will enjoy it all the same.

And that leads me to say I have been reading about the great reception my friends are planning in New York. It will probably be a warm welcome. Well, I survived Le Bourget and receptions don't come any warmer than that one.

LONG BEACH WOMAN'S WILL IS CONTESTED

NASHVILLE (Tenn.) May 29. (Exclusive)—Because their grand aunt, Mrs. Elizabeth Lynch of Long Beach, Cal., bequeathed her fortune to the family cat, three of her relatives have filed suit in Probate Court at St. Louis, contesting the will. Mrs. Lynch's will called for $10,000 to be held in trust by the humane society for the establishment and maintenance of a home for homeless cats in the Los Angeles suburbs, after the demise of "Kitty Boy," as her pet cat was known.

ORTEIG RULES IN TOKIO HOP

Pacific Flight May Start From Either Los Angeles or Japan Within Year From June 1

Determination to use in the Los Angeles-to-Tokio flight for the $30,000 Sid Grauman prize the same rules and general conditions as were observed in Lindbergh's New York-to-Paris flight for the $25,000 Raymond Orteig purse was announced yesterday by Capt. Charles Harding Babb, executive secretary of the American Aeronautical Association and a member of the Chamber of Commerce committee to direct the flight.

Capt. Babb's announcement that the New York-Paris flight rules will obtain opens the competition to qualified Japanese aviators in that the trans-Pacific flight may be made either from Tokio to Los Angeles or Los Angeles to Tokio.

MUST HAVE LICENSE

The outline of the rules for the proposed flight across the Pacific permits aviators of any allied nation to compete provided they hold an F. A. I. certificate for landplane or seaplane with annual sporting license issued by a national federation affiliated with the Federation Aeronautique Internationale and are duly registered with the National Aeronautic Association.

Land or water aircraft of the heavier-than-air variety may be used and the flight may be made any time within a year from June 1, 1927. The start may be made from land or water, and if a landplane is used the point of starting must be within fifty miles of Los Angeles or Tokio. If a seaplane or flying boat is used the start may be made from Los Angeles Harbor and the landing point must be the nearest water post to Tokio.

Edward P. Warner assistant Secretary of the Navy in charge of aviation, has wired Sid Grauman as follows:

"Upon Secretary Wilbur's return to Washington will take up the matter of the trans-Pacific flight with him American interest in the Pacific areas is great and I applaud any well-directed effort to stimulate interest in the use of aircraft there.

AROUSE INTEREST

"Such overseas journeys have far-reaching possibilities in arousing interest in the practical use of airplanes and in renewing interest in the friendly understanding of other people and lands, as Capt Lindbergh's magnificent flight and the enthusiasm it aroused here and his reception in Europe as an Ambassador of good will have amply indicated."

Included in the committee now working on the conditions of the flight to Tokio are Mr. Grauman, U. C. Hines, chairman of the transportation committee of the Chamber of Commerce; H. R. Brashear, traffic expert; Capt. Charles Harding Babb, Lieut. Erik Nelson, engineer officer, world flight; Dr. Ford Carpenter, Maj. C. C. Moseley, Donald Douglas and James Wooley.

ing carried toward the office buildings, the crowd again got out of hand, and again broke down the barriers, swarmed the entrances and attempted to fight their passage into the buildings, where by this time Lindbergh had been safely landed. But not content with this, hundreds swarmed over the roofs and stairways, until the police shoved them off, fearing the roofs would collapse.

The much beloved youth immediately was pushed into the offices, and the door was closed with a bang, locked and bolted. Then a search for the reception committee began.

In the course of time the American Ambassador, Mr. Houghton, the counsellor of the Embassy; Frederick Sterling, the British Air Minister, and Lady Hoare, together with other distinguished people, with the aid of the police and much difficulty, succeeded in reaching the building where the reception formalities were carried out.

Sir Sefton Brancker, Director of Aviation, who was looking after Lindbergh's plane, never got to see the airman at all. With the assistance of the police he managed to get the machine to a place of safety after a window had been broken and the plane itself considerably damaged.

While behind closed doors the members of the official reception committee greeted the aviator, the crowd outside began to lose patience and started calls for the American to come out so that he could be seen. Commander Perrin, secretary of the Royal Aero Club, through a megaphone shouted to the crowd to disperse, but this only brought laughter.

CALL FOR FLYER

Commander Perrin shouted again: "I want to appeal to you to be sportsmen. Capt. Lindbergh has had a long flight; he is tired. We can't even induce him to have a cup of tea. He is immensely pleased with the wonderful reception, but he doesn't care to venture forth when there is danger that he might be mobbed."

Shouts came from the crowd: "Bring him out. We wouldn't mob him. We want to see Lindbergh. Where is Lindy? Lindy is a daring sport—please bring him out; we promise to behave."

The commander called again: "Do you promise to behave?"

The crowd shouted in chorus: "Yes," and Perrin said he would see what he could do.

A few minutes after the commander disappeared, Lindbergh came out of the building and mounted a ladder to the observation tower. The moment he appeared on the balcony the cheering began, and there was much waving of American and British flags.

Boys and men, too, climbed flag poles and scrambled onto the roofs of adjacent buildings, all eager to glimpse the hero. Numerous girls and women fluttered autograph books and screamed for his autograph. But the airman laughingly waved them aside, remarking that this was another of his busy days. When the cheering abated, the crowd began to sing: "For He's a Jolly Good Fellow."

Commander Perrin again appealed for silence, and handed Lindy a megaphone. Lindy raised it to his lips, and then, as if at a loss for words, lowered it without saying anything, and smiled his famous boyish smile.

With this there were rousing cheers and cries of "speech," and finally through the megaphone the young western youth in a high-pitched voice said: "I just want to tell you people here this afternoon that this is worse than Le Bourget—or should I say better?"—and then the airman smiled and chuckled, and tried to look around and see where he might escape.

Shortly he made an attempt to descend from the tower, but the crowd surged around the foot of the ladder to such an extent that he was forced to remain on the balcony. Meanwhile the police desperately endeavored to get Ambassador Houghton's car to the buildings, but it was slow work, requiring nearly half an hour, and in the struggle one of the windows of the car was broken. Eventually Lindbergh through the megaphone said he had a request from Ambassador Houghton to make, and the crowd listened. He said: "The Ambassador wants me to ask you to please clear a way for his car—he asked me and I am telling you—so we can get out."

This request was followed by another compelling smile, and the crowd slowly divided so that the car could get through.

Lindy then descended and as the car was brought up he and Ambassador Houghton, Sir Samuel and Lady Hoare entered and drove away amid cheers. It was a thirteen-mile drive to London, and along the highways and streets there were cheering thousands who recognized the airman by his flying clothes which he still wore.

The Spirit of St. Louis first was spotted to the north about 5:35 p.m. together with six accompanying planes, most of which came from Brussels. Lindbergh had come to North Foreland and followed the Thames to London. As soon as they came into view the cheering began, and as he circled the field the crowds became unmanageable and broke all bounds. After a triple circle, Lindy came down, taking his chances, and when he climbed out of the machine he was smiling broadly. For a time the smile disappeared, in the dread that his plane might be damaged. 5But the bobbies assured him that it would have a good bed for the night.

HOP-OFF TO 'BLIND SPOT' IMMINENT

Wilkins, Graham Groom Plane for Flight From Point Barrow to Unknown

BY CAPT. HUBERT WILKINS

[Copyright, 1927, by North American Newspaper Alliance.]

POINT BARROW (Alaska) May 29 (Exclusive)—After a perfect trip over the Endicott Mountains Alger Graham and I arrived here yesterday morning and are now grooming our plane for another hop into the Arctic blind spot.

Only after repeated trials against cross-winds and heavy dust were we able to get our Stinson off the field at Fairbanks, but once in the air we made good time to Anaktuvuk Pass, through which we put our ship on the course to Point Barrow. The clear weather continued until we reached the coast, where we encountered clouds. The ground visibility was good, however, and we landed without incident.

We are installing radio equipment and instruments from the Alaskan, which we are unable to fly from Fairbanks because of propeller trouble. We could not wait to get the proper propeller for the big monoplane so took the smaller Stinson instead.

Just what our course will be after taking off from Point Barrow depends on the discoveries we make in the unexplored area northwest of here. If there is land in this area we will find it. We will gather meteorological and othe scientific data. Ducks and geese fly off into this region from Point Barrow every spring. That is why many old-timers believe land lies in that direction. We will encounter fog in all probability. No man has been where we are going. our flight may bring us out at Grantland or Greenland. Or it may mean an all-summer trek back across the ice field for Alger Graham and me. Whatever we are to encounter, we will learn soon, for we will take off as soon as our plane is serviced and tuned.

of the organization. Rear-Admiral Kittelle notified all members of the organization at that time that they either must quit the Legionnaires or their employment at Cavite. They all quit the union and gave a personal pledge of loyalty to the American government.

The employees were told at the time that no opposition to the American government or the Governor-General of the islands would be tolerated and Filipino politicians would not be allowed to dictate to the men.

"If you boys desire to follow some Filipino leader, why not follow Gen. Aguinaldo? (The leader of the Philippine forces in opposition to American troops in 1898.) He's a good Filipino and an excellent citizen, loyal to the American flag," said Gen. Kittelle.

Shortly after this word was sent to the navy yard that Gen. Aguinaldo would be kidnaped if any Filipino was discharged from the navy yard. This situation did not change the attitude of the navy-yard authorities. Aguinaldo was not kidnaped and is still safe.

In conclusion Rear-Admiral Kittelle said that radicals in the Philippines are being watched closely and there is no chance of destroying the Cavite arsenal or other government property because the location of much of the munitions is secret and because the government is prepared to meet and deal with any attempts to do violence.

"I want to say that these Filipinos working for the government are most loyal. They are kindly and industrious," said the rear-admiral. "There is little chance that any one of their number would attempt a disloyal act."

All atttempts to obtain statements from the officers or members of the Legionnaires were futile, the members either declining to talk or saying they were no longer connected with the organization. However, it was learned that vast numbers of Chinese Nationalists are listed as members.

ters pushed up by the Atchafalaya into the many bayous and smaller streams emptying into that river had inundated 75 per cent of Pointe Coupee parish, 30 per cent of West Baton Rouge parish, 75 per cent of Iberville parish and 50 per cent of Assumption parish.

Backwaters from Bayou Grosse Tete had spread to within three miles of Plaquemine, on the west bank of the Mississippi, while water from the McCrea crevasse was approaching New Rhoads, also on the Mississippi side of Pointe Coupee parish.

Several hundred refugees were assembled along the levees in the neighborhood of Torras, Krotz Springs and Melville, relying upon boats sent by the Red Cross for sustenance. A boat loaded with food and supplies left Baton Rouge today with sufficient rations for 2000 persons for ten days.

PLAN MAIL DELIVERY

At the same time a conference was being held in Baton Rouge between Flood Relief Dictator Parker and postoffice authorities to work out plans for mail delivery to persons in the affected area of the "Sugar Bowl." Irving W. Glover, second assistant Postmaster-General representing the division governing transportation of mails; E. A. Mallory, chief clerk of the Railway Mail Service, Chicago division, and S. Y. Watson, Baton Rouge postmaster, planned to press boats into service wherever necessary to insure mail delivery to flood victims.

With two sections in the upper East Atchafalaya Basin preparing to wage fights against the high water in the effort to hold it out of their fertile farm lands and homes, towns bordering the coast along the Western Atchafalaya Basin were preparing for record-breaking high water.

Seven thousand persons in the heart of the Sugar Bowl section at Grosse Tete were relying upon an old levee along Bayou Grosse Tete to hold out the water moving upon them from the McCrea break, while backwater crept steadily upon them from the rear.

At Torras, backwaters gradually were welling toward the top of a levee which had been thrown up around the town and engineers feared that the embankment might break under the pressure.

More than 4000 persons had deserted New Iberia, more than 100 miles to the southwest, on the opposite side of the Atchafalaya, as waters from Bayou Teche spread over the town to meet those from Spanish Lake.

INHABITANTS STICK

Almost half of the inhabitants of the town were remaining there, however, many of them living in the hotels and others in the upper stories of their homes.

Boats were the ordinary means of transportation through the streets. While water had submerged virtually the whole town, one spot on the main street directly in front of the Telephone Building still was dry. Back of the building the water was seven feet deep.

Telephone operators and others who continued their usual duties had been equipped with rubber boots and plans have been made to provide them with food should the water continue to rise.

QUOTA [illegible]
NEARING COMPLETION

"Los Angeles will reach its voluntary quota of $350,000 for the relief of Mississippi flood sufferers before the end of the week if the citizenry will carry on with donations as generously as it has during other weeks of the campaign," Chairman D. C. MacWatters of the local Red Cross predicted yesterday.

A total of $327,575.75 was acknowledged Saturday afternoon by the Red Cross and combined contributions turned into the Red Cross and The Times funds over the holidays are expected to bring this amount to approximately $335,000. The Times fund at 3 p.m. Saturday totaled $161,592.41.

Officials of the California Valencia orange show at Anaheim yesterday expected a substantial sum to be added to the fund inasmuch as one-half of the proceeds will go toward alleviating the suffering Mississippi victims.

Numerous miscellaneous benefits are scheduled to be given this week. Today at Long Beach, an air-driven, ocean-going machine, capable of braving the roughest water and landing on the beach, will be given its first public test in conjunction with the attempt of Martha Steager to swim the channel from Catalina Island to Long Beach. The Hydro Glider, as the machine is known, will be used to bring bulletins to Long Beach of the swimmer's progress, according to Tom Wade, one of those interested in the invention. A large convoy has been chartered to accompany the swimmer, the proceeds of which will go to the Red Cross.

The Maywood Moose will stage a program at the Maywood Egyptian Theater Friday night under direction of A. T. Barlow; the Los Angeles Auctioneers' Association will give an auction sale at 951 South Broadway, June 15 at 10 a.m.; a concert will be offered at 8:15 o'clock tonight at the Richardson Music Building, 730 West Seventh street, by Mme. Annette Keyser, and local church women will hold a "White Elephant" sale June 6 to 10 at the Jonathan Club and 1042 South Grand avenue, all in behalf of the fund.

Several thousand dollars likely will be added to the fund today as a result of the appearance of George Von Elm, national amateur golf champion, and Dr. Paul M. Hunter in a thirty-six-hole exhibition against Willie Hunter and Ed Dudley at the Hollywood Country Club course.

The entire proceeds will be turned over to the Mississippi flood relief fund, according to [illegible] who is directing the [illegible]. Plans have been [illegible] for a crowd of more than [illegible] sons, and present [illegible] a complete sell-out. The [illegible] starts at 10 a.m.

KELLOGG SEEKS TO AVOID TROUBLE WITH CANADA

Aid Pledged in Note on Questions That May Arise Over New Immigration Rulings

WASHINGTON, May 29. (AP)—A note setting forth the differences between Canada and the United States over new immigration regulations affecting border crossings, and promising to submit to Congress any "difficulties inherent in the law which tend to affecet adversely the traditional friendly relations" of the two countries, has been handed to the Canadian Minister here by Secretary Kellogg.

Admitting that the new regulations "will cause some hardship" among non-Canadian-born residents who cross the border to hold positions in this country, Secretary Kellogg said he will be glad to confer with the Canadian Minister on the question at all times and that he has instructed department officials "to continue their studies on the subject with a view to clearing away, so far as can be done under existing law, all difficulties and dissatisfaction in regard to border crossings."

READY TO HELP

Should the immigration law be found to have adverse affect on the pleasant American-Canadian relations, the Secretary said, "I shall make it a point to have the matter brought to the attention of Congress when it convenes and the Secretary of Labor assures me that he will co-operate to this end."

Referring to two letters from the Canadian Minister questioning the new regulations, which would put non-Canadian-born residents under the quota of their native countries, and to conferences held recently at the State Department, the note said: "I wish to assure you at the outset of the sincere desire on the part of this government to continue the traditional freedom of mutual travel between Canada and the United States just as fully and completely as the provisions of the laws of this country relating to immigration will permit."

PERIOD INCREASED

"We are agreed, I think," the Secretary wrote, "that the main difficulty lies with the Canadian residents who are not native-born Canadians and who have acquired border-crossing privileges since the quota system became effective. It is appreciated that such persons are none the less the responsibility of your government even though our immigration law, which, unlike orders in council, may not be modified except by act of the Congress, gives them a less favorable status than persons born in Canada.

"You will doubtless recall that the Immigration Act of 1921 placed foreign-born persons who had resided in Canada one year upon an equality with natives of Canada with respect to entry into the United States; the same act as extended and modified by the act of 1922 increased the necessary period of residence to five years, while the Immigration Act of 1924 denied the nonquota privileges to Canadian residents born outside of Canada and made them chargeable to the quotas of the countries in which they were born.

SMALL NUMBER

"It is among the non-Canadian born who are quota aliens that the order will cause some hardship. The number involved is not yet accurately known and the competent authorities express the belief that it will be found to be comparatively small."

Explaining that some of the foreign-born Canadians might experience trouble in injecting themselves into the long waiting lists of expectant immigrants abroad, the note declared that consuls in the border area "have been directed to assist them in every possible way to obtain immigration visas under the provisions of the immigration law. Those who obviously cannot hope to receive immigration visas for some time to come because they are chargeable to small European quotas against which large demands now exist will be clearly informed of their status.

"The Secretary explained his willingness to request the Department of Labor to extend beyond November 30, next, the time limit for non-Canadian residents to obtain quota visas should the aliens fail to be included by that date in the quotas of their native country.

"The Labor Secretary," Mr. Kellogg said, "has already assured me that any such request will receive the most sympathetic consideration possible."

CANADA'S REPLY WILL BE SENT SOON

OTTAWA (Ont.) May 29. (AP)—Canada's reply to the note from the United States government regarding immigration difficulties along the frontier will be transmitted to Frank B. Kellogg, United States Secretary of State, within the next day or two, through the Dominion's Minister at Washington, Vincent Massey.

The note will be the subject of a conference on Monday or Tuesday between the Prime Minister and members of his Cabinet. At this meeting, it is probable that the Dominion's reply will be prepared.

Canadian officials were reluctant tonight to discuss the note from the United States until they have had sufficient time fully to consider it. Satisfaction is expressed in certain quarters, however, over the promise of the United States that British-born Canadians who cannot get a place on the quota this year will be granted an extension of time.

COWBOY-EARL HOME

Titled Wyoming Rancher Prefers Cabin to Ancestral Halls

SHERIDAN (Wyo.) May 29. (AP)—The Earl of Portsmouth, better known as Oliver Wallop, Big Horn rancher, returned today to his home on Little Goose Creek here.

Lady Portsmouth stopped off at Chicago, where she will visit for a few days. Within a few weeks the Wallops will be visited by Viscountess Lymington, wife of their son, who returned from Europe with them.

The Earl, who punched cattle in Wyoming hills thirty years ago and with his own hands laid out the beautiful ranch which now is the center of the noted Big Horn colony, said that he was glad to be back in his old home.

"It will always be home to me," he told friends who greeted him.

OFFICIALS BOTHERED BY FAMILY'S JOHNS

BRISTOL (Ct.) May 29. (Exclusive) In the family of James Calamussi of 147 Hull street, are two brothers, each of whom is named John with no middle name or mark of distinction. One is 11 years of age and the other 9. Both attend the South Side school. When the older boy was born, Mr. Calamussi named him after his own brother John. When the second boy arrived, two years later, it was Mrs. Calamussi's turn to give a name and she wished to honor her brother by naming the new arrival for him. The fact that the brother's name was also John did not deter her. The likeness seems to have caused more trouble for school officials than to the family, although it has not been ascertained how the family properly designates the difference between the two boys.

CAPITAL PLANS SIMPLE TRIBUTE

President to Make Annual Arlington Pilgrimage

Memorial Day's Services Go Out Via Radio

WASHINGTON, May 29. (AP)—The national capital tomorrow will pay its tribute to the fallen defenders of the nation. Memorial Day services, notable for their simplicity, have been arranged, and President Coolidge will make the annual pilgrimage to Arlington, where he will speak for the nation in honoring the dead.

The observance began today in the churches and cemeteries of the city and with services on board the U.S.S. Porpoise, commemorating the sacrifices of those lost at sea. Poppies were strewn over the waters of the Potomac and an address was delivered by Rice W. Means, former Senator from Colorado, who is commander-in-chief of the United Spanish War Veterans.

The thinning ranks of the G.A.R. will parade tomorrow and carry out their usual ceremony of visiting and decorating the graves of comrades. Of the thousands that made up the triumphant column which filed up Pennsylvania avenue in 1865, a little group, barely of company strength, will be mustered.

The services at Arlington, scheduled to begin at 1 o'clock, will be broadcast by radio. Maj.-Gen. John L. Clem will preside and in addition to the address of President Coolidge, former Senator Means will speak.

Among the wreaths to be laid on the tomb of the Unknown Soldier will be one by Capt. Edmund B. Willm, naval attache of the French Embassy, who will act on behalf of the French war veterans and the French colony of San Francisco.

Mexico Gas Tax May Cut Down Highway Plans

MONTEREY (Mex.) May 29. (Exclusive)—Gasoline consumption in Mexico for the six months ending February 28, 1927, totaled approximately 25,508,936 gallons upon which the Federal government colected a sales tax of 2,586,214 pesos, equvalent to approximately $1,146,553 United States money.

Since February there has been a falling off in gasoline sales but no official statement has been issued as to the quantity consumed during the last few months. It is stated, however, that the fund derived from this source is not anything like as large as the government authorities anticipated and that the highway construction program as originally outlined will have to be considerably curtailed.

Toronto Liquor Stores Will be Open This Week

WINDSOR (Ont.) May 29. (AP)—Windsor and other border cities practically have completed arrangements for the opening of the government liquor stores, which is expected to bring with it an influx of American tourists.

A dispatch from D. B. Hanna of Toronto, chairman of the Ontario liquor control board, said June 1 has been set for the opening date. Sale of permits to American tourists will begin on the date the stores are opened.

Two stores will be in operation here. Both will be open eight hours a day, with the exception of Saturday, when a half holiday will prevail.

WAR SCARE SCOUTED

Russian Threats Called Bluff

United States Prone to Look at Moscow's Frothings as Purely Vocal

English Action Expected to Place Curb on Soviet's Subversive Work

WASHINGTON, May 29. (Exclusive)—Washington takes with more than the proverbial grain of salt the gloomy predictions that come from Moscow and from extreme labor sources in England to the effect that war will result from England's severance of diplomatic relations with soviet Russia. Washington is firmly convinced that there is not going to be any war. Also it believes that Moscow's expressed fear of England inducing other countries to join in a financial and economic blockade of Russia is feigned rather than real.

What is expected is that Russia gradually but effectively will put a stop to its officers carrying on subversive propaganda through its diplomatic establishments abroad.

That "abuse of diplomatic privilege" mentioned in Sir Austen Chamberlain's note to M. Rosengolz has been characteristic of soviet Russia's diplomatic establishment in all the capitals which harbor them. England is not the only nation which has recognized the soviet that has had reason to complain that the Russian legation or embassy was the seat of revolutionary propaganda. But in the case of England the propaganda went too far and British patience snapped.

HOTBEDS OF AGITATION

Unimpeachable evidence in the hands of this government shows that wherever Russia has a commercial agency and a diplomatic establishment at a capital, the two, while maintaining separate identities nominally, actually are united and are hotbeds of revolutionary agitation. On the other hand, in the United States, where Russia has only a trade agency, being denied diplomatic representation, the trade agency actually is that and nothing more. It does not disseminate revolutionary literature, but confines itself solely to commercial activities.

Russia does propagandize in the United States. It never has ceased to do so since the soviet won to power. Its third internationale is just as intent on fomenting a revolution in the United States as it is in England or anywhere else. But all of those propagandizing activities are conducted through agencies quite apart from the Russian commercial organizations. The chief medium employed is the Workers' Party in America, formerly the Communist party, the newspaper organ of which is the Daily Worker, published in New York City. The associate editor and the business manager of the publication have been found guilty in New York of distributing indecent literature because of printing a vulgar poem, ironically titled "America," in the issue of March 12.

RED IN CHARACTER

Neither the Workers' party nor the Daily Worker professes to be anything but Communistic in character, forwarding wherever possible the principles of sovietism. Patriotic societies and those government agencies which have investigated the two maintain that the Workers' Party produces its chief results by infiltering Communistic declarations into strictly American and presumably innocent pacifist and uplift national societies. Certainly some of these societies which have been vocal recently in denouncing American foreign policy in America and elsewhere speak in almost exactly the same terms that the Workers' Party here and the Communist Party in Russia and in other parts of the world employ.

Then, too, there is a known and intimate relationship between the Workers' Party here and the Russian Legation in the City of Mexico. That Legation is an established depot for the dissemination of Communistic propaganda on the Western Hemisphere.

These are the propaganda methods employed. But apparently a studious effort has been made to keep the trade agency in the United States pure and undefiled. No investigator has been able to several years past to "get anything on" the commercial representatives of the soviet in the United States.

ISSUES REVIEW

Actually the soviet trade agency is not a unit. In Washington it consists of the Russian information bureau, housed in a handsome home in the best residential section. The bureau issues once a month the Soviet Review devoted entirely to the presentation of facts and figures bearing on the economic life of Russia. It preaches no revolution and says nothing about politics save to print an occasional speech or report by a government executive. Articles featured in the May number for example, are "Kalinin on Situation in Soviet Agriculture," "Russian and Ukrainian Co-operatives," "The Merchant Fleet of the Soviet Union," "The New Tariff" and "Social Insurance in the Soviet Union."

BREAK CALLED BRITISH SMOKE-SCREEN

LONDON, May 29. (AP)—A Reuter's dispatch from Moscow says Maxim Litvinoff, acting Foreign Secretary in the absence of M. Tchitcherin, in a note addressed to the British Charge D'Affairs, asserts that the soviet government was not surprised by the breaking off of diplomatic relations between Great Britain and Moscow.

Litvinoff charges that the rupture signifies the defeat of the Baldwin government's policy in China and is an attempt to mask that defeat by a diversion directed against the soviet government to save Sir William Joynson-Hicks, British Home Secretary, from a scandalous position.

The soviet Foreign Commissar denies all charges made by Great Britain of violating the Anglo-Russian trade pact. These charges, he asserts, were based on false information and forged documents with which the British government freely operated.

JAPAN'S PLANS DRAW PROTEST

Nationalists Object Sending Troops to Shantung

Chinese Launch Campaign Against Tokio Action

American Marines Declared Ready to Go Northward

SHANGHAI, May 29. (Exclusive)—Quo Tai Chi, Nationalist Foreign Commissioner here, today protested to Japanese Consul-General Yada against Japan's decision to send troops to Shantung Province. He recalls Japan's activities in Shantung during and after the World War, which caused nation-wide anti-Japanese boycotts. He also reminds the Japanese that the riots which resulted in several deaths on May 30, 1925, started in the Japanese cotton mills at Shanghai.

"In view of the present friendly relations between China and Japan," Quo said, "it is highly unwise that anything be done to rake up unpleasant memories and complicate the situation by sending troops to any part of China."

CAMPAIGN LAUNCHED

Chinese organizations here are launching a campaign against Japan's action. The Chinese newspaper Shun Pao says anti-Japanese boycotts are likely.

Brig.-Gen. Smedley Butler, commanding the United States Marines here, returned today from Peking. He said no decision had been made regarding the sending of marines to North China, but that a mobile force stands ready to move northward within four hours after receipt of any orders from Washington.

Reports from Hankow say that M. Borodin, Russian adviser to the radical Cantonese Nationalist faction, and other Hankow officials have left for Shanghai to settle an uprising from a clash between Nationalist farmers in Hunan Province.

RED CROSS ORGANIZES

The Chinese Red Cross under the chairmanship of Mrs. Sun Yat Sen, widow of the first President of China, is organizing at Hankow with the co-operation of American doctors, to care for the thousands of wounded Chinese soldiers who are arriving from the battle fields in Honan Province.

Lansing Hoyt, a Chicagoan, who owns American ships operating on the upper Canton River, obtained permission of American naval authorities to resume his shipping activities. French and Japanese companies are resuming their operations.

VARIED EXPLANATIONS FOR ANXIETY OF NIPPON

PEKING, May 29. (Exclusive)—Japan's anxiety regarding North China is due to a feeling that the armies confronting Gen. Chiang Kai-Shek, the Cantonese generalissimo, lack morale, although some critics assert the efforts for Marshal Chang Tso-Lin's withdrawal are due to a desire to co-operate with Great Britain for a resumption of the Yangtze trade. There is much feeling in Marshal Chang's circles on the asserted ground that Japan is flirting with the Nationalists at a moment—when the military situation is fraught with grave perils.

In an effort to aid the Shantung armies, Marshal Chang has been compelled to divert the Manchurian armies at Honan to Hsu Chow Fu, thus slacking the campaign against the radicals of Hankow and also sending large armies southward from Tien-tsin.

Foreign telegrams indicate there is some justification for Japan's apprehension and anxiety in North China, since the armies of Gen. Sun Chuan-Fang, which proceeded from the Yangtze via the canal, and now by rail, went eastward to Haichow seaport instead of proceeding westward to Hsu Chow Fu. Gen. Sun has requisitioned the American Presbyterian Mission at Haichow, while 400 or 500 junks and schooners are assembled at Haichow to transport the army to Tsing Tao.

The Japanese apprehension, with the possible dispatch of large forces to Shantung, is due to the belief that Marshal Sun Chuan Fang seeks to move upon the provincial capital, Tsinanfu, thus cutting the northern line and possibly crumpling the Manchurian armies upon Tien-tsin.

The legations are watching the situation closely, as any disaster in Shantung would open Peking and Tien-tsin to the southerners. The Shantung influx into Tien-tsin continues.

SUCCESSES REPORTED BY NORTHERN GENERALS

PEKING, May 29. (AP)—The Northern generals in Honan assert successes against the Hankow Nationalist army, but details of the fighting are not available.

The military attaches here have been conducting conferences recently regarding protection to foreigners in North China but no authoritative announcement has been made as to whether a decision has been reached. It is understood that the British government takes the position that it has been doing more than its share in the defense of Shanghai and that other powers must take the lead in the north.

It is believed here that since Japan has decided to send reinforcements to the north, Great Britain may do likewise.

CHINESE OPEN FIRE ON BRITISH YACHTS

LONDON, May 29. (AP)—A Shanghai dispatch to the Exchange Telegraph Company says that ignoring the promise of immunity given by the Chinese admirals and generals, Chinese troops opened fire with machine guns on the yacht club fleet which turned out for the races, many of them flying the British flag. Several yachts were hit but there were no casualties.

CLEANERS AND DYERS ELECT NEW LEADERS

SACRAMENTO, May 29. (AP)—E. M. McGowan of Berkeley was elected president of the Northern California Association of Dyers and Cleaners at the second day's session of the third annual convention at Hotel Senator today. Al Cohn of San Francisco was chosen vice-president; Joe Koenig, Oakland, treasurer, and Walter H. Taisen re-elected secretary. Louis Ficetti of Sacramento is the new chairman of the board of directors, with John Roberts, Eureka, and L. Zeller, Santa Rosa, also on the board. Clement Mesple of Oakland is the new sergeant-at-arms. Next year's convention will be held at Oakland on the same dates.

In the agricultural districts we have established ourselves at those points where a seasonal agricultural movement must be financed in an amount beyond the resources of local banks. We have balanced those borrowing communities so that peaks of credit demand to move one crop are offset by liquidation of crop credits at other points.

We have combined a score of one-crop territories . . . subject to all the hazards of one-crop financing. We have made them into an intensively developed agricultural territory with its financial foundation on a tremendous variety of agricultural products. In this area a major crop is moved and marketed every fortnight in the year.

We have made available the combined resources of these communities, to be used as a revolving fund around the cycle of the year, financing successive crops throughout the territory. We believe such intercommunity banking, set up on a basis of balanced territorial credits, is a distinct contribution to the evolution of financing in the Pacific-Southwest.

LIQUOR MEN ASSAILED

Presbyterians Hear Indictment Against Prohiition Law Propaganda

Los Angeles Choir Assists in Assembly Program at Bay City

SAN FRANCISCO, May 29. (Exclusive)—Liquor interests are criminal and must be annihilated, and something should be done to stop circulation of free-love motion pictures and salacious literature, the General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church was told today at popular meetings under the general heading of the Moral Welfare of the Nation and the Presbyterian Church.

Rev. Daniel Russell, pastor of Rutgers Church, New York, assailed the liquor menace which has come into being since the advent of prohibition.

"What has the personal liberty of individuals or classes to do with the matter?" he demanded. "Only one question should determine the attitude of the church on prohibition and kindred reform movements, 'is it for the common weal?' New Testament liberty is the only kind of liberty that can live.

PAINTING PURITY

"What is the use of painting purity with the delicate brush of generalities? When education has done its work, when the mass has been leavened, then let the church put its full power behind legislation that will prohibit.

"The propaganda against prohibition begins to deceive the very elect. Even ministers are wondering if its adoption were not too hasty. I ask you to remember that not 10 per cent of the alcohol is consumed today that was consumed before there were laws prohibiting its use. The prohibition law is at least as well enforced today as is the average law on our statute books.

The meeting, which drew almost a capacity attendance to the main hall of the civic auditorium, was consecrated to the memory of the late Rev. Charles Scanlon of Pittsburgh.

FAITH IN AMERICANS

On the subject "Prohibition and Our Students," Dr. Willard M. Lampe, of the Presbyterian Board of Christian Education, said there is no doubt but that the students of America are law abiding, although they may not be as intelligent or zealous in their regard for the law as they might be.

Miss Maude Aldrich, head of the Department of Temperance and Moral Welfare of the church, speaking on "Home Life and its Major Task," said:

"The American home is sick of a malady so fatal that one marriage out of seven ends in divorce. The great task of the church is to recognize the forces that are bringing about that condition. The motion pictures, with their stories of free love and divorce, and the flood of salacious literature which plays up the materialistic philosophy of life, are the worst of these.

"Motion pictures reach 20,000,000 people a day in the United States alone, and much of the objectionable literature also carries a strong emotional appeal. Moral sanitation can only come through some sort of adequate regulation, but our one great answer to all social problems lies in the happy Christian home."

Several hymns and organ numbers, and two special selections by the Wilshire Presbyterish Church choir from Los Angeles with Robert S. Sargent as soloist, completed the program.

EUROPEAN ISSUES FACED BY CHURCHMEN

SAN FRANCISCO, May 29. (Exclusive)—"Staggering from the effects of the war and the consequent economic disturbances, organized Christianity in Europe stands at the parting of the ways. One way leads to defeat, despair, bankruptcy and ruin, while the other leads to co-operation, reconstruction, progress and victory."

This summarizes a situation that will be pictured to delegates of the Presbyterian assembly at sessions in which missionary work, both foreign and home, will be discussed this week. The conditions are those encompassed in the report of the Board of Foreign Missions, and in the case in point the opinion of the board is:

"The course which will be followed will depend in large measure upon the sympathy and support which are accorded by Christians of other lands.

"The outstanding churchmen of Europe are anxious to lead the church out into new paths of service and influence. The church life of Europe is fluid, as it has not been for some time past. We are not asked simply to restore the Protestant churches of Europe to the position they occupied before the war. We are asked rather to help them to go forward and to make Christianity more vitally present in the life of individuals and nations than has ever been the case before. Aside from our own country there is no part of the world where a strong, aggressive, virile church is so urgently needed as it is on the continent of Europe."

WHAT IS BEING DONE

The report deals at length with what is being done to restore conditions to a prewar status, and says that the central bureau has adopted a budget calling for $320,000, which, it is said, if it could be made available annually for the next five years, would meet the most critical needs.

Many different nations are represented by missionaries at the assembly. Their stories and reports in many instances constitute thumbnail epics of endeavor in face of great difficulties. Warfare was encountered in the field of Syria. A French airplane over Khiyam mistook mission property in the Sidon field for another village and a bomb destroyed the roof of the church and some outbuildings. Throughout the territory, however, plans for schools and churches are going forward.

Political conditions constituted a major part of the opposition and other difficulties were encountered by missionaries in Mexico and Nicaragua. Anti-American feeling in Guatemala and anti-Protestant agitation hampered efforts in Latin-America.

BIBLE IN AFRICA

In West Africa the Bible and materia medica go hand in hand. The report mentions that an American remedy for treatment of sleeping sickness is being used to good result and that the mission is co-operating with the French government in this work.

In Siam the missionaries are conducting a crusade among the young in an effort to stamp out strong drink, opium and betel-nut chewing.

Progress is being made despite the fact that the anti-Christian sentiment strong in China has made itself felt in some parts of Siam, the report says.

In the Philippines education is advancing rapidly, according to the report, and the missionaries are striving to keep pace with this growth. Attendance at the various schools, Bible and institute, maintained by the Presbyterians, is increasing and the territory is enlarging.

In Mesopotamia the Christian religion is gaining headway and facilities for gaining education established by the missionaries are eagerly embraced, says the report.

Assembly Report Aims Blow at Sex Publications

Circulation Called Menace to Youth of Nation

Christians Urged to Offset Plans for World War

SAN FRANCISCO, May 29. (AP)—"Obscene literature" is listed for a special attack in the annual report of the Presbyterian Board of Christian Education to be presented tomorrow to the Presbyterian General Assembly. Dr. J. W. Claudy of Pittsburgh is acting director of the department of moral welfare, which prepared the report.

"The growing menace of immoral publications," says Dr. Claudy, "is hard to estimate. The influence they have upon the moral life and intellectual development of the rising generation will be determined only by the unknown future. One of the saddest commentaries on the post-war period was the lowering of the safeguards against this polluting stream of filth under the guise of literature.

"There is on file in this department a list of more than 100 such magazines. Their circulation cannot be determined. They are given over to the study of the nude, erotic dances, erotic pictures, refined obscenity, sex confessions, sex stuff. What purpose they serve except to stimulate a morbid and licentious curiosity is not clear. There cannot be any more seductive source of sex lure, coarse, lewd, and nasty suggestiveness, than is found in these magazines.

QUESTIONABLE ART

"Art is uplifting. Look into the pages of these periodicals, which use the word 'art' in their titles, and you will find that art means lewdness, and that alone. This is a source of pollution, vile, filthy and degrading, which unless stopped means the perversion and depravity of youth.

"What is the motive behind this mushroom growth of magazines? The motive is plain. It is filth turned to filthy lucre. Why, if they are art, literature, and refined humor, should they be barred from the United States mails?

"America is sound at heart. There is no question that she regards the purity and safety of her youth as of more importance than material prosperity. To arouse the nation to this which is not an imaginary menace, but vital and real, is a task and responsibility of this department.

MUST BE DESTROYED

"Every effort made by the church, the home and the school to keep childhood sweet, pure and wholesome can be discounted in a brief moment of time by the filthy and obscene prints that challenge them at news stands.

"Not only is it a Christian responsibility to keep out of the hands of young boys and girls literature of this nature, but to destroy it utterly is a challenge that cannot be ignored by the Christian church and forces of Christian education."

World-wide unrest, preparation for a new world war and unclean American influence in other lands, including vicious films must be offset by Christian missionaries, declares Dr. Charles R. Erdman of Princeton, N. J., president of the board of foreign missions, in a report to be presented to the assembly this week.

"In the conditions which affect the world work of the church," says President Erdman, "it has been a year of lights and shadows. Political, social, economic and intellectual readjustments are causing widespread unrest in various lands, and civil war is convulsing China.

WORLD NEEDS GOSPEL

"But in all and through all the missionaries have steadily pressed on, with undiminished faith and courage. Even amid the tumult and chaos in China most of our thirty-five stations have continued to be occupied. This is the time of all times when the spiritual forces in China must not be weakened.

"The human race is in commotion. A wave of excited nationalism is sweeping over the world. It brings large elements of promise and equally large elements of peril. Militarists and Communists are talking about the next war and preparing for it.

"Evil influences are intensifying the danger. Moving-picture films that are so unclean that they cannot be profitably shown in America are shipped to Asia, where they are freely exhibited. The wide-open channels of intercommunication by steamships, railways, airships and telegraphs have brought the vices as well as the virtues of Europe and America into Asia, Africa and South America.

SCIENTIFIC' KILLING

"One sometimes wonders whether the closer contacts of the Orient and the occident are further to debauch the Orient. They surely will unless they are overcome by a more vigorous propagation of Christianity.

"America and Europe have taught Asiatics to kill one another more scientifically than ever before. They have taught them the use of machine guns, airships and poison gas. Shall they not give them the uplifting and purifying word of God with its gospel of the Prince of Peace?

"Under the combined impact of forces, good and bad, that are pouring into non-Christian lands, the old civilizations are crumbling and the ethnic religions are decaying. What few moral restraints they ever had have been weakened. The whole structure of Asiatic life is tottering."

SAN ANTONIO LEADING IN RESERVE OFFICERS

SAN ANTONIO (Tex.) May 29. (Exclusive)—San Antonio leads all cities in the State in the number of new members taken into the Federal Reserve Officers' Association during the past year, according to Ralph Durkee of the association. Ninety-four members joined, making a total membership of 133, the second largest membership in the State. Houston leads with 137 members. The membership for the entire State this year is 639, compared with 353 for 1926, Durkee said. Texas holds eighth place in membership in the United States.

FAMED RESORT OPEN

YOSEMITE, May 29. (Exclusive)—New Yosemite Lodge, famous Yosemite Valley resort, opened here today for the 1927 season. The old lodge, which burned last year, has been replaced by a larger building affording better accommodations.

GENTEEL BANDITS RAID RICH

"Boy Plunger" of Wall Street, With Wife and Guest, Victim of Unusual Burglary

NEW YORK, May 29. (AP)—Two "gentleman" burglars entered the bedrooms of Jesse L. Livermore, and his wife and two guests at the Livermore home at Great Neck, Long Island, early today and disappeared with jewelry and cash of an estimated total value of $100,000. Mr. Livermore's sensational operations on Wall street have won him the sobriquet of "The Boy Plunger."

The burglars left behind them jewels valued at $65,000 to which the victims asserted they had sentimental attachments. Police were still baffled tonight at the extraordinary exploit and could not account for it, save by attributing it to amateurs.

GIVE BACK WATCH

The Livermores' guests were Harry Aronsohn, New York silk manufacturer, and Mrs. Aronsohn. They had returned from town with the Livermores at 2 o'clock this morning.

The Aronsohns were awakened shortly after 4 o'clock by a noise at the window, which was followed by the entrance of two well-dressed young men with drawn pistols.

"Now, hush, please," said a gentle voice. One of them took $60 in bills from the dresser, then walked to the bed and ordered Mrs. Aronsohn to remove a $17,000 sapphire-and-diamond ring. She obeyed, and Mr. Aronsohn was ordered to hand over his $1000 platinum watch.

When Mrs. Aronsohn moaned that it was "such a lovely watch," the burglar said, "Oh, don't cry," and tossed it back on the pillow.

The two intruders then locked the Aronsohns' door and departed through the window.

A few minutes later they appeared in the Livermores' room and went through the same procedure. They kept a $17,500 ring, a $1000 watch and $200 in cash.

SAFE SEARCHED

On the dresser one of the burglars found an $80,000 string of sapphires.

"Oh, I wish you wouldn't take that," protested Mrs. Livermore, explaining that it was "the dearest thing" her husband ever gave her.

This, however, the robbers refused to give up, but returned instead rings valued at about $60,000.

A small safe in the room next attracted their attention. While one sat on the bed attempting to make conversation, the other went by way of the window for a large hammer. They demolished the safe, and found Mr. Livermore had been accurate in insisting that it was empty.

Calling "bye, bye," they departed through the window. An expensive automobile, which had been taken from a neighboring garage, was found three miles from the Livermore home later in the day. This police regarded as evidence of the means of their get-away.

Convict Admits Killing Eleven, in Few Years

COLUMBIA (S. C.) May 29. (AP)—Confessions that he was responsible for eleven murders, including that of Bert Donaldson, government agent, in Atlanta last summer, are causing penitentiary officials here to investigate the record of A. H. Olmstead, alias Almstead, serving a term of three and a half years for larceny of an automobile.

Olmstead, who says his real name is James Alton Brill, according to B. E. Evans, captain of the penitentiary guard, assumed full responsibility for the Donaldson murder, saying he fired the shot which killed the government agent.

Saying that he was employed by a Cincinnati gang to kill Donaldson, Olmstead gave a story that agreed generally with published accounts of the murder, Capt. Evans said.

Olmstead, who is about 30 years of age, said he had killed ten other persons since 1919. His first murder, he said, was that of his wife who, he said, was unfaithful. Other deaths for which he assumed responsibility were those of policemen and others who interfered with him in liquor and narcotic running.

TWO-YEAR DEBT PAID WITH POSTAGE STAMPS

HARRODSBURG (Ky.) May 29. (Exclusive)—Twenty-five cents' worth of postage stamps were received by Charles Chatham, proprietor of a hotel here the other day in payment of a 25-cent debt two years due. The postage was sent by Charles Meharry of Attica, Ind., to whom the hotel had sent a package containing Mr. Meharry's coat he had left by mistake at the hostelry. Mr. Meharry in the letter explaining the postage stamps, said he misplaced the tag and forgot about the matter until the other day when the tag turned up.

AVALON CHOSEN BY BUILDING LOAN MEN

SAN FRANCISCO, May 29. (Exclusive)—Avalon, Catalina Island, was chosen for the 1928 convention of the Building and Loan League, which concluded its annual meeting here last night. Officers chosen for the ensuing year are Charles H. Tucker of Long Beach, president; Edward M. Einstein of Fresno, first vice-president; J. M. Abbott of Santa Barbara, second vice-president; Harry S. Wagner of Sacramento, third vice-president; C. R. Wade of Los Angeles, P. A. Oliver of San Mateo and H. C. Jones of San Jose, executive committee.

LOCAL MAN SUSPECTED IN KILLING

San Fernando Rancher Implicated by Woman in Slaying of Rival

SAN JOSE, May 29. (AP)—Joseph C. Jean, 37 years of age, chicken rancher of the San Fernando Valley, near Los Angeles, was arrested today at King City for questioning in connection with the murder shortly before midnight last night, of Albert Roy Miller, 43, well-known rancher of Campbell, near here.

Sada Miller, who less than two weeks ago married Miller at Redwood City, in a statement given local officers, charged Jean, with whom she admitted she had lived for several years before marrying Miller, with firing the two shots which killed her husband.

She said he was angered when she told him of her plans to marry Miller, and refused to arrange an adjustment of property they held jointly in Los Angeles. As they were about to retire last night, she said, Jean came to their home. They argued for some time about a financial adjustment, she said, with her husband present. Jean started for the door as though to leave, she said, then suddenly whipped out a revolver and fired twice at Miller, who was seated in a chair. He was killed almost instantly.

Mrs. Miller said she pleaded with Jean to let her summon a doctor. This he refused to do, she said, and threatened to kill her. She seized a flashlight, she said, and tried to strike him with it. They grappled and he fled.

She then seized her husband's revolver, which she said she told him to put in the pocket of his bathrobe before admitting Jean, and fired several shots at his automobile as it sped away. She then aroused neighbors, who summoned a physician and the officers.

Mrs. Miller is being held in the County Jail here for questioning.

Radio Chairman Denies Rumor of Ether Blue Law

WASHINGTON, May 29. (Exclusive)—The Federal Radio Commission is not considering any plan to limit Sunday broadcasting to sermons and church services, according to W. H. G. Bullard, chairman of the commission, in a letter to Linn A. E. Gale, secretary-treasurer of the Association Opposed to Blue Laws, which has headquarters in Washington.

The Lord's Day Alliance, which has unsuccessfully attempted to obtain the passage of a Sunday blue-law code for the District of Columbia, to be used as a model for other States, is organizing, it is reported, to urge a ban on all Sunday broadcasting except that of a religious nature.

"As far as I am aware," Chairman Bullard wrote to Mr. Gale, "the Federal Radio Commission has not been asked to issue an order confining Sunday broadcasting to sermons and other church services, and if it has, the commission would probably not take any action on it."

Celebration on New Road Held at Paso Robles

PASO ROBLES, May 29. (AP)—Paso Robles last night celebrated the opening of a newly paved ten-mile section of the cross-country highway connecting the coast highway with the San Joaquin highway. The newly opened segment extends from the bridge over the Estrella River easterly to Shandon.

The road is lighted with 400 hundred-candlepower lights spaced 400 yards apart.

Suitor Shoots Actress Over Spurned Love

DANVILLE (Ill.) May 29. (AP)—May McGhie, 21 years of age, whose stage name is Mae La Vern, was shot and probably fatally wounded last night, police said, by Clarence Leo Tighe, 24, former student at Drake University, whose home is in Des Moines, Iowa.

Tighe called the girl from the theater and after talking to her a few moments drew a pistol and shot her.

When questioned, Tighe is said to have told police that the wounded girl had spent his money and then jilted him.

POLA DREAMS OF BABY AND BOOK

Maybe Two—Youngsters—States Newlywed Beauty; Short Skirt for Beautiful Legs, She Says; Wears Twill Suit Near to Ankles

NEW YORK, May 29. (Exclusive) Just a real good book and a baby. Perhaps even two babies.

You may not recognize Pola Negri in this picture, but these will be her interests two years hence, the film star said today at the Hotel Ambassador.

The babies first appeared in her conversation Friday when she returned from abroad with her new husband, Prince Serge M'Divani, and announced that in two years he would retire from the screen to the nursery. The interest in books cropped up today. But if Pola has a book, it was not in evidence today.

Clad in a black twill suit, the skirt of which reached halfway down to her ankles, Pola prattled about her chateau near Paris, her husband, who is "so sweet," and the beauties of long skirts.

"Only women with exquisitely beautiful legs can wear the skirts short," she declared. Sophisticated men, she said, among them her husband, prefer their women modestly garbed. Pola is even letting her hair grow, through an excess of modesty.

Then she got on to the topics of her hitherto unrevealed love for books and her desire to be "an old-fashioned woman, devoting all her time to my children." She will not even trust nursemaids.

"My husband is so sweet. I love him very much. We are very happy. But he cannot be an actor because the movies make men so selfish."

OLD IDEA ABOUT HELL ASSAILED

Congregationalists Listen to New Interpretation

Universalist Merger Held to Be Brought Closer

Question Will Come Before Omaha Session Today

BY REV. W. B. NORTON

OMAHA, May 29. (Exclusive)—The orthodox hell was described today as an intolerable doctrine no longer believed by liberals in theology. The sermon was by Dr. Albert W. Palmer, pastor of the First Congregational Church, Oak Park, Ill. It was the National Council sermon and was delivered before an audience estimated at 2000.

Dr. Palmer also gave the liberal view of the Bible and the church, and declared it not only is the privilege of Christians to believe the new interpretations, but to proclaim them with vigor, to shout them out and not be apologetic as though they were teaching heresy.

Probably the livest question that will come before the council tomorrow will be a closer approach to the Universalist Church, if not an actual merger, and the opinion freely was expressed that Dr. Palmer's outspoken pronouncements in favor of a liberal theology and his complete repudiation of the centuries-old teachings concerning eternal punishment may be taken as an indication of what is likely to happen.

DIFFERENT VIEWS

One of the ministers best situated by his position to know the mind of the church stated that judging by the action of the various congregational and Universalist churches in the East the report of the commission on the proposed merger would have clear sailing. Others said opposition would be developed.

Dr. Palmer's subject was "The Christian Epoch." After describing the epoch of pagan mythology he said: "For modern-minded men and women the old mythology of Greece and Rome is absolutely dead." He then described orthodoxy as the second epoch and declared: "But this noble Christian epoch, compact and comprehensible as it was, is passing away, and that is part of the spiritual travail of our age."

NEW ETHICS

Concerning the new epoch of which liberal theology is the exponent Dr. Palmer said in part:

"Science has revealed to us an utterly different universe from the one held for centuries. It is vastly larger, for now we know that it is seventy-six light years, with light traveling at 6000 miles a second to the pole star and the nebulae are 100,000 light years away. Life goes back of our bibles.

"A new ethics has arisen. Punishment, which is other than remedial and reformatory, is intolerable and incompatible with modern social conscience. The old Christian epoch therefore is passing away. In many quarters it is completely gone.

"In its place has come the new epoch which accepts the universe as revealed by science, ancient, vast, evolving. If man ever fell, he fell uphill.

"Religion is not dead. Crucified by dogmatists and buried in the tomb of tradition, it has arisen and appeared unto friends and lovers."

Mrs. Ormiston After Divorce Has No Ill Will

SAN FRANCISCO, May 29. (Exclusive)—Happy in the possession of an interlocutory divorce decree, avowedly bearing no ill will toward anyone and firm in the conviction that she will never be reconciled to her husband, Mrs. Kenneth G. Ormiston, wife of the much-publicized "radio man" during the troubles of Aimee Semple McPherson, is visiting with friends in Burlingame, awaiting an Australia-bound ship next Thursday. She is on her way home to Sydney after a trip of several thousand miles for the sole purpose of obtaining a divorce. The decree, uncontested, was granted to her February 14, last, in Los Angeles.

"I had hoped that Capt. Lindbergh had crowded all mere mortals from the news columns," she laughed when found at the home of Burlingame friends. She talked freely, but not about the troubles of her husband. However, "there is no chance of a reconciliation," she said.

Fatal End of Student's Party Brings Arrests

CHICAGO, May 29. (Exclusive)—Death of one youth and the serious illness of another brought to a tragic end early Sunday a week-end gin party given by a University of Chicago student with poison liquor bought from a drug store within two blocks of the university.

The dead boy was John Harper, 21 years of age, a clerk, who lived with his mother. Daniel Baldwin, also a clerk, is dangerously ill in the Chicago Hospital. He drank from the same bottle. His illness was diagnosed as wood-alcohol poisoning.

Lloyd McGain, 20, first-year prelegal student at the university, who bought the liquor, and Mathew Raftree, 18, student and clerk in Matt McAnany's Drexel pharmacy, who sold the liquor, are under arrest, with others in the party.

JUDGE RAPS YOUTHS WHO TOTE FLASKS

PORTLAND (Me.) May 29. (Exclusive)—"Our high-school boys and girls are going to hell," remarked Judge Max L. Pinansky of the Portland Municipal Court in a denunciation of youths who tote flasks, patronize dance halls, and sometimes offer drinks to young girls. "I cannot understand the philosophy of our young folks, especially the girls who will not dance with a boy unless he is carrying a flask," he added. At the conclusion of his lecture he imposed on George Hebert and James U. York, both of Westbrook, charged with transporting an alcoholic beverage without a Federal permit, fines of $100 each and two months in jail. They were arrested at a dance hall at Steep Falls, after they were alleged to have been seen by a deputy sheriff going to a car which was found to contain a jar of cider.

DEAN OF BAG PILOTS MAY QUIT GAME

Honneywell Says He Will Retire if Balloon Does Not Place in National Race

AKRON (O.) May 29. (AP)—When the 1927 national elimination balloon race which starts from Akron tomorrow is over Capt. Harry E. Honneywell of St. Louis, dean of race-bag pilots, will know whether he is to fly in the next international event or whether he will quit racing for good.

"It will be one or the other," the 55-year-old pilot said today as he looked forward to "another ascension" Monday.

First, second and third winners in the national contest will be eligible to compete in the international race next September at Denver. Capt. Honneywell said that if he does not place he plans to retire from racing with the close of the summer tour.

Flying in an international race would be nothing new to Capt. Honneywell. He has taken part in eight since 1910. When he soars away from the Cleveland-Akron speedway Monday he will be making his 564th ascension.

The fifteen army, navy and civilian entries in the Memorial Day race were given starting positions today when the pilots drew their numbers from a lottery.

The schedule calls for the departure of the bags at five-minute intervals, the first to take the air at 4:45 p.m., eastern standard time.

Worker Hit by 33,000 Volts in Texas Survives

HOUSTON (Tex.) May 29. (Exclusive)—Artificial respiration may have been the means of saving the life of an electrical worker, who Friday took the full charge of 33,000 volts through his body at the plant of the Houston Lighting and Power Company, at Deepwater, near Houston.

J. C. Carter, 38 years of age, Texas Construction Company employee was in a hospital here Friday, severely burned and in a critical condition.

Carter was carrying a section of metal conduit over his shoulder. He walked under a 33,000-volt switch panel.

RADIO SESSION STARTS TODAY

International Congress Will Convene in Geneva

United States Keeps Alert on Various Problems

Europe Has Chief Interest in Wave-Length Issue

GENEVA, May 29. (Exclusive)—If the Babel Construction Company had given a little thought to the problem of the confusion of tongues, and had arranged things to keep everybody from talking at once, it might have gone ahead with its skyscraper.

At any rate, man's first notable adventure in getting away from the earth went wrong because of too much unregulated conversation. Pioneers in legislative radio control are determined that man's newer and even more spectacular invasion of the heavens shall not suffer a similar fate.

AMERICA INTERESTED

The second international radio law congress will convene at Geneva tomorrow, under the patronage of the Swiss, Italian and French governments. While, thus, America does not appear in the list of originators and sponsors of the congress, our government is keenly and alertly interested in the proceedings, as they undoubtedly will have an important bearing on questions which will be considered at the Washington radio congress next fall.

Participating in the Geneva conference will be international lawyers, jurists and technicians of the countries represented, who, fully realizing that technical progress inevitably is bringing all nations into closer association, will present detailed and definite recommendations, bearing on international adjudication of radio transmission. These representations will be the first order of business after the disposal of the routine of organization.

GREATEST PROBLEM

The second day of the session will be given to consideration of the [illegible]sive but tremendously important question of primary rights in air waves. Years may pass before the ultimate determination of the question of possible vested interest.

In its larger aspect, the problem involves two main considerations: (1) The allocation of air rights on the basis of equity, without confiscation or discrimination, and (2) legal adjustments which will augment and reinforce, rather than obstruct, the development of radio as an agency of tremendous human value.

The problem of international adjustments necessarily is more immediately urgent in Europe than in America, which, to a degree, accounts for the fact that nations across the sea are taking the lead in building a new legal structure in conformity with the new problems.

Foreign voices still are rare on our radio sets, but it is easy to see that the small, close-lying countries of Europe face a literal confusion of tongues, and of course inevitable competition for air lengths, unless they find a means of meeting and solving these various complexities.

FILM NETS ARMY FUND LARGE SUM

"Wings" World Premiere Viewed by Many Notables at San Antonio

SAN ANTONIO (Tex.) May 29. (Exclusive)—Shown in its world premiere in San Antonio before an assembly of world-wide prominence, "Wings," the war picture made in San Antonio by the Paramount-Famous-Lasky Corporation, netted approximately $3500 for a memorial to members of the Second Division who gave their lives in the World War.

While a complete check had not been made Friday, Capt. James Roamer, treasurer of the Fort Sam Houston branch of the Second Division association, said it is estimated the benefit performance will net between $5500 and $6000. The proposed monument will cost $150,000.

The importance of the world premiere of the picture, which was made possible through the work of the flying fields and the army posts here, was equalled by the prominence of those who witnessed it. Following is the list of some of the notables present:

Secretary of War Dwight L. Davis, Secretary of Labor James J. Davis, Assistant Secretary of War F. Trubee Davison, Gov. Dan Moody, Brig.-Gen. James E. Fetchet, Maj.-Gen. M. Patrick, of the Air Corps, and several others of army importance.

Rancher Finds Naked Stranger on Return Home

NEW HANGAR ORDERED FOR CLOVER AIR FIELD

SANTA MONICA, May 29. (Exclusive)—A new hangar, 25 by 120 feet, to be situated between the present pair of army hangars at Clover Field, has been ordered, according to Lieut. Walter Burgess, commander of the field, where hundreds of Los Angeles and Southern California Air Reserve officers receive training. The new hangar will contain a complete garage and quartermaster's storehouse, and will add a capacity of two more planes to the army facilities at the field. A new lawn and sprinkling system are being installed at the headquarters building, and a forty-foot porch, copper screened, is nearing completion.

New Concern to Help Explorers on Their Trips

NEW YORK, May 29. (AP)—The explorer, whether his wish is to seek buried treasure or to penetrate jungles where no white face ever has been seen, or to scale polar mountains, now may turn over all incidental details of his exploit to a concern formed for that purpose.

Commander Fitzhugh Green, author and explorer, today announced his resignation from the Navy "to establish a new and unheard of business for which a fair name would be Explorations, Ltd."

With a group of other explorers, he said, he will establish a unit for the guidance and general business assistance of any expedition, "ashore or afloat or aloft."

CHICAGO CLERK OF 70 YEARS CHARTS RECORD OF HIS LIFE

CHICAGO, May 29. (Exclusive)—Herman Dumont, a railway clerk, completing the biblical three-score years and ten, has charted a record of the hours of his life for the edification of his three sons and numerous grandchildren.

Sleep took up twenty-three years years. Two years and three months the septuagenarian spent in washing, shaving and dressing. His scholastic attainments required five and three-quarters years; reading newspapers, magazines, and books, seven years; of his time, Dumont estimates, while work accounted for only eighteen play, one and three-quarters years; entertainment, six months; time spent walking and on trains, two and a quarter years; idling occupied two and a half years; and seven years were given over to what he terms sundries.

"A man's time is his most valuable possession," declared Dumont. "A clock-watcher is a man to trust, not to reproach, and a clock in every room of a man's home is a more valuable piece of furnishing to him than a chair. Clocks are rightfully becoming more and more popular."

SAVES CHILD'S LIFE

WORCESTER (Mass.) May 29. (Exclusive)—Speeding to the Middlesex-avenue school in an ambulance Tuesday, Dr. Richard J. Shannahan arrived in time to save the life of Ruth Broadbent, 6 years of age of Palisades street, who was in imminent danger of choking to death with a large marble lodged in her throat.

Masquerades in Woman's Dress, Lands in Jail

JACKSONVILLE (Fla.) May 29. (Exclusive)—A wager of $100 that he could masquerade as a woman and walk the streets of Jacksonville for a period of thirty days, without being identified almost ended fatally for Louis Eno, 20 years of age, when he attempted suicide at the City Jail following his arrest on a disorderly conduct charge.

For three weeks Eno had posed as a woman, he told police, wearing a bright red hat, a plain pongee dress, suede slippers and stockings and "engagement" and "wedding" rings.

"I wanted to die because I did not want to face the ridicule and remarks of my friends when this is all over," Eno said.

MEXICO'S SOIL RICH PRODUCER

Chamber Finds Country Will Grow Any Plant

Agricultural Output Found to Be Startling

Corn Seen as Barometer of Nation's Welfare

MEXICO CITY, May 28. (Exclusive)—Almost any agricultural product that can be grown anywhere in the world can be raised in Mexico, asserts a statement of the American Chamber of Commerce of Mexico, briefly reviewing agricultural conditions in Mexico.

The range of products in the country, continues the statement, is extraordinary. Sugar, corn, Chile peppers and beans can be grown in every one of the twenty-eight States of the republic and in the Territory of Lower California, Quintana Roo and in the Federal District (Greater Mexico City.)

Corn is the staff of life of the vast majority of the Mexican people and the outlook for the crop this year, because of extensive planting and abundant rains, is better than it has been in many years. As corn is regarded as the "barometer of national prosperity"—to a greater degree than silver production and a much greater degree than petroleum —the prospects for national contentment and well-being may be regarded as excellent.

PRODUCTION FIGURES

The statement gives the following figures to convey an idea of the extraordinary diversity of agricultural production in Mexico:

Cotton is produced in nineteen States of Mexico, rice is produced in sixteen States, sesame seed, in thirteen States; peas, in sixteen States; peanuts in twenty-six States; cocoa in seven States; coffee in eighteen States; squashes in ten States; sweet potatoes, in twenty-five States; sugar cane, in thirty States; barley, in seventeen States; rye, in twenty-seven States; cocoanuts, in seven States; coquito nuts, in seven States; chile peppers, in thirty States; chile (chewing gum,) in nine States; beans, in thirty States; garbanzos (chick-peas,) in twenty-two States; guaule rubber, in five States.

Para rubber, in fifteen States; limba beans, in twenty-two States; henequen (sisal hemp,) in ten States; castor oil beans, in twelve States; ixtle (Tampico fibre,) in twenty-one States; tomatoes, in ten States; lentils, in fifteen States; flax seed, in eight States; corn, in thirty States; rape seed, in five States; potatoes, in twenty-eight States; broom root, in three States; tobacco, in twenty-two States; wheat, in twenty-three States; and vanilla, in four States.

INTENSIVE WORK NEEDED

In addition, fibres in infinite variety abound, and alfalfa, oats, oilseeds, indigo, medicinal plants, vegetable wax, kapox, are exported in small quantities. There are many products of the tropic and temperate regions in use locally, that are susceptible of extensive commercial development if market facilities are provided through the right kind of organization.

"What is needed for the intensive development of its agricultural resources," continues the statement, "is the introduction of modern methods of planting and harvesting, education of the class of small farmers now being given communal lands by the government, the use of modern labor-saving agricultural machinery, colonization of large areas of lands now practically undeveloped, by farmers from Europe and the United States, and the development of irrigation, in regions where rainfall during the dry season is uncertain.

"Mexico contains within its boundaries sugar-lands five times greater in area than the entire island of Cuba, but the production of sugar in Mexico is barely sufficient to meet the local demand."

BANANA INDUSTRY

"The banana industry, the statement points out, is being developed, but it will be some time before Mexico is a serious competitor of the West Indies or the Central American republics as an exporter of bananas. There are many varieties of this fruit grown in Mexico, especially in the States along the coast, where the climate is tropical and the Roatan variety is raised in Tabasco, Chiapas, Oaxaca and other neighboring regions. This is of excellent quality, stands shipment well, and has a good demand in the markets of the United States and Europe. Three American fruit companies have now become interested in the development of the Mexican banana and are giving a real impetus to the industry.

"Agriculture," declares the statement, "is the main basis for the development of permanent national wealth. When the oil wells of Mexico are dry and forgotten—a generations hence—agriculture will remain a permanent source of revenue, providing employment for millions."

VEGETABLE EXPORTS

H. B. Titcomb, president of the Southern Pacific Railways of Mexico, says that for the season from October, 1925 to August, 1926, the Southern Pacific handled for export to the United States 4454 carloads of fresh vegetables from the west coast, and that during next year he expected to handle 6000 carloads.

The growth of this industry is shown by the increase of the carloads during each season. Last season there were 3506 carloads, the season before, 2700; the year before, 2165; in 1921-1922, there were only 1395, and in 1920-1921, there were 1009 carloads.

Similar increases are specified in the statement as to tomatoes, cantaloupes, peas, bananas.

Montana Rivers Fed by Rimrock Rising Rapidly

HELENA (Mont.) May 29. (Exclusive)—The water on the rimrock is beginning to go out in earnest now, and while no actual floods are reported, brimful streams east and west seem to be the rule. The Missouri, north of here, has been very high for days and at Missoula, the Clark York rose so fast, this week, that it became necessary to protect several bridges.

Colder weather the middle of the week checked the melting in the Rockies and it's thought there will be no flood, on either side of the divide, of a serious nature, though not in fifty years has the snow lain so deep in the majestic range.

Curiously enough, headwaters of both the Columbia and the Missouri River lie within a narrow area and a warm day over a comparatively small terrain affects both systems.

CANADA TO DEMAND HER WAR CLAIMS

Will Send Collector to Get Settlement from Bulgaria, Austria and Hungary

OTTAWA (Ont.) May 29. (Exclusive)—Having waited until the United States has effected debt settlements with practically all the European countries which owed her, Canada is about to reach out and demand a settlement of claims she has against three European nations.

The total amount owing Canada by Austria, Hungary and Bulgaria is but $1,850,000—a drop in the bucket compared with the money owing the United States—but $1,000,000 or more is a lot of money in any country and this young nation of 9,000,000 inhabitants can use this money nicely.

Although none of these nations has expressed a willingness to discuss funding of the debt Canadian officials are not worrying about collecting, for they have a "big stick" which they will not hesitate to wield if circumstances demand.

The claim of $600,000 from Austria is concerned principally with liquidation of a big plant formerly owned there by the Massey Harris Implement Company of Toronto. When a mixed tribunal awarded a settlement to the Toronto firm the Dominion government handed over its check for the full amount. If Austria hesitates about acknowledging the claim the Canadian envoy will mention the several hundred thousand dollars worth of Austrian securities held in escrow in Canada.

Hungary and Bulgaria, as former vassals of Germany, will have to reckon with the German republic if they refuse to pay up the $750,000 and $500,000 which they owe. Balanced against this amount the Canadian government holds more than $11,000,000 worth of German property.

With the situation much to the liking of a creditor seeking settlement the unnamed envoy is not expected to experience much difficulty in collecting.

HARVESTING UNDER WAY

LAMPASAS (Tex.) May 29. (Exclusive)—Grain harvesting is in full swing throughout this county. There is an unusually large acreage. In addition to the large number of reapers being used here, there are two combines in operation in this county. The first car of this year's oats brought the grower 41 cents a bushel. Corn, cotton and all row crops are in fine condition, especially corn in this county.

According to dispatches from Fordyce an epidemic of smallpox that broke out there, at Constance and in other localities in that vicinity of Northeast Nebraska, has been checked by the vaccination of large numbers of children and other preventive methods.

Termites, the little white ants that have played havoc with Julian homes, have been working in Nebraska City, it was discovered when a board from the floor of the office of the Green Ice Cream factory showed that nothing but the shell remained. Thousands of the little insects swarmed about the room when the board was removed.

The will of the late District Judge A. L. Sutton, who died last February, leaving an estate valued at $53,000 was admitted to probate. The will leaves a third interest to the widow and creates a trust of the remainder under direction of Mrs. Sutton for their three sons, Paul, Isaac and Abraham.

KANSAS CITY

KANSAS CITY, May 29. — When William McAllister, 39 years of age, returned to his home unexpectedly he found John George Washington Gilbert, 63, a milkman, kissing his wife. McAllister tok Gilbert to the police station, where the dairyman asserted McAllister had agreed to trade his wife's kisses for a year's supply of buttermilk for his restaurant. Both were released.

Formal acceptance of Loose Park by the city was made today. All conditions of the gift from Mrs. Jacob L. Loose, were accepted by the park board. The tract, which is the east part of the old Kansas City Country Club, purchased by Mrs. Loose from the Ward estate for $500,000, now contains eighty acres. Actually the park will compose seventy-four acres.

Buried treasure to the amount of $2800 in gold has been discovered on the farm of Mrs. Florence Gay, a widow, living northeast of Jamesport. It was found by a farmhand buried in a rusty kettle. It is assumed some member of the Gay family buried it years ago. Mrs. Gay claimed the money and it was turned over to her.

Samuel C. Major, Representative in Congress from the Springfield district, announced that representatives of the War Department will go there shortly to inspect the Wilson Park battlefield with a view of establishing a national park on the site.

ST. LOUIS

ST. LOUIS, May 29. (Exclusive) Oliver Dodge today pleaded guilty at East St. Louis to embezzlement of $21,000 from the Stockyards' National Bank while employed at $115 a month as a bookkeeper there. Sentence was deferred to allow Dodge time to prepare a written statement which he desires to present to Judge Wham on his own behalf. Dodge is 22 year of age.

To obtain cheaper labor in smaller cities, the McElroy-Sloan Shoe Company has closed its two St. Louis factories, transferring its production to its factories at Fulton and Louisiana, Mo., and to the Yynchburg (Va.) plants of the Craddock-Terry Company, which owns McElroy-Sloan. The office and distributing warehouse at 1511 Washington avenue is retained.

Dr. Emmett P. North, former president of the Missouri State Board of Health, and Mrs. Carolyn Tweedle of St. Louis, formerly of Jefferson City, were married at Washington, D. C., where Dr. North is attending a meeting of the American Medical Association.

Progress is being made by Receiver L. H. Langston in the liquidation of the Texas County Bank at Houston, Mo., closed three months ago. More than $85,000 has been collected and will be paid as a dividend to the depositors, representing approximately 35 per cent. Langston is conducting the liquidation alone.

MILWAUKEE

MILWAUKEE, May 29. (Exclusive) Charged with having educated two 11-year-old girls in shoplifting, Mrs. Anna Seidler, 23, herself the mother of two children, was fined $50 and costs in District Court today. Police found an assortment of stolen wrist watches, dresses and hosiery in the home of the female "Fagin."

Negro refugees from the flooded district of the Southlands are coming to Milwaukee in considerable numbers and Milwaukee negroes are making preparations to care for them, according to the Rev. E. W. Thomas, 603 Cheery street. He added that the refugees are poor and insufficiently clothed.

LOUISVILLE

LOUISVILLE, May 29. (Exclusive) The Brown & Williamson Tobacco Corporation has acquired five acres on the south side of Hill street, between Sixteenth street and the tracks of the Kentucky and Indiana Terminal Railroad, as a site for two factories which it plans to construct soon, bringing a new industry to Louisville, it was announced here. The cost of the contemplated new factories was not divulged. The company's headquarters are in Winston-Salem, N. C.

Bids are to be opened this week and construction work on the $300,000 Charles P. Moorman Home for Indigent Women, which is to be built at Cherokee Road and Highland avenue, will start as soon as a contract is awarded, E. T. Hutchings, A. I. A., architect, announced.

Earnings on the deductions made from their tobacco for warehouse stock are payable to members of the Burley Tobacco Growers' Co-operative Association July 1, or as soon thereafter as the checks are prepared, B. P. Anderson, secretary of the association, announced at Lexington.

The amount of earnings on the stock is approximately $800,000, according to Mr. Anderson, who said that the common stock also would be issued to the members as soon as the certificates could be written.

William E. Gallagher, 48 years old, attorney, died at Newport from injuries suffered when he fell into a bathtub of scalding water on the 9th inst. Gallagher had been mentioned as a candidate for Circuit Judge in Campbell county.

AKRON

AKRON, May 29. (Exclusive)—Charles Stout, cashier, must stand trial for shortage of $148,000 in the accounts of the College Corner Bank and for the theft of $3000 in Liberty bonds from the safety deposit box of J. C. Cramer, president of the bank.

The Butler county grand jury at Hamilton indicted Stout on ten counts, charging embezzlement of deposits, and on one charging grand larceny. The bank was closed in April on orders of E. H. Blair, State banking superintendent.

The structure will be erected on West State street at Franklin at a cost of $50,000, the money to come from earnings of the light department.

Owing to the illness of W. C. Miller, investigator for the State Banking Department, the trials of bankers indicted in connection with the Yorkville bank failure, set for this week at Steubenville, were continued indefinitely by Judge J. S. Paisley on application of Prosecutor Roy Merryman. W. E. Jones, Thomas Jones, W. B. Francis, Dr. J. N. Hunter and Tom Kademenos are the defendants, charged with making false entries in bank reports to the State Department.

ST. PAUL

ST. PAUL, May 29. (Exclusive)—Highly favorable farm conditions prevail throughout the Northwest, with abundant moisture in the soil, although the frequent rains have delayed grain seeding and cool weather has hampered the growth of grains already planted, according to mid-May crop reports for Minnesota, South Dakota and North Dakota, made public by agricultural statisticians for the three States.

Lake Vermillion is two feet higher than it was any time last year and eighteen inches above normal, according to cottage owners. Docks are washed away and swamp and lower lands are flooded, a condition that has not prevailed for some time. All of the lakes are higher than ever before in the history of the northern district, fishermen declare.

The Narrows at Lake Winnibigoshish, one of the largest lakes, is now several blocks wide.

MINNEAPOLIS

MINNEAPOLIS, May 29. (Exclusive)—An engineering survey designed to lift 100 postoffice employees out of the basement and into new working quarters, where they will have better light and air, and also to provide facilities to meet the growing postal needs of Minneapolis, was started by H. C. Rawson, Treasury Department engineer from Washington. It is expected that the survey will result in the ordering of two or three additional stories on the main Postoffice Building, giving extra room, and making it possible to give the city adequate service for the next fifteen years. The new addition will cost $500,000.

George E. Buzza, president of the Buzza Company, announced the establishment of a new industry in Minneapolis, which will start with an annual pay roll of $50,000, and which will be increased until at the end of the third year it will have an annual output of more than $500,000. The new industry is the publishing of juvenile books, and will be an entirely new department of the company. The Craftacres plant of the company at Lake street and Colfax avenue, has been enlarged to accommodate the new industry.

DETROIT

DETROIT, May 29. (Exclusive)—A verdict for $75,000, the largest ever awarded in Genesee county in a suit for personal injuries, was returned by a jury in Circuit Court in favor of Arthur Palmer, Sr., at Flint. He sued the Security Trust Company of Detroit, and W. C. Dunbar, receivers for the White Star Motor Bus Company, as the result of an accident in which he was injured ten miles south of Flint, August 9, 1926. An automobile he was driving collided with one of the company's busses running from Detroit to Flint. Testimony in the case showed the brakes on the bus were faulty and the driver had been told to drive it to Flint in that condition.

A right of way has been obtained for the belt-line railroad which is to connect the Detroit, Grand Haven and Milwaukee and the Pontiac, Oxford and northern branches of the Grand Trunk Railway, north of Pontiac, it was announced there. The road will be about four miles long. Grading already has been started. The line will be completed by fall, officials say. It will cost approximately $350,000.

SAVAGES GUARD DIAMOND FIELD

Maya Natives Do Brisk Trade With Tourists

Shun Local Business Men in Sale of Stones

Prospectors Fail to Locate Desired Area

MERIDA (Mex.) May 29. (Exclusive)—Somewhere in the remote and almost inaccessible mountain region through which the upper course of the Usumacinta River flows there exists a diamond field from which the precious stones in small quantities have found their way to the towns of Yucatan and British Honduras at intervals during the last 200 years or more.

Itinerant vendors of these diamonds are found in Merida, Progreso, Campeche, Tabasco, Belize and other towns. The stones are brought down the river by Maya natives who have succeeded so far in guarding the secret of the source of their supply.

The Mayas are shrewd bargainers and they have made an unfailing practice of refusing to sell the diamonds to local business men, henequin planters or other native residents. They ply their trade exclusively with tourists and other chance visitors to Merida and the seacoast towns.

WILD COUNTRY

The annual output of these diamonds is not large, probably not more than 100 a year, it is estimated. Many prospecting expeditions have gone in search of the diamond field, but none of these ever succeeded in passing the terrific gorge of El Boca del Cerro, beyond which is an unexplored region where the diamonds are obtained.

The district is the home of the Lancadon Indians, probably the most savage and warlike tribe remaining in Mexico. Even the Mayas are denied access to certain sacred parts of the Lancadon territory, but the two tribes have always had close trade relations with one another.

The region along the upper Usumacinta River has never been explored, but by treaty agreement it forms the boundary line between Mexico and Guatemala for a distance of nearly 100 miles, and through this region the course of the river is purely conjectural.

OFFICIAL DOCUMENTS

There are well-attested records of the finding of diamonds in a remote part of the State of Guerrero during the early period of Spanish control of Mexico; also official documents in the archives of the Yucatan tell of the diamond trade of the Maya Indians as far back as 200 years ago.

Interest in the possible wealth of these precious stones if the source of supply could be discovered and properly worked by white men, was aroused recently by an unexpected fortune of the diamonds which fell into the hands of Henry Temport, an American sapote tree prospector. Temport had gone into the territory that borders the far upper reaches of the Usumacinta River in search of trees from which the chicle gum is obtained.

He made his headquarters in a little Maya village and while there he accidentally learned that the family with which he was living had a collection of several hundred diamonds. They said that the stones had come "from up the river." Temport bought the whole lot for a sum that was sufficient to make the family independent of all labor for the remainder of their lives. He came back to the coast and went to Vera Cruz, thence to Paris for the purpose of selling the diamonds. He has not returned to Mexico, so far as known here.

Oregon College Puts Local Boy on Directorate

OREGON AGRICULTURAL COLLEGE (Corvallis) May 29. (Exclusive)—Archie Field of Los Angeles, freshman in commerce, was elected one of the directors of the manager's board of the O.A.C. co-operative store at a special student-body election Friday afternoon. The co-operative store is owned and controlled entirely by the Associated Students, all profit being returned to the student members in dividends.

The co-operative has a book-store department which carries all textbooks used by students. School supplies of all kinds may be purchased here. It also has a lunch counter and soda fountain and a novelty department where college penants, memory books, etc., are carried. Over $2000 was returned to students in dividends during the last year.

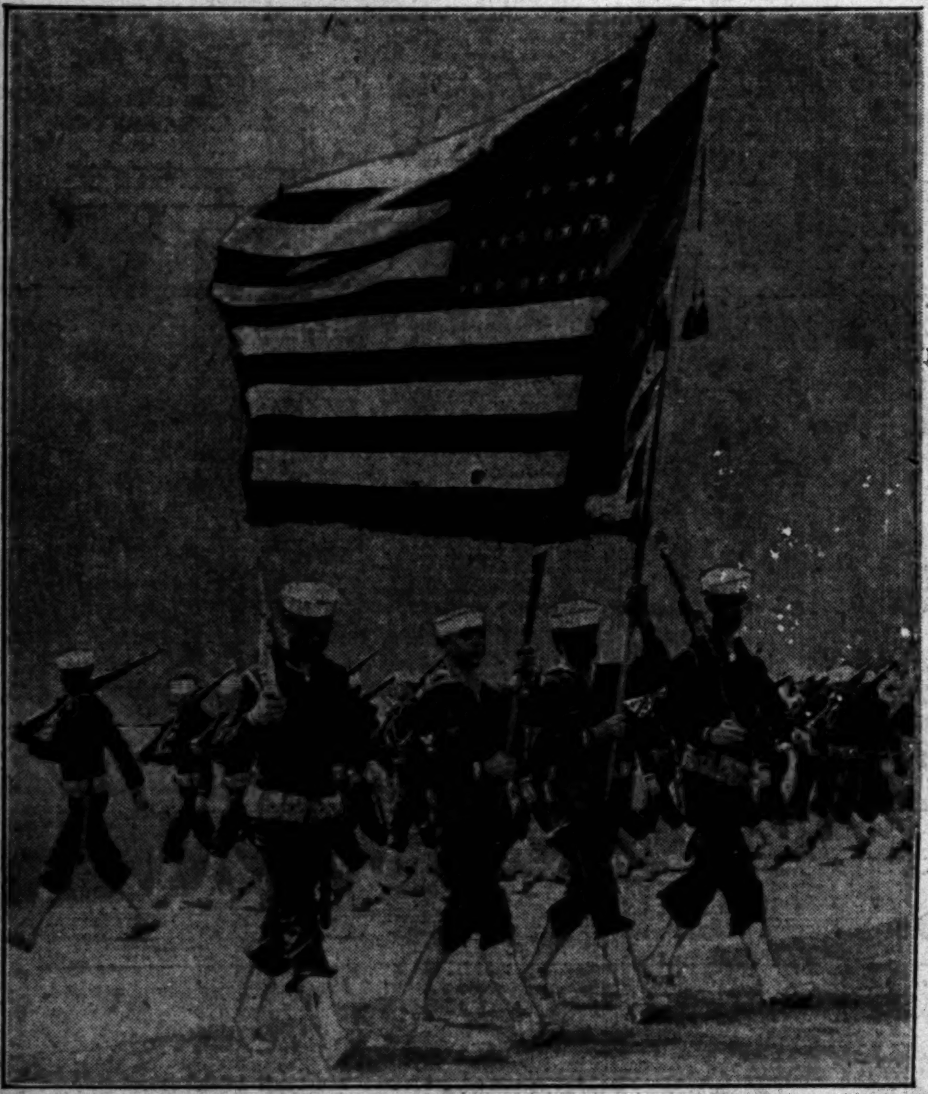
Nation Bows in Homage Today to Its Honored Soldier Dead



A Million Graves, the Final Resting Places of a Millon Heroes Who Fought and Bled in Defense of Their Country, will be the shrines today at which a mighty nation will offer floral tribute. In Los Angeles the principal Memorial Day services will be conducted at the Coliseum, Forest Lawn Cemetery, Roosevelt Memorial Park and Pershing Square. The above photos, typifying the spirit of the day, are offered as reminders. (Times Photos.)

In Practice for Royal Tournament at Olympia, London, a member of the riding team of the Fifth Lancers is shown putting his mount over a human barrier. The chap in the middle isn't enjoying the stunt as much as those on the ends. The Fifth Lancers boast some of the crack riders of the British Army. (Acme.)

DURING THE AMERICAN CIVIL WAR, A DANGEROUS SITUATION, WHICH THREATENED TO DRAW THE UNITED STATES INTO A QUARREL WITH EUROPE, AROSE IN MEXICO. SINCE DECLARING HER INDEPENDENCE, 1821, MEXICO HAD BEEN IN A CONSTANT INTERNAL TURMOIL OF REVOLUTIONS AND COUNTER-REVOLUTIONS.

IN 1860 THE CONSERVATIVE FACTION, TEMPORARILY IN POWER, WAS OVERTHROWN BY THE REPUBLICAN FEDERALIST FORCES. DON BENITO JUAREZ, AN INDIAN, BECAME CONSTITUTIONAL PRESIDENT, AND ANNOUNCED HIS INTENTION TO TRY TO CONCILIATE THE RIVAL FACTIONS AND BRING THE BLESSINGS OF PEACE AND PROSPERITY TO MEXICO.

IN THE LONG YEARS OF THE NEVER-ENDING CIVIL STRIFE, THE RIGHTS AND PROPERTY OF FOREIGNERS IN MEXICO HAD BEEN OFTEN VIOLATED, AND THE DEMANDS OF EUROPEAN POWERS FOR INDEMNITIES DISREGARDED. THE JUAREZ GOVERNMENT ALSO SUSPENDED PAYMENTS ON DEBTS OWED EUROPEAN NATIONS.

IN THE FALL OF 1861, FRANCE, ENGLAND AND SPAIN DECIDED UPON JOINT ACTION TO SECURE ADEQUATE PROTECTION TO THEIR SUBJECTS AND THEIR PROPERTY AND COLLECT THE MONEY OWED THEM. EACH OF THESE NATIONS SENT A FLEET TO MEXICAN WATERS, AND LANDED A FORCE ON THE COAST.

California Girl Held Champion of Story Test

CHICAGO (Ill.) May 29. (Exclusive)—Miss Meredith Jones, San Francisco high school girl, has won the championship of the State in the fourth national meat story contest.

Her story was selected by a committee of prominent home economics women as the best of the many submitted in the State and also placed third in the entire western district comprising twelve States.

This announcement was made by the national live-stock and meat board, sponsor of the contest. Miss Jones is a sophomore in the Polytechnic High School.

Railroad Given Free Land Strip for Roundhouse

PRESIDIO (Tex.) May 29. (Exclusive)—Another step toward the construction of an extension of the Kansas City, Mexico and Orient Railroad from Alpine, its present southern terminus in the United States, to Presidio where the line will across the Rio Grande has just been taken by the formal acceptance on the part of the railroad of a donation by local citizens of 320 acres here as the site for shops, roundhouse, depot grounds and bridgehead.

The construction of the extension of the Mexico division between Presidio and Chihuahua is making steady progress and will be completed this fall, it is stated. No announcement has been made as to when construction of the extension from Alpine to Presidio, about seventy-five miles, will be started, beyond the statement that it probably will be sometime the latter part of this year.

GAS PLANT COMES HIGH

SANFORD (Tex.) May 29. (Exclusive)—Material for the construction of another casinghead gasoline plant to cost $2,000,000 is being assembled here by the Phillips Petroleum Company. The new plant will be finished and placed in operation about September 1, it is stated.

GRAND CANYON ROAD OPEN

Park Service Crew Removes Last Snow Drift on Automobile Highway to North Rim

GRAND CANYON (Ariz.) May 29. (Exclusive)—Auto roads to the North Rim of the Grand Canyon are opened to traffic, according to a statement issued here by M. R. Tillotson, park superintendent.

Winter snow conditions on the North Rim were unusually severe during the past season with a maximum snow depth of sixty-one inches on the level and a minimum temperature of 42 deg below zero. Many snow drifts still remain on the north side hills but a park service road crew has finally succeeded in removing the last drift blocking the roads so that autos now may reach Bright Angel Point from Fredonia and Kanab, through the Kaibab Forest.

The attractions offered by splendid views of the Grand Canyon from the North Rim together with the well-known Kaibab deer herd and the Kaibab Forest, the largest virgin forest in the country, are making the North Rim section increasingly popular, the growth in tourist travel there having amounted to almost 850 per cent in six years.

To meet the heavy demands of constantly increasing travel the Union Pacific Railroad Company is planning a modern hotel to be built this season on the North Rim of the Canyon at an estimated cost of $550,000. Construction work on this project, which will be operated as a National Park concession, will proceed early this season and the buildings are to be completed by June, 1928.

Wylie Way Camp, the pioneer hotel of the North Rim, has recently been sold by its owners and founders, Thomas and Elizabeth McKee, to the Union Pacific Company.

COW MOOSE INJURED BY WISCASSET AUTO

NEWCASTLE (Me.) May 29. (Exclusive)—Both hind legs of a cow moose were broken when an automobile driven by John Blagden of Wiscasset, struck the animal. The driver failed to see the moose until it was too late to avoid the collision and when the moose leaped from the spot where she was hit and started for the woods, he noticed that she was badly hurt. Alfred Huston, game warden, accompanied by a large crew of men, finally found the animal in the woods 200 yards from the highway.

NEW SEISMOGRAPH ORDERED IN RUSSIA

WASHINGTON, May 29. (AP)—A new seismograph which will register horizontal movements of the earth is being constructed in Russia for installation in the observatory at George town University here. The new instrument will supplement present apparatus showing the vertical movements. Its cost is being borne by the Rhode Islan Georgetown Club, which recently had Dir for Tondorff of the observatory as its guest.

"I've Found a New Hair Cleanliness —and it just takes a few minutes!

"I CAN thoroughly cleanse my hair and scalp better than ever before this new way—without using any water, just Menth-O-Foam — tonic shampoo. Menth-O-Foam gives my hair new lustrous lights and softness.

"In training a wave Menth-O-Foam is distinctly different — the wave is set while the hair is still damp, but instead of coming out in the appearance of plastered waves, they are rich, natural looking waves."

Menth-O-Foam is composed of the finest antiseptic hair ingredients known and has great tonic qualities as well as cleansing qualities.

Let Your Favorite Beauty Shop
Give You a MENTH-O-FOAM Finger Wave

The Menth-O-Foam Finger Wave is a new, surprisingly easy aid to hair beauty—a new art in itself that makes the wave last longer, set deeper and appear more inherently natural. It eliminates the artificially SET look of a curl put in with irons.

A full list of Beauty Shops equipped to give you a Menth-O-Foam Finger Wave appears below. The operators in these Shops are expert in setting these waves in a manner to accent the full natural beauty and charm of your hair.

Try this new aid to hair beauty today. Have a Menth-O-Foam shampoo first. Then let the operator set a Finger Wave in just the right way to accent the full beauty of your hair.

There is a shop convenient to you listed below.

Men—here's news for you!

Any man can shampoo his hair to a refreshing and invigorating cleanliness in less than 5 minutes with Menth-O-Foam. Menth-O-Foam eliminates the danger of "any kind of soap and a hurried half rinse" that many men indulge in to the ultimate loss of their hair. Menth-O-Foam loosens and dissolves dandruff. Make Menth-O-Foam part of your morning bath and you will know a new vigor and freshness in starting the day's work.

CHEERFUL CHAFF

BY TIMES READERS

WRITE FOR THE "MOVIES" AND WIN CASH PRIZES

The Los Angeles Times produces a popular fun reel called "Cheerful Chaff," consisting of the twelve best jokes submitted weekly by readers. Twelve $1 prizes are awarded each week, the names and addresses of winners together with prize-winning jokes appearing on the screen.

Everyone is invited to send jokes. No formal letter is necessary. Just jot down your jokes, as many as you wish, sign your name and address and mail to "Cheerful Chaff Editor," Los Angeles Times. Jokes for the screen must not exceed thirty words.

Meritorious jokes too long or otherwise not adapted for screen use, are accorded a place of honor on The Times comic page, receiving a souvenir of acknowledgment.

"Do you act toward your wife as you did before marriage?"

"Exactly. I remember how I used to act when I first fell in love with her. I would lean over the fence in front of her house and gaze at her shadow on the curtain, afraid to go in. And I act just the same way now."
A. M. Foss, 823 Laurel avenue.

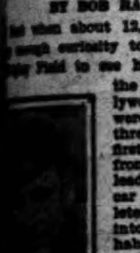
[illegible] Come From Behind to Give Acorns a Battle

[illegible] Hits Home Run With Two on in Nightcap

BY BOB RAY

[illegible] when about 12,000 fans got [illegible] curiosity to go out to [illegible] Field to see how and why the lowly Hollywood Stars were able to win three out of the first five games from the league-leading Oaks, Oscar Vitt's athletes fell back into their losing habits again yesterday, dropping both contests to Ivan Howard's pace-setters.



[illegible] ARLETT

With the aid of some doubtful decisioning on the part of "Choey" Becker, [illegible] put over three runs in the [illegible] to win the opener, 8 [illegible] "Choey" didn't have anything [illegible] with the fact that the Acorns [illegible] the nightcap, the score [illegible] was 5 to 1.

[illegible] Arlett, who does most of [illegible] larruping for the Oaks, [illegible] the second contest for the [illegible] in the fourth inning when he [illegible] one of Dick McCabe's inside [illegible] over the right-field screen [illegible] of his mates were perched [illegible] The Oaks got to McCabe [illegible] more markers in the [illegible] to complete their run-getting.

[illegible], the Iron Oak [illegible] Howard's grove, started [illegible] mound against McCabe in [illegible] nightcap, but gave way in [illegible] after he had walked [illegible] Stars in a row with but one [illegible] away. Pete Daglia came to [illegible] rescue and retired the [illegible] with but one run scoring. After the third Pete kept the [illegible] well in check, although [illegible] did get their only two [illegible] of him.

LOTS OF EXCITEMENT

[illegible] opener provided the excitement [illegible] of the afternoon, with the Stars [illegible] to Lee Dickerman in the [illegible] and seventh to pound [illegible] five runs and knot the count. [illegible] Gould relieved Dickerman [illegible] blanked the Stars the rest of the [illegible] to turn in his second victory of [illegible] as a relief twirler. Phil [illegible], who took the mound for the [illegible] in the eighth after Curt Fullerton [illegible] retired for a pinch-hitter, [illegible] with the defeat, although [illegible] so much his fault as it was [illegible] Becker's that the Oaks won. [illegible] started the first game's [illegible] in the second when Arlett [illegible] one against the left-field [illegible] for two bases and came home [illegible] Reese lofted a double [illegible] the right-field line.

[illegible] on the subject of Reese, [illegible] second-sacker came [illegible] close to establishing a [illegible] for number of chances [illegible] in the first game when [illegible] in seven putouts, ten [illegible] and one error. That made [illegible] chances in all with [illegible] one boot. And several of [illegible] plays were difficult ones, [illegible] made his afternoon's work [illegible] the more marvelous.

[illegible] picked up two runs in

Dempsey Set for Sharkey or Tunney

BABE RUTH MAKES IT THIRTEEN

Bambino Adds to Home-Run Collection as Yanks Bump Red Sox, 15 to 7

NEW YORK, May 29. (AP)—The New York Yankees swamped the Red Sox today under a 15-to-7 count, Babe Ruth propelling his thirteenth home run of the year during a seven-run rally in the eighth inning. None was on base at the time and MacFayden was pitching. Hartley and Haney also hit for the circuit. The Sox got away to a slight lead in the first three innings, but in the fourth the Hugmen broke through with a four-run spurt and remained in front to the finish. Score:

COAST TEAMS COMING

U. S. C., Stanford and California Due Here Wednesday for Saturday's Intercollegiate Meet

BY BRAVEN DYER

Track teams of U.S.C., Stanford and California will arrive here Wednesday afternoon for Saturday's Pacific Coast intercollegiate meet at the Coliseum. The Trojans, Cards and Bears are all returning from Philadelphia on the same train and will pull in here together.

Athletes representing institutions of the Northwest are due to arrive Thursday. This delegation will include entrants from Washington, W.S.C., Oregon Aggies, Oregon "U," Idaho and Montana.

DEAN CROMWELL

Each institution is limited to a team of fifteen men. This means that Dean Cromwell, Trojan coach, will have to drop one man from his I.C.4A. squad of sixteen. It may be Joe Aleksi and then, again, it might be Spencer Boelter, the javelin heaver. It is known that Cromwell wants to use Chink Sauers and Bruce Smith so as to have a good relay team in the meet.

U.S.C. VS. STANFORD

There seems to be nothing to the outcome but Stanford, the Cards having such great strength in the field that other Coast teams face an almost hopeless task in their endeavors to nose out the Redshirts. U.S.C. is admittedly the only team with a chance of doing so.

Such men as Jim Dixon of the Oregon Aggies, Herm Brix of Washington, Clayton of O.A.C. and Whitlock of the Aggies will cut more into Stanford's points than U.S.C.'s. If these northerners do their stuff in noble manner the Trojans might squeeze through with a victory, but it will take some pretty stalwart performing by the northwestern stars and equally tiptop work by U.S.C.

Dixon with 143ft. in the discus is good enough to press or beat Hoffman of Stanford for first place. Brix with 47ft. 1 3-4in., in the shot, is only inches behind Elmer Gerkin's winning heave in the I.C.4A., and may shove Hoffman back to third place, although the Stanford man is likely to hit his regular 49ft. form for the local meet and beat Gerkin and all other foes.

MAY ANNOY SHIPKEY

Clayton ran a 4m. 23s. mile Saturday, which is probably good enough to thump McKinnon of Stanford. Whitlock tossed the javelin 189ft., which is likely to cause Shipkey some annoyance.

U.S.C. can count on Charley Borah for two firsts in the sprints. To us the most remarkable performance of the I.C.4A. meet was turned in by WONDER what the good citizens of Indianapolis thought about last fall every time they read that the 130,000 damp citizens who sat in the rain at the Dempsey-Tunney fight in the Sesqui stadium at Philadelphia constituted the largest crowd that ever witnessed a sporting event in the United States? Probably they laughed out loud, because they knew that nearly four months before Tunney beat Dempsey more than 150,000 persons had watched the annual Memorial Day auto race on the Indianapolis speedway, and nearly as many gathered there for the same event in 1925.

At any rate, the Hoosier City is just as agog over the coming gasoline derby as Louisville was over the Kentucky Derby two weeks ago, and when Starter Fred Wagner lines up the thirty-odd machines next Monday morning for the fifteenth annual 500-mile race, he will find himself, figuratively speaking, the cynosure of all the eyes of the whole sport-loving world.

I guess everybody is more or less interested in automobiles, and there is nothing more thrilling than the sight of two dozen glistening, fire-eating, steel monsters tearing around the two and one-half mile brick speedway with engines roaring, and drivers daring death every second of the five hours that the race lasts. And the daredevil drivers do race death, too, and they know it, but the gold and glory that goes to the winner are too strong a lure to resist. Five of the winners of this race classic have been killed in later events, yet each year there are plenty who take the risks for the $20,000 first prize and the added thousands from lap prizes and from bonuses given by manufacturers of various parts.

Last year, in a race that was once halted temporarily because of rain, and finally stopped at 400 miles, Frank Lockhart, a youthful Californian who had been trained in dirt-track driving, finished first, two laps ahead of Harry Hartz, another "native son," both young men driving Miller specials. Hartz, known as "the best second-place man in automobile racing," won the American Automobile Association's national cham-

THIRTY-THREE DRIVERS ENTER 500-MILE GRIND

Lockhart, With Terrific Speed in Qualifying Trials, Favored to Repeat Last Year's Win

INDIANAPOLIS (Ind.) May 29. (AP)—The fastest field that ever qualified for a 500-mile automobile race will start in the fifteenth annual renewal of the classic at the Indianapolis motor speedway tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock. Fair and cool weather has been predicted.

It took speed of better than 100 miles an hour to win a place in the starting line. Thirty-three cars will be flagged away on the long trip over the rough brick track.

HARRY HARTZ

Renowned drivers, such as Frank Lockhart, Harry Hartz, Pete De Paolo and Leon Duray will vie with fearless youths fresh from the small dirt tracks for the $100,000 in prizes, which will be distributed among the first ten to finish. Twenty thousand dollars is the purse for the winner. Among other prizes will be $100 for the leader of each of the 200 laps, irrespective of where he finally finished.

PREDICT RECORD

Officials of the course predict the records of 101 miles an hour, established by De Paolo in 1925, will be shattered. Lockhart, who came out of the west an unknown a year ago, to flash across the finish line a winner, skidded and plunged through the turns in the ten-mile qualifying trials for an average of 120 miles an hour to shatter all records for the local track.

Only eight-cylinder cars were powerful enough to make the grade, several "fours," and freak creations fading out when the tests came. Ten front-drive machines, manned for most part by veteran pilots, will participate. Lockhart is one of the leading drivers to stick to the old type.

The piston displacement of the motors is limited to 91 1-2 cubic inches. The race will not be without its unconventional entries. Two of the cars have their motors placed diagonally across the chassis, with the rear systems located close to the rear left wheels, rather than in the center. The engineers claim such a sys-

Nearly Eliminated by New Star in St. Cloud Tennis Tourney; La Coste Wins

ST. CLOUD (France) May 29. (AP) Henri Cochet, French hard-court champion of 1926, and conqueror of William T. Tilden in the American championships at Forest Hills, was within two points of elimination from the St. Cloud tournament today when H. Timmer of Holland carried him into a five-set match, leading the Frenchman five games to four in the fifth set and thirty-love in points.

RENE LA COSTE

Fighting with his back to the wall, Cochet, who is regarded by experts as the greatest "fifth-set" player in the world, with exception of Tilden, rallied and defeated the man from the Netherlands. The score was 6-8, 9-11, 6-3, 6-3, 7-5.

Tilden and Hunter reached the third round in the men's doubles, and Tilden and Senorita De Alvarez did likewise in the mixed doubles.

The Cochet-Timmer match kept 6000 spectators on edge for two hours. Cochet played listless, nonchalant tennis in the first two sets and gave his supporters much concern when he was close to defeat in the final

JOHNNY DOEG LOSES MATCH TO JOHNSTON AFTER GREAT FIGHT

SAN FRANCISCO, May 29. (AP)—John Doeg of Santa Monica, selected to try out for the United States Davis Cup team, gave William M. Johnston, a tried Davis Cup player, the hardest fight today that Johnston has had from a California player for many years.

The match was in the Pacific Coast championship tennis tournament, and the win put Johnston in the finals. The score was 8-6, 4-6, 6-2, 5-7, 6-4 and Johnston will meet Gerald Stratford in the finals tomorrow.

Mrs. May Sutton Bundy of Santa Monica, and Helen Jacobs, State and Coast champion, will meet in the finals by wins today. Miss Jacobs defeated Marian Williams of La Jolla, 6-2, 6-4, and Mrs. Bundy won from Mrs. Winifred Ottinger, 6-3, 6-2.

Mrs. Bundy and Mrs. Louise Dudlay, also of Santa Monica, defeated Edith Cross of San Francisco, and Josephine Crookshank of Santa Ana, 6-4, 6-4, and went into the finals. Joe Coughlin and Robert Fitts defeated Howe Bancroft of San Diego, and Robert Seller in the finals of the junior boys' doubles, 6-4, 10-8, 6-3.

Miss Williams and Doeg won the semifinal match in the mixed doubles by defeating Peggy James of Los Angeles, and Gerald Stratford, 9-7, 2-6, 6-4.

Members Make Holes-in-One at Hollywood

BY BILL WISE

Charles (Cholly) Guest, former Lakeside professional, successfully defended his Southern California Professional Golfers' Association championship, in a thirty-six-hole final match with Charles Chung, Chinese challenger, at Royal Palms, yesterday.

Charlie Chung

The big gun champ, golfing for the major title in local paid-to-play ranks, scored an approximate seventy-three yesterday morning and despite the fact that his opponent dropped birdies with startling regularity, Guest had picked up 4 holes at the end of the first eighteen holes, and continued in front to win, 5 and 4.

With a gallery of more than 300 fans trailing in his wake, Guest, after clipping one stroke and par coming home in the morning, started a little shot-making tour that clipped three strokes from a difficult par, going out, in the afternoon. At the end of the twenty-seventh hole, Guest had picked up seven holes. Chung won the twelfth and thirteenth—the thirty-first holes of the match, but Guest halved the thirty-second hole with a par 4 to end the match, 5 and 4, and won the local P.G.A. title for the second consecutive year.

DELEOT STARS IN ELKS' TOURNEY

Frank Deleot, golfing for the championship of Los Angeles Lodge B.P.O.E. No. 99, holed a 100-yard mashie approach for an eagle 2 on the first extra hole of the match, to defeat Guy Hanson at Palos Verdes, yesterday. Hanson pitched dead for a birdie 3, but lost the hardest-fought match of the tournament when Deleot's approach dribbled into the cup.

HYLAND WIN AT BEVERLY

Mr. and Mrs. George H. Hyland, 101-27—74, won first prize in the two-ball mixed-foursome event for Los Angeles members yesterday. Miss Grace Comstock and C. K. Moore, 92-16—76, were second.

HAMLIN LEADS AT FLINTRIDGE

D. E. Hamlin, 2 down, won the match-play-against-par event arranged by Jock Adams, for Flintridge members, Saturday. Doug White and Paul Reynolds, 3 down, tied for second. W. A. Horrell and W. B. Tenney, 4 down, divided the last prize.

GOLF ACES DROP AT HOLLYWOOD

W. B. Frank, a guest of "Babe" Hardy's, playing Hollywood yesterday, threw a profound scare into his rotund host with a tee shot to the 120-yard fifth that found the bottom of the cup for a hole in one. Babe staggered down the hill and was the first to congratulate his partner.

W. C. O'Connor, a member of the club, has been pitching in the general direction of the eighth green at Hollywood for months past, but yesterday, a perfect mashie carried the green and hopped into the cup for the second hole in one for the day.

DORSETT HERO AT PARKRIDGE

Dr. W. C. Dorsett of Parkridge smacked a sweet brassie tee shot 200 yards to the seventh green at his home club yesterday and watched the ball find the bottom of the cup for a hole in one. Dan Gilkey and N. E. Tatter, representing Arlington, celebrated by defeating Charles Bagg and T. G. Kappell of San Bernardino, 2 up, in a fast intercity league match. Stanley Linn and A. C. Barnes, also of Arlington, defeated R. H. Thompson and Dr. D. A. Cole of San Bernardino, 3 and 2, in another exciting match.

HUNTER TEAMS WITH TITLIST

Lakeside Star Trails in Invitation Event

BY THE GOLFER

Earl Neitzel of San Gabriel, the quick stepping youngster who used to share home club honors with A. Bullock-Webster, Jack Kemp, and others, yesterday took George Cornes of Lakeside to the well-known tee and greens cleaners and won the Hollywood Country Club invitational crown from the golfing druggist, 6 and 5, in a brilliant 36-hole encounter.

Neitzel hurdled Bullock-Webster in a semifinals match Saturday, and was all set for Cornes, yesterday morning. At the end of a mediocre 18 holes, Neitzel, with a medal of approximately 78, was leading his opponent by three holes.

Both rallied during the afternoon, clipping par with increasing regularity and after shoving two beautiful wood shots greenward, Neitzel ran down a chip approach for an eagle 3 to win the par 5 thirteenth hole—and the match, 6 and 5.

While Ernie Noon was completing all arrangements for the Von Elm-Paul Hunter vs. Dudley-Willie Hunter, 36-hole exhibition match to be staged today, Bradford Eldridge of Bel-Air was winning the flight for the defeated sixteen of the championship from W. W. Beckwith of Rancho, 1 up.

Noon announced yesterday that more than 2500 golfers and friends are expected to follow the amateur-professional exhibition that will get under way at 10 o'clock this morning.

The national amateur champion—making his first appearance since winning the Southern California crown from Paul Hunter, will team with his former opponent in the thirty-six-hole attempt to defeat Dudley and Willie Hunter, two of the best professionals in the West.

All proceeds from the exhibition today will be used to swell the Los Angeles contribution to the Mississippi flood benefit relief fund and, while the affair will be the first appearance in months of the amateur king, it will also be the last appearance of Dudley and Hunter—for several weeks, at least.

Wee Willie, California open champ, and the youthful Dudley will qualify for the national open at Bel-Air, next Monday and expect to leave for Pittsburgh—and the Oakmont club, the day following. Von Elm and Hunter have never been defeated in team play, but the test today should result in a very close—and exciting decision.

Special arrangements to care for a record gallery have been completed and all fans will be assured of witnessing the play. Parking facilities have been extended and, with the Hollywood course in the best shape ever, the completion should be worth following. The morning round will start at 10 o'clock with players leaving the first tee for the final lap at 2 o'clock. All gallery tickets are $1.

SONS OF ST. GEORGE WIN

SAN FRANCISCO, May 29. (AP)—The Sons of St. George defeated the Burns Club soccer team, 3 to 0, today in the California cup tie soccer football championship series. The result left the Sons of St. George and Unione Sportiva Italiana teams to fight it out for the championship next Sunday.

HOUN' DOG TO HAVE HIS DAY

Aristocrats on the Outside Lookin' In

Only a Mutt, But He's Entered

ENTRY blanks for California's first mutt dog show, to be held at Ascot July 9, will be available within three days, according to Don Hutchinson, in charge. More than 100 entries have already been received and it is anticipated that several thousand mutts will participate in the premier event.

Places where blanks can be secured will be announced shortly. Rules governing the selection of mutt winners will also be announced at that time.

Dog fanciers, civic organizations and local sportsmen are enthusiastic about the show, several having expressed the belief that an event of this kind will develop into one of the biggest publicity attractions yet staged in the Southland.

It is rumored that other cities are watching with interest the development of Southern California's first mutt dog show, planning to stage similar ones throughout the country if this one proves the success that seems likely at this time.

SPEED KINGS RACE TODAY

Thirty Five Drivers to Take Part In Title Dash On Banning Dirt Track

BANNING (Cal.) May 30. (Exclusive)—Thirty-five local and nationally known dirt-track automobile racing speed kings are ready for the race of their lives here today, when they take off at 2 p.m. in the final race of the year to determine the world's champion.

One of the big features of the classic this year will be the appearance of Lefty Flynn, all-American football star of Yale, in the role of starter. Flynn is putting up a trophy for the winner of the race to be emblematic of the world's championship. He will start the race and present the trophy to the winning pilot.

With the championship at stake for the year, the increase in prize money and the Lefty Flynn trophy, the drivers are expected to put on a race that should smash the track record. Speed Hinckley, Lou Moore, Dale Pense, Bill Spence, Mel Knealey, Bill Bundy and Mike Admire have qualified in record time.

Lou Moore leads the drivers for the year in points with a total of 705. Mel Knealey is second, Dale Pense is third. Moore just has to finish above fourth to be crowned the champion. With the leader out of the way, six other pilots have a chance to grab the high honors.

Just before Lefty Flynn waves the red flag to start the drivers on their way, the massed thousands will stand in silent tribute for a minute in honor of the Banning Legion boys who lost their lives in the World War.

All roads leading into Banning will be patroled and the Auto Club announces that the highways are in excellent shape. The American Legion race committee, consisting of Earl Doll, Harold Weifels, Wilson Stone, John Brinton, B. E. Hansen, A. E. Previtt and W. J. Westerfield, hold their final meeting tonight to decide positions of the speed kings in the race and to make plans for the official naming of the five additional referees to be stationed around the track.

DUFF DEFEATS ISSENHUTH IN GRIFFITH PARK PLAY

Smashes, drives, volleys and occasional phenomenal returns on the part of Alfred Duff, U.C. at L. A. college varsity tennis star, brought victory over Dale Issenhuth, former State high school champion, in the final round of the annual Griffith tennis championship yesterday at the park courts, Los Feliz Boulevard and Riverside Drive. The win gave Duff the men's singles championship.

WINS TWICE

Earlier in the day, Duff eliminated Bill Paige in the lower semis by a count of 7-5, and 6-4. Dale Issenhuth found the sledding much easier in his semifinal contest with Joe Ciano, winning handily at 6-1, 6-4. At the same time the women's semifinal matches were played with Gladys Patz and Louise Hoyt, both title favorites, entering the final bracket with wins over Mrs. Long and Miss Sisson. Both girls won decisive victories with the loss of few games in each set.

The Duff-Issenhuth match brought forth a huge gallery and from the gallery huge moans, yells and what have you? The contest started rather tamely, Duff grabbing a 3-0 lead before anything like rivalry was even displayed. But Issenhuth arose to the occasion a bit later, taking two straight games, while a bad decision in a tight point cost the fighting star the sixth game.

From here on Duff waltzed through with ease for the initial set, 6-2. The second set was an exact duplicate of the first for a time. Duff grabbed the early lead of 3-0. Issenhuth tied the count in a desperate last-minute rally and again some close decisions favoring Duff gave the latter player a lead which he never lost. The final set was 6-4.

TAKES ANOTHER

Miss Patz, champion of local junior girls for a period of some two years, and winner of numerous senior titles since her debut in women's ranks, added another title to her already numerous wins as well as a large trophy. Miss Patz had little difficulty in downing Miss Hoyt of Glendale, 6-3, 6-3. Steady chopping strokes from corner to corner, and uncanny drop shots just over the net on either side, busted the game of her opponent to pieces. Miss Hoyt strove desperately in both sets when the count read 3-3, but the final punch was seriously lacking and she went down to defeat rather easily.

Yesterday's results:

MEN'S SINGLES
Semifinals—Duff defeated Paige, 6-4, 7-5; Issenhuth defeated Ciano, 6-1, 6-4.
Final round—Duff defeated Issenhuth, 6-2, 6-4.

WOMEN'S SINGLES
Semifinals—Hoyt defeated Sisson, 6-1, 6-0; Patz defeated Long, 6-1, 6-1.

WOMEN'S DOUBLES
Semifinals—Patz and Gould defeated Hoyt and McCabe, 6-1, 9-7; Head and Prentiss defeated Gregor and Esty, 6-2, 6-2.

MEN'S DOUBLES
Semifinals—Pederson and Issenhuth defeated Laird and Duff, 4-6, 6-1, 8-6.
Final round—De Lara and Weisner defeated Peterson and Issenhuth, 6-2, 6-1, 6-2.

MIXED DOUBLES
Semifinals—Head and Laird defeated De Lara and Hoyt, 6-1, 6-3; Patz and Robinson defeated Charnock and partner, 6-3, 6-2.

HOFFMAN VICTOR

SANTA CRUZ, May 29. (AP)—Ralph Hoffman of San Jose, defeated Hyman Abrams of Santa Cruz, 3 and 1, in the Decoration Day golf tournament here today. E. A. Westeno of Sacramento defeated J. Norton of Santa Cruz, 1 up.

MELLO OCEAN DERBY CHOICE

When June 12 rolls around and a certain trigger to a certain gun is pressed, starting the greatest rowboat derby ever attempted, we will be paying particular attention to the antics of one Senor Joe Mello and the manner in which he starts the long paddle from somewhere on the Long Beach ocean front to the shore of beautiful Avalon. And we will not be alone in fixing our gaze on this bronze giant for by that time Mello is going to have as many backers as any man in the running.

We compare swimmers to fish, we compare flyers to birds, we compare runners to hounds. Yet, a simile for an oarsman does not seem to have been coined. If we wish to use the most proficient race of people in the rowing art as the standard of comparison, future references to the skill of a rower will be something like this: "He is as fast as a native of the Azores."

FROM AZORES

Situated in the Atlantic Ocean, about two-thirds the distance from New York to Spain, the Azore Islands stud a few miles of the broad expanse of turbulent waters. Here the natives live a simple life, their main occupation being fishing. From this sequestered spot came Joe Mello, muscles, hair and all.

To trace the career of Joe from a date six years ago to the present is like tearing many pages from an Alger tale. Without a penny in his tattered jeans, he boarded a steamer for America and worked his way across. As the hero of the "Work and Win" series, he became a farmhand near Bedford, Mass. Soon the wanderlust overcame him and after working his trip mile by mile, he found himself in California. Still without funds, he became a dairyman.

Joe Mello had hopes and those aspirations were realized when George Workman of the Long Beach Dairy Products took him into his confidence and agreed to finance Joe Mello's own company. Today, at the age of 24 years, Joe Mello is sole owner of a big dairy ranch, his debt with his benefactors has been entirely liquidated, and he can sell his business out at any time for a sum between $10,000 and $15,000. Yes, Joe Mello did that by himself in six years and he feels that he can row that channel also by himself in about six hours. So, there you are, folks.

One feels like a pygmy in the presence of Joe. He towers an inch above six feet and 207 pounds of bone and muscle have been crowded into that herculean frame of his. The crowning glory of his person is a vertical pompadour of extremely wavy hair. By his pomp you shall know him.

ROWING OLD STUFF

Now, as to his qualifications as a rower, Joe has been handling oars since he was a baby. Born of Portuguese and negro descent in a seafaring family, he was soon put to work in the fishing business. After the nets had been pulled in, he and his friends would engage in a race with their rowboats. "How far did you usually travel in one of these races?" we inquired and without flickering a muscle, Joe lazily answered, "Oh, about thirty or thirty-five miles."

Mello has everything that goes into a winner. His work on the dairy has trained him to being as hard as the proverbial nails. Getting up every morning at 2 a.m. and personally milking thirty cows before most folks have any idea of waking, he has himself in condition that is near perfect. One of his favorite exercises on his farm is lifting a ten-gallon can full of milk with one hand for the daily dozen.

Joe is going to take no chances with the rough sea. He is having a special craft built for him at the Club Boat Shop at Wilmington and it will be a seventeen-foot affair with a depth of twenty-four inches. This is the biggest boat yet to be entered, but Mello claims he can generate the extra power without missing it. As for training, he is going to make the trip to Catalina with his rowboat two or three times before June 12. The first of these trips will start next week when his boat comes out of the shop.

"Admiral" Paul Jones, the hook body-scissors exponent, of Houston, Tex., who defeated Nick Lutze last week in what many claimed to have been one of the very best matches ever staged here, will meet Joe Stecher, world's heavyweight champion, in the main event of "Carnation" Lou Daro's wrestling show at the Olympic, June 8.

It will be Stecher's second appearance here this year, and it will probably be his toughest in many months, as Jones, with his speed and hook-scissors, is being counted upon to give the champion a harder battle than Nick Lutze did a few months ago.

Jones has yet to cross his scissors with Stecher's, but when they do, the fans may look forward to the greatest leg battle the wrestling game has known.

No one has been able to break Jones's hook scissors, although he has clamped them on some of the best matmen in the world. Lutze, who is credited with youth, stamina and strength, failed several times in his attempts, which in two cases lasted more than twenty minutes each.

STAUBER TAKES HONORS IN WEEKLY GUN-CLUB TOURNEY

A. J. Stauber and B. A. Gillispie put up another fierce race today at the Los Angeles Gun Club links when they broke 98 and 97, respectively, out of the 100. Bud Crook won third honors with the good score of 95 broken clays. P. G. Peterson of Upland with a 94 finished fourth.

In the 50-target handicap P. G. Peterson and Bob Bungay from the 22-yard mark tied for the special trophy and it required two shootoffs before Peterson was declared the winner by the narrow margin of one target. E. V. Minoch was the runner-up for second place with 48x50 from 21 yards. Stauber finished third with 42x40 from 24 yards. Jack Winston, Jr., a new man at the game gave Stauber a fierce fight, but lost out by one target.

Eagles Stage Auto Race at Ascot Sunday

The last auto race of the summer is scheduled for Ascot Speedway Sunday afternoon, when the Fraternal Order of Eagles will send more than forty drivers to the post in a program that will feature the convention of Eagles from California, Arizona, Utah, Nevada, Oregon and Washington.

For the first time in several months local drivers who have won fame in Ascot competition will have to defend their laurels from invaders from other sections of the country who are coming here as the representative of series for this race.

Entry blanks have already been signed and the committee on arrangements, consisting of P. H. Miller, W. J. Goldsworthy and I. E. Swanson, has announced a program that should be a "wow," winding up with a 100-mile event with eighteen cars starting.

MAGDALENO HANDED NOD OVER DUNCAN

Mateo Magdaleno was given a questionable decision over Hugh Duncan in the eight-round main event at the Main Street Athletic Club last night. It was a torrid scrap throughout and Duncan should have at least gotten a draw in the opinion of a majority of the ringsiders.

CLISBY HERE FOR PASADENA BATTLE

RABBIT PUNCHES

By PAUL LOWRY

JIMMY McLARNIN continues to be the outstanding puzzle of recent years to local boxing men. This little fellow who gave such great promise as a bantamweight and later a featherweight is almost a flat tire as a lightweight.

He has all of the motions but none of the finish. He maneuvers a foe into position feints him out, gains his opening and—that's all. Some queer complex has seized him in its grip. As a feather McLarnin would have stabbed Lamar to pieces at Hollywood the other night. His old rapier left and zipping right would have given the Mexican no chance to land.

But now Jimmy seems to be in the same position as the fellow who drove up to the hall of fame and sat down on the steps. The spirit to enter was willing but the flesh was weak.

Some say McLarnin was given tough fights with rugged chaps like Fidel LaBarba, Bud Taylor and Doc Snell when he was too young and unmatured to stand the gaff.

Others say that Pop Foster with his long layoffs for the boy when he should have been boxing has mishandled the youth. Whatever it is Jimmy McLarnin, once the wonder of California boxing rings, has degenerated into just an ordinary fighter. He may come back. Everybody hopes so. But the complex has him in its grip.

All they needed at the Coliseum Saturday was a piece of stick candy for Henry Lunney and a couple of boys to weep on his bosom. If you don't know it already, Henry raced Nick Carter, a clubmate of the L.A.A.C., and the famous Edvin Wide. Nick won and Wide, an internationally famous athlete, was among the first to congratulate the victor. Lunney, unknown outside of this State, sulked. He was mad apparently because he was beaten by a runner who has been booted around all year and forced to run in races which were not his races. Lunney, the pampered kid, showed his manners, his sportsmanship. He refused to congratulate Carter. Carter had to stick out his hand and console him. Lunney took it weakly and hung his head.

Boyd Comstock rises to announce that it was not Wide's alleged illness that was reponsible for his defeat by Carter, but the fast pace in the first half, particularly the first quarter, which killed off the gallant Swede. The former Occidental star stepped the first quarter in 60s flat and though Wide went into the lead just before the end of the half, which was run in 2.06, Carter's initial efforts are held to be the reason for the failure of Wide to stick on the last lap.

Carter was in rare form Saturday and it is very evident that the ex-Occidental youth will be one of the leading candidates for the Olympic team next year. He equaled the fastest mile ever run on the Coast, tieing Jole Ray's mark at Paddock field back in 1921 and beating Lloyd Hahn's 4m. 16 9-10s. at the Coliseum last year.

Hahn chopped down to 4m. 12 1-5s. in beating Wide indoors this year, and there seems to be no reason why Carter cannot do likewise. Carter is just as strong, of slightly rangier build, has a better sprint than Hahn and only needs experience in fast company to be rated as one of the top-notchers in the country. Had he been sure of his own power the other day he probably could have led Wide at the end of each lap and snipped an additional two or three seconds off the new record he set.

Stanford's thrilling victory in the I.C.A.A.A.A. meet Saturday was expected, but it is particularly sweet to the Cardinal cohorts because it was their first triumph in the eastern track classic.

As a result of the Cards' triumph the West has won the title six times in the last seven years of competition. California gained it in 1921-22-23, Yale retrieved it for the East in 1924, U.S.C. copped two years in a row, 1925-26, and now Stanford has it.

Although Spencer's showing was disappointing in the quarter, and West and Nichols didn't do quite as well as expected in the hurdle events, the Stanford boys lived up to expectations in the field events and won the meet just where they were figured to win it.

Borah's sensational showing in the two dashes gives U.S.C. plenty of chance to chirp and crams down the throats of the eastern critics all the nasty things they have said about our western sprinting phenoms and western timing. Borah's 20.9s. is just 1-10s. shy of Charley Paddock's former world's record and 4-10s. behind Roland Locke's present mark and was made after Charley had already run two 100's and a furlong in two days of sprinting. Verily, a wonderful record.

And even California, though placing only seventh in point total, has a chance to crow because the Bears' captain, Elmer Gerkin, [illegible] the shutout Messrs. Hoffman, Forster and [illegible] against him in the shot put in the Big Meet.

Rising to the spirit of the occasion Gerkin won the Bears' only first place and while he didn't beat Hoffman's mark of the California-Stanford meet he made his best put of the year in a meet where it counted most.

the sixth after two were out. Johnny Frederick doubled to left-center and scored when Twombly tripled past Bratcher. Twombly continued on home when Reese's relay to third hit into the dirt and caromed off Lary to the box seats.

Successive singles by Lary, Fenton and Arlett got one of those runs back in the seventh, but the Stars came through with a three-run splurge in the home half of the stretch stanza to tie the count into beautiful five-in-hand knot

Denny Murphy doubled to right for a starter and Holley went in to run for him. Hank Hulvey, batting for Fullerton, doubled past Fenton and Holley counted. Cook took Hulvey's place on the paths and advanced to third on Lee's infield out. After Sweeney had been walked, Dickerman was replaced by Gould. Kerr rolled to Reese and Cook scored and Sweeney advanced to second on the out at first. Frederick then doubled to left center and Sweeney romped home with the tying run. Reese threw out Twombly to end the round, in fact, Jimmy threw out everybody in this inning.

Lary started the Oakland ninth with a double to right and Fenton sacrificed him to third. Mulcahy purposely walked Arlett and Bratcher to fill the bases Reese hit to Kerr and Johnny's throw to the plate was slightly wide, although it did not appear as if Cook took his foot off the rubber. However, Becker ruled that Lary was safe at home. Cook pushed Choey about the chest protector and was ordered off the field. Agnew took his place behind the log. To make matters worse, Choey missed a third strike on Caveney, the next batter, and Jimmy then singled against the left-field wall to score Arlett. The Oakland base-runners evidently were suffering from paralysis for only one of them to score on the clout, which landed fairly high up on the left-field bricks. Bool followed with a sacrifice fly to Sweeney to bring Bratcher across with the third run of the inning.

BOEHLER TOO WILD

In the nightcap the Stars got their only run in the third after Boehler had walked McCabe, Lee and Sweeney with but one away. After Daglia had replaced Boehler, McCabe counted, while Kerr was forcing Sweeney at second. Kerr swiped second, but Arlett gathered in Frederick's loft to end the inning.

Lary and Fenton singled to open the Oakland fourth and Arlett followed with his circuit clout, which, by the way, was his eleventh of the season.

In the fifth inning Governor singled, Lary singled and Fenton doubled to score Governor. Arlett was purposely walked and Bratcher followed with a sacrifice fly to Sweeney that brought Lary home.

PLAY MORNING GAME

The Oaks now have a four-to-three lead in the series, which will be wound up today with morning and afternoon games. The after-breakfast tussle will get under way at 10:30 o'clock, with the afternoon contest starting at the usual time of 2:15.

COAST TRACK TEAMS COMING

this sophomore sprint sensation. Running six races in two days, winning all of them after a 3000-mile trip across the country and defeating men who have been timed in 9.6s., is a record which will probably go unequaled by anybody but Borah himself for years to come. Unless the return trip ruins Charley completely he should thump all rivals in easy fashion.

Barnes and Williams should be strong in the pole vault, with Edmonds of Stanford likely to slip in between them. If Lovejoy can run as he did at Stanford some time ago U.S.C. may pick up a first place here, although Charteris of Washington is supposed to be the better man. He ran only 2m. flat Saturday, however, but the track was muddy.

If the U.S.C. hurdlers—Graham, Webber, Reynolds and Kaer—should have a good day on their home track it would make things tough for Stanford. And should Hill regain his form and hit around 24ft. it would help U.S.C.'s cause tremendously.

All in all, it looks like a great meet. The marks in last year's Coast championships bettered those of the I.C.A.A.A.A. struggle. Such is unlikely to be the case this time, particularly as the best men of the West have had a 6000-mile journey this time, while last year the Coast meet was held prior to the long jaunt.

Friday will be given over to preliminary heats at the Coliseum

TEMPE COPS SLOOP RACE

Walton Hubbard's star sloop Tempe lazied over a four-mile course in about an hour and a half to defeat a fair field of contestants in the first star race of the season staged off Newport Beach yesterday under the auspices of the Newport Harbor Yacht Club. Due to the lack of wind, the original course was shortened to four miles, and Hubbard, who represented the Newport Club in the international races in New York last year, piloted his craft to victory, with Vic Edwards acting as crew.

The Tempe was about 2m. 18s. ahead of the nearest competitors, which happened to be the Sirus and the Satellite, which staged a merry battle for second honors. The Sirus, owned by Kenny Gardner, ultimately took a nose decision, or perhaps it was a prow verdict, by a margin of twenty seconds, with Jack Bryan's Satellite battling gamely to the end.

Another race is on schedule for today with the same boats ready to perform, augmented by several other craft, which did not put forth yesterday. The race is scheduled to start at 2 o'clock.

OBSERVATIONS

BY THE INNOCENT BYSTANDER, BILL HENRY

STANFORD ran fairly true to form to capture the I.C.4A. meet in the East on Saturday but the Trojans flopped somewhat in taking fourth. As a matter of fact, with the exception of Hill, the Trojans actually performed just about up to expectations. Borah, of course, did as expected and House with his fourth in the century did about everything that anybody had any reason to hope for. Barnes vaulted higher than he ever did in his life and Jack Williams did about as expected. Hank Coggeshall certainly performed according to dope and the rest of the Trojans did as well as they have been accustomed to doing with the exception of Hill. Kaer, of course, is a terrible in-and-outer and he was just as likely to win the race as to run unplaced.

The Trojan failure to win was really not due to any flop on the part of the Trojan athletes but rather to unexpectedly fine performances by the eastern boys. Stanford's team performed just about according to Hoyle also with the exception of Spencer, who had been counted upon to place in the quarter, and West who was expected to do something over the low sticks. Biff Hoffman's foot slipped a little in the shot put but he didn't fall down very badly. Off hand we'd opine that the Cardinals really didn't do quite as well proportionately as the Trojans did.

They certainly do give the boys a workout back there. Webber, the rapidly improving high hurdler of U.S.C., after running a couple of qualifying heats on Friday, ran in a special heat on Saturday and won it in 15.2s., this qualified him for the semifinals and he ran third in his semifinal heat with the winner ambling in in 14.9s. He thus qualified for the finals and picked up a fifth place in which the winner ran 14.8s. If five races in two successive days isn't calling upon a guy to show his ability to go the route, what is?

The Trojans showed a well-rounded performance in scoring their 23 points. They scored in the 100, 220, high hurdles, low hurdles, a total of 14 points on the track, and in the pole vault and high jump in the field. Stanford took 5 points in the high hurdles and 2 in the mile for 7 points on the track, and scored 29 1-2 in the field, placing in the shot, discus, javelin, pole vault, high jump and broad jump. The only field event in which the Cards failed to pick up a point was the hammer throw, which isn't a regular event on the Pacific Coast.

Penn State, which grabbed second honors, placed in the 100, 220 and mile on the track and in the broad jump and hammer throw on the field. Yale, which scored third, a half a point ahead of the Trojans, took points in the 100, 220, 440, 880 and two-mile on the track, and, except for Sabin Carr's record-breaking first place in the pole vault, not a point in the field.

WASHINGTON, May 29. (AP)—Airtight pitching by Walberg and three long drives by Al Simmons gave Philadelphia a 6-to-1 victory over Washington today. Simmons pounded out two doubles and a triple, driving in three runs and scoring one himself. Washington got only four hits off Walberg, two of which were bunched. Harris scored Washington's only run from second, when Cochrane heaved wildly in an attempt to catch him stealing third. Hale, Philadelphia third-baseman, was knocked out when he fell trying to field the throw and was forced to retire from the game. Score:

ST. LOUIS, May 29. (AP)—The Cleveland Indians and St. Louis Browns broke even in a double-header here today, with Cleveland taking three games out of a five-game series. By garnering four runs in the sixth inning of the first game, the Browns won, 7 to 4.

The Indians came back in the second game and reversed the score, 10 to 2. In the seventh, Levsen of Cleveland hit into a triple play. O. Miller took his grounder and threw to Dixon forcing Myatt at the plate. Dixon relayed to Sisler doubling Levsen and Sisler's return throw to Dixon nailed Neis, who was trying to score from second.

The Browns departed for Chicago, as the first stop on a month's trip. Score:

THIRTY PADDLE IN LONG SWIM

ALAMEDA (Cal.) May 29. (AP) A squad of probably thirty swimmers will take to the water here tomorrow morning in the $1000, fourteen-mile marathon around the city and Island of Alameda, located on the eastern side of San Francisco Bay. Starting at 10:30 a.m. the leaders are expected to finish around 5:30 o'clock in the afternoon. In addition to the winner's prize of $1000, a man of $500 will be given to the woman finishing first after a man. Two other money prizes of lesser amounts also are listed.

Seattle Cops Double Bill From Seals

SEATTLE, May 29. (AP) — Seattle took the Coast League double-header from San Francisco here today, winning the first, 4 to 3, and the second, 7 to 3.

The last game was protested by San Francisco. In the opener Umpire Westervelt removed O'Doul, left-fielder, and Walter Mails, pitcher, for protesting a decision, and also ruled them out of the second game. The protest was on the grounds that the umpire was not empowered to keep the two players out of the second game for protesting his decision in the first.

Homers by Suhr, Seal second-baseman, in the opener, and Hudgens and Hufft of Seattle in the second, featured the double-header Scores:

tem will provide better balance and also has enabled them to lower the heighth of the car to eliminate wind resistance.

MILTON RETURNS

An outstanding feature of tomorrow's race will be Tommy Milton's return to the game after eighteen months retirement. Milton devoted six months to building a car of his own design and had nominated Cliff Durant, millionaire sportsman, as the driver. Durant became ill suddenly several days ago, and Milton declared he would take the wheel himself. Milton is the only living driver to win the 500-mile race twice.

At the start three cars will be lined up in each row, with Lockhart, De Paolo and Duray heading the field. Lockhart will have the pole position by virtue of having made the fastest time.

Rain put a crimp in the practice jaunts and the qualifying trials to such a point that only three drivers were permitted to try successfully today for places in the line-up. When Fred France, the last driver to try to qualify, made an average speed of 106 miles an hour, he pushed L. L. Corum, winner with Joe Boyer in 1924, out of the line-up. France was the thirty-fourth driver to qualify. The race is limited to the thirty-three fastest cars. Corum's time was the slowest of all.

Thousands of speed fans dashed into the city today, creating such a traffic jam that it was necessary to call out additional details of traffic police. Most of the cars were headed for the speedway. They lined up around the inclosure.

The line of parked automobiles which began forming several days ago, had extended for several miles before nightfall. It is estimated more than 100,000 will see the event.

NEW ISSUE IN DAMAGE SUIT

Continue Efforts to Collect From Pasadena

Case Dates Back to Collapse of Grand Stand

First Action Thrown Out on Demurrer

PASADENA, May 29.—The City Attorney's office is preparing an amended answer in the damage suit against the municipality filed in Superior Court by George W. Padgham and Bernard J. Wellman, attorneys for eighty persons who were injured in the collapse of a street grand stand here New Year's Day, 1926, and who are attempting to collect damages from the city.

In the original suit, Judge Schmidt sustained Pasadena's demurrer in which it was stated that the city is not legally responsible for injuries of this type. In the amendment to the original complaint, Attorneys Padgham and Wellman now contend that Pasadena derives financial benefit from the Tournament of Roses and New Year's Day intersectional football game, that the city has already made $1,500,000 from the pageant and its adjuncts, that grand stands are a necessary part of the city's effort to take care of the crowds, and that the city should have seen that the stands were properly constructed.

Although city officials believed that Pasadena is not legally liable for the injuries sustained by persons injured in the collapse of the stand, the citizens voted a fund of $100,000 for relief immediately after the accident. All of this money has been distributed.

Commencement Exercises at Quaker School

WHITTIER, May 29. — Plans are complete for the twenty-fourth annual commencement exercises at Whittier College, beginning Sunday, June 5, with the baccalaureate address to be given by President Walter Friar Dexter, and closing Thursday evening with the alumni banquet.

Aside from the fifty-five students to be graduated, degrees are to be conferred upon Dr. William John Cooper, superintendent of public instruction of the State of California, and Rev. Willard O. Trueblood, pastor of the local Friends Church, which, in point of membership and construction, is the largest Friends Church in the world.

The degree of doctor of laws will be conferred upon Dr. Cooper and that of doctor of divinity on Dr. Trueblood.

The commencement address is to be given to the graduates by Dr. Cooper at the Friends Church Thursday morning at 9:30, followed by the commencement dinner at noon.

"The Copperhead" has been selected by the senior class as their play to be given Wednesday evening in the college amphitheater. The play is by Augustus Thomas and the cast is directed by Prof. Eugene Knox, member of the faculty.

Tuesday, June 7, is to be given over largely to alumni affairs, and the big annual athletic event of the commencement week, the alumni-varsity baseball game, will be played on Albertson Field in the afternoon, preceded by a business meeting of the alumni. The Masque and Cymbal Society of the college will present the colorful opera "Robin Hood," by Reginald De Koven, Tuesday evening in the high school auditorium, with Prof. Howard L. Hockett, head of the department of vocal music, directing.

COMMENCE BUILDING AZUSA DAM RAILROAD

AZUSA, May 29.—With material arriving daily, construction of the eleven-mile railroad and highway from Azusa to the site of the $25,000,000 San Gabriel dam will start about June 6 when first shipments of rails are expected to arrive here, according to R. H. Travers, contractor, who will lay the ties and rails and pave the highway.

The ties arrived this week and will be distributed along the right of way just as soon as the County Supervisors accept the roadbed, which has been completed by the Nevada Contracting Company.

The canyon highway will be surfaced with crushed rock and oil and the contractor estimated that the section between Azusa and the river will be completed by the time the bridge is really to continue with the upper section.

Appraisal of canyon land above the dam site is now being made. It is estimated that the completed dam will form a lake with a shore line of thirty miles.

PAY PREMIUM FOR HIGH SCHOOL BONDS

HUNTINGTON PARK, May 29.—A block of bonds to the amount of $300,000 in the Huntington Park Union High School district have been sold by the County Supervisors to the Harris Trust and Savings Bank of Chicago, through their Los Angeles branch office. The Middle-West concern submitted a joint bid with the Anglo-California Securities Company, it is understood, the premium offered by these concerns being $25,020, one-twelfth of the value of the bonds being sold. This amount is from the recent bond issue of $650,000 voted. The first buildings to be erected will be a part-time school building and a boys' gymnasium. The remaining part of the bond issue voted will be used for the purchase of additional grounds in this city and in South Gate.

TIE FOR INDORSEMENT

PASADENA, May 29.—A vote of the Pasadena Bar Association on a suitable candidate to recommend to Gov. Young for Judge of the Superior Court branch which is expected to be established in Pasadena has resulted in a tie between Raymond J. Thompson and A. L. Rowland. The attorneys will meet again Tuesday to break the tie.

CELEBRATE GOLDEN WEDDING

Venerable Monrovia Couple Honored

After Fifty Happy Years

Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Wathey renew pledges made in Ohio town half a century ago.

MONROVIA, May 29.—With three children and their families here to help them celebrate, Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Wathey, 231 North Myrtle avenue, tomorrow will observe the fiftieth anniversary of their marriage with a wedding dinner at their home.

Helping them celebrate the occasion will be the following children: R. L. Wathey, Monrovia, and his wife and children, Betty, Robert and Ralph, Jr.; J. F. Wathey, Los Angeles, member of the editorial staff of The Los Angeles Times, and his son and wife, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Wathey of Glendale, who is connected with the Los Angeles Herald, and Mrs. E. J. Nash, who arrived today from Butte, Mont.

Mr. and Mrs. Wathey have another son, M. J. Wathey of New York, who will not be present for the celebration. He is city editor on the New York Evening Telegram.

Born within two miles of each other in Augusta, Ohio, Mr. and Mrs. Wathey culminated their childhood romance on May 30, 1877, in Augusta, where their fathers and mothers were born and raised. Mrs. Wathey's maiden name was Jesse Westfall.

Eleven years after their marriage, Mr. and Mrs. Wathey moved to Butte, Mont., where they lived for thirty years, during which time Mr. Wathey was superintendent of the Butte Electric Railway. The couple moved to Monrovia in 1917.

Mr. Wathey was born August 8, 1852, while Mrs. Wathey was born November 9, 1856. Both enjoy good health and recall many pleasant memories during their fifty years of married life.

MODERN HOTEL AT LAGUNA

Company of Local Capitalists Plan to Spend Million for Resort Hostelry

LAGUNA BEACH, May 29.—Plans have been prepared for a $1,000,000 hotel to span Boat Canyon. The project has the indorsement of Frank A. Miller, proprietor of the Glenwood Mission Inn at Riverside and is indorsed by Laguna Beach capital. The hotel is to have 240 rooms. The officers of La Casa De Laguna are James B. Neel, president and cashier of the Citizens' Bank, Laguna Beach, president; George S. Johnston, head of the Coast Engineering and Construction Company, vice-president; Mrs. B. N. Adams, secretary, and Jack E. Adams, general manager. These officers comprise the directorate, together with Attorney O. G. Hoegstedt of Los Angeles.

A statement given out by the company through General Manager Adams says: "Having purchased what is said to be about the most advantageously located and picturesque site in this locality the Casa De Laguna Company formulated plans and prepared drawings and specifications for the erection of a modern hotel that will measure up to the very highest standard attainable. The company which will finance and complete the construction of the building is composed of men of unimpeachable character and reputation and the project is presented to the public after a year of careful consideration and planning of each and every detail necessary to the successful completion of what will be an undertaking of much magnitude.

Overlooking the ocean and coast line from one of the choicest view points in Laguna the proposed hotel will occupy a site approximately 200 by 500 feet extending from Cliff Drive to the Coast Boulevard.

The main and central portion of the building is carried to a height of six stories, the top floor, 80 x 80 feet, to serve as a solarium and tea room. Besides housing innumerable tropical plants a feature will be introduced for this section of the building in the maintaining of an aquarium where many species of salt-water fish will be kept on display. Toward the west of the main section servants' quarters will be provided. From the levels of both Cliff Drive and the Coast Boulevard and extending from street to street a fireproof garage will be erected for the accommodation of 200 cars.

SERVE LUNCHEON TO FORMER SERVICE MEN

MONROVIA, May 29.—With all patriotic organizations participating, Monrovia will observe Memorial Day tomorrow with the usual parade down Myrtle avenue to Live Oak Cemetery where a program will be held.

Addresses at the cemetery will be made by Archie Vernon, prominent Los Angeles Legionnaire, for Monrovia Legion, Post 44, while Dr. J. S. Allison of Monrovia will speak for the local G.A.R. post. Ritualistic services by several veteran organizations will be followed by decoration of nearly 100 graves of Civil War, Spanish-American and World War graves.

A luncheon for members of all patriotic organizations and an afternoon patriotic program will be held in the Knights of Pythias Hall, under auspices of the Women's Relief Corps.

HIDDEN SWEETS ARE CAUSE BOYS' DOWNFALL

MONTEREY PARK, May 29.—Fourteen grammar-school boys were rounded up by the police and admitted to breaking into a store on Garvey avenue and stealing candy and other articles. The boys were later taken to their homes where various methods of punishment awaited them.

The candy store has been closed for several days but the stock remained. A hole had been cut through one wall of the building and, according to the confessions obtained from the lads, one of them crawled through and acted as storekeeper, passing out the chocolate bars and other dainties to his friends as they called out their orders.

SHORT MEMORIAL PROGRAM

HUNTINGTON PARK, May 29.—Patriotic societies under the auspices of the Fort Sumter Circle, Ladies of the G.A.R., will give a short memorial program at the city park here Monday morning at 10 o'clock, at which time Mayor Jerome Scofield will deliver the address and fourteen girls from the public schools will give a musical program. Dr. Ralph Barrett will also give a short address, and a reading will be given by Betty Anna Johnson. Rev. R. H. Newton will give a talk to the patriotic organizations on Sunday morning at the First Christian Church.

BELIEVES IN BOXING

"Uncle Ben" Pearson Defends Manly Art at Church Banquet

INGLEWOOD, May 29.—"I believe a man can be a devout member of the church and still enjoy a good, clean boxing bout," it was declared here last night by "Uncle Ben" Pearson, president of the board of trustees of the Whittier State School for Boys and a member of the California State Prison Board, addressing the Brotherhood dinner of the First Presbyterian Church.

Fred R. Pardee, president of the Brotherhood and prominent local sportsman, told of "Uncle Ben's" personal prowess with the gloves and how he had on various occasions "cleaned up" on local champions, on one occasion his opponent lasting only one round.

Mr. Pearson, a veteran Southern California Edison Company official, told of his conversion to Christianity at a meeting which he and a gang of young roughs had attended with the avowed purpose of "busting up the psalm singers' show."

In closing, the speaker paid a glowing tribute to the late Fred C. Nelles, superintendent of the State School for Boys at Whittier, and told how the latter had done so much in making good citizens out of youngsters who had started life on the wrong road.

BODY OF SURF VICTIM REMAINS UNIDENTIFIED

SANTA MONICA, May 29.—No marks of identification have been found on the body of a woman discovered at 6 o'clock this morning at the foot of Wilshire Boulevard, apparently washed ashore by the surf. Frank Bradley, night watchman at the Miramar Beach Club, found the body, and Police Lieutenant Randall of Santa Monica believes it to be a suicide case, with no apparent signs of foul play.

The woman was about 60 years of age, gray haired, five feet six inches in height, weighed about 140 pounds, and she wore a white dress with red and blue flower design, black hose, low brown shoes, black sweater coat and shell-rimmed glasses. Seven cents were tied up in a yellow handkerchief and knotted to a shoulderstrap of a garment. The body is at the Todd and Leslie undertaking rooms.

OLD RESORT TO OPEN

COALINGA, May 29.—Great improvement has been made on the Sierra-to-the-Sea road during the past month. The Parfeld grade has been greatly improved by repairing, the heavy road grading equipment of Supervisor Gonser of Fresno county being used on the work. Points have been cut down and there has been much widening of curves. The entire grade has been widened and put into better condition than it ever has been. The Fresno Hot Springs, owned by the Kreyenhagens, pioneer health resort which has not been open for many years, is to be reopened this year, and improvement of the road will do much to again popularize the resort.

NEW BANK OFFICIAL

HUNTINGTON PARK, May 29.—J. N. Robinson, manager and vice-president of the local bank of the Pacific Southwest Trust and Savings Bank, announces that R. B. McCowan, who for four years, was collection teller at the bank, has been promoted to assistant manager, this making two assistant managers of the local institution, the other being George C. Reimer.

SHORTEST NAME IN VALLEY

In All of Owensmouth Man's Moniker There Are Four Letters of Alphabet

OWENSMOUTH, May 29.—Every once in a while there is a newspaper comment somewhere about a fellow who has a long and unpronounceable name, but Ed Ow of Owensmouth claims to have the shortest and is proud of it because of the time it saves when he signs checks.

"I used to know an Indian back in Ardmore, Okla., who went by the name of 'Ugh,'" Ow said today. "His moniker beats mine by one letter."

PROPRIETOR FORCED TO OPEN SAFE

Two-Gun Bandits Compel Santa Monica Man to Work Combination of Strong Box

SANTA MONICA, May 29.—Lee H. Young, head of one of the largest grocery and market concerns in the Santa Monica bay district, was compelled to open the safe in his main store late last night and hand over $3200 in money and checks to a pair of thugs, each of whom carried two guns.

While Young was reporting his loss at the Santa Monica police station, Max Maef, 3656 Jasmine street, Culver City, entered to report the theft of his Chrysler sport-body roadster; and this car, it developed, was the one used by the thugs in the Young hold-up.

Young reported that he had closed his store late Saturday night, and had entered his car, parked at the curb near Fifth street and Santa Monica Boulevard, where his main store is located. Two men, he said, stepped out of a Chrysler roadster parked near his machine. One of the men pressed a gun into Young's side and compelled him to remain seated quietly until late traffic on the boulevard had cleared.

Young was then compelled to enter the store and open his safe. H. Enlaw, manager of the store, passed the corner and noted a light in the office. When he attempted to enter the other thug held him up with a gun and compelled him to sit in Young's car, still parked outside. After the robbery, Young was forced to drive his own machine ahead of the other, and the thugs disappeared when Central avenue and Twenty-eighth street was reached. At 3:30 this morning Venice police found the stolen roadster abandoned in front of a lumber yard on Washington Boulevard near Rose avenue. The Sheriff's office and all bay district police are working on the case.

Holiday Crowd Fills San Diego to Overflowing

SAN DIEGO, May 29. — With San Diego and Tia Juana as their destination, the forerunners of a record-breaking Memorial Day crowd started coming down the coast yesterday. For the most part the holiday throng came from Los Angeles and its environs, but hundreds of automobiles from cities as far north as San Francisco were in the parade. Hotels in this city were well filled last night, and all announced heavy reservations for tomorrow. Garages also did a big business.

The crowd, according to traffic officers and officials, is one of the greatest on record. It was declared to be on a par with the crowd which saw the Coffroth Handicap at Tia Juana a few months ago. It also was compared with the usual Fourth of July crowds that come to San Diego for their celebration.

The influx of visitors started early yesterday, and was still coming in a steady stream late today. City Marshal Charles Goss of Oceanside declared he expected to see the flow of traffic at its height tonight. The crowd was reported by Goss to be an orderly one, there being no serious accidents and a minimum of minor troubles.

The crowd was unusual in that a large number of the motorists were bound no place in particular. They had loaded their machines with camping outfits and were "just driving" until they came to a place where they desired to make camp. This was evidenced by the fact that practically all beach space suitable for camping between Oceanside and Delmar is occupied.

COMMENCEMENT IN KINGS

HANFORD, May 29.—With all the high schools of this county closing next week, June 3, the 113 graduates of Hanford High will be given their diplomas that evening. A. Ray Moore of Los Angeles, an institute field worker among young people for the past four years, will deliver the address, having for his subject, "Is Education a Camouflage?"

Great interest centers on the alumni meeting of the school, whose thirty-four classes are expected to be represented. Several of the older members of the alumni have sons and daughters who will be present at the alumni banquet as members of later-date classes.

ELECTION WITHOUT CONTEST

MONROVIA, May 29.—The annual election of directors by the Monrovia Chamber of Commerce was abandoned yesterday when the election committee declared the seven candidates for the directorate elected without a formal vote. Seven places were to be filled and there were only seven candidates.

Life in the Great Outdoors

Summer outing furnished undernourished children in mountains near Sequoia National Park

THREE RIVERS, May 29.—Kawean Kiddie Kamp in "Punkin Holler," located on the banks of the Kaweath River near Hammond, is a "land of promise" to scores of children of Tulare county. Not only is it a delightful location for a mountain outing, but it also promises a good start on the road to "wellville" and sturdy childhood.

The camp is maintained near the mountain hamlet of Three Rivers, en route to Sequoia National Park. Here the kiddies, through supervised play and exercise, live, sleep and have their fun beneath the California sky and spreading trees. It is maintained for undernourished children of the county who are inclined toward those diseases predisposing tuberculosis, as part of the campaign against the "white plague" waged by the Tulare Tuberculosis Association.

Dr. J. Tracy Melvin, president of the county organization, lends his assistance. A. J. Milles of Lindsay is executive secretary. Half-orphans or children who would not have this chance at health are favored, none being admitted who are diseased. They are examined and tested by physicians and nurses. Athletic instructors supervise their play and exercise. The most wholesome food is served. Hospital quarters are maintained for the ailing.

Throughout the county kindly men and women donate of their time, money and talent toward success and maintenance of the camp. Many benefit entertainments are held to raise funds. Donations of clothing, food, toys and magazines are made. Frequently county artists give entertainments for the little folks. Children are recommended by the school or community nurses. The drive for funds continues until the 28th inst.

Six Injured in Auto Accident Near San Diego

SANTA ANA, May 29.—Six persons were injured, two seriously, in an automobile accident near San Juan Capistrano today, according to a Sheriff's office report. The injured are Joe Farrell, Los Angeles, head injuries, condition serious, at Santa Ana Valley Hospital; C. Elliott, 2525 Harvard Boulevard, Los Angeles, cut and bruised; Walter Becktel, Coronado, collar bone broken; Maelyn Becktel, 9 years of age, cut and bruised; Mrs. Mary Rankin, mother of Mrs. Becktel, back injured, gash on forehead, condition serious.

Many minor automobile accidents were reported today, the traffic being the heaviest in years.

ACREAGE IN WASH DONATED TO PARK

LANKERSHIM, May 29.—In drawing up the deeds between G. H. and A. H. Prince with the Park Commissioners for the Lankershim Park site, four acres of land in the Lankershim wash were donated by the Princes. G. H. Prince is selling eighty small cabins which he used in the auto camp in the eucalyptus grove at Magnolia Boulevard and Tujunga avenue, and the park commission will take possession of the park site as soon as the deeds go through escrow. Every move is being made to get the new ninety-acre Lankershim Park ready for use. Outside of Memory Park near San Fernando Mission, the park here will be the first of its kind in the valley.

NEW BANK DIRECTOR

MONROVIA, May 29.—Frank K. Berry, Battle Creek (Mich.) stove manufacturer, has become a director of the Citizens' Bank of Monrovia, it was announced today, and will make his home in Monrovia in the future. Mr. Berry is president of the A-B Stove Company of Battle Creek and Los Angeles, also president of the Marshall Furnace Company of Marshall, Mich.

PASADENA OBSERVES HOLIDAY

Crown City Will Pay Honor to Heroes of All American Wars Today

PASADENA, May 29.—Two public gatherings, a large parade through the streets of the city and the decoration of soldiers' graves will be the outstanding features of Memorial Day observance in Pasadena tomorrow.

Dr. William Bennett Munro, of the faculties of Harvard University and the California Institute of Technology, and a noted educator and historian, will give the principal address at the open-air services to be held in Memorial Park at 10:30 a.m. under the auspices of the John Godfrey Post, Grand Army of the Republic. An extensive musical program in which the G.A.R. fife and drum corps will participate, flag-raising ceremonies and other features will be a part in this program.

Another memorial service will be held at 8:45 a.m. in the American Legion clubhouse under the auspices of the Legionnaires. Rev. Bradford Leavitt will be the chief speaker, and there will be singing and placing of tablets in the building in honor of soldiers who gave their lives in battle.

The parade, in which patriotic orders, fraternal organizations, school pupils, Boy Scouts and bands will march, will proceed from Colorado street and Lake avenue to Memorial Park.

The local ost of the G.A.R. has a membership of 156 living veterans of the Civil War and is the third largest in California, being exceeded by Los Angeles and Long Beach. More than a score of members have died during the last year.

VARIETY OF CHARGES

Alhambra Youth Has Much to Answer For

ALHAMBRA, May 29.—Allen Brown, 16 years of age, of 1631 Delta avenue, Wilmar, spent last night in the City Jail charged with five traffic violations. His father will also have something to say to him when he gets out.

At 2:30 o'clock this morning Police Officers Kuhn and Strinz saw a sedan speeding on Valley Boulevard at Fremont avenue. They set out to question the driver, but the latter didn't want to be overtaken. Over several miles of Alhambra streets, sixty miles an hour, the police car followed the sedan. Finally the latter was run down in Wilmar and Brown and three other boys got out. His companions were released and Brown was brought to the station.

He told the officers that his father had forbidden him to use the family car, but that he had taken it out, met his friends and gone to the beach. Brown was wearing his pajamas under his other clothes.

The youth was booked on charges of reckless driving, failing to stop at the signal of a police car, driving a car without the owner's consent, tampering with a vehicle without the owner's consent and driving without an operator's license.

HOLD MUSIC FESTIVAL

INGLEWOOD, May 29.—Prominent musicians of Inglewood and vicinity are planning a grand musical festival to be held early in the summer, the proceeds of which will be used to start a fund known as the Inglewood Orchestral Instrument fund. This will be used to aid promising pupils possessing more than the average musical talent, but who have not the means to pay for advanced lessons or to purchase costly instruments.

At a recent session of the National League of Women Voters it was voted to study prohibition with a view of including a dry plank in its campaign platform.

Species of Wild Gladiolus to be Show's Feature

VAN NUYS, May 29.—Dr. A. D. Houghton of San Fernando, authority on floral genetics and gladiolus culture, has the best collection of the original wild species of gladiolus on the Pacific Coast and probably in the United States. They will be sown at the flower show to be given here by the San Fernando Valley Flower and Bulb Growers' Association on June 10 and 11, next, in the display rooms of the William A. Prix Motor Company.

The collection was imported from South Africa, Turkey and points alongside the Mediterranean Sea. These species are priceless because it is from the wild gladiolus that hybridists ar able to evolve the countless end of gladiolus varieties. In the collection is the gladiolus tristis, the only perfumed gladiolus among the original wild species.

C. L. Milne, president of the association, also will exhibit at the show. Milne is another gladiolus authority. In his gladiolus gardens at Woodman avenue and Payton street he has growing more than 200 varieties of the flower, all evolved by pollinating the flowers. Milne's most valued floral possession is a rare gladiolus bulb just now putting its first shoot through the soil. The bulb is valued at $100. Later it will be used as a parent flower from which new crosses will be evolved.

BETTER SERVICE

Mail and Telephone at Temple to Be Improved

TEMPLE, May 29.—Radical changes are expected in the near future in mail delivery and telephone service for the residnts of Tmple and surrounding districts.

On June 1, a rural mail delivery service will be established in Temple, it has been announced, instead of the present San Gabriel and Arcadia service.

A new system of telephone operation is being planned, according to information given at several mass meetings of citizens and telephone officials.

It is planned to place an exchange in Temple that will include a portion of West Arcadia, South Santa Anita and extend south to Valley Boulevard and west to Michillinda.

Under the proposed new plan, Temple's telephone rates will be reduced, while a portion of West Arcadia will be unable to obtain free service to other parts of Arcadia. The rate from Temple to Los Angeles will be reduced to a minimum charge of 10 cents. The present Temple rates are high, it is contended, business houses paying $7 per month and private homes costing $3.

The proposed plan is expected to encounter opposition from West Arcadia residents.

MANDATE HALTS OIL SEARCH

Temporary Order Issued to Stop Drilling on Asserted Ground of Fraud in Rindge Estate Rezoning

Exploratory drilling by the Standard Oil Company on the Pico Boulevard property of May K. Rindge, north of Culver City, was ordered halted Saturday by Presiding Judge Wood of the Superior Court, in a temporary restraining order which was issued upon application of F. W. Forrester, Harry H. Culver, the Pacific Military Academy and other owners of near-by realty.

The order was made in a suit filed Saturday by the applicants wherein they ask that the drilling operations be permanently enjoined and assert that false statements and representations were made before the City Planning Commission and the City Council in proceedings last March for the rezoning of Mrs. Rindge's property.

The matter, under Judge Wood's order, will be heard by Judge Shaw on June 2, in proceedings for a temporary injunction, to hold up further drilling pending trial of the suit for a permanent injunction. The applicants posted a $5000 bond yesterday to secure the Standard Oil Company and the Marblehead Land Company—Mrs. Rindge's holding concern—from damage they might sustain if it later be found that the temporary restraining order was improvidently issued.

The complaint was prepared by Attorney Louis Pink of the firm of Nolan & Preston, counsel for the Merchants' National Trust and Savings Bank, one of the plaintiffs. It recites that the whole affected district was zoned for strictly residential purposes prior to last March 28, when a rezoning ordinance was adopted, classifying Mrs. Rindge's property in Zone E, and thus throwing it open for practically any usage, including exploitation of possible oil resources.

This ordinance, it is recited, was passed upon the recommendation of the City Planning Commission. The plaintiffs complain that both the commission and the Council acted without notice to them, and that the showing made by the Marblehead Land Company, to obtain the rezoning was based upon material misrepresentation of conditions.

The Marblehead Land Company, it is charged, asserted that the adjacent property is unimproved, whereas, the complainants declare that they have spent several million dollars in improving it for strictly residential use, and that other persons have invested additional millions in fine homes in the territory. It is further charged that the Marblehead Land Company represented itself to be the only owner of land in the affected district, whereas the plaintiffs say they own land directly affected.

Drilling operations in the district, the plaintiffs submit, would ruin their property for residential purposes and cause them damages almost impossible to compute. Therefore, they ask that the court permanently restrain any drilling and declare the rezoning ordinance invalid.

Operations at Katherine Mine Make Headway

KATHERINE (Ariz.) May 29. (Exclusive)—A sump and an ore pocket are being cut for twenty-five feet below the 900 level of the Katherine shaft, the work to be complete in two weeks. Then is to be cross-cutting on the level, north and south, for opening of new production areas. The south vein will be struck at about 225 feet from the shaft and the north vein at materially shorter distance. The south area, explored several years ago by drilling, is expected to show about thirty feet of ore, averaging $35 in gold, but the width may be much more than has been developed. On the other side, the vein has been developed by a shaft to 600 feet of depth. A late visitor to the property from San Francisco, was Charles Sutro, president of the Katherine Company, accompanied by B. W. Ballat, a mining engineer, who also is a director in the corporation.

Work in the Treasure Vault property is to be concentrated on the shaft till a new level has been started at 600 feet. The vein has been well opened at 450 feet, but the company expects to do its principal exploration at 1000 feet, where will be crosscutting to the ore and drifting along the veins.

Gold Property Will be Handled by Kofa Mining

YUMA (Ariz.) May 29. (Exclusive) The Johnson-McDonald gold strike at Kofa, on the desert, seventy miles northeast of Yuma, is to be handled by the Kofa Mines Consolidated Company, Inc., with $5,000,000 capitalization. Authorization has been given by the Corporation Commission for sale of 400,000 shares at $1, for equipping the mine and for installation of a 100-ton mill.

Bids for this machinery are being received by the secretary, J. Fred Hoover. At the head of the company is E. N. Fries, a New York capitalist. A townsite has been laid off and an ample water supply is said to have been assured.

The discovery has caused renewed interest in older mines of the Kofa district, with inclusion of the King of Arizona and North Star, which are only a short distance away. Fred L. DeWitt of Los Angeles is reported to have purchased, the Jumbo groups, A and B adjoining the McDonald property on the north. Mayhew was the discoverer of the North Star, which he sold for $500,000. Judson Johnson is said to have bonded his New King claims.

MINING CLAIMS SOLD

Three in Randsburg Section Taken at $15,000 Consideration

RANDSBURG, May 29. (Exclusive) Deeds to three mining claims in the Randsburg district, involving cash consideration of $15,000, have been filed for record.

They were purchased by the Consolidated Mines Company from F. K. Seaman of Los Angeles, and are in the vicinity of the Good Hope and Grannis Land Company properties. One claim sold for $5400 and the other two for $4800 each.

LARGE SUM INVOLVED IN KERN DEALS

BAKERSFIELD, May 29. (Exclusive)—Leases and other agreements covering 720 acres in Kern county and involving a total consideration of $700,000 have just been filed here.

Calling for a total consideration of $600,000, A. W. McPherson and J. D. Keene have deeded to the Midland Oilfields Company, Ltd., eighty acres of developed oil property east of Maricopa, and near Pentland Junction on Maricopa Flat. The real property involved is the north half of the southeast quarter of Sec. 4, 11-23, together with all tools, derricks, pipe lines, boilers and other equipment.

Two hundred and twenty-five thousand dollars is to be paid to the sellers and $375,000 to the Califrolleum Oil and Gas Company upon completion of a well now being drilled, according to the agreement.

In the Union-avenue district, George F. Getty, Inc., has leased 43.83 acres of the east half of Sec. 8, 30-28 from Mr. and Mrs. Emil W. Burr and H. S. Jewett. According to reports, an additional thirteen acres in the same area has been taken by Getty. Four wells are to be drilled on the forty-three acres, the first within three years. Royalty is to be one-eighth.

The General Petroleum Corporation has taken over leases covering 320 acres of Harry Quinn land on Sec. 14, 25-27, in the Jasmine district, by assignment from T. L. Meehan and Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Gettle, B. R. Fitzgerald, George N. Scofield, D. L. Shiffiet and George W. McClintick.

The corporation has taken over the southeast quarter of the section and Scofield, McClintick, Shiffiet, Fitzgerald, H. J. Ferguson, Charles Biggar, Fred V. Reed and S. H. Weber have assigned a lease, covering the southwest quarter of the same section, to the oil organization.

Dudley Group of Mines Declared on Main Fissure

In a report of an inspection of the M. B. Dudley group of mines in the Katherine district, Mojave county, Arizona, Walter Gordon Clark, consulting engineer, states that the ore body disclosed indicates that both the Katherine Treasure Vault and the Treasure Vault Extension mines are located on the main fissure of the district.

In an interview Mr. Clark stated: "On the 410-foot level of the Katherine Treasure Vault mine the formation showed the vein sloping the same dip and pitch as the veins in the Katherine producing mine adjoining. The vein matter is a strong replacement of calcite with silica and iron showing free gold values. The end of the drift is now in ore and cross-cuts are under way to the east and west.

"The side-walls have not yet been uncovered so the width is yet unknown. Indications are that it will probably be forty to fifty feet in width. As soon as the full extent of the vein is disclosed, the entire face will be sampled for the purpose of determining average values. Present indications point to a good grade of milling ore."

Venezuela Oil Boom Reported Petering Out

TAMPICO (Mex.) May 29. (Exclusive)—The oil boom in Venezuela, which a few months ago was heralded as the next big oil field of the world, is slumping badly, according to oil men who are drifting back to Tampico from the Maracaibo basin. According to these men, far too many field workers flocked to Venezuela before the big companies were ready for them, and now jobs are scarce, wages comparatively low and climatic conditions bad.

There undoubtedly is a good deal of oil in Venezuela, these returning workers say, but the Venezuelan government appears to be less friendly to foreign development than it was, and the big American companies there are curtailing development, they declare.

HOPI COAL MINE TO BE DEVELOPED

FLAGSTAFF (Ariz.) May 29. (Exclusive)—At Keams Canyon, Supt. E. K. Miller of the Hopi Indian agency is wiring electric current to a near-by coal mine that is being developed for agency uses. Four coal measures are being worked. There is little hope of extensive development, because the Santa Fe Railroad, the nearest cheap transportation, lies at least seventy miles distant.

The coal is a lignite, but of high grade, far better than that of the Gallup field in Western New Mexico, it is asserted. The Gallup coal is full of sulphur and will slack after exposure to the atmosphere. This Gallup coal is much used along the Santa Fe and even finds favor for domestic purposes in Los Angeles and other southwestern cities, but a comparative test between Gallup and Navajo reservation coal, made by the Santa Fe, showed that the reservation coal had at least 50 per cent greater efficiency for steam-making than the coal from New Mexico.

The Arizona coal is bright, not at all dirty to handle, contains very little sulphur, if any, and will not slack on exposure. It has been used for domestic purposes and even in blacksmiths' forges, and found quite satisfactory.

RICHFIELD UNION OIL OUTPUT UP

New Completion in Field Boosts Daily Figures to 7600 Barrels

With the completion of its Ayers and Parsons well in the Richfield district, the Union Oil Company of California has increased its daily production by 520 barrels. The new producer was drilled to 4525 feet. The gravity of the oil is 24 degrees. This completion gives the Union a daily output of approximately 7600 barrels at Richfield.

Other Union wells drilling in this district, some of which are expected to be flowing into the tanks shortly are the T. & B. No. 9 which is drilling at 4127 feet, Y.L.G. No. 10 drilling at 2038 feet, Y.L.G. No. 13 drilling at 2988 feet and Y. L. G. No. 14 at 2966 feet. The latter is being placed on production.

On its Chapman property at Richfield the Union is drilling two wells. The Chapman No. 26 is drilling ahead at 4810 feet and the No. 27 is drilling at 2995 feet.

In addition to Stern No. 3 which was recently completed and is now producing 220 barrels daily, Union has five wells drilling on the Stern lease.

In Brea Canyon the Union is drilling two wells. They are Stearns No. 69 drilling at 3069 feet and Stearns No. 70 drilling at 4456 feet. Completion of these welsl will round out Union's drilling program on that property, which it owns in fee and from which it is now obtaining nearly 3000 barrels daily with an additional 5000 barrels daily shut in production.

OLD MINE MAY OPEN

Silver King Property Expected to Operate Shortly

YUMA (Ariz.) May 29. (Exclusive) A desert property on which early activity is promised is the Silver King, forty miles from here, owned by Burt Dunlap, a noted Arizona pioneer, and S. P. Huss.

This mine has shipped large quantities of silver ore and is said to have on its dumps thousands of tons of 18 per cent lead ore. Its main development is a 100-foot tunnel, giving inadequate depth.

ALAMITOS FIND REVIVES HOPES

Discovery by Pan-American Event of Week

Expert Opinion Inclines to Minimize Value

Meantime Output of Townlot Field Declines

The possibility that a deeper oil zone may be developed in the fast-declining town-lot area of Alamitos Heights at Seal Beach, became a factor for consideration last week, when the Pan-American Petroleum Company drilled its Marquis No. 1 well through about 175 feet of oil-bearing formation extending from a depth near 4720 feet to 4900 feet.

No official report on the operation of the Marquis No. 1 is obtainable from Doheny officials, but the general opinion of geologists familiar with the field is that the extra thickness of the Marquis penetration is probably a continuation of the Selover zone which has furnished all the Alamitos Heights production to date. So far as is known Pan-American did not find intermediate water such as has been found in previous attempts to develop deeper production.

The effect which this new development may have on the total production of the field has developed much difference of opinion among Alamitos Heights operators. The generally accepted view is that the area in which the additional penetration may be available is extremely limited—probably not more than two or three blocks in the Naples area.

It is pointed out that other wells have demonstrated rather definitely that it is not possible to drill more than sixty or seventy feet into the Selover zone, without picking up water.

Meantime the production of the wells in the town-lot area continues to decline, in many cases the wells going off production altogether. This is true in the case of the earliest and most prolific wells in the field—the Cleaver and Naples wells of J. Paul Getty and the Pan-American, several of which have ceased to produce because of lack of pressure.

In the older part of the field, where close drilling has not been practiced the wells continue to come in with gratifying output. Both the Standard Oil Company, and the Associated Oil Company brought in wells during the week with initial production of more than 2000 barrels per day.

The Associated completion, Bryant No. 21, was particularly interesting because of its location only sixty feet from the 4620-foot hole, Bryant No. 1, drilled by the Shell Company three years ago. The Associated drilled its well 200 feet deeper than the old Bryant No. 1, and that difference proved to be the difference between a 2500-barrel well, and a well which made only forty barrels of oil and 1500 barrels of water. Shell had many obstacles to overcome in drilling its pioneer well, not the least of these being unexpected pressures which caused a couple of blowouts, and made it mechanically impracticable to drill the hole any deeper. But for this trouble, the Seal Beach field might have been brought in three years ago.

The Associated success with its Bryant No. 21 demonstrates the productivity on both sides of the fault which traverses the northeastern end of the field. The fault causes a difference of 200 feet in the stratigraphy of the field, the main area of Seal Beach being about 200 feet higher than the northeastern end.

NEW ACTIVITY AT MINE INDICATED

WICKENBURG (Ariz.) May 29. (Exclusive)—New activity at the mines of the United Vanadium Corporation, near Wickenburg, is indicated by a recent visit of Frank R. Wicks of Los Angeles, consulting engineer. He sampled some new discoveries of ore and studied the mill equipment with a view to increasing its capacity.

GASOLINE STORY ON SCREEN

Evolution of Gallon from Start of Drilling for Crude to Delivery to Auto Being Filmed

The picturization of the evolution of a gallon of gasoline from the time the operator begins to think about drilling for the crude to the time when the gasoline is pumped into the motorists' tank, is being conducted by the United States Bureau of Mines, with the co-operation of the American Petroleum Institute. A crew of cameramen and engineers is now touring California oil fields in this connection.

The filming of the petroleum motion picture is being directed by M. F. Leopold, an engineer of the Bureau of Mines, who during the past week photographed some of the big refineries and producing fields of the Los Angeles Basin. From here he and his party go north through the San Joaquin Valley fields, and then turn east through Utah and Colorado. On their way to the West Coast the party photographed the southern and midcontinent fields.

The idea of making a film of the petroleum industry was suggested at the last session of the A.P.I. at Tulsa, where an appropriation of $25,000 was made for the purpose. The end in view is the promulgating among the American people of a clearer idea of the origin, production and manufacture of gasoline.

OIL EXPORTS NEAR RECORD

Two-Week Total of Petroleum Shipments From Harbor Seldom Reached Previously

Setting a two weeks' record which, it is believed, has only once or twice been equaled in the history of the California petroleum industry, bulk petroleum exports from Los Angeles Harbor last week and the previous week totaled 5,090,050 barrels. Week before last hit the high mark of recent months with 2,620,440 barrels and last week was a close second with shipments totaling 2,469,610 barrels.

Last week witnessed the movement of 999,060 barrels of petroleum products to the Atlantic seaboard, three big tanker loads going to the Tidewater Oil Company, which has not been drawing on the local supply for some time.

In view of the fact that in recent months during the flush production in California and the midcontinent fields the East Coast market has drawn as little as 250,000 barrels of petroleum per week from Los Angeles Harbor, last week's movement of nearly 1,000,000 barrels would seem to indicate a tendency to get back to normal here and is perhaps a direct result of the market-stabilizing influence of slumping production at Seal Beach.

Last week the Pacific domestic trade took 651,675 barrels, embracing 390,000 barrels of crude, 166,851 barrels of fuel and 94,825 barrels of gas. The Pacific foreign trade took 218,307 barrels, made up of 70,637 barrels of crude and 147,670 barrels of fuel.

The Atlantic domestic trade took 999,060 barrels, embracing 304,834 barrels of crude, 268,006 barrels of fuel and 226,220 barrels of gas. The Atlantic foreign trade called for 600,568 barrels, including 379,474 barrels of fuel and 221,094 barrels of gas. The shipments for the week were as follows:

PACIFIC DOMESTIC

Warwick to Oleum with 43,557 barrels of gas for Union Oil Company.

J. C. Fitzsimmons to Richmond with 70,000 barrels of crude for Standard Oil Company.

H. M. Storey to Richmond with 104,000 barrels of crude for Standard Oil Company.

PACIFIC FOREIGN

F. Q. Barstow to Balboa with 110,199 barrels of fuel for Standard Oil Company.

ATLANTIC DOMESTIC

K. R. Kingsbury to Baltimore with 76,000 barrels of fuel for Standard Oil Company.

Franklin K. Lane to Baltimore with 77,760 barrels of gas for Pan American Petroleum Company.

ATLANTIC FOREIGN

Neches to Coco Solo with 53,667 barrels of gas for United States Navy.

San Fernando to Lizards with 100,283 barrels of fuel for Anglo-Mexican Petroleum Company.

H. M. Flagler to Buenos Aires with 106,488 barrels of fuel for Standard Oil Company.

Santa Maria to Buenos Aires with 99,000 barrels of fuel for Union Oil Company.

REVIVAL OF NOTED MINE UNDER WAY

Body of Milling Ore in Old Congress 600 Feet Long and 500 Deep

CONGRESS (Ariz.) May 29. (Exclusive)—At one side of the old workings of the Congress mine is reported to have been blocked out a body of milling ore 600 feet long and 500 feet deep. The vein, explored to a 4500-foot depth at a 22-deg. angle, is of very hard white quartz averaging twenty inches width, with occasional chambering. Values, in a very solid iron pyrite, averaged $20 per ore ton in the palm days of the camp, mill concentration of 8-to-1.

For the last year the famous old producer has been in the hands of the Sonora Development Company, a California corporation, with George H. Wyman, engineer, in charge. The oxidization of years has served to release the value of the great tailings dumps and waste-ore dumps, but now the mine itself will be operated.

Statement is made that a hoist will be replaced at one of the shafts. There is remembrance that President McKinley was a visitor to the Congress during his Southwestern tour and that he took with him a small bar of gold bullion that was cast in his presence. The mine is a dry one and is notably cool and well ventilated.

Sunnyside Gold Granted Permit to Sell Stock

It is reported that the Sunnyside Gold Mines Company of Oatman, Ariz., has been notified that its application for permission to sell 272,000 shares of its treasury stock, to net the company $22,000, has been granted by the corporation commissioners of Arizona and California.

This sum, as ordered, will be expended in the exploration of the second vein uncovered in the northeast cross-cut on the 535-foot level of the mine, where ore was but recently disclosed assaying $15 in gold to the ton.

With the necessary funds in its treasury the company will resume work with renewed energy, having already been successful in demonstrating the existence of ore bodies within the boundary lines of its property.

MADRA GOLD INSTALLING MINE MILL

Recent Developments at Greenville Properties is Reported as Promising

SACRAMENTO, May 29. (Exclusive) The Madra Gold Mining Company is installing a mill on its holdings at Greenville in Plumas county. The group embraces the New York and Standard properties, noted pioneer gold producers, and contain strong ledges of mill ore. Late work in new territory has extended the ore reserves, and indications are reported to be encouraging for steady production.

With the purpose of encouraging the workers and giving them an interest in the prosperity of the company the owners of the Republic mine, near Jamestown, are giving all employees a small block of stock. Every worker is thus made a part owner in the enterprise. The Republic was reopened last year after lying idle since 1907, and good ore is reported to be exposed. The management has arranged for early operation of the fifteen-ton mill, and plans to shortly replace gasoline power equipment with electrical energy.

The Martinez Mining Company of Los Angeles has completed a comprehensive campaign of prospecting and ore development, and announces that mining and milling on a big scale will start soon. The claims lie near the old camp of Nashville, and are credited with containing a number of strong ledges. The new mill at the Peaseley mine has been placed in operation with 7000 tons of profitable ore reported as being in sight. James B. Male and son of Los Angeles are working the Esmeralda group at a profit.

Boundary Cone Gold Mining Company of Los Angeles has installed a washing plant with a daily capacity of 200 cubic yards on its gravel properties near San Andreas, and connected up its equipment with electric power. The new working raise has been finished and production is scheduled to start from the buried river channel within a few days.

IDLE MILL INSPECTED BY EXPERT

Copper Queen Official Sees Southwest Metals Plant at Humboldt

HUMBOLDT (Ariz.) May 29. (Exclusive)—D. D. Irwin, general superintendent of the Copper Queen Phelps-Dodge branch at Bisbee, with a party of metallurgists and engineers, is making a close technical examination of the Southwest Metals mill at this point, recently leased by his corporation.

The mill, which has been idle for months past, is a minerals separation flotation plant, of 350 tons' capacity, built in 1913, and with an excellent record for its percentage of copper savings. It was built by the Consolidated Arizona Smelting Company, which, apparently overcapitalised, in 1920 was taken over by Southwest Metals, with G. M. Colvocoresses continuing as manager.

The concentrator is only a part of the plant, which is centered in two oil-burning, 400-ton, reverberatory furnaces, beside a 250-ton blast furnace in the original equipment. There is a large power plant, which has used waste heat in the reverberatories for steam production, and which has been supplying current to the company's Blue Bell and DeSoto mines. If outside power be advisable, it can be secured readily from the near-by lines of the Arizona Power Company.

United Republic to Install New Diesel Engine

The United Republic Gold Mines Company of Los Angeles, of which P. L. Mullen is president and general manager, has purchased a ninety-horsepower Diesel engine for its Century lead-silver mine at Kingman, Arizona. This will soon be installed and ready for service in the generation of power for mine and mill operation. It is expected that the purchase of the machinery for the new milling plant will soon be completed.

The first forty-ton pilot unit of the mill is being constructed to handle 40,000 tons of ore already blocked out in the mine workings, or stored on the dumps, this tonnage being immediately available for treatment by straight concentration and oil flotation methods. The plant should be ready to go into regular commission by July 1, experimental mill tests disclosing an ore value of about $30 to the ton.

President Mullen is now at the mine arranging for mill installation. He is accompanied by A. W. Johnston, one of the directors of the company, who is making a general survey and audit of company affairs for the preparation of a statement of prevailing conditions, preliminary to the issuance of a report preparatory to listing, and for the benefit and information of company stockholders.

CEDAR MILL FINISHED IN QUICK TIME

KINGMAN (Ariz.) May 29. (Exclusive)—Quick work has been done in setting up the Cedar mill, which was in operation in less than ten days after receipt of the machinery that was to modernize an older plant. Ore is supplied by the Arnold and Bunker Hill mines.

Concentrates from the former's product brought to Kingman sample up to $400 a ton, with a considerable proportion of zinc. Bunker Hill concentrates run up to 300 ounces silver, with some gold and with a valuable percentage of lead.

J. E. Mitchell of Los Angeles, operating the old Woodchopper's Relief mine at Mineral Park, has changed its name to the Evahom. A. Herbst is in immediate charge. New surface equipment received includes a hoist and compressor. At 162 feet, in extension of a tunnel, has been cut the main vein, declared to carry good values. Drifting has been started along the contact. The property includes ten full claims.

On the Kane property at Cerbat, the broad mineralized area has been entered by a cross-cut tunnel, now 500 feet long, with 100 feet yet to be driven to the hanging wall, where the enrichment is expected to be found. The ore, thus found in many streaks, carries good milling values in lead, zinc, gold and silver. J. H. Kane is in charge of operations.

Cyaniding Plant of Silver Mines Company Active

The new mercuric cyaniding plant recently installed by the Silver Mines Consolidated, of Los Angeles, on its property north of Yuma, Ariz., is in steady operation on a three-shift daily basis, according to J. M. Shiner, general manager, who states that the mill heads average twenty-two ounces of silver and $1.50 in gold to the ton, with recovery being made of 93 per cent of silver values, and an almost complete extraction of the gold.

Mining and milling costs are computed at $4 per ton, the cyanides being melted into bullion on the ground, and consigned direct to the mint. Within thirty days, Manager Shiner says, the mill will be operating at peak capacity, indicated by trial runs to be approximately 105 tons daily. Blocked out in the mine workings there are 114,000 tons of ore immediately available for mining and milling, and this tonnage will be materially increased as development work progresses.

The company has established the town of Blainefield near the mine, where a new clubhouse, 30x60 feet, has been constructed for employees. This is furnished with pool and billiard tables, current literature and radio.

Last-Minute News From Petroleum Fields and Marts of Trade

NEW WILDCAT CYCLE ON WAY

Standard and Shell Spud in Four During Week

Marland and Getty Projects Drilling Ahead

Securities Hole Near Limit at Palos Verdes

Another round of wildcats is getting under way in Southern California. About twice a year the oil operators complete one series of tests and start another, and the present situation indicates that the period of change has again rolled around.

Last week the Shell Company spudded in two wildcat wells,—one at Placentia, in the Fullerton region, and the other at San Fernando. The Standard Oil Company is starting two new wildcats,—one near Culver City, and the other just northwest of the Montebello field. These are the four principal new operations of the larger operators. The usual crop of wildcats is being undertaken by small independents and professional "wildcatters."

The Marland Oil Company, and George F. Getty are down about 2500 feet in the Rivera wildcat, and the Petroleum Securities Company figures that it is getting about as deep as it wants to go in its third test at Palos Verdes, south of Torrance.

One of the interesting features of California wildcatting operations over the past eighteen months is the absence from the ranks of wildcatters of a number of operators who formerly were among the most aggressive prospectors in the business.

The Union Oil Company which has one of the best records in the State for the discovery of new fields, has not drilled a wildcat of importance for more than a year, and the Superior Oil Company, which used to have at least one wildcat under way constantly, is now sticking to proven territory.

A WASHINGTON BEAUTY

Despite the bachelorhood of President James Buchanan, there never has been a more brilliant and delightful social administration than his. This was because of the beauty, the charming personality, the grace and the scintillating genius of Harriet Lane, daughter of President Buchanan's sister, Jane, wife of Elliott T. Lane.

When Harriet was only 7 years of age her mother died and two years later her father passed away. She then made her home with her uncle, who had her carefully educated. When Buchanan was appointed Minister to Great Britain in 1853 he took Harriet with him and at the Court of St. James she was extremely popular. When Buchanan became President in 1857, he was a most engaging personality, courtly, polished, cultured, and, so, with Harriet installed as the first lady, social life at the White House attained the height of popularity and brilliancy.

The splendor and charm of the receptions, dinners, dances and other functions during the Buchanan administration, with Harriet Lane as the central figure, are today among the happiest traditions at the capital. Five years after Buchanan left office, Miss Lane was married to Henry Elliott Johnston of Baltimore.—[Exchange.

METAL-PLATED STATUES

A German artist-inventor has devised a new technique for literally turning plaster statues into metal ones, by means of an ingenious "extrusion pistol" which projects a fine stream of melted bronze or other metal against the inside of a hollow plaster cast with such force that it carries on through the porous substances and comes out as a thin film, hardening on the outer surface. The process is said to be extremely rapid, five minutes' operation of the pistol being sufficient to metalize a plaster cast the size of a man's hand.

GOLD ROAD LETS WORK ON TUNNEL

Extension of 800 Feet Expected to Reach Rich Ore Deposits

OATMAN (Ariz.) May 29. (Exclusive)—An 800-foot extension of the Line Road tunnel on the Gold Road estate has been contracted to Jack Shank. This will take the workings 600 feet into the Red Top ground, where rich developments are expected. The work is to be completed within three months. The Red Top will be entered at a depth of 1100 feet from the surface, with assurance that the ore will be cut beyond a faulted condition that was found in shallow workings.

In the White Hills section, Great Bend is a partner with the White Hills Company in sinking of a vertical working shaft, to cut a number of sharply dipping veins. This shaft is down about 240 feet, with recent passage through a six-foot vein of sulphide that carries some gold and silver values.

A heavy flow of water has been encountered, but is being handled without trouble. Several of the veins were bonanza producers in early day workings, and confidence is expressed that the surface riches again will be found in the deeper sulphides.

PHILLIPS OIL LIENS ON MARKET

Offering of $40,000,000 Gold Debentures Being Made by Bank Group

An issue of $40,000,000 Phillips Petroleum Company 5 1-4 per cent sinking fund gold debentures is being offered in this market by a banking group headed by the Harris Trust and Savings Bank, Bond & Goodwin, Inc., First National Corporation of Boston, Chatham Phenix National Bank and Trust Company, Hemphill, Noyes & Co., H. M. Byllesby & Co., and the Central Trust Company of Illinois, at 99 1-4 and interest to yield more than 5.33 per cent. The liens are due June 1, 1939.

The Phillips Petroleum Company is one of the largest producers of crude oil and natural gas and the largest manufacturer of natural gasoline in the United States. It has recently acquired control of the Oklahoma Natural Gas Corporation, the largest gas utility in Oklahoma, supplying gas to the principal towns and cities in that State, including Tulsa, Oklahoma City, Muskogee and Okmulgee.

These debentures will be the company's sole funded debt. Net earnings of the corporation after depreciation and depletion, but before interest and income taxes, have increased each year for the last five years, averaging $11,822,498 annually, or more than five and one-half times the annual interest requirements on this issue.

National Oil of Mexico Brings in Salina Gusher

TAMPICO (Mex.) May 29. (Exclusive)—Completion of a 30,000 barrel oil well by the National Petroleum Administration has just been reported from the new Salinas field on the Panuco River, by the Secretary of Industry, Commerce and Labor.

The well was completed at 613 meters, and is the eastern outpost of the field. It is believed that it will open up a wonderfully rich area.

MINERS VIE FOR WEEPAH LAUREL

Distinction of Making First Ore Shipment Prize

Seven Troughs Tunnel Hits Heavy Water Flow

TONOPAH (Nev.) May 29. (Exclusive)—Leasers are competing for the distinction of making the first shipment from the new gold camp of Weepah. Ore is being sacked at the New California, Springer-Mulcoy and Seymour leases, the latter controlled by A. V. Seymour, a Taft (Cal.) oil man and his partners.

The Seymour lease has ore assaying $300 to $1000 per ton and has been opened at a depth of 50 feet, the New California reports a strong vein of rich ore exposed sixty feet from surface. The Springer-Mulcoy is opening ore sampling $25 to $40 per ton. New California expects to cut the extension of the Horton bonanza within twenty feet. The Electric Gold Company states rich ore shows on the extension of the high-grade ledge and on the 100-foot level.

Clifford Gold Company has shipped bullion valued at $5608 from the first clean-up of the mill, and reports the outlook favorable for a long period of profitable operations. Ore is being milled from the Clifford and Bellehelen mines, and from several small properties in the Bellehelen section. A. H. Greene, an official of the corporation, has leased the Bellehelen mine between the tunnel and 400-foot level, and started production of ore averaging $30 per ton.

Seven Troughs Reorganized Company announces that the main tunnel at a point 2500 feet from the portal has tapped a water flow estimated at fifteen miner's inches. The flow will be sufficient to operate a large mill and supply all domestic needs of the camp.

The company has placed orders for another powerful engine and compressor, and has completed an excellent camp. The first of a series of important veins is anticipated in the tunnel during the early fall.

National Consolidated Mines Company reports that arrangements have been made for the immediate installation of a thirty-ton mill and flotation plant at its gold-silver properties in the National district, adjoining the famous national gold group. The lower tunnel has been driven 1700 feet and has opened several commercial ore bodies. It is being continued to reach the main ore channel, which yielded over $6,000,000 in the early days of the district. The company is composed of Nevada and Southern California people.

Yellow Tiger Consolidated Mining Company, controlled by Colorado and Los Angeles capital, has taken an option on the Pioneer gold property, near Jackson, Cal. The four claims are credited with containing substantial deposits of profitable ore, with the veins showing indications of persisting to depth. The silver-gold properties at Stonewall south of Goldfield, will be closed until silver prices warrant resumption of work.

Plans are proceeding for completion of the mill which was started last year by the Nevada Douglas Gold Mining Company at its holdings near Mina. The property has been under intensive development several years, and a large tonnage of mill ore is said to be exposed. William H. Stephenson and other Los Angeles men are heavily interested.

FRAME HOUSES STURDY

Engineers of the lumber manufacturers' association in a recent survey found that the average life of a house is about 100 years, although individual dwellings may last considerably longer. After a century structural depreciation occurs sufficient to make a house unfit for further use. Well-built frame houses depreciate in value only a little more than those of brick or stone.

COMPLETION SETS RECORD

FARMINGTON (N. M.) May 29. (Exclusive)—A well drilled to shallow production in record time and depth and at remarkably small cost was the feature of the San Juan Basin fields last week. Several new wells started in the Bloomfield and Seven Lakes districts proved that the wildcatters are still willing to take a chance here regardless of the low price of crude.

The Taylor-Burke interests, drilling on the Mancos River structure, nineteen miles north of the Rattlesnake structure, on unsurveyed Ute Indian lands, struck production at a depth of 375 feet. Drilling continued for 200 feet more where a forty-foot sand was encountered. It increased the production to what is estimated to be a fifty-barrel well.

The well is free from water and a storage tank of 250 barrels' capacity is being put up. The well will be drilled on down to the Dakota sand. The actual cost of drilling to production was officially stated as having been $150.

Drilling is to be resumed on the Huntington Park acreage in the Blanco district. It will be remembered that it was this organization which brought in initial production in the Blanco district in the Farmington sands.

The well has since been a continuous small producer. C. W. Whipple, field manager, and two California associates arrived this week to plan a drilling campaign that will have as an objective the tapping of the Mesa Verde sands.

The Union Oil and Mining Company in the Blanco district, Sec. 8, 29-9, lost a string of fishing tools in the hole last week. It already had two strings of tools in it, but this string was soon recovered. The Senate Oil Company operating in the Kutz Canon district, has recovered a lost string of tools and will resume drilling.

R. M. Smith, who owns most of the producing wells in the Bloomfield districts and controls through leases and otherwise, a large part of the acreage, has gone to California where he is said to be in negotiation with operators who are interested in the district and who may take over his entire holdings. If the deal goes through it will involve the Smith-Kittell refinery which is located at Farmington, and is supplying filling stations in a number of towns in San Juan basin by truck.

SAN JOAQUIN OUTPUT GAINS

BAKERSFIELD, May 29. (Exclusive)—Efforts of prominent oil producers to curb production have failed to lower the yield from the fields of the San Joaquin Valley and during April of this year a total of 267,976 barrels more were produced than for the month previous. This is a daily increase of 2301 barrels. The output of valley fields during April was 4,986,246 barrels, against 4,718,270 barrels for March.

The production for April, averaging 168,509 barrels daily, came from 6120 producing wells and was divided by fields as follows:

Midway-Sunset, 2,765,445 barrels; Elk Hills, 861,597; Coalinga, 820,227; Kern River, 418,502; McKittrick, 167,981; Lost Hills-Belridge, 127,175; Wheeler Ridge, 31,482, and Poso Creek, 3837 barrels.

During the month twenty-five new wells were completed in the valley with an initial daily production of 4035 barrels. Of this number sixteen wells were in the Midway and Sunset fields and their daily output was 2351 barrels. The two new wells in the Poso Creek field, north of Bakersfield, yielded 1100 barrels daily, while three new Kern River holes gave up 375 barrels a day.

New rigs went up to the number of twenty-four. Fifteen of these were in the Kern River field, seven in the Midway-Sunset districts and one each in Poso Creek and McKittrick fields.

There were forty-six wells under active drilling operations. Eighteen of these are in the Midway and Sunset, sixteen in the Kern River, two in Poso Creek, six in Coalinga, two in Lost Hills and one each in the McKittrick and Wheeler Ridge fields.

RARE MINERALS, METALLURGY, CHEMISTRY

Qualitative analysis will be given in this department of The Times to correspondents on ores and minerals free of charge. Make each sample of an ounce or so in weight. Be sure to write a letter stating what tests are desired and give the approximate locality from which samples were taken. Do not pulverize the specimens. Give your name and address on paper wrapped with samples.

Magnetic Iron Ore

SOMERTON (Ariz.) May 10.—Question: I am sending you a sample of ore and I am very desirous to know what it is. I am under the impression that it carries tungsten, or silver, or both. M.

Answer: The specimen is slightly altered magnetite, and it is in part altered to hematite. It carries no native silver and it was carefully analyzed for tungsten—with negative results.

Three Samples

TUSTIN, May 10.—Q.: The samples I sent you came from Red Hill, Orange county, California. Thanking you. S.

A.: Sample No. 1 is an interesting one; it is crystallized baryte and colored with purple-red iron oxides. No. 2 is also baryte, sparingly crystallized in a gangue of iron oxides and on the order of "Cawk." No. 3 is cawk (impure baryte.)

Tungsten Absent

TECOPA, May 11.—Q.: By this mail I am sending you two samples from Southeastern Inyo county, California. I would like to be informed whether your determinations disclose other metals such as lead, zinc and silver. With thanks in advance for this favor, as well as for the valuable information you are constantly handing out to us, "desert rats and mountain sheep" believe me, gratefully yours. H.

A.: We regard your kind letter as a great compliment. The heavy, dark-colored, specimen is altered magnetite carrying micaceous iron with other hematite, and giving a slight reaction for zinc. The other sample is a very odd one and it very much represents matter that has been treated by wet methods; it is yellowish-brown in color; it carries limonite and some jarosite, but not plumbojarosite, for the reason that lead is practically absent. It contains more or less zinc; lead traces only, and ferrous sulphate (copperas.) It was not tested for gold or silver, (see assayers about the two named metals.) There is not a trace of flake platinum in the mass.

Bitumen

TORRANCE, May 11. Q.:—Find under separate cover a few samples of material taken from Palos Verdes Hills while hunting coyotes. I located a seepage coming from a ledge. After digging into the hill found the material inclosed in large quantities. Please analize for possibilities of oil. M.

A.: By qualitative tests on the very limited amounts of material it would appear doubtful that your find indicates oil. Resort, for practical results, should be had to quantitative work on a reasonable quantity of matter from the locality named by you.

Ferruginous Quartz

A.: The three samples did not pan any native gold. For other gold values kindly consult assayers.

Doubtful Fertilizer

MECCA, May 11.—Q.: Will you kindly analyze this dirt for common fertilizer. Oblige. P.

Silicates

COMPTON May 12.—Q.: Please test these samples for me. I understand that you do such work free of chorge for patrons of The Times. M.

A.: Free of charge as correct! Not only for patrons of The Times but for all comers. Regarding your specimens: It is not certain that the following described samples are yours; they were received without any reference or marks of identification. The waxy-lustered one is low-grade moss agate; spotted and streaked with iron and manganese oxides. One other sample shows traces of chromite, and is the rock known as massive garnetyte. The flat brownish rock is also garnetyte.

Silica

HAWTHORNE, May 13.—Q.: Samples found in San Bernardino county. Please test for lime and borax. Commercial value? S.

A.: Lime carbonate and boron absent. Slight reactions for manganese and iron. Commercial values of such mineral are problematical.

Native Platinum Absent

LYNWOOD, May 13. Q.:—The sample comes from near Saugus. H.

A.: It is a mixture of hornblende and hornblendic granite. Magnetite and black titaniferous iron present.

Silicates

LOS ANGELES, May 14. Q.:—Please test the white specimen for Bentonite, and the grayish rock for (?) Taken from near Victorville, Cal. B. M.

A.: The white specimen is Bentonite, but not of A-1 grade, and the grayish mineral is hydrous aluminum and magnesium silicate.

Altered Rock

HOLLYWOOD, May 15. Q.:—The specimen came from vicinity of Palmdale, near Mojave Desert. Please analyze it for any commercial minerals or chemicals. C.

A.: It carries hematite (iron peroxide,) limonite (hydrous iron peroxide,) some little cawk (low-grade baryte) and amphibole (a variety of hornblende.)

Lead Carbonate Present

LOS ANGELES, May 15. Q.:—Location of mine from which sample was taken is about eighty miles northeast from Tucson, Ariz. Please analyze for gold, silver and lead, and what is the black stuff. C. L. G.

A.: The specimen carries cerussite (lead carbonate,) with low percentages of other lead minerals; zinc present. A little azurite and malachite (copper carbonates) appear in the specimen and the black stuff is a mixture of manganese, iron oxides, and slightly reacts for graphite. There is no free gold present and for other gold and silver values kindly consult assayers.

Flake Platinum Absent

ARCADIA, May 16.—Q.:—Under separate cover are being forwarded to you the following samples, all from the San Gabriel mining district: No. 1, black and white, and No. 2, reddish brown. Please identify and report presence of any precious metals. Second No. 2 is black sand contained in a small box. Gold and silver particles visible to the naked eye have already been taken from this sample. Please identify the lustrous black particles, and test sample for the platinum group. Presume most of this stuff is magnetic iron, but an amateur friend of mine secured some odd reactions with it. Any comments appreciated. Garnet-red particles ranging in size from dust to match-head size occur consistently in this stuff. A.

A.: Sample No. 1 is a mixture of silica, lime carbonate, traces of iron oxides, titaniferous iron, traces of pistachio-green epidote, zinc found, altered auriferous pyrite sparingly present, with more or less hornblende and pyroxene. No. 2 is a slaty shale containing lime carbonate traces, and stained with iron oxides (limonite and hematite.) No. 3 carries approximately 90 per cent magnetite. The dark particles present are titaniferous iron. Garnet, quartz and rose quartz found; no native gold found, and to properly analyze the mixture for platinum would require twenty pounds of the sand represented by the sample.

Selenium Absent

RENO (Nev.) May 17. Q.: The inclosed sample is from a property situated on the west slope of the Last Chance Mountains, Inyo county, California. Does it carry any selenium? What is the white coating composed of? Is such mineral of commercial value?

A.: The sample carries approximately 35 per cent sulphur. The white mineral is gypsum, and selenium is not present. It is of commercial value grade, but, can you compete with Japan?

VENTILATING THE KITCHEN

The newest thing in kitchen ventilators is a metal box to be set into the wall over a stove or in some other convenient location where there can be an outside opening. The inner side of the box is a small door flush with the surface of the wall. Opening this starts an electric fan. The fan exhausts outdoors through shutters which open by the force of the fan's breeze. When the inner door is closed the fan automatically quits work and the shutters fold up tight, effectively protecting the fan from the weather.

COPPER SKEWERS

The use of copper skewers is said to aid in the process of cooking a piece of meat in the oven. College experiments have demonstrated it. Copper is an excellent conductor and it carries the heat into the interior of the roast.

United Eastern Acquires Mines in Sierra County

Much attention, locally, is being centered in the property of the Forest-Alleghany Mining Company near Forest, Sierra county, in which district a number of Los Angeles mining companies have lately become interested, including the United Eastern Mining Company, which is developing promising gold-bearing ground near the Sixteen-to-One mine.

United Eastern, it is reported, has taken over controlling interest in the holdings of Forest-Alleghany, under contract to expend $125,000 in mine development and equipment.

The Forest-Alleghany domain includes 553 acres of placer ground embracing three ancient gold-bearing river channels, and 200 acres of quartz claims traversed by five lodes carrying free-milling gold ore. The lode claims, it is asserted, join the property of the Sixteen-to-One mine on the south, and carry the extension of the vein system of the latter property, in the development of which the Forest-Alleghany is sinking a new incline shaft which has now reached the 200-foot level, from which horizon a short cross-cut will be driven to make connection with the gold-bearing channel.

EMPORIA DIVORCE NEWS

William Allen White is a really civilized man. In a discussion on divorce cases, I was told by him that his Emporia Gazette follows an invariable rule: In local divorce suits never more than two or three lines are given and only after the decree has been granted. "In those three lines," to quote Mr. White, "are put the name of the parties, the cause of action, the disposition of the property and the children; and absolutely nothing more."

It is my opinion that Mr. White, in taking this course, is doing more for American morals than all the Puritan shouters in the land. Domestic privacy and individual independence were the aims of the country's fathers. Apparently we have lost sight of both. Domestic affairs have become public and public affairs have become private.—[McNaught's Monthly.

SOMEWHERE SUN SHINES

Almanac weather forecasts made a year or more in advance are of little practical value for the reason that they are too broad and general, and do not specify the place where they are supposed to apply. The almanac is usually published for country-wide distribution. But the United States is a large country, and many diverse conditions of weather are found in different places on the same day. It is therefore almost inevitable that a forecast of rain on any day will be verified in some place, for there are very few days when it does not rain somewhere within the United States.

DYES USED BY THE DOCTOR

Two physicians of Ithaca, N. Y., have discovered that aniline dyes may be effectively used in their profession. Many of the dyes have antiseptic qualities and may be used for that purpose with results superior to iodine.

Synthetic milk comes from Denmark, a recent achievement of chemistry. The butter fat of cow's milk is replaced by vegetable fat and the vitamines are added to complete the composition. The material is to be made commercially.

RAIL STOCKS AT HIGHEST MARK

Position Best on Record Despite Merger Blow

Market for Cotton, Wheat and Corn Improves

Retail Trade Statements Prove Encouraging

NEW YORK, May 29. (Exclusive)—Despite a rejection of the Loree merger proposal by the Interstate Commerce Commission ten days, ago, railroad stocks have risen emphatically this week to their best position on record. It was only a little more than a year ago that a similar reversal in railroad consolidation plans was made the occasion for heavy liquidation in the stock market.

That the market for railroad shares continues to climb at this time is all the more interesting since disappointment over the commission's decision has not been offset by other news developments. Indeed, the monthly earnings statement for April now coming out reveal a distinct downturn in the trend whereas for the first three months this year the railroads had earned more than in the year before. It now seems likely that a gain in net income for the carriers during the first three 1927 months will be turned into a loss by the end of the first six months through traffic reductions suffered from the Mississippi flood, the bituminous coal strike and a moderation of activity in the South.

SITUATION LOOKS GOOD

In the market for railroad stocks as well as in that for industrials strength nowadays comes from something more than improving earnings. Corporate profits on the whole are not very different from those last year but a powerful impetus to certain groups of the stock market has been supplied by substantial speculative interest. Notwithstanding temporary reverses the railroad situation looks good to most prophets in the financial district and the feeling grows that any contraction in industrial profits would not be extended immediately to the railroad list to a degree so serious.

It is furthermore generally believed that a way will be found eventually to allow railroad consolidation where heretofore progress has been blocked. Not the least important of the stimulating influences in the market of late has been the rather unexpected shift in agricultural commodity prices. Within the last few months the long downward movement in agricultural prices seems to have been not only checked but for the moment at least reversed. It is now a certainty that the next report by the Bureau of Labor Statistics on industrial and agricultural prices will show that the two curves have come together again after a long separation.

FARM OUTLOOK BETTER

The better market for cotton, wheat and corn already has improved sentiment in the agricultural districts to such an extent that agitation for artificial measures by Congress has virtually died down.

Just as the authorities had about convinced the country that the present prosperity era could not be indefinitely sustained in the face of falling agricultural prices a surprising and important movement upward in such commodities has come.

From the cities as well as from the country districts come reports of improvement in trade sentiment. Especially encouraging are the statements on retail trade for April just published. In that month the chain stores reported a larger increase over the year previous than for any month since last November and in fact the average sales per store represented the best gain in the records that go back three years. Even the department stores which had not shown an increase since last summer reported a substantial jump in sales for April. Of course the Easter trade stimulated sales in that month, but it is significant that the wholesale trade reported its smallest decline since last June although, of course, the wholesale trend has been downward for about two years.

CYCLE TREND DISCUSSED

As the year wears on more and more discussion is heard of a new epoch in business trends by which the authorities mean that the old rules of the cyclical movements in industry no longer apply. Whether this is true or not nobody knows but certainly the war now is far enough behind to make it possible for trade to fluctuate within much narrower limits It so happens that the struggle for profits against the handicap of a falling price level in the last two years has enabled strong institutions to rise at the expense of the weak. Just how far that movement will go is not known and what would be its effect on industry is a question even more difficult to answer.

Doubtless the future trend of commodity prices will exercise an important influence on the whole movement toward consolidation in industry but this does not throw much light on the future since evidence now is at hand of a possible upturn in the price level this year. Perhaps the performances of industry like those of the stock market defy generalization but must be studied for the diverse movement there revealed rather than for any very important trend.

NEGLECT TO MAKE WILLS

Only a third of the people who died last year in the United States left wills, points out Hugh Fullerton in an article in Liberty. About $1,425,000 persons died in the United States last year," Fullerton writes. "Fewer than 35 per cent of them made wills, although they left billions of dollars in savings and insurance. And if the great estate, protected by lawyers and established trusts be eliminated from the computation, it is calculated that not more than 40 per cent of the property left reached those dependents for whom the deceased wished to make provision.

"Less than five years from now, according to insurance statistics," the writer continues, "the great bulk of these estates will have been entirely dissipated. These statistics have shown that the average estate disappears within four and a half years after the death of the possessor.

"Of the wills left by the 35 per cent who leave them, not half are made properly; and a great percentage of those properly made cannot be carried out successfully, due to unexpected changes of condition."

NEW MARK FOR OIL TRANSPORT

World Record to Be Set With Shipment Tomorrow

Nine Million Total Expectel in Four-Month Period

Four Hundred Will Depart for New York Today

A new world's record for oil transport will be established at the harbor tomorrow afternoon, when the United States Shipping Board liner West Prospect sails for the Orient with 158,400 cases of Los Angeles gasoline and kerosene. She will be the fifth government steamer operated by Swayne & Hoyt to depart for the Antipodes and the Orient during this month with aggregate cargoes of 445,520 ten-gallon cases of oil.

During the four months ending August 31, next, Swayne & Hoyt officials estimate, approximately 20,000,000 gallons of kerosene and gasoline, with a value of $6,750,000, will be shipped from this port by this concern's fleet. With the cargoes to be handled by three other companies it is expected that the total case-oil exports from the port during the four-month period will reach a figure of nearly $9,000,000.

The month's traffic in case oil handled by the Swayne & Hoyt fleet is graphically illustrated by the following list of sailings: West Sequana, to the Orient, May 3, 137,000 cases; West Nivaria, to the Antipodes, May 13, 34,500 cases; West Calera, May 14, Antipodes, 17,200 cases; West Faralon, Orient, May 17, 98,000 cases; West Prospect, Orient, May 31, 158,400 cases.

Twenty-three Shipping Board steamers are operated out of this port by Swayne & Hoyt with a sailing every twenty-eight days in each of four services, as follows: North China and Philippines, Australia via the Orient (homeward;) South China and Dutch East Indies and New Zealand. Traffic demands, particularly for westbound space, have become so heavy that plans are under way to add two more vessels to the oriental runs.

PANAMA-PACIFIC FLAGSHIP TO SAIL

Four hundred passengers will depart for New York via Havana and the canal this morning aboard the steamer Mongolia, 27,000-ton flagship of the Panama-Pacific Line, which will also take east 3000 tons of California products.

Inbound among the offshore fleet today is the Dollar around-the-world liner President Van Buren, on the seventy-fourth successive trip of the Dollar Line's eight globe-circlers, with 100 passengers and 3000 tons of freight from twenty-two world ports.

Angelenos returning aboard the President Van Buren include Misses Ruth Chapman, Ruth Sinnard and Elizabeth Ryan. New Yorkers to disembark include Mr. and Mrs. David Dornia, Mr. and Mrs. Louis F. Kuntz, Mr. and Mrs. Edward A. Bender, Mrs. Helen Da Zcsa, Hendrik Von Lubken, Mrs. John E. Nicholas, Miss Florence Sherman, Mrs. Irene M. Shepard, Mr. and Mrs. M. L. Provost, accompanied by their son, Albert, and daughter, Miss Eleanor.

Other easterners arriving on the President Van Buren are Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Montgomery, Walter B. Stenger and Miss Helen C. Stenger of Philadelphia; Mr. and Mrs. S. M. Bushman, Miss B. S. Bushman, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Benhard, Mrs. Lotta A. Gorsuch and Mr. and Mrs. D. J. Onnen of Baltimore; the Misses Clara E. and Cora W. Edgington, Mrs. Warren Hunt, Miss Florence Packer of Washington, D. C.; Mrs. Emily Hirsch and Miss Helen Hirsch of Atlantic City; Miss Alice M. Cook of Boston; Miss Anna Herbold and E. F. Herbold of Chicago.

The tug Palomar of San Diego yesterday reached the crippled motorship Bergen, anchored in Man-o'-War Cove at Magdalena Bay, and is towing her north, according to radio dispatches yesterday from the Palomar. The Bergen, while en route home with a cargo of refrigerated fish four days ago, threw her propeller in heavy weather off the Mexican coast and managed to reach the shelter of Magdalena Bay by aid of a make-shift sailing rig.

The schooner Melrose, in tow of the Red Stack tug Fearless, is due late tonight from Magdalena Bay with 260 tons of fish for local canneries. The Melrose was being towed north by the motorship Morgan, when the weather became so rough that the Fearless was sent to her aid.

With 8500 tons of east coast and Los Angeles cargo aboard, the Kerr motorliner Silverash sailed yesterday for Kobe, the Philippines and the Dutch East Indies two days in advance of her regular schedule.

Reports have reached the General Steamship Corporation, Coast agents for the Kerr services, that the new liner Silverelm, second ship in the Kerr-Pacific's new Pacific-Java-Calcutta service, arrived at Macassar in the record sailing time of thirty days. The third vessel in this service, the Silverlarch, sailing from Los Angeles Harbor on June 16, next, will be the first ship to call at the new Malay ports of Padang and Sibolga.

The motorship Heston, flagship of John E. Heston's fleet of fishery tenders, will go on drydock at the yards of the Los Angeles Shipbuilding and Drydock Corporation tomorrow for the installation of a new propeller and tail-shaft, lost during her last voyage. She will also be overhauled to enter the banana trade between this port and San Blas and Manzanillo.

Ten thousand passengers, the greatest number in the history of Catalina Island, were taken to Avalon Saturday, and the entire crowd will be brought home this evening, it was announced yesterday by David P. Fleming of the Wilmington Transportation Company. Three steamers, the Catalina, Avalon and Cabrillo, will sail home from Avalon within an hour of each other today.

"This Memorial Day crowd has exceeded all records we have established for passengers handled," said Mr. Fleming. "We have watched the visitors flock to the steamers this week-end with unusual pleasure, because the 30th inst. crowd has always proven a barometer of the season's business.

News of Ships and Sailings at Pacific Ports

SAN FRANCISCO, May 29. (AP)—Water-front officials declared today that the Dollar liner President McKinley had broken all records for quick loading on the Pacific Coast when she took aboard 8000 tons in twenty-six and one-half working hours, in order to sail from here on time yesterday. R. Stanley Dollar, vice-president and general manager of the company, telegraphed from Los Angeles congratulating the men who directed the cargo placement.

Steamship officials here today predicted record breaking tourist travel on the Pacific Coast this summer. Advance bookings for Hawaii, Alaska and Australia were shown by records to be ahead of the usual number at this season.

The General Steamship Corporation announced today that a survey just completed showed the Pacific Coast freight and charter market to be fundamentally strong. The statement said fears that Japan's financial moratorium would wreck trade there had proved unfounded. Tonnage was declared rather scarce.

SEATTLE, May 29—The Nippon Kaisha office here has been advised that the steamer Yokohama Maru will dock in Seattle Wednesday with cargo which includes silk valued at $2,500,000. The vessel is bringing sixty-two passengers.

The barkentine Thomas P. Emigh, which is now loading 1,000,000 feet of lumber at Mukilteo, after lying idle here for many months, will sail for San Francisco soon, on a voyage that probably will mark the end of her sailing career. The ship has been sold to N. C. Mosstad for conversion into a fishery barge. The Thomas P. Emigh was built in Tacoma in 1901.

TACOMA (Wash.) May 29.—Bringing a large consignment of miscellaneous freight from gulf ports, the Florence Luckenbach arrived early this morning. Completing the discharge of her cargo late in the afternoon, the vessel sailed on the return trip to Mobile.

The F. J. Luckenbach, which loaded Friday and Saturday, sailed late last night for Boston and other Atlantic Coast ports.

The Standard Oil tanker Charlie Watson was in and out at the Standard Oil dock over the week-end. The vessel docked late last evening and sailed for San Francisco.

With two vessels working today and three more scheduled for arrival tomorrow, the smelter is expected to be unusually busy over Memorial Day.

The Redondo, carrying 600 tons of ore, arrived from Alaska late this afternoon, followed a little later by the Northwestern, another Alaska boat, with a consignment of 450 tons of ore.

The Svealarl, Swedish motorship, is listed for arrival tomorrow with a cargo of South American ore. Two other ore carriers, the Providencia, from Santa Rosalia, Mex., and the Anyox, from British Columbia, are due Monday.

To load timber at local mills, the Hakutatsu Maru arrived last evening. The freight taken here will be discharged at Yokohama.

Famous Picturization of World War And Its Leaders in New York

From 9 a.m. until midnight hereafter, it will be exhibited to the public by the Thomas Jefferson Memorial Foundation, which hopes thereby to pay off the debt on Monticello, Jefferson's home in Virginia.

Entering the Garden one goes through a lobby filled with individual portraits of war heroes, continues through a flag-draped motion picture theater, then enters a tunnel which leads under the edge of the canvas and upstairs to a platform within the cylindrical scene.

The first impression was a crowd of painted figures against a circular marble wall, beyond which stretches great war-torn areas. In the absence of a printed key to the display, which was not yet ready, one listened to the two young men who experimented with the French names in their typewritten descriptions.

"This is the largest picture in the world," said the lecturer. "It is 402 feet long and forty-five feet high, with more than 6000 recognizable, identifiable portraits. It was inspired by Carrier-Belleuse, famed painter of ballet girls, who because of his advanced age was unable to fight in the war. The work was begun in 1914 and eighteen distinguished artists and many minor assistants aided him in the work.

"The most colossal piece of impertinence ever perpetrated, Carrier-Belleuse started painting Victory while the enemy still encroached on France's soil."

Before one was a great flight of steps leading to a temple. In the foreground was Winged Victory on a high pedestal, about which a battered .75 gun rested upon German flags. On the opposite side was a lonely monument, "aux heroes ignores," before which knelt a single figure in black. Between these were the walls of the Pantheon, before which were grouped the national heroes, with a wide medley of uniforms and flags.

"The man in the center is Marshal Joffre," continued the announcer, "and beside him are Foch and Petain. In the civilian clothes, the tall gentleman with the grayish beard Ribot, next Millerand, next Briand, present Minister of Foreign Affairs. These soldiers galloping up are the Algerians, fiercest soldiers in the world, and behind them the troops are coming down the battlefields. Every village and town in which there was fighting, even to the border of Switzerland, is shown there in the background."

And so on to England, with King, Prince and hallowed Edith Cavell, shattered cathedral ruins and Cardinal Mercier 'n trailing red; Italy, with D'Annunzio waving a silk hat and without Mussolini.

The American group is in between Siam and the Balkan States. There is President Wilson beside the pedestal. Next to him in prominence is Ambassador Herrick, in the place from which Col. E. M. House was mysteriously removed. There are Roosevelt, Schwab, Gompers, Hoover, Pershing, Harbord, Anne Morgan, Elsie De Wolfe.

In the foreground crouches the spirit of America, a cowboy in chaps, waving his wide hat; a business man with a flag, a laboring man, a feathered Indian, crouching. They are led by a West Point cadet.

"That lady there with the red hair is Evangeline Booth," says the announcer. "That man with his back to us is Gen. Bullard. There in the nurses's cap is Mrs. Vanderbilt."—[New York World.

AUTOMOBILE YACHTSMEN

Ira Hand, secretary of the National Association of Engine and Boat Manufacturers, declares automobile men, who make their money out of cars, spend it on yachts. With only few exceptions, he says, the leading automobile manufacturers of the country are owners of yachts. A few days ago the Saramer, one of the largest motor-propelled pleasure boats launched in New York waters in some time, was turned over to its owner, Charles P. Fisher, vice-president and managing director of General Motors. The vessel is 106 feet in length and is equipped with two 200-horsepower motors. The Saramer has four staterooms, dining-room, living-room, kitchen and three baths. Other automobile men who are the owners of big-powered yachts are Harry Stutz, Col. Jesse G. Vincente, Walter P. Chrysler and Laurence Fisher.—[Philadelphia Public Ledger.

Handicapped by Nature but Not as Ball Player

LAUREL (Miss.) May 29. (Exclusive—Outfielder, third baseman and catcher, these are three of the positions which Bradley, deaf and dumb player on the local Dixie League team, has filled and filled well.

Bradley came to the Laurel club last year as an outfielder. He was shifted to third base this spring. Recently the catcher was injured, and Bradley filled the breach by catching a double-header. He played his position flawlessly during the two games and hit four times in four trips to the plate in the first game.

RED CROSS UNIFORMS

The desire to wear a uniform is not confined to the male sex alone, according to Joseph O'Connor, an executive of the New York chapter of the American Red Cross, who states that the organization has been forced to curtail the issuance of the official garb because of its misuse by women. He says that many women have purchased the uniforms, which they are able to obtain below cost, for the reason they find them suitable as working gowns or to wear on country outings. Because of this, the organization will confine the sale of uniforms to such women as they know to be actively engaged in Red Cross endeavors, and all applicants for them will be subjected to a thorough examination.—[Philadelphia Public Ledger.

MONOLITH GIVES UP SECRET

Cyclographic Stone Dug Up in Mexico City Throws Light on Astronomical Knowledge of Ancient Race That Inhabited Southern Area

MEXICO CITY, May 29. (Exclusive) The secret of the mysterious monolith that was dug out of the ground near the base of one corner of the National Palace recently by workers making repairs on the building has been solved, its curious scrawlings and figures having been interpreted by Professor of Archeology Ramon Mena of the National Museum of Mexico.

The monolith, known as the Cyclographic Stone, has, according to Prof. Mena, a three-fold significance, corresponding to three different sections of the stone.

The first, corresponding to the upper part of the stone, fashioned within the sign of "Nahui Ollin," is the repose of the planet Venus by the disc of the sun; a fact that occurred in the Nahuan year "Ome Acatl," or about 1509, during the month of "Miccailhuitontli", (corresponding to the first two weeks of August,) the planet "Quetzalhuexolokuahtli" (the Planet Jupiter) and the constellation "Ahuilteotl" (Cygnus constellation) then dominating the stellar calendar of the Nahuas.

SIGN FROM HEAVENS

At that time the Emperor Moctezuma Xocoyotzin was reigning, and he observed the astronomical phenomenon, commanded that it be engraved in stone, since it was his belief that this sign from the heavens signified ill, and he wished the priest-astronomists to study it carefully and draw therefrom the augury, good or ill.

The second datum, which is engraved outside of the sign of "Nahui Ollin," consists of a series of circles which make up a total of thirty-six. These circles are very closely related with the hieroglyphics that exist on the sides of the sign "Nahui Ollin." And it was with them that the Nahuas counted a period of great catastrophes that occurred during the cycle comprehended within the year "Ce Tochtli" and the year "Ome Acatl," or a period of some fifty-two years.

There was, during this period, an enormous drought that lasted for forty months, and this, in turn, was followed by a period of great rains, which provoked a great inundation of the City of Tenochtitlan (the site of the present Mexico City.) Then, about the middle of the cycle, there appeared an aurora boreal, causing enormous panic in the Aztec empire. And finally, there were strong earthquake shocks and two heavy falls of snow (snow in the Valley of Mexico is a rare phenomenon.)

The astronomer-priests of the Nahuas, in their daily observations of the sun, determined that, within a fixed period of years, these events occurred; they calculated this period at twelve years, and since there had been three perfectly determined series of these phenomena they designated their observations by means of thirty-six circles—those that appear on the Cyclographic Stone.

At present, science fixes a period of solar activity every eleven years, of which four are of ascent in the activity and seven are of descent, and in a space of thirty-four years. It is thus clear that the Nahuan astronomers were not far astray in determining the period of solar activity as twelve years, considering the imperfection and scarcity of instruments for precise observation that they possessed.

The third and last set of data that appear on the Cyclographic Stone consists of another series of circles, this time numbering forty. These circles are placed but a short distance from the first thirty-six. They are related with the figure of the god that appears on the stone, ensuing, as they do, in a serpent-like fashion from one of the feet of this idol. They also bear stellar signs.

ASTRONOMICAL PHENOMENA

This hieroglyphic, too, represents another astronomical phenomenon that called the attention of the Nahuas in a compelling and powerful manner in that epoch, namely, a rain of stars, falling through the skies nightly for a period of eight weeks, according to the Nahuan calendar which reckoned five days to the week, or a total of forty days. During this period this star shower lasted with more or less intensity and was observable over the entire Valley of Mexico.

Thus it is that the figure, ensuing from a foot of the god "Huitzilopostli" is the representation of the constellation of Leo, because generally the point from which this shower of stars radiates is in this constellation.

It is clear, then, that the Nahuas knew that the sun was the author of the cataclysms that occurred on earth, and they knew that the solar activities were subject to a fixed period of years, which they placed at twelve. In all probability, they knew or at least suspected, the existence of sun spots.

A PEST OR A PERQUISITE?

In four years Australia has shipped abroad as food frozen rabbits reaching a total valuation of $15,000,000, and rabbit skins valued at $35,000,000. But in one province alone, New South Wales, 110,000 miles of rabbit-proof fence had to be erected to keep the little creatures from devastating farms. The cost of that fence was $30,000,000. Another fence, cost not reported, and surely one of the longest in the world, was stretched the whole distance of 612 miles between Bourke and Corowa.

CITY SUED FOR ACT OF PUPILS

Principal Directs Students to Spank Boy

Kansas Town Made Defendant Under Mob Law

Action Brought by Parent for Son's Injury

CHERRYVALE (Kan.) May 29. (Exclusive)—Under the Kansas mob law, Carl Thompson, 13-year-old eighth-grade student, has field suit, alleging that an innocent giggle in a music recital in the high-school auditorium resulted in unwarranted punishment inflicted by students under the direction of John P. Dix, principal of the school. He states the action of a group of students constituted a mob and the city is responsible.

The suit asks $15,000 actual and $10,000 punitive damages. The boy's father, Ben Thompson, has sued Dix for $850 damages which he alleges followed as a result of the beating of his son.

The spanking so far has brought no action from school authorities. Dix was re-employed by the school board for next year, but he resigned two weeks before the spanking incident to take advanced studies next year.

SUGGESTS SPANKING

According to the petition, the principal instigated a vote by the class to decide punishment for giggling in the recital. The first ballot decided that young Thompson should sing before his schoolmates. Dix was not satisfied with this verdict. He called for another vote and suggested the trouncing.

His suggestion carried. As the students were spanking Thompson the spirit of the affair carried them away and they soundly whipped him, forcing Thompson to his bed under a physician's care, the petition continues. Some of his fellow-students refused to join in the spanking, but finally they concurred when threatened with similar treatment.

John P. Sheffield, Superintendent of Schools, said this method of punishment had been practiced in this particular class, but in no other classes. Another boy, Raymond Raitt, who was cogiggler with young Thompson at the recital, received similar treatment with Thompson. But he returned to school the next morning, apparently uninjured, according to Mr. Sheffield.

KNOCK-OUT FOR SHREW, COURT'S TIP

Judge Asks Husband Why He Didn't Put Down Baby and Beat Up Wife

BROCKTON (Mass.) May 29. (Exclusive) — Judge Chamberlain, Probate Court justice, expressed the opinion of the court here that if Edward White of 37 Spring street had tried a little rough usage on his wife, Rosamond Weston White of Newton Center, that things would have been different, and White would not have had so much trouble in his home.

White is asking for a divorce on grounds of cruel and abusive treatment. He told how his wife blacked both his eyes, scratched him and bit him during one of their quarrels, and said that he never retaliated. He admitted that he was afraid of Rosamond. Her attacks always occurred when he was holding their baby, White testified.

"Don't you think," asked Judge Chamberlain, "that if you had set the baby down and put her out that it might have been different?"

"That might have meant a court appearance," White retorted.

"Perhaps so," said Judge Chamberlain. "I am not advising you to do it, am only surprised that you didn't do it. A little rough usage on your part might have changed things."

The judge took the case under advisement.

FRIANT, May 29. (AP)—Starting on the bottom lands along the San Joaquin River two miles west of here, a grass fire this afternoon swept over the hills toward Auberry and this evening was slowly eating its way against the wind in the lower foothills east of Clovis. In the other directions the fire had burned itself out along the Friant-Auberry road.

In its path of destruction the fire raged over between 7000 and 10,000 acres of land extending generally from the plant of the Grant Rock and Gravel Company to the Auberry-Fresno road about five miles away. The fire was urged on by a northwest wind and spread with great rapidity.

In its course it first jumped the Fresno-Friant road, the bed of Dry Creek and rushed on over the hills. Range land owned by John Shipp, Fleming Brothers, Guyette Lands and the White Friant Company holdings were in the path of the flames.

Approximately 250 men were used in the fight against the fire, many autoists returning from a week-end trip into the hills being stopped on the Auberry-Clovis road and pressed into service.

AN OBLIGING CORPSE

A negro went into a ticket office and asked for two round-trip tickets to Charleston. The agent knew him and asked who was going with him.

"My brother," said the negro.

"Your brother?" asked the agent. "Where is he?"

"Out here in a box. He's dead," answered the other.

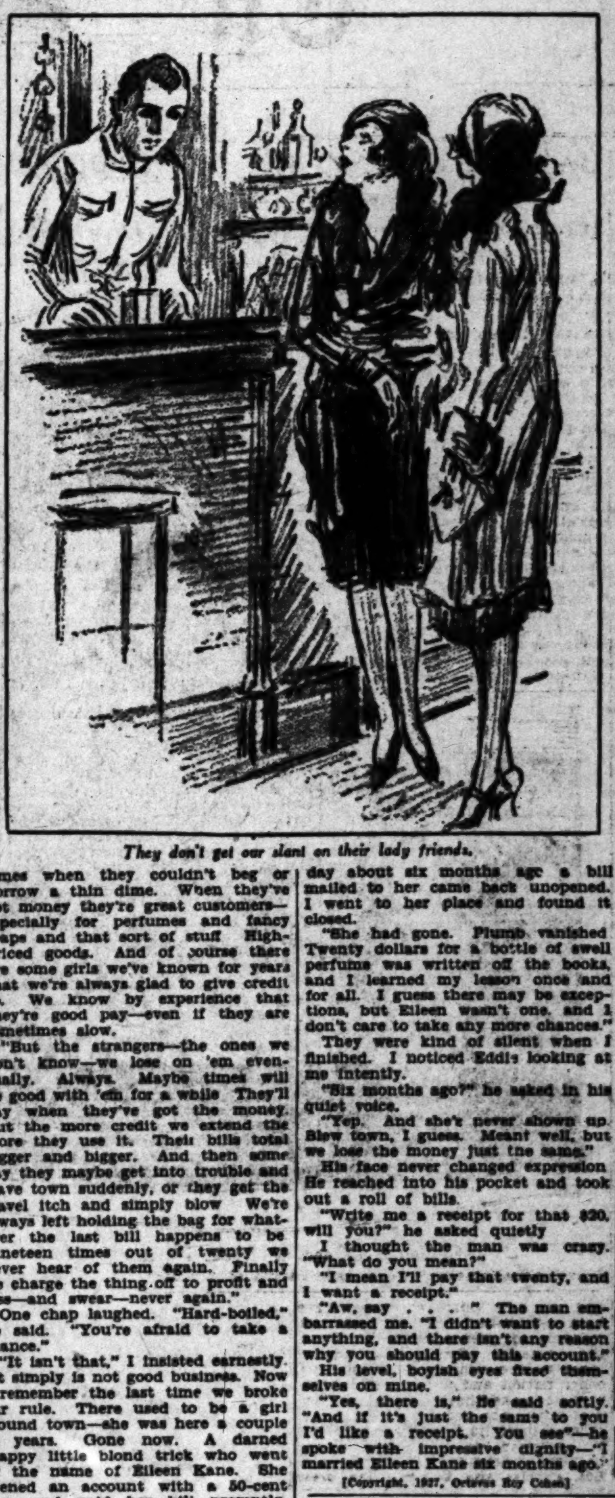
"Well, if he is dead you don't want a return ticket for him."

"Yes, suh," said the colored man. "You see, we ain't goin' to bury him in Shallston; but we have about forty kinsfolks down there, and we figured it would be cheaper to carry him down to Shallston fo' de funer'l service and bring him back, then to bring the whole family up here."

"Times" Daily Short Story

THE HUSTLER - - -

By OCTAVUS ROY COHEN



They don't get our slant on their lady friends.

WE DON'T do so much soda business after 9 o'clock at night, and it's then that the boys drift in and talk things over—sitting at the marble counter swapping yarns, figuring out what things Congress ought to do, if any, and generally trying to pass away the time.

I guess our place isn't much different from the average drug store in the downtown section of a middle-sized city, and the fellows that sit around with nothing to do and plenty of time to do it in are about the usual run. In the summer a bunch of ball players are always dropping in—I used to play pro ball once myself and savvy the lingo—but in the winter it's mostly hustlers who hang around: pretty nice gang once you get to know 'em. Different code of ethics from most of us, but they stick to that code a darned sight more rigidly than we adhere to ours. You've got to know 'em, that's all.

A hustler? Well, he's just about what you'd think from the title. He lives by his wits and a nimble conscience. He hunts for suckers and never gives one an even break—which is the first law of hustlerdom. Some of 'em are pool slickers; others can make the dice sit up and talk. There are some who can do things with cards which would earn 'em a better living on the vaudeville stage, and still others who have tried every sort of con racket from oil stock to wire tapping.

Nice fellows, though, and every last one of 'em—'way down deep—has the domestic craving. He isn't a good citizen, and he never will be—but he'd like to.

That's why they love to drift in and talk politics and weather and local gossip, and why they take as much interest in solving the problems of the world among themselves as any gang of luncheon-club hounds in the country.

They can get awful excited about a lot of things. I've seen 'em get all wrought up over Fascism, French francs, income tax rebates, street assessments and prohibition all in one evening. But most usually the argument has to do with women.

These fellows know women. Trouble is they only know one class and they know 'em from one side of the fence. They know these women on terms of equality—a basis you and I could never reach. They are interesting from that angle. But just as we don't know their women their way, they also don't get our slant on their lady friends.

Which was exactly the point I was making the night I refused to grant credit to a couple of dainties who wanted to charge a 98-cent item.

There were a half dozen of 'em sitting at the soda fountain: hustlers all—nice chaps. There was one in particular, a fellow I didn't know very well. He was a clean-cut young chap—looked like a college man, and they said he was going straight, working as an automobile mechanic and finding it a rough road. Not to be wondered at once you had seen him shoot dice. He could roll the scale—from snake eyes to box cars—with never a miss.

This chap—Eddie, they called him—never had much to say, but you couldn't escape the hunch that he had worth-while ideas on everything that came up. His very hanging around there at night . . . it was his only touch of the bygone hustler days, I guess. Hungry for the old language and excitement; the ups and downs, the thrills and dangers of it. Going straight must be pretty dreary to a guy like Eddie.

"I thought," he said slowly, referring to the couple of girls I wouldn't give credit to, "that women—like that—always paid their bills."

"They do," I said—"until the last one."

Somebody else asked me what I meant, and I explained.

"It's this way: Most of those girls are here today and gone tomorrow. They have their flush times and times when they couldn't beg or borrow a thin dime. When they've got money they're great customers—especially for perfumes and fancy soaps and that sort of stuff. High-priced goods. And of course there are some girls we've known for years that we're always glad to give credit to. We know by experience that they're good pay—even if they are sometimes slow.

"But the strangers—the ones we don't know—we lose on 'em eventually. Always. Maybe times will be good with 'em for a while. They'll pay when they've got the money. But the more credit we extend the more they use it. Their bills total bigger and bigger. And then some day they maybe get into trouble and leave town suddenly, or they get the travel itch and simply blow. We're always left holding the bag for whatever the last bill happens to be. Nineteen times out of twenty we never hear of them again. Finally we charge the thing off to profit and loss—and swear—never again."

"It isn't that," I insisted earnestly. "It simply is not good business. Now I remember the last time we broke our rule. There used to be a girl around town—she was here a couple of years. Gone now. A darned snappy little blond trick who went by the name of Eileen Kane. She opened an account with a 50-cent item and paid her bill promptly. Next month it was about $3. Payment ditto. That kept on for more than a year. Sometimes her bills ran as high as $20, but we never had to wait over thirty days for the money.

"Of course, she wasn't one of the old regulars whom we had done business with for years, but she did seem pretty well set. She was a hustler . . . maybe some of you-all know her. I was pretty nearly convinced that our no-credit policy was a trifle too rigidly enforced when one day about six months ago a bill mailed to her came back unopened. I went to her place and found it closed.

"She had gone. Plumb vanished. Twenty dollars for a bottle of swell perfume was written off the books, and I learned my lesson once and for all. I guess there may be exceptions, but Eileen wasn't one, and I don't care to take any more chances."

They were kind of silent when I finished. I noticed Eddie looking at me intently.

"Six months ago?" he asked in his quiet voice.

"Yep. And she's never shown up. Blew town, I guess. Meant well, but we lose the money just the same."

"Write me a receipt for that $20, will you?" he asked quietly.

I thought the man was crazy. "What do you mean?"

"I mean I'll pay that twenty, and I want a receipt."

"Aw, say . . . " The man embarrassed me. "I didn't want to start anything, and there isn't any reason why you should pay this account."

His level, boyish eyes fixed themselves on mine.

"Yes, there is," he said softly. "And if it's just the same to you I'd like a receipt. You see"—he spoke with impressive dignity—"I married Eileen Kane six months ago."

Muy Sr. nuestro:

Hemos recibido su grata del 3 del mes próximo pasado, así como el catálogo que vino por separado. Recibimos también una cajita de muestras.

Una simple ojeada al catálogo bastó para convencernos de que los precios son módicos para artículos de tan excelente calidad.

Pero conociendo las necesidades del mercado en que operamos, no merecemos que por el momento podamos hallar fácil salida a frecuentes e importantes pedido.

Sin embargo, no perderemos ocasión de activar la propaganda de sus productos, para que las ventas aumenten a medida que sus artículos vayan siendo más conocidos.

Quedamos suyos attos. y s. s.,
BENAVIDES HNOS.

Del mismo "Manual de Correspondencia" de Fuentes y Elías, tantas veces mencionado en estas pláticas, tomo la carta que sigue, en la cual el lector hallará una de las formas más usadas para solicitar la representación de alguna casa comercial.

Messrs. Robinson and Sons,
New York.

Muy señores míos:

La preferencia de que aquí gozan los productos norteamericanos que Vds. fabrican, y el aumento que su consumo podría fácilmente obtener si hubiese una persona que se ocupase en hacer propaganda de ellos, me inducen a ofrecer a Vds. mis servicios como agente o representante.

Estoy establecido desde hace veinte años, y tengo relaciones con algunas de las principales casas de Europa, con las que he hecho muy importantes negocios. Conozco muy bien el país, donde cuento con numerosas amistades, y mi larga experiencia me ha puesto en condiciones de hallarme al corriente de las necesidades del mercado y de los medios más rápidos y eficaces para surtirlas.

Al pie de la presente hallará los nombres de dos casas que pueden dar informes acerca de mí, y si éstos resultan satisfactorios para Vds., como es de esperar, confío en que me honrarán con la representación de sus productos, indicándome desde luego las condiciones bajo las cuales tendré que desempeñar mi cargo de representante.

ALBERTO DE LA GUARDA.

Informes:
Jean Courbet, Place de l'Opera, 54. Paris.
Jackson Bros., 89 Trafalgar Square, Londres.

A fin de ejercitarse en el uso de los elementos contenidos en la carta que antecede, el lector debe escribir otra semejante, con los datos siguientes:

Los Sres. F. L. Castillo y Cía. escriben desde Lima (Perú) a Mr. A. B. Jackson (18, Fulton St., Nueva York.) Tienen el gusto de decirle que los productos norteamericanos gozan de preferencia en el Perú; especialmente, los fabricados por la casa de Jackson. Confían en que el consumo de estos productos de Jackson podría aumentarse si alguien se ocupase en hacer propaganda de ellos. Los Sres. Castillo y Cía. llevan muchos años establecidos en Lima, tienen relaciones con las casas principales de Sud América, y tienen numerosos agentes en Europa. Conocen muy bien las necesidades del país, y por su larga experiencia saben cómo surtirlas. Estas consideraciones inducen a los Sres. Castillo y Cía. a ofrecerse como agentes o representantes para Sud América. Al pie de la presente hallará el Sr. Jackson los nombres de tres casas de Europa con las cuales los Sres. Castillo y Cía. tienen relaciones comerciales. Estos mismos señores Castillo esperan que los informes que dichas casas den resulten satisfactorios, y que, por consiguiente, el Sr. Jackson los honre otorgándoles la representación de su casa. En espera de sus noticias, se ofrecen suyos attos., afmos. y s. s. Las tres casas a que se alude son: Paul Morin (Rue de Calais, 35, París;) Fraser & Co. (67 Broad St., London;) y E. Segura (Verdaguer, 16, Barcelona.)

Farmer Gets Veterinarian to Solve Mystery of Dry Cow

HIAWATHA (Kan.) May 29. (Exclusive)—A farmer's cow wouldn't give milk to him. She was healthy. He couldn't figure it out. He called a veterinarian, who questioned the farmer. "She went down to the pond every day and stood knee deep in water," the farmer said.

The veterinarian investigated. In the pond he found dozens of fish more than two feet long, fat and spry. He pondered a minute, then told the farmer: "These fish have been milk fed. They milked the cow while she stood in the water."

BUREAU BACK AT OLD TRICKS

Legality of Action Called Into Question

Decision by Judge Butler in 1924 Cited

BY THE WATCHMAN

The Municipal Power Bureau is mailing to the 415,000 registered voters of Los Angeles circulars in support of the bureau's two "grab" measures on the June 7 city election ballot. While a few of the circulars were mailed last week, the bulk of them will reach the voters this week.

The circular is entitled, "Approval of Proposition No. 3 and No. 4. June 7 election. Propositions No. 3 and No. 4 will not cost the taxpayers a cent." On one side of one of the circulars is shown a drawing of Los Angeles Harbor with the site of the city's proposed steam plant on city harbor lands designated.

The circulars cost much money. They will be paid for from city funds, they will be folded by city employees on city time, placed in envelopes paid for by city from city funds, addressed by city employees and the stamps used will be likewise paid for from the city funds. The estimated cost of circularizing the voters alone is $20,000.

Likewise, the Power Bureau is using its revenues for banners in support of Propositions No. 3 and No. 4 displayed in various parts of the city, and also has placed campaign advertising in district newspapers. City trucks and city employees are using city time to put up posters.

LEGALITY QUESTIONED

Is this a legal use of the revenues of the Municipal Power Department? Superior Court Judge Edward I. Butler on April 2, 1924, in his decision in the case of the taxpayer's suit brought by W. W. Mines against the bureau, held that campaign expenditures from city funds were illegal. He ordered the Water and Power Commissioners to repay to the City Treasury the $12,415.15 campaign expenditures listed in the Mines complaint as spent in 1923 for support of the $35,000,000 power bond issue. This was returned to the City Treasury by the commissioners from their personal funds.

The Power Bureau spent in the 1923 unsuccessful campaign more than $100,000 for advertising, circulars, banners, jazz bands and other campaigning, not including the time of city employees spent away from their work trying to get votes for the power bonds. But for purposes of establishing the principle, the Mines complaint only cited glaring examples of different kinds of publicity put out by the Power Bureau, totaling in expense $12,415.15. These expenditures were admitted by the Power Bureau and defended, but the court held these expenditures illegal use of city revenues. The judgment is still in effect, although the commissioners appealed to the higher courts and the appeal is pending.

DECISION RECALLED

In the face of Judge Butler's decision in the Mines case, the Power Bureau is again spending its revenues in political campaigning, this time in support of Propositions No. 3 and No. 4 on the June 7 city election ballot. Proposition No. 3 is the first step in the Power Bureau's grab of the electric properties of the Los Angeles Gas and Electric Corporation, which will necessitate a $40,000,000 bond issue. Proposition No. 4 is a "grab" by the Power Bureau of twenty-five acres of harbor lands, worth more than $500,000, for a steam plant site.

TAXPAYERS SOUND OPPOSITION TO "GRAB"

Opposition to the Power Bureau's "grab" measures on the June 7 city election ballot (Propositions No. 3 and No. 4) continues to be registered from organizations and well-known citizens at the offices of the Los Angeles Protective Association, among the latest organizations to oppose the proposals being the California Taxpayers' Association, which directed a resolution against Proposition No. 3, the measure starting under way the condemnation of the $40,000,000 electric properties of the Los Angeles Gas and Electric Corporation.

BANQUET CLOSES CONCLAVE

High Aims Cited at Sons of Italy Affair

NO IMMIGRANT can become a good citizen of the United States unless he is first true to the highest ideals of his own country, declared Edoardo Denucci, grand venerable of the Sons of Italy for the State of California, addressing delegates to the second annual convention of the order yesterday afternoon. The occasion was a banquet which marked the close of the 1927 conclave. It was conducted at the Knights of Columbus auditorium, 612 South Flower street.

Among the speakers and honor guests were Boyle Workman, representing Mayor Cryer, who was unable to be present; Prof. G. Andreini, Gen. Walter P. Story, Eugene W. Biscailuz, undersheriff of Los Angeles county, and Cavalier E. Stillito, Italian Consul-General.

The chief aim of the Sons of Italy order, declared Denucci, is to educate Italian immigrants and foreign-born to the customs of America and for this purpose schools have been established, which all are welcome to attend. He pointed out that America offers greater advantages to the immigrant than any other nation and urged his countrymen to make the most of their opportunity, not forgetting that they must respect its laws and traditions. He expressed his appreciation of the hospitality extended by the people of Los Angeles and thanked the press for its generous co-operation in making the convention a success.

Miss Paolina Tunzi was crowned as queen of the 1927 convention and Miss Teresina Monteleone, attired as Miss America, was introduced as the national anthem was played. Both were enthusiastically applauded. A parade was conducted in the morning, in which every Italian society in Los Angeles was represented.

Dancing followed the banquet, with music provided by Lo Forti's orchestra. The next convention will be at Fresno in 1929.

Bell Applies for Chance to Join Maywood

The territory of Bell has applied to Maywood for petitions to circulate asking for an annexation election, and the petitions are to be set in circulation today, it was announced yesterday by A. A. Larkey, Bell City Clerk.

The territory to be annexed is bounded roughly by the Pacific Electric Railway on the north, the Union Pacific Railroad on the west, a line 150 feet south of Florence avenue on the south, and the Los Angeles River on the east. It is more than twice as large as the present incorporated area of Maywood.

If the election carries, Maywood will be traversed by four of the county's major highway arteries, Slauson avenue, and Atlantic avenue around the intersection of which the city now centers, and Baker avenue and Florence avenue.

CRUZE AND DE MILLE IN FILM UNION

Director to Have His Own Organization and Will Produce Five Pictures

One of the most important alliances in film history took place yesterday when James Cruze signed as producer with Cecil B. De Mille and the Producers' Distributing Corporation.

JAMES CRUZE.

The contract is for five pictures, two of which Cruze will direct personally while he will supervise and produce the other three.

Cruze is to have his own organization and will produce under the name of James Cruze Inc., releasing through P.D.C. He will work at the Metropolitan studios, and it is likely that while directing one picture he also will be supervising another, at least a part of the time.

Wylie Mather and Ha[illegible] Schwartz are interested with Cruze in his productions. Cruze will be president of the organization, Schwartz, vice-president, and Mather, secretary.

As it is with huge American historical films that Cruze has won his greatest fame it is planned by him to keep on along that line. He plans to make "The Pioneer Woman" as his first picture—a story of woman's hardships during the migration from the East to the Middle West. Another story he has in mind will be called "The Army Mule" and has to do with the progress of war methods and their relation to American history.

FRIENDS VIEW HUNTINGTON

Acquaintances Visit Home to Pay Respects and Offer Condolence to Family

While Henry E. Huntington's body rested in the flower-laden library of his San Marino residence friends of the late railroad executive, financier and art collector, men and women prominent in many walks of Los Angeles life called at the home yesterday to pay their respects to his memory and to offer condolences to the members of his family who are at the residence.

All plans for the funeral Tuesday morning have been perfected and announced. The simple services will be at the home, strictly private, and will be conducted by Dr. Robert F[illegible], pastor of the Pasadena Presbyterian Church and friend of the philanthropist.

WILL NOT LIE IN STATE

Mr. Huntington will be buried on [illegible] beside his wife. Both [illegible] will be transferred later to a mausoleum now being constructed on the grounds.

So far as the public is concerned the body will not lie "in state," but as was the case yesterday, a limited number of friends of Mr. Huntington will be invited to come to the home today to see him for the last time.

These callers are being received by Mr. Huntington's sister, Mrs. Edmund [illegible] of Pasadena, and his daughters, Mrs. John B. Metcalf of [illegible] and Miss Marian Huntington of San Francisco, who arrived at San Marino with the body Saturday after crossing the continent from [illegible] on the Huntington private car, San Marino.

It was stated yesterday that another sister, Mrs. Clara Perkins, is on her way back to America from Europe. She was informed in Paris of the death of Mr. Huntington.

Details of how the financier philanthropist spent his last days were related yesterday by Dr. E. A. Bryan, 3210 West Adams street, who had been his physician for twenty-seven years. Almost to the very last Mr. Huntington kept close personal touch with his business affairs and held conferences with art collectors about new treasures for his priceless library.

WAS ALWAYS CHEERFUL

"He was very cheerful and pleasant and did not worry or have any anxiety about his illness," Dr. Bryan declared. "He thought he was going to recover and even made plans for a visit to his shipbuilding properties in the East before he returned to California."

Mr. Huntington was operated on the 8th inst., last, at the Lankenau Hospital in Philadelphia by Dr. John B. Deaver, professor of surgery at the University of Pennsylvania, and by Dr. Bryan. Two days before his death he lapsed into a state of coma

INSURANCE DOES NOT COVER SEA

Mariners' Right to State Compensation Denied at Appellate Court Hearing

Persons engaged in maritime pursuits do not fall within the jurisdiction of the State Compensation Act, according to a ruling of the Second District Court of Appeal, which established a precedent on the legal point. The opinion applies to employees on fishing and pleasure vessels as well as ocean-going ships.

The case involved an Industrial Accident Commission award of $150 burial expenses to the parents of J. J. U. Brooke, who was drowned at Santa Monica when a gasoline boat upset. The boat was engaged in carrying passengers to and fro between a pier and a fishing barge anchored several miles offshore. Brooke was an employee of the ship owners.

The parents sought to collect the burial expenses on the ground that his occupation was within the provisions of the compensation laws. The Appellate Court upheld the contention of the insurance carrier that all mariners are excluded from the effect of the State law and the only recourse is through admiralty proceedings.

TRIBUTE TODAY FOR WAR DEAD

Patriotic, Veteran and Civic Units to Join

Memorial Services Scheduled at Many Points

Exposition Park Ceremonies to Draw Crowds

Patriotic, veteran and civic organizations are joining today in showing honor to the country's war dead. Los Angeles joins on this day set apart as sacred to the memory of those who have paid the supreme sacrifice in placing a flower and dropping a tear over the last resting place of those who have gone West and in paying homage to the great throng of unknown soldiers and sailors who lie in unmarked graves at home and abroad.

Elaborate preparations have been made for the many services that feature the day in this vicinity. Probably the greatest throng will gather at the Coliseum at Exposition Park where a joint veteran service will be held at 1:30 p.m., preceded by community singing for one hour. Veteran organizations, led by the remnant of the G.A.R., will parade to this event.

SERVICES AT CEMETERIES

Roosevelt Camp No. 9, United Spanish War Veterans is sponsoring a service of sacred song at Rosedale Cemetery following which flowers will be strewn over the graves of departed comrades. It is anticipated that 60,000 will be drawn to Forest Lawn Memorial Park, Glendale, for the impressive services planned for 2 p.m. At Pershing Square at 11:15 a.m., the Seventh California Volunteer Infantry will sponsor a service that is expected to draw a large crowd.

Two most impressive Memorial Day demonstrations are planned from the air. The Aero Corporation, Ninety-ninth-street and Western avenue, will impress a fleet of planes to strew flowers over veterans' graves at Forest Lawn, Roosevelt Memorial Park, Rosedale, Hollywood and Inglewood cemeteries, while planes from Clover Field will strew flowers over the ocean in an impressive ceremony off Ocean Park Municipal Auditorium, in which will be conducted services under the joint auspices of patriotic, veteran and civic bodies of the Santa Monica Bay District.

Lieut.-Gov. Buron Fitts will be the speaker at morning services at Roosevelt Memorial Park, while Sycamore Grove will be the scene of a patriotic program by the New England States Society, scheduled for 2 p.m. At the University of Southern California at 8 p.m. patriotic songs and orations will feature the commencement exercises.

PROGRAM AT PARK

Veterans of all conflicts from the Civil to the World War, joining with patriotic organizations, will sponsor united exercises in the annual San Fernando Valley program at Oakwood Cemetery at 2 p.m.

Patriotic selections will feature the program of music at Westlake Park from 2 p.m. to 10 p.m., this being a repetition of yesterday's program, which also observed Memorial Day. At Patriotic Hall, 1816 South Figueroa street, impressive ceremonies will commence at 1 p.m. and continue until 3:30 p.m., closing with the sounding of taps.

Sawtelle Soldiers' Home, largest home in the nation for veterans of all wars, will conduct solemn services tomorrow afternoon, the extensive grounds being patriotically decorated for this occasion. Thousands of blossoms and floral tributes will be strewn on the bosom of the Pacific Ocean from Venice Pier in the annual memorial program of that popular beach community.

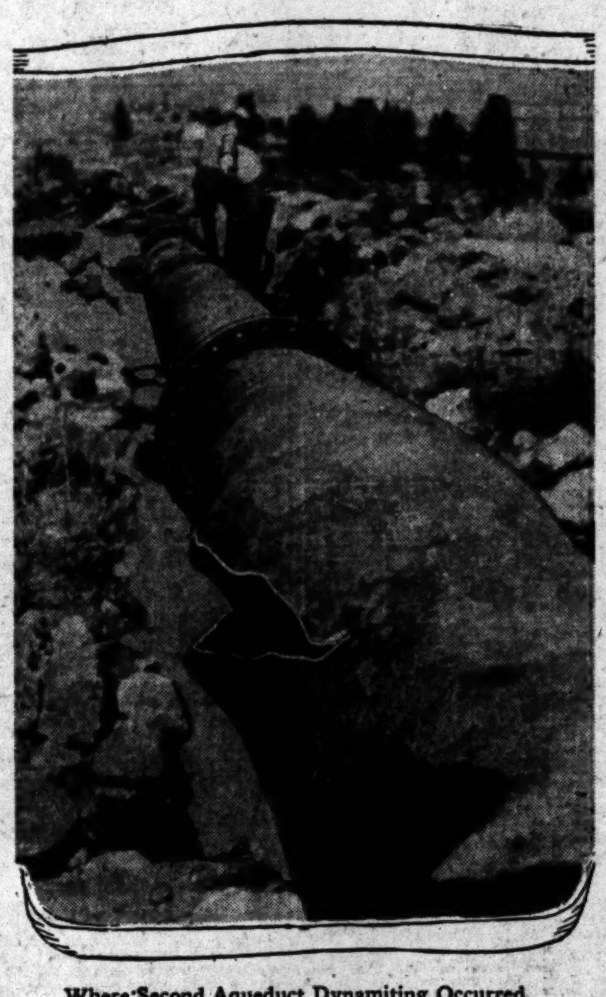
Yesterday was largely given over to Decoration Day observances in the various churches of the city, all creeds and denominations paying fitting tribute to those who have gone down in battle.

Condition of Senora Calles Satisfactory

Although somewhat fatigued and weak, Senora Calles, wife of the President of Mexico who underwent an operation Saturday at the California Lutheran Hospital, was reported in generally satisfactory condition yesterday.

President Calles has been informed that she is getting along nicely and, unless complications develop, her complete recovery is anticipated within a few weeks.

Rent in Power House Feeder Pipe



Where Second Aqueduct Dynamiting Occurred

A gaping rent was torn by Owens Valley dynamiters in the penstock, or feeder pipe, leading to Big Pine Power House No. 3 in the second Aqueduct blast last week. It took place early Saturday morning. The destruction of the pipe did not interfere with the Aqueduct itself, but put the power house out of commission.

BEANS ON STRIKE

Supposed Jumpers Refuse to Live Up to Name

What is the matter with a Mexican jumping bean when it will not jump?

This is a problem W. M. Baggott has been called on to investigate in connection with his official duties as one of the special investigators for the Police Commission. G. E. Baggott, the investigator, a brother, a visitor here from South Carolina, submitted the question for determination.

G. E. Baggott, an official of the Southern Railway of his home State, and his wife, were induced to purchase some jumping beans by a street merchant, whose samples hopped, ambled and cavorted in a lively and comic manner, the investigator said he was informed.

But when they took their purchases to the investigator's home, 4342 Third avenue, where they are visiting, the beans absolutely failed to perform, according to Investigator Baggott.

The brothers Baggott are searching for the merchant to obtain a return of the purchase price and learn why the jumping beans will not jump, according to the investigator.

Solvent Credit Law Subject of City Club Talk

"The Southern California Attitude Toward the Amendment of the 7 Per Cent Solvent Credit Law" is the subject to be discussed by Senator Harry A. Chamberlin at noon next Wednesday at the City Club. Friday at noon there will be a community sing and a program by the City Club quartet, composed of Flora M. Engle, Alice Lohr, William Pilcher and Gage Christopher, with Ida Mae Travis as accompanist. A dinner-dance will feature the program Friday evening. Today there will be no program nor any service at the club in observance of Memorial Day.

JUDGE COLT'S EYE GROWING DIM

Frontier Arbiter Fails to Render Decision in Dispute Over Desert Claim But Woman Bystander Gets Shot and Duelists Fall With Flesh Wounds

SAN BERNARDINO, May 29. (Exclusive)—"Old Judge Colt," arbiter of many an ancient mining-claim dispute, held court again today at Goffs, but the times have worsened. He failed to render a decision, and not only did neither of the litigants who appealed to him contrive to be buried with his boots on, but the most seriously wounded in the encounter was an innocent bystander. These facts were gleaned from the report of Deputy Sheriff Jack Brown, who flivvered the thirty miles from Needles to Goffs to investigate the affair.

The participants in the desert duel, according to Brown's report to Sheriff Shay, were Joe Larrieu and John A. Kousch, prospectors, and the principal victim was Mrs. Nell Richardson, Goffs' hotel keeper and former wife of Kousch, who received a wild bullet in the shoulder.

A quarrel over the ownership of a claim in the desert broke out afresh when Larrieu and Kousch met at the hotel early this morning, the report said, and the miners quickly got to the point of deciding to shoot it out. Both blazed away, and Larrieu was the first to fall, wounded in the flesh of his foot and of his left leg. He fired from the ground at Kousch, who likewise fell from a bullet wound in the thigh. Both emptied their guns in the approved style of the olden time and which one shot Mrs. Richardson has not been determined.

When the smoke cleared away the spectators who had watched the duel from a safe distance carried the wounded men into the hotel, in front of which the affair had been fought, and got medical attention for them and for Mrs. Richardson.

Deputy Sheriff Brown found all three of the wounded in bed. Neither Larrieu nor Kousch, he said, wants to make a complaint against the other and Mrs. Richardson is said to be disinclined to complain against either. Sheriff Shay said, however, he expects to have both men brought to jail here on charges of assault.

WOMEN ASK ADDITIONAL JUDGESHIPS

Georgia Bullock's Record Cited in Proposal Sent to Gov. Young

A request to Gov. Young that three or four women judges be appointed out of the new Superior and Municipal Court positions to be created will be forwarded today by the Women Lawyers' Club of Los Angeles. The record of Judge Georgia Bullock, the only woman judge, and also her vote at the primaries when she led the ticket, are two of the main reasons back of this move, club officials said.

They suggested that Judge Bullock be elevated to the Superior bench. Mrs. [illegible] Faulconer, vice-president of the San Fernando Valley Bar Association, was proposed as Judge Bullock's successor in the Municipal Court.

Orfa Jean Shontz, former Referee; Ma. Copeland Lineman and Florence Bischoff are among the women attorneys they suggested for Superior Court appointments. Ida Viola Wells and Amelia Johnson are said by the officials to be seeking the new municipal positions.

CANADIANS TO CELEBRATE

The Canadian Society of Southern California will hold a reunion and social dance tomorrow at 8:45 p.m. at the Hollywood Roof Ballroom, 1549 Vine street. This meeting is to celebrate the diamond jubilee of the Federation of Canada, Empire Day, which fell on the 24th inst., and the 108th anniversary of Queen Victoria. Former and visiting Canadian, British, Australian, Irish and American friends are invited.

POLICE READY TO RUSH NORTH

Armed Men Prepared for New Aqueduct Trouble

Investigation by Grand Jury May Be Requested

State Senator Swing Offers Aid to End Feud

A clew to the automobiles used by the dynamiters who last Friday blasted out a 460-foot stretch of a nine-foot siphon of the Los Angeles Aqueduct in the first of two successive dynamite attacks in the Owens River Valley was reported to have been uncovered yesterday by Los Angeles police detectives.

Meanwhile the actual work of reconstructing the break was started with the arrival in No Name Canyon of the first of the fabricated steel plates. H. A. Van Norman, assistant to Chief Engineer Mulholland, said that, due to the co-operation of local manufacturing plants, the work will be hurried through and completed in record time. A fleet of trucks is being used to hurry the steel to the spot. Mr. Van Norman will return to the valley tomorrow.

CALLS IT OUTLAWRY

Determination to bring to justice the dynamiters was expressed yesterday by Water and Power Department officials. President Del Valle issued a statement in which he termed the dynamiting "flagrant outlawry and a vicious effort to blacken the name of Los Angeles throughout this State and nation." He said the purpose was twofold—to force the city to buy, at exorbitant prices, ranch lands in the valley and to pay "reparations" to business interests in the communities in the valley.

In the valley former Dep. Dist.-Atty. Clark was directing the efforts of six Los Angeles city detectives in their search for clews. Mr. Clark announced he would co-operate with Sheriff Hutchison and spend "two years, if necessary," in tracking down the dynamiters.

JURY MAY INVESTIGATE

A rumor was current that an investigator for the Federal Department of Justice was in the valley. Another rumor indicated that the Los Angeles county grand jury might be asked to investigate certain local aspects of the case.

State Senator Ralph Swing, whose district includes Inyo county, the scene of the dynamiting, arrived in the valley yesterday and offered to render what assistance he could in ironing out the feud between the valley faction and the water bureau.

A squad of fifty-three picked policemen, all heavily armed, was maintained constantly at Central Police Station all day yesterday prepared to leave for the valley immediately in case of further trouble. Nineteen automobiles were held in readiness for their transport. They were under command of Chief of Detectives Cline.

Work looking toward the repair of the damaged penstocks leading to the Big Pine House No. 3 was begun yesterday. The powerhouse supplies energy to the valley and the damage there did not affect the aqueduct system. Bureau officials repeated yesterday that a large supply of water is available to the city from the immense reservoirs south of the break.

Mr. Del Valle's statement follows:

"The criminal attacks made by dynamiters during the past few days upon the city's water and power systems culminate a campaign of violence and threats that has been conducted against this city and its Department of Water and Power for more than three years. From the beginning this campaign has been characterized by flagrant outlawry and a vicious effort to blacken the name of Los Angeles throughout this State and nation.

"A small group of persons in Owens Valley, aided and abetted by certain outside interests, have been the active forces in this campaign. Their purpose has been two-fold: (1.) To force the city to buy, at exorbitant prices, ranch valley land in the valley still held in private ownership.

JULIAN AFFAIRS REST TODAY

Holiday Brings About Respite in Various Activities; Battle to Break Afresh Tomorrow

The Los Angeles county grand jury tomorrow will resume its investigation of overissue of stock in the Julian Petroleum Corporation. At the same time other investigations and a controversy over the ancillary receivership of A. C. Wagy & Co., Inc., brokerage house which dealt heavily in Julian securities, will hold prominent places in the disentanglement of the financial muddle.

Since today is a holiday the various probes of the affair were technically at a standstill. However, Attorney Arnold Lackenbach, representing Samuel M. Shortridge and E. H. Cochran, primary receivers for the Wagy firm, announced that tomorrow he will file a motion to vacate the appointment of Joseph Scott and H. L. Carnahan to the position.

DOUBLE RECEIVERS

The controversy arose when Shortridge and Cochran were appointed by a San Francisco Federal Court and Scott and Carnahan were appointed by United States District Judge McCormick here. The former men will contend that the latter are disqualified to act as receivers of the Wagy brokerage house affairs because they also are receivers for the Julian Petroleum Corporation and the California-Eastern Oil Company.

Attorney Lackenbach said he will file the motion to vacate Scott and Carnahan as receivers and if the motion is denied he would ask a review of the matter before the United States Circuit Court of Appeals. Meanwhile Receivers Scott and Carnahan have taken over the affairs of the Wagy company in conjunction with officials of the State Corporation Department.

Another investigation into the financial tangle is under the supervision of City Prosecutor Lickley and while aimed at money lenders whom he asserts extracted usurious rates of interest from the Julian Corporation for loans, is also intended to hasten the return of approximately $12,000,000 such obtained money to the receivers for the protection of the stockholders.

USURERS TO DISGORGE

Dr. Lickley declared he was in possession of evidence which indicated that two-score money lenders in Los Angeles had obtained large amounts of usurious interest. They were called upon to return their gains to the receivers, although immunity from the usury law was not altogether promised. Dr. Lickley declared that tomorrow he will be in possession of documentary evidence to substantiate his claims.

S. C. Lewis, resigned head of the Julian Petroleum Corporation, who was reported in custody "by consent," will be among the witnesses before the grand jury in addition to other

FUNNY—but real.

The man who got a divorce from his wife because she refused to weep when he made a farewell address to his lodge—upon his retirement as a presiding officer.

WEEPY

My experience with the male of the species is that they are a weepy lot.

Much more so than women.

I never saw a public presentation of anything to a man that the place didn't become leaky with tears.

When anything like this happens with a woman, she licks her lips to see that her lipstick is on straight; takes it smiling—then goes home to scratch the royal gift with a pin to see if it is plated.

BEING PRESIDENT

On the principle of the burned child dreading fire, former Justice Hughes refuses to run again for President.

He had a heart-breaking experience—going to bed that great night in the belief that he had been elected President of the United States—waking the next morning to find himself defeated.

It is doubtful if he would have been a happy or a particularly successful President.

Say what you will, the most successful Presidents have been men like Calvin Coolidge—with strong, unbending characters; but with a knowledge of, and an instinct for politics. No matter what his private convictions may be, no President can accomplish anything until he knows the political ropes.

He has to deal with great questions—but also with politicians.

PREHISTORIC APARTMENTS

It is curious to see how the thought of the world swings around in circles.

For instance, the building of bungalows on the tops of New York skyscrapers, which an architect now visiting in Pasadena says will be the next great building development.

It is not an original idea. That idea was invented by the prehistoric cliff dwellers.

I remember visiting the San Diego exposition with Gen. Otis and that was what interested him more than any other thing he saw—models of the old cliff dwellings. His alert mind at once called attention to the fact that they were in reality apartment-houses.

BRAINS

If as much brains went into other matters as into the advertising business this world would be an easier world in which to live.

Billboards are giving away to statues set up by the roadsides; and some of them are charming.

I buy a certain weekly magazine every week to look at the advertisements. They are the work of famous artists—who get whacking prices therefor. Instead of starving in garrets, the artist of today is joining the ranks of the plutocrats.

A railroad sent me some advertising pamphlets the other day—advertising Glacier National Park. It was, in effect, a little historical library.

The romance and tradition of pioneer history is being saved by the intelligence of the last people of whom such a service could have been expected—the railroads.

(2.) To compel the city to pay them many additional millions of dollars as 'reparations' for asserted injury to business interests in the valley resulting from the city's land purchases in that region.

"In an effort to support their demands for unreasonable land prices and 'reparations' this group has broadcast the false charges that Owens Valley is being devastated and its business interests ruined by the city of Los Angeles.

"We believe the time has arrived when the people of this city and State are entitled to know the truth of this situation, and we therefore submit for public consideration a statement of the facts.

WATER FORMERLY WASTED

"Owens River and its tributaries in the valley are the water supply sources of the Los Angeles Aqueduct. Prior to the construction of the Aqueduct a large share of this water was unused by the valley ranchers and was wasted into Owens Lake.

"Before the city constructed the Aqueduct it obtained its rights to appropriate water from Owens River through filings granted by the State of California and the United States government. On the basis of this right it has proceeded in good faith to invest more than $44,000,000 in the construction, development and maintenance of a water storage and supply system.

"Never in its history has Owens Valley prospered and increased in wealth as it has in the past twenty years during which time the city has been operating its Aqueduct in that territory.

VALLEY PROSPERS

"Owens Valley, practically the only portion of Inyo county under development, was settled as an agricultural region in the early seventies. In 1905, two years before work began on the Aqueduct, Inyo county had an assessed valuation of $2,487,000. In 1915, two years after the completion of the Aqueduct, Inyo county's assessed valuation had increased $7,628,000; today Inyo county has an assessed valuation of $11,347,000. Such a steady and relatively great increase in assessed valuations does not indicate that the valley has suffered at the hands of the city of Los Angeles.

"When the city entered Owens Valley to construct the Aqueduct it found that region largely a raw frontier territory without even a railroad connection with the cities and markets of Southern California. The city, requiring rail transportation to handle its construction materials, entered into an agreement with the Southern Pacific Company, which resulted in that company building a standard gauge railroad from Mojave to Lone Pine in the valley, a distance of 120 miles. Thus, through the city's efforts, was Owens Valley given its first standard railroad connection with the outside world.

PURCHASE NECESSARY

"Unable to reach any sort of equitable agreement with valley interests concerning division and use of Owens River water, the city has found it necessary, during the last four years, to make extensive water-land purchases in the valley. Because of the series of abnormally dry years just passed through, these land purchases were required as the only method of safeguarding the Aqueduct water supply upon which 1,250,000 people in Los Angeles are largely dependent.

"Since 1923 the city has paid or contracted to pay $12,000,000 for approximately 70,000 acres of land in the valley. The purchase price paid for these lands was on the basis of 4.1 times their assessed valuation. The properties' actual market value is recognized to be only about two times the assessed value.

"More than 70 per cent of the ranches purchased have been leased to tenants, in many instances the former owners, and these lands are being retained under cultivation. Additional leases are being made each day.

"During the eighteen months between October 1, 1925, and April 1, 1927, the city expended a total of $202,132 on improvements to the ranch properties it has purchased in Owens Valley.

"In the face of the repeated charge that Owens Valley towns are being ruined, here are the facts:

"Building and improvement work in the Owens Valley towns of Bishop, Big Pine, Independence and Lone Pine has been progressing steadily since the city began its land purchases in the valley.

"Since the city began its land purchases, three new, modern hotels have been completed in the towns of Bishop, Lone Pine and Independence. Today two of these hotels are being enlarged.

"Garages have been erected or enlarged in all of the four towns during the past eighteen months. In Lone Pine a block of four new store buildings has just been completed.

BANK DEPOSITS GROW

"Published statements of Owens Valley banks reveal that the bank deposits in Bishop, largest town in the valley, were 21 per cent greater on December 31, 1926, than on December 31, 1922, the year before the city began its land purchases. The deposits for December, 1922, were $1,972,720 and for December, 1926, $2,385,411.

"Purchase of automobiles has come to be regarded as one of the best barometers of any community's prosperity and buying power. In Inyo county the annual registration of automobiles for the year 1926 is reported to be 435 per cent greater than for the year 1921—the number of cars registered being seventy-six in 1921 and 407 in 1926.

"Hundreds of the city's employees engaged in the operation and maintenance of the Aqueduct and on new construction work are stationed in the valley. The city's pay roll in the valley now amounts to more than $100,000 a month, and this pay roll contributes materially to the prosperity of a region whose total population is 7000.

CITY PAYS HEAVY TAXES

"The city is by far the largest taxpayer in Owens Valley. Its tax bill for the present year amounted to $144,000 or 42 per cent of the total county taxes.

"Ever since the Aqueduct was placed in operation, the city of Los Angeles, through its responsible officials, has attempted to work out with the valley residents an equitable agreement concerning the division, storage and use of the available water in Owens River.

"In 1921 it appeared that at last an agreement had been reached. The plan outlined called for the expenditure of several millions of dollars by the city of Los Angeles in providing water storage and conservation facilities largely for the benefit of the ranchers. As a part of this program the city, in good faith, began the construction of a dam in Owens Gorge for the purpose of creating a storage reservoir in Long Valley. This work was halted when an injunction suit was filed by a group of Owens Valley residents restraining the Department of Water and Power from building the Long Valley reservoir dam.

LIBERAL PRICES PAID

"Beginning in 1922, a series of abnormally dry years cut short the water supply in the Owens River basin. The city of Los Angeles was confronted with the threat of a serious shortage of water from Owens River. To prevent such a shortage the department followed the only course possible; it authorized the purchase of water land along Owens River. The prices offered for the land were extremely liberal and were gladly accepted by the landowners.

"At the same time an exhaustive survey of the water resources of Owens Valley was made by a board of engineers composed of Louis Hill, J. B. Lippincott and A. L. Sonderreger. Their findings revealed that in normal years there would be sufficient water available in the valley to irrigate 30,000 acres of land and meet the needs of the Aqueduct as well. Accordingly, the department offered to establish a policy of land purchases that would leave 30,000 acres of the best land in the valley under private ownership. The department further offered to carry forward such water storage and conservation measures as would assure this 30,000-acre area a 100 per cent water supply at all times.

OFFER REFUSED

"This offer was refused by the valley people, who asserted that nothing short of the purchase of all agricultural land in their district would satisfy their demands.

"To protect its Aqueduct water supply, the city set about to purchase all the agricultural land in private ownership above the Aqueduct intake.

"In the purchase of this land the Department of Water and Power, and its officials, were assisted and advised by a special committee of citizens composed of William Lacy, O. M. Souden and James A. Anderson.

"To further assure fair dealings with all the land owners selling to the city, the board appointed the most competent citizens of Owens Valley to act as a board of land appraisers. These men are George Naylor, chairman of the Board of Supervisors of Inyo county; Vivian Jones, County Assessor of Inyo county, and Grant Clark, former Assessor.

NO COMPLAINTS RECEIVED

"Not one person, after selling to the city, has ever complained that he did not obtain a fair price for his property.

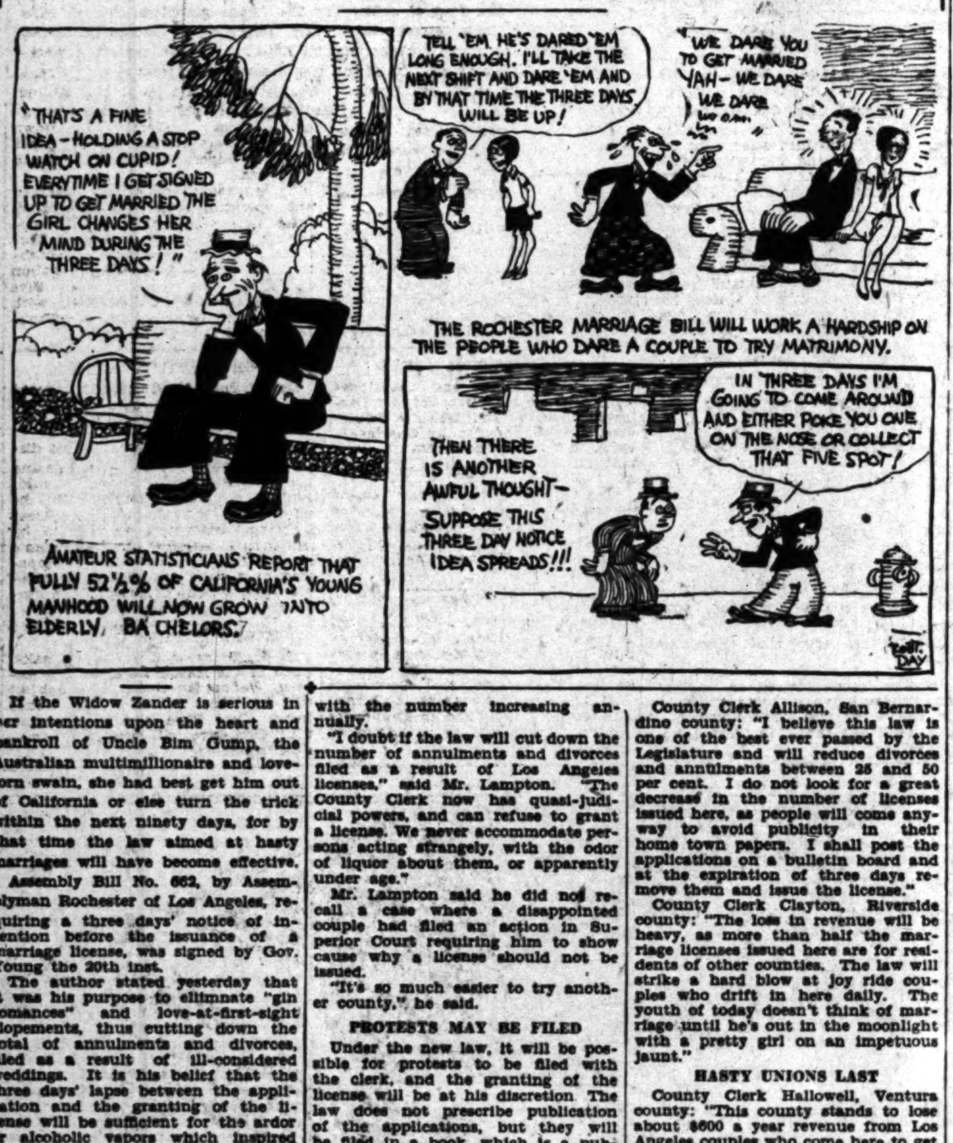
"The city of Los Angeles and its Board of Water and Power Commissioners has no quarrel with the great body of fine, law-abiding residents of Owens Valley.

"Every legitimate effort has been made by the responsible officials of the city to support and increase the material prosperity of the valley and to establish a system of water development and conservation mutually beneficial to the valley and the city.

"But the board is convinced that the people of Los Angeles are unwilling to buy peace with the lawless element of the valley at the price this band of desperadoes are demanding."

ELOPEMENTS WILL BE LOVE AT---ER---THIRD SIGHT

End of "Gin Romances" and Fewer Annulments and Divorces Expected When Rochester Law Requiring Notice of Intention to Marry Becomes Effective Within Ninety Days; County Clerks Divided in Opinions on Effect New System Will Have



"THAT'S A FINE IDEA—HOLDING A STOP WATCH ON CUPID! EVERYTIME I GET SIGNED UP TO GET MARRIED THE GIRL CHANGES HER MIND DURING THE THREE DAYS!"
AMATEUR STATISTICIANS REPORT THAT FULLY 52½% OF CALIFORNIA'S YOUNG MANHOOD WILL NOW GROW INTO ELDERLY BACHELORS.
TELL 'EM HE'S DARED 'EM LONG ENOUGH. I'LL TAKE THE NEXT SHIFT AND DARE 'EM AND BY THAT TIME THE THREE DAYS WILL BE UP!
"WE DARE YOU TO GET MARRIED YAH— WE DARE WE DARE
THE ROCHESTER MARRIAGE BILL WILL WORK A HARDSHIP ON THE PEOPLE WHO DARE A COUPLE TO TRY MATRIMONY.
IN THREE DAYS I'M GOING TO COME AROUND AND EITHER POKE YOU ONE ON THE NOSE OR COLLECT THAT FIVE SPOT!
THEN THERE IS ANOTHER AWFUL THOUGHT— SUPPOSE THIS THREE DAY NOTICE IDEA SPREADS!!!
DAY

If the Widow Zander is serious in her intentions upon the heart and bankroll of Uncle Bim Gump, the Australian multimillionaire and lovelorn swain, she had best get him out of California or else turn the trick within the next ninety days, for by that time the law aimed at hasty marriages will have become effective.

Assembly Bill No. 662, by Assemblyman Rochester of Los Angeles, requiring a three days' notice of intention before the issuance of a marriage license, was signed by Gov. Young the 20th inst.

The author stated yesterday that it was his purpose to eliminate "gin romances" and love-at-first-sight elopements, thus cutting down the total of annulments and divorces, filed as a result of ill-considered weddings. It is his belief that the three days' lapse between the application and the granting of the license will be sufficient for the ardor or alcoholic vapors which inspired the couple to cool and dissipate.

NO MORE DYING MARRIAGES

It is doubtful if there will be any more death-bed marriages, so often the occasion of a long-drawn-out contest over an estate.

County clerks in the counties surrounding Los Angeles, to which thousands of couples annually flee to escape the embarrassment of a home-town wedding, seem to be divided in their opinions upon the effect of the law. They agree that it will mean a loss in revenue, but are hopeful that the amount of publicity which they feel the applications will receive in Los Angeles will drive increasing numbers to make the out-of-town trip twice.

MORE HELP NEEDED

County Clerk Lampton of Los Angeles is contemplating the request for an additional $4000 for files, stationary and clerk hire. Miss Emma Higgins and Miss Rice, her assistant, now handle the work, with the help of a third girl on Saturdays and other "rush periods." Mr. Lampton feels that the office will need three clerks henceforth. More than 16,000 licenses were issued last year with the number increasing annually.

"I doubt if the law will cut down the number of annulments and divorces filed as a result of Los Angeles licenses," said Mr. Lampton. "The County Clerk now has quasi-judicial powers, and can refuse to grant a license. We never accommodate persons acting strangely, with the odor of liquor about them, or apparently under age."

Mr. Lampton said he did not recall a case where a disappointed couple had filed an action in Superior Court requiring him to show cause why a license should not be issued.

"It's so much easier to try another county," he said.

PROTESTS MAY BE FILED

Under the new law, it will be possible for protests to be filed with the clerk, and the granting of the license will be at his discretion. The law does not prescribe publication of the applications, but they will be filed in a book, which is a public record, and therefore open to inspection. Some of the clerks indicate that they will post the list daily upon a bulletin board in the Courthouse.

Comments upon the law from various county clerks are as follows:

County Clerk Backs, Orange county: "Sixty per cent of our licenses are issued to Los Angeles county residents. Through the operation of the law a loss in revenue probably will be recorded in the first few months on account of the newness of the law and the publicity which would have a tendency to cause some couples to halt. Later on I think there will be an increase in the number of marriages here because less publicity would result than in Los Angeles.

"It will have little effect in reducing the annulments and divorces in Orange county."

ORANGE RATE HIGH

Orange county is the most famous Gretna Green in the State. Last year there were 4927 marriages there, a rate of 62.1 per thousand, in comparison with the State's rate of 13.7 per thousand.

County Clerk Allison, San Bernardino county: "I believe this law is one of the best ever passed by the Legislature and will reduce divorces and annulments between 25 and 50 per cent. I do not look for a great decrease in the number of licenses issued here, as people will come anyway to avoid publicity in their home town papers. I shall post the applications on a bulletin board and at the expiration of three days remove them and issue the license."

County Clerk Clayton, Riverside county: "The loss in revenue will be heavy, as more than half the marriage licenses issued here are for residents of other counties. The law will strike a hard blow at joy ride couples who drift in here daily. The youth of today doesn't think of marriage until he's out in the moonlight with a pretty girl on an impetuous jaunt."

HASTY UNIONS LAST

County Clerk Hallowell, Ventura county: "This county stands to lose about $600 a year revenue from Los Angeles couples who come here to get married. Ninety per cent of our licenses are issued to Los Angeles people. However, I believe that so many Los Angeles people will make the trip to Ventura twice, in order to avoid home-town publicity, that the law will result in Ventura becoming more of a Gretna Green than ever before. It will have practically no effect upon divorces and annulments, as it has been my observation that some of the most successful marriages were those of couples who decided to wed on the spur of the moment."

Justices of the peace of the surrounding counties, however, are known to be watching the effect of the law with great anxiety, as the revenue from midnight marriages is no small part of their income.

Assemblyman Rochester had quite a fight steering his bill through the Legislature, as similar bills introduced in past sessions by Homer Spence, now Gov. Young's secretary, Senators Maloney, Lyon and H. C. Jones, while given consideration, never came into port. It had the approval of various groups of clubwomen and judges, who declared the bill would do much to protect the American home from dissolution.

VETERANS' HARMONY CITED

There is more harmony today in the ranks of the Disabled American Veterans of the World War than there ever has been before in the history of the organization, according to Richard C. Queen, newly-elected commander of the Department of California, who came to Los Angeles yesterday at the close of the organization's convention at Long Beach.

Commander Queen denied the statement of a former commander that a factional war was about to disrupt the organization, and declared that John R. Quinn, past national commander of the American Legion and present head of the Disabled Veterans of the World War, will countenance no effort on the part of that organization to interfere in the affairs of the other.

Commander Queen announced he intends to appoint Charles J. Murphy of Los Angeles as department historian, Henry D. Ross of Los Angeles State officer of the day and Comrade McCarthy of Sawtelle State sergeant-at-arms. Ross is head of the Drum and Bugle Corps of the Los Angeles unit.

As an indication of the prevailing spirit of harmony, the new commander pointed out that all the new elective officers of the organization had been chosen unanimously and the convention has been led by Quentin Roosevelt Chapter in voting next year's convention to a northern city.

At the convention, he declared, all the so-called factions and sectional movements were amalgamated and the organization became a smoothly functioning body.

"The future of the Disabled American Veterans of the World War is assured as a permanent and powerful veterans' organization," he said. "We learned to crawl and now we are more able to walk."

The convention, he said, made no indorsement of any candidate for national commander.

THEATER MAN TO BE WELCOMED

Harold B. Franklin, Head of West Coast Chain, Will Be Dinner Guest

Harold B. Franklin, the newly elected president and general manager of the West Coast Theaters, Inc., will be the guest of honor at a "welcome-to-California" dinner at the Biltmore Wednesday evening. The dinner will be given by the First National studios.

Elaborate arrangements have been made for the affair, which is expected to be attended by nearly all the executives of the leading motion-picture companies, many of the leading players of the profession, and persons prominent in the business and political affairs of the community.

Franklin arrived in the city a fortnight ago, but has been so busy in the realignment of the affairs of his theater circuit that it was impossible to arrange a general welcome for him previously, it was stated yesterday by those in charge of the dinner.

A special program of entertainment will be provided by Fanchon and Marco. Rupert Hughes will be toastmaster. It was stated that the guests at the speakers' table will include Mayor Cryer, Will H. Hays, A. L. Gore, Louis B. Mayer, M. Gore, Harold Lloyd, Jesse L. Lasky, Joseph M. Schenck, Dist.-Atty. Keyes, Carl Laemmle, Sid Grauman, D. W. Griffith and Douglas Fairbanks. It will be a stag affair.

OVIATTS AND MISS STARKE SAIL

THE OLD "NUREMBURG EGGS"

Once the making of clocks had reached a fairly advanced stage, it was only a step to the invention of the watch. Peter Henlein, a locksmith of Nuremberg, is credited with being the creator of the original portable timekeeper in 1500. These weighty, awkward instruments—devoid of crystals and with only one hand—were derisively known as "Nuremberg eggs." The minute hand entered watch manufacture in 1687, but it was not for another 100 years that the second hand appeared. The first crystal was used in 1615.

HUNTINGTON'S VISION LAUDED

Says Collector Organized Library for Service

Explains How Plans Will Be Carried Out

Henry E. Huntington surpassed all other book colectors in so organizing his library foundation that it will be of the widest possible service to scholars and mankind in general, said Dr. George Ellery Hale of Pasadena, former director of the Mt. Wilson Observatory, trustee of the Huntington Library and Art Gallery and long-time friend of Mr. Huntington, in a statement issued yesterday in tribute to the late financier and collector and outlining and explaining the aims of the trustees.

Dr. Hale characterizes the Huntington library foundation which Mr. Huntington established several years before his death as a research institution comparable to the California Institute of Technology and the Mt. Wilson Observatory, only involving a much larger financial outlay than either of the scientific centers.

In tribute to Mr. Huntington and in explaining the work of the foundation, Dr. Hale said:

"Much has been written of the Huntington library, but I doubt whether Mr. Huntington's qualities as a collector of exceptional vision, generosity and breadth of view have been sufficiently emphasized.

LOVED BOOKS INTENSELY

"We find men like J. Pierpont Morgan, who has transferred his library to trustees for the public benefit; William A. Clark, Jr., who has willed his library to the University of California at Los Angeles; and the late Edward E. Ayer, who gave his rich collection of books and manuscripts to the Newberry Library long before his death, and provided with characteristic enthusiasm and generosity for expenses of publication and for the preparation of facsimile reproductions. Such public benefactions surely deserve our gratitude, and it is only by comparison with their generosity that we can appreciate the unique gift of Henry E. Huntington.

"Mr. Huntington was a collector in the finest sense of the word. His affection for his books and manuscripts was so intense that I have often seen tears come into his eyes as he talked of them or read aloud some favorite passage. His methods were truly regal, as he always sought the rarest items and the finest copies, regardless of expense.

"Such a man might have been supposed to brook no rivalry and to have little compassion for less fortunate competitors. But I know of more than one case in which his own enthusiasm and interest enabled him to comprehend and sympathize with the feelings of others. For example, he had bought the entire library of a great New York collector when he learned that the former owner was disconsolate over his loss. Mr. Huntington at once returned the books and left them until several years later, when they were voluntarily offered to him again.

GUIDED BY SERVICE

"From my personal knowledge of some of the other collectors already mentioned, I have no doubt of their own generosity. But in one respect, at least, Mr. Huntington seems to have surpassed all other possessors of great libraries.

"The sale value of the books chiefly sought by collectors is usually fixed, not by their usefulness, but by their rarity. In fact, the uses of such books, except for the natural purpose of giving pleasure to their possessers, are rarely considered. When it is remembered that single books or manuscripts sometimes cost as much as $100,000, it is evident that a small safe may contain a collection worth millions. Such a library, though so attractive to the collector, might be of little or no use for research.

WIDE SERVICE AVAILABLE

"Mr. Huntington's purchases, on the contrary, were on a scale so great that they brought together about 150,000 rare books and more than 1,000,000 manuscripts, great numbers of which have never been available for study. They thus constitute a rich mine of material for the student, and Mr. Huntington's desire was to make them of the widest possible service. Books and manuscripts of this kind cannot be handled by casual readers like inexpensive and easily replaced books of ordinary libraries. They would rapidly become worn out and useless to anyone. Nevertheless, their contents and the conclusions to be drawn from a systematic study of this unique material should be made available to the widest possible public. So, Mr. Huntington and his trustees adopted a policy which places this library in a class by itself.

"The builders of the California Institute of Technology and the Mt. Wilson Observatory did not erect these institutions and provide them with powerful and expensive equipment merely in the hope that some competent scientists might chance to visit and use them. Their real task was to organize able staffs of investigators to make adequate use of the instruments and facilities provided. Mr. Huntington's expenditures for research equipment in the form of books and manuscripts, have been enormously greater than that of these institutions. Is it not obvious, therefore, that no less pains should be taken to assure adequate returns from the large investment represented by the library?

SETS GSEAT EXAMPLE

"Mr. Huntington not only saw the advantages to be gained in this way, but provided the large endowment required. He thus set an example that other great collectors may follow in the future. The publications of the Huntington Library and the light they will throw on the development of civilization among the English-speaking peoples will amply justify him in taking this step, which establishes his place as an enlightened pioneer and a most generous public benefactor.

"His trustees will devote themselves to the task of carrying this far-reaching plan into effect, with the aid of the staff of eminent investigators which will be gradually organized under the competent direction of Dr. Max Farrand. Able visiting students will also be welcomed to the library, within the limits of available working space, and in every feasible way the hopes and wishes of Mr. Huntington will be accomplished by those who now endeavor to represent him."

Following his operation, Mr. Huntington held conferences almost daily with Sir Joseph Duveen and Dr. A. S. W. Rosenbach, noted art collectors. They discussed paintings and rare books and Mr. Huntington went over a new catalogue with them.

HOLDS ART TALKS

He also held business conferences with Homer L. Ferguson, president of the Newport News Shipbuilding Company, owned by Mr. Huntington.

"He was very interested in a new contract with the government for the building of two new cruisers," Dr. Bryan stated. "He made plans for a trip to the shipbuilding plant to inspect the new cruisers and was exceedingly anxious to get there to see how things were going at the plant as he always kept in close touch with his business."

Dr. Bryan left for Philadelphia with Mr. Huntington April 29, last, for the operation. The physician said that Mr. Huntington, who was past 77 years of age, was unable to rally.

BUREAU SENDS OUT CIRCULARS

Association has been notified that seventeen leading civic and business organizations of the city have gone on record against the Power Bureau "grab" measures, including the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce directors, Commercial Board of Los Angeles, Citizens' Committee of Ten Thousand, Merchants' and Manufacturers' Association, Investment Bankers' Association, Brentwood Chamber of Commerce, South Side Women Voters' Club and Republican Woman's Study Club. The Los Angeles City Committee of the California Taxpayers' Association in its resolution said:

"Whereas, there is to be submitted to the voters of the city of Los Angeles at the election to be held on June 7, for adoption or rejection, an ordinance declaring that the public interest and necessity require that the city should acquire the electric distribution system owned and operated by the Los Angeles Gas and Electric Corporation, said ordinance being designated as 'Proposition No. 3' on the ballot; and

"Whereas, if such ordinance should be approved by the voters and the purpose thereof—the purchase by the city of the said properties of the Los Angeles Gas and Electric Corporation—carried out, the bonded indebtedness of the city would be increased by an amount estimated variously at $30,000,000 to $40,000,000; and

"Whereas, the financing of the present and prospective improvement projects of the city of major importance, such as the acquisition of an additional water supply from the Colorado River, the improvement of the harbor, the Major Traffic Plan, bridges, etc., will require the issuance of bonds to such an extent that the city's capacity to issue additional bonds which is but $36,000,000 under the New York law, which is our real guide, due to that being our most advantageous market, should be preserved and conserved as far as possible at this time, rather than exhausted or impaired by the issuance of bonds for the purchase of facilities now in existence;

"Now, therefore, be it resolved, that the directors of the Los Angeles City Committee of the California Taxpayers' Association disapprove of taking any steps at this time toward the purchase of said properties of the Los Angeles Gas and Electric Corporation, and therefore also disapprove of the adoption of the ordinance above mentioned, and advocate the voting of 'no' on said Proposition No. 3 at the coming election."

THEATER BENEFIT PLANNED

An art theater for Hollywood will be brought a step nearer realization through the proceeds of the "Robin Hood" revival to be given in Hollywood Bowl, June 14, 16 and 18, according to C. C. Craig, president of the Art Theater of Hollywood, which is sponsoring the production. The movement began a fund for building a little theater in the cinema colony last year, when it gave "Julius Caesar" in the Bowl. The Art Theater of Hollywood is a nonprofit organization.

RENTAL FUND REQUESTED

A request from the Board of Public Works for an appropriation of $14,380 for the rental of quarters for the departments now housed in the branch City Hall at San Pedro, pending the construction of a new municipal building of the old site, has been received by the City Council. The request will be referred to the Mayor and Finance Committee.

ASSOCIATION TO DINE

The Southern California branch of the League of Nations Nonpartisan Association will hold its annual dinner tomorrow evening at the Woman's Athletic Club. Dr. Alfred E. Longueil, University of California at Los Angeles and formerly connected with the League of Nations staff at Geneva, will speak on "The League of Nations and the Development of Intellectual Co-operation." Directors will be elected.

The Sacred Hour

Read Lincoln's Gettysburg address—that simple largo destined to echo through the aisles of eternity.

No other words have ever so expressed the spirit of Memorial Day.

The mighty host which first paraded to decorate comrade graves is now all but phantom army.

Once endless files in Blue and Gray have dwindled to a corporal's guard.

The veterans of the Spanish War, who yesterday, seemed beardless boys, beside the men of Grant and Lee, are already little companies of frosting elders sprinkled through survivors of the World War.

Bull Run, San Juan, and the Battlefields of France call back to Vera Cruz and Lexington that their glories are not forgotten.

This is America's sacred hour—her holy day.

May none who fell for Flag or served its cause, lie beneath bare sod.

HIGH HEELS MAR SHAPELY LEGS

Chiropodist Uses Model to Prove It

He Asked the Girl Who Owned 'Em

C. R. Hannock, president of State Association of Chiropodists, examines heels of Virginia Aley Finch, university co-ed, who wears "sensible" heels and explains how high ones spoil shape of women's calves.

the California State Association of Chiropodists, set out to find a woman wearing high heels to use as a horrible example of what should not be worn if American women are to retain the shapeliness of their legs, he searched no farther than the room in which the chiropodists were holding their State convention at the Alexandria. He found Dr. L. Ingram, one of the delegates, with her feet tucked under her chair, and when he insisted on seeing what she was concealing he found the kind of heels he was looking for.

"Well, it's a case of do what I say, not what I do," Dr. Ingram apologized "I agree that high heels are bad and that they are spoiling the shape of women's calves, but really, I've got past the stage where it worries me—much."

President Hannock then sought some one wearing the proper kind of shoe for women and on the mezzanine floor, waiting for her turn at the hairdresser, he found Virginia Aley Finch, a coed at the University of Southern California. Miss Finch wore a sensible pair of heels and her calves showed it, Mr. Hannock said.

MAN HUNT IN SLAYING OF WOMAN

Wide Search Under Way for Venice Death Suspect; Other Victim May Die

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

VENICE, May 29.—Police throughout Southern California and in other States were working with sheriffs' officers today in an effort to apprehend Joe Hardeman, 60 years of age, of Sawtelle, following additional evidence against him in the brutal slaying of Mrs. Victoria Woods, 55, yesterday in the woman's home at 109 Brooks avenue, Venice. Mrs. Emma O'Bell, 65, friend and companion of the slain woman, also brutally attacked, was reported in serious condition from loss of blood this morning at the General Hospital at Los Angeles.

Detective Captain R. E. Steckel, investigating the case, has learned from Mrs. O'Bell that Hardeman had known Mrs. Woods about a year and had been an occasional visitor at the house shared by the two women. Hardeman, it developed, had asked Mrs. Wood to marry him and she had refused.

Investigating officers have located E. Woods, separated from the slain woman twenty-eight years ago by divorce, in Chicago. It was also learned that Mrs. Woods's daughter, who had been living here with her, left the day of the woman's death for Washington, their former home, to get her father to come back with her to California, where a reunion is believed to have been planned. Woods is said to have been retired recently on a pension as a railway mail clerk.

Capt. Steckel asserts he learned that Mrs. O'Bell had been in the yard of the Venice home when, through a sun-porch window, she saw Hardeman, who was in the house with Mrs. Woods, strike the latte on the head. Later a piece of pipe, wrapped in paper, was found in the house. When Mrs. O'Bell entered the house, Hardeman, she said, struck her and slashed her with a razor as she sank to the floor. After that she remembered nothing.

That Hardeman walked calmly from the back door, after washing his hands in the kitchen, also was revealed. He nodded to a passing motorist and then walked north on Trolleyway toward Ocean Park. The foothills of the bay district and mountains to the north are being combed in the search for him.

Detective Steckel learned that Hardeman had once been a notary in an eastern soldiers' home, and that he had expressed a wish to be at that home when he did. Eastern authorities have been advised to watch for the man.

ARTISTS LAY PLANS FOR AUTUMN FROLIC

The Painters' and Sculptors' Club is planning to hold an "artistic frolic" in the early fall. The frolic will be entitled "A Night on Mars" and will be given at El Patio Ballroom. Preliminary plans were reported at a meeting of directors by a committee consisting of Merrill Gage, Stewart Robertson, Fitch Fulton, Finn Frolich, Ernest Klein and Paul Burkhard. All artists will be invited to co-operate in the grand costume ball according to announcement by Stewart Robertson, who is secretary of the organization.

RITES TOMORROW FOR SCIENCE PRACTITIONER

Funeral services for Mrs. Olga Sacara, for the last six years a Christian Science practitioner in Hollywood, will be conducted at 2 p.m. tomorrow at the chapel of Gates, Crane & Earl by the Fifth Church of Christ, Scientist. Mrs. Sacara was a native of Rumania. She left Bucharest eleven years ago. She died suddenly Friday evening. Mrs. Sacara leaves a daughter in Bucharest.

Delegates for Hospital Meet Begin Arriving

Plans for the greeting and registration of delegates to the Western Hospital Association convention and exhibit, which opens tomorrow at the Ambassador Auditorium, were outlined yesterday at a meeting of the committee on arrangements headed by Wallace F. Vail of Pasadena, president.

WALLACE F. VAIL

With managers, trustees, doctors, nurses and others representing hospitals in the eleven Western States, Texas and British Columbia commencing to arrive yesterday in Los Angeles for the conference, it was predicted that fully 800 will participate in the four days' sessions.

Putting the hospital on the same efficient business footing that the hotel is, so that the patient may receive greater service and benefits, is the aim of those fostering the convention, Vail declared. Vail is now superintendent of the Pasadena General Hospital but was a manager of hotels for more than twenty years before going into hospital work.

The convention, according to Vail, will be the nucleus of a training school for the executive staffs of hospitals on the Coast.

Dr. R. A. Broderick of Berkeley, president of the American Hospital Association and professor of hospital administration at Stanford University, left yesterday for here, according to word received from San Francisco. Miss Anna C. Jamme of San Francisco, director of registration of the State Nurses' Association, also will attend the meeting

Another Alien Liquor Baron Pays Us Visit

Just what there may be in the United States that appeals to prominent manufacturers of brands of liquor which have been famous for many generations would seem to be a question, but nevertheless the third celebrity of that nature to arrive within a year reached here this week-end vowing that the United States, and California in particular, will some day be his home.

ALGERNON JAMIESON.

Algernon Jamieson, the present generation of the family that manufactures Jamieson's Scotch whisky, is the latest arrival. With Mrs. Jamieson, he came in on the liner Calawaii, en route from New Zealand and the Hawaiian Islands to his home in London.

MRS. ALGERNON JAMIESON.

Earlier in the year, Lord John Dewar, maker of Dewar's Scotch whisky, and Baron De Precourt, the benedictine king of France, arrived here.

Like his two predecessors, the noted Britisher is enthusiastic over the United States.

WAR VETERAN ENDS LIFE IN GRIFFITH PARK

As as result of a nervous breakdown in health, according to police, Fred T. Robbins, 32 years of age, World War ensign of 1543 Virgil avenue, yesterday morning sat down on a bench in Griffith Park and blew the top of his head off with a shot gun. The man's mother stated that her son had been very despondent because of ill health caused by wounds suffered in the late war. The body was sent to the County Morgue.

KELLY TO BE SENTENCED TOMORROW

Actor Will Ask for New Trial Due to Asserted Errors Made in Court

Paul Kelly, young film actor, is to appear before Superior Judge Burnell tomorrow at 10 a.m. for sentence on a charge of manslaughter of which he was convicted by a jury last week in connection with the death of Ray Raymond, musical-comedy man. Kelly faces imprisonment for from one to ten years.

When he goes into court tomorrow his attorney, W. I. Gilbert, will present his argument on a motion for a new trial based on legal technicalities and on asserted errors made during the sensational trial.

Dep. Dist.-Attys. Murray and Kemp, who prosecuted Kelly, asserted yesterday they will be prepared to oppose Mr. Gilbert's motion for a new trial and also will try to block any attempt made to obtain the defendant's release on bail in event a new trial is denied and an appeal taken.

It was charged at Kelly's trial that he inflicted fatal injuries on Raymond in a fist fight over the affections of Dorothy Mackaye, stage actress and widow of the victim. Miss Mackaye and Dr. W. J. Sullivan, who attended Raymond, are scheduled to go to trial in Judge Burnell's court on June 16 on an indictment accusing them of being accessories after the fact and with compounding a felony for asserted attempts to conceal the facts of Raymond's death.

Two Held Up in Their Homes During Night

Two citizens were held up and robbed in their homes by bandits early yesterday morning, according to police reports.

Climbing through a front window a lone bandit, armed with a revolver, confronted Mrs. Ora Renner in the dining-room of her home at 456½ East Forty-third street, she reported. Threatening her with death if she called for help, he forced her to sit down while he rifled a buffet drawer of $14. He then fled through a rear door.

Morris Handler reported that he awakened at an early morning hour to witness a man standing by his bed. As he sat up, the bandit thrust the muzzle of a revolver against his side and commanded him to "keep his mouth shut." He then took Handler's trousers, containing $75, and fled back through the window.

Sndden Death Overtakes Man on Street Car

M. P. Wexler, 123 North Catalina street, dropped dead on an inbound Venice car last night, police reported. The body was taken to the Coroner's office from the Pacific Electric station.

Death was attributed to natural causes.

GAMING SUSPECTS SEIZED

Gambling and Liquor Charges Faced by Group of Asserted Tia Juana Denizens

Invasion of Los Angeles county by Tia Juana gamblers resulted in a raid at 653 Van Buren street, Culver City, according to George Contreras, chief enforcement officer for the District Attorney's office, reporting week-end activities of his squad. One of the men arrested, Contreras said, is Frank L. Beyers, known as "Booze Beyers," who, Contreras said, is the "gambling boss" of Tia Juana.

With Beyers was arrested Charles Ward Brudon. Both, Contreras says, were charged with gambling and Wright Act violation, and bail was set at $1000 each.

Beyers who lives at San Ysidro, and others prominent in Tia Juana gambling circles, planned an invasion of this county, Contreras declares. The official reported seizure of three cases of select whisky and gambling apparatus valued at $2000, including a $1000 roulette wheel and several thousand chips. Several well-known gamblers were sitting in the place when the raiders entered, according to Contreras.

Three persons were arrested charged with operating stills, it was reported. Jusse Orteas was charged with operating a fifty-gallon still near Torrance, and G. Mendoza and M. Pacheco with operating seventy-five-gallon and fifty-gallon stills at Bell. Five persons were arrested charged with selling liquor and four cars were confiscated.

IMPROVEMENTS ASKED

The improvement and beautification of Marlboro street, between Darlington avenue and Wilshire Boulevard, is being sought by Charles R. Fargo and other residents in two petitions filed with the City Council.

One petition seeks the improvement of the street with five-inch concrete pavement, curbs and sidewalks, while the other asks for the planting of shade trees under the Tree-Planting Act of 1915.

LECTURE ON HANDWRITING

Illustrating the value of handwriting as an indication of character, Paul D. Hugon will deliver a lecture on the subject, "What Your Handwriting Shows," at the Downtown Y.M.C.A. tomorrow evening. Both men and women are invited to attend the lecture. There will be no admission charge.

LIGHTS PETITION FILED

David Barry and other property owners have filed with the City Council a petition for the installation of ornamental lights in the district bounded by Pico, Airdrome and Alvira streets and Robertson Boulevard. The petition, which will be referred to the Traffic and Street Lighting Committee, was signed by less than a majority of the residents owning frontage, but was accompanied by a bond for $1000 guaranteeing the payment of costs if the proceedings are protested out.

BERRY MASONS' SPEAKER

H. B. Berry will be the speaker guest of the Masonic Club of Los Angeles Wednesday noon. His subject will be "The Habits of the Honey Bee." Carl Pirie and his Masonic Club Orchestra will furnish the musical numbers.

VARIED ART CLASS WORK ANNOUNCED

School of Architecture's Summer Courses to Be Started in June

Summer classes in art are announced for the 1927 summer session of the University of Southern California, to be given in the school of architecture, from June to August 30.

Studio work in line, value and color, and lecture, library and gallery assignments are included in the work in design.

"The Teaching of Art," covering content and method of graphic art in the schools, and available sources of suggestion, is to be in charge of Louise Strang Griswald, as well as applied design, using Batik, woodblock, cement and other media.

Otho Pearre Fairfield, professor of art history and appreciation at Lawrence College, comes to Southern California as visiting instructor this summer to head a group in "art of Rennaissance," dealing with the great art centers, masters of the Golden Age, and interpretation of the art of some of the best.

Artistic principles applied by the art student to problems of everyday life will be covered in a course in "art appreciation" under Prof. Fairfield.

"Art of the Home," discussing house planning and principles of good decoration, is his third course announced for the twenty-second annual Trojan summer session.

NOT SO FAR

The man who does as he pleases is very apt to bring up in jail for the week-end.

THE LID OFF

Many a man claims to have an even temperature when he means that it is even with the roof.

THE STARTER

If you really want to join in the fight against forest fire the first fire to put out carefully is that of your own cigarette.

STILL LONGER

President Coolidge is exceptionally gifted with power to keep still. And it looks as if next year the country will show its strong desire to keep him still.

THE PIONEERS

Leonardo da Vinci was thought to be the first genuine artisan to develop and illustrate the basic principles of mechanical flight. How this genius would have loved to have a Lindbergh at his side.

BEST SAUCE

Things always taste better if you have your own back-yard garden. The toil you put in there makes you so hungry that the canned goods you eat when you come in to supper go down slick.

ABSOLUTE POWER

The eighth commandment of the Fascist decalogue is that Mussolini is always right. When the chief speaks none may venture to question. The Romans are, therefore, mighty lucky to have him around. They do not have to wonder—they are told.

BOTANICAL NOTE

Somebody suggests that the sturdy-oak type of man is gradually fading from the picture—as also is the clinging-vine of the female species. In their stead there may perhaps be found the slippery elm and the snap dragon.

MODEST DEMANDS

All that the city engineering department is demanding just now is an addition of more than 500 to the pay roll. It will only take about $800,000 or $900,000 more a year to meet this situation. What is $1,000,000 between taxpayers?

LITTLE SLAM

Russian leaders of the Commune call the raid on their soviet headquarters in London a hostile act. It must be admitted that there is some basis for the statement. It was not what would be called a brotherly turn. Possibly the Britons didn't intend it to be a fraternal gesture.

HARD BOILED

An Illinois Congressman explains that Chicago does not want a highbrow Mayor because it is not a highbrow city. In spite of the fact that Chicago harbors a great many white-domed intellectuals the town prefers to be known for the rough stuff it pulls every day. The stockyards atmosphere is incense to its nostrils.

THE SMITH BROTHERS

There are 1,320,000 Smiths in the United States—including the blacksmiths. They form our most prodigious family and there were four of them in the national Senate at one time. If the Smiths could get together on any sort of a platform they could hold the balance of power in the land. But it would take a massive platform to hold them.

LUCKY AMERICA, TOO

Talk about "Lucky" Lindbergh! What about lucky America? Had it been possible to exercise selection in choosing one man in America best fitted in every way for the accomplishment of the deed and the reception of the resultant acclaim the best man, Capt. Charles A. Lindbergh, might not have been chosen. He elected himself and that was America's luck. Gentlemen, the story is perfect!

RUBBER STREETS

The Englishmen propose to have their rubber monopoly completely under foot. Now they have laid a mile of rubber pavement on a London street that carries unusually heavy traffic. So far the results justify the experiment. The surface shows no depreciation against the wear and continued dampness. Figures as to the cost of the improvement are still lacking. It is hardly possible that they could be balanced against the cost of asphalt or concrete, but there's no telling what may happen. A rubber boulevard would surely be a lovely thing for the Fords to go against. When the American magnates get all their Old World sources of rubber to working there might be an introduction of rubber in road-making in this country. Then a pedestrian would be a gutter percher for sure.

THE DYNAMITERS

For the fourth time in three years the Los Angeles Aqueduct has been dynamited by a gang of outlaws masquerading as "outraged ranchers" of the Owens Valley.

The law-abiding citizens of the valley, realizing that the lawless acts of these thugs serve no purpose save to put the whole community under a cloud, should be the first to repudiate these attempts at terrorism. They should help to hunt down the dynamiters and deliver them to the authorities for proper punishment. They should not rest until this blot on the good name of Owens Valley is erased.

To call these nocturnal bombers representative of the valley's ranchers and to declare their acts the acts of honest men driven to desperation by the "throttling tactics of the Los Angeles water octopus," is the veriest poppycock.

The fact is that they are criminals whose sabotage is part of a program of extortion directed at the city of Los Angeles. Their lawless deeds followed a State-wide campaign of propaganda calculated to deceive the uninformed public into believing that Los Angeles has wantonly ruined the peaceful ranchers of Owens Valley by taking their water without just recompense.

It is true that Los Angeles has acquired the greater part of the water-bearing lands of Owens Valley. It is true that much of the water so secured—water which formerly was used for agricultural purposes in the valley—now flows into the Los Angeles Aqueduct for the use of the 1,250,000 residents of the metropolis.

These facts have been stressed, magnified and distorted by the propagandists.

What they have not mentioned is that the city has paid more than generously for the lands which it has acquired and that, rather than work any possible hardship on any landholder, it has also bought and paid for large tracts which are of no value to the municipality.

Since 1923, when the city began the wholesale purchase of Owens Valley land for water purposes, it has regularly and as a fixed policy paid for that land 4.1 times its assessed valuation. This ratio was formally fixed early in 1924 but the lands bought in 1923, some 20,000 acres, were also paid for at that rate.

Land is assessed for tax purposes in Inyo county at 60 per cent of its market value. In paying 4.1 times the assessed valuation the city has therefore paid about two and a half times the market value of the land it has purchased.

At this rate, at which has been made the great bulk of all city purchases in the valley, the Los Angeles Water Department has taken over roughly 70,000 acres and has paid in cash and contracts $12,000,000 to the Owens Valley landowners for them. Of this about $2,000,000 is represented in contracts to buy. The rest has already been paid over in hard cash.

The sums paid by the city to the ranchers were not fixed by the city but by a board of appraisers whose members are all Inyo county citizens of high standing and unquestioned ability and integrity. They are George Naylor, who last year was re-elected chairman of the Inyo County Board of Supervisors and who is also Federal inheritance tax appraiser for that district; Vivian Jones, Inyo county's Tax Assessor, and Grant Clark, who was Jones's predecessor in that office.

These men are thoroughly familiar with the values of Owens Valley land. They fix the prices the city is to pay—on the 4.1 ratio—and do so without interference from the city. The prices the board fixes the city pays without haggling.

Further, the city has taken the lean with the fat; the poor land with the good. Most of the ranches are part good, water-bearing land in cultivation, part semiarid grazing land and the rest worthless sagebrush and scrub. The city has bought it all at the prices set by the appraisers. In numerous instances the city has also bought and paid for separate parcels belonging to ranchers who had sold it water-bearing lands, parcels for which it has no use but which would be of lessened value to the owners by reason of their other sales to the municipality.

The city has made mistakes in its policy of dealing with the residents of Owens Valley. At times there has been considerable friction. But it is a significant fact that the records of the water board show not a single case of dissatisfaction on the part of any landowner who has sold to the city. There has been no reason for any. The owners have received twice and three times as much from Los Angeles as they could get from any other purchaser.

There is, however, one class of Owens Valley residents who actually have suffered real hardships by reason of the city's policy of buying up the ranch lands. These are the merchants and other business men of the valley towns who have seen their customers, one after another, sell out and move away until there are not enough left to support even a modest mercantile establishment.

The Times has previously championed the cause of these and other residents of the valley whose complaint it believed just. What, if anything, can be done for them is uncertain. But, as The Times has said before, it believes the city can better afford to err on the side of generosity—as it has done—than otherwise.

But to confuse the few worthy cases with those of the dynamiters and the extortionists is impossible. The present trouble in the valley is due to an inconsiderable handful of agitators who are out to hold the city up. It is to their activities that the dynamite outrages are traceable. Theirs is the responsibility.

LOVE IN ALL SEASONS

An investigator reports that, although there are mating seasons in the bird and animal world, the poetic intimation that in the spring the young man's fancy lightly turns to thoughts of love is not substantiated by the facts. With men and women all seasons are dedicated to love. Statistics show that there is less pairing in February than any other month of the year, but this is doubtless because the month itself is three days shorter than most of its mates. There may be more weddings in June than any other month, but the love-light flickers ever. December and May are the same to sweethearts.

Another Flood That Should be Checked

LONE WOLF OF EUROPE

More than ever soviet Russia finds itself playing the part of the lone wolf of Europe. Its position in that respect has been assured by the British determination to break off all diplomatic relations with a government for which it can no longer have the slightest respect because of its persistent meddling, its harmful propaganda and its grave abuse of the privileges enjoyed by the members of its embassy in London. Similar action is expected to be taken by France, which is reported to have become alarmed by soviet activity and is quietly working to bring about an international repudiation of the Russian regime.

That the House of Commons should have approved the decision of Premier Baldwin to sever all political relations with Russia was a logical and advisable act and one that will be applauded not only by the conservative element in the British Isles, but by sane people the world over. In America the news has been received with that acclaim which naturally arises from the adoption of the policy of nonrecognition of the Reds which this country has adhered to from their first assumption of authority over the Russian people.

Soviet Russia deserves no better treatment than it has received from America and England. But in the interest of world peace both countries have adopted a tolerant course, and now, while England joins with us in our refusal to treat with this self-made lone wolf among nations, there is no thought of following up this policy with more severe action.

The revelations following the Arcos raid in which documents were seized by the British government giving positive proof of subversive activities by soviet agents in London and the direct connection of the soviet authorities with these activities were enough in themselves to clinch the case against Russia, but when there is added to this the concrete evidence that Communist agitators were being trained in England with a view to their subsequent employment aboard British ships and that the movement included the distribution of Communist propaganda of various kinds in England and America, the mass of testimony was such that the Baldwin government could take no other action than that of pitching the Russian diplomatic corps out of the country, bag and baggage.

True, there was an element in England that encouraged the operations of the Communists and hoped for their success. This was the radical labor group with which the soviet agents were in constant communication and fairly close relation. This disloyal element has received a rebuke that it will long remember and one that may cause it to hide its head for some time. Britain would do well to run down also the leaders of this dangerous group and kick them out of the country, along with the soviet embassy.

If anything were wanting to complete the picture of the failure of sovietism in Russia this repudiatory act of Britain's provides it. This failure is directly due to the crass stupidity, the braying folly and baseness of a government drifting on the whirlpool of time like a dead donkey and of the civic inanities and bewildered and nearly always pernicious activities of the most absurd aggregation upon which the sun looks down.

It may be said of Russia, as of any other country, that it is entitled to adopt and employ ideals that differ from those generally recognized as of best service to society. Russia, the lone wolf, is not hated by the rest of the world for its ideals, but because of its countless acts of inhumanity, injustice and treachery. It has flatly repudiated its international obligations, including debts amounting to hundreds of millions of dollars owed to our country and our people, and has done the same to other nations. It played false to Rumania, which, fearing German invasion, intrusted to it for safe-keeping many millions in gold which it flatly refuses to restore. It has confiscated vast fortunes belonging to its own people and, what was worse, confiscated every public and private library in the fear that the Russian masses might obtain such enlightenment from the literature therein as would tend to offset the ridiculous tenets of Communism.

Add to all this the persistent soviet interference in the affairs of other nations, the spreading of rotten propaganda among weak-minded foreigners and the Quixotic endeavor to bring all peoples under its silly standards—such meddlesome tactics as have resulted in the elimination of the soviet embassy from the foreign diplomatic corps in London—and one has a good and sufficient answer to the question why Russia is and must remain the lone wolf of Europe.

MEMORIAL DAY THOUGHT

Los Angeles citizens, in common with those of all other cities and communities of the United States, stand today with bared heads, reverent thoughts and grateful hearts by the graves of those to whom honor meant more than personal comfort and to whom the welfare of their country was dearer than life.

The law of love includes the necessity for sacrifice. It seems there is no other way by which the plan of life may be furthered, by which redemption—in any field whatsoever—may be accomplished. Cynics and shirkers may say what they will and continue to live in selfish seclusion; sophists may sneer at and despise the plan (not fully understood by man) that makes voluntary pain a part of the price of progress—but the fact remains that the race has been lifted and blessed to the extent that men and women, lowly and high, have given of their time and thought and blood to the betterment of their kind.

Not only in America, but in many lands across the seas, our soldiers sleep today beneath smiling blossoms made brighter by the blood of the heroes from which they drink their fragrance and their life. And if life is forever (and who can doubt it, with 1,000,000 miracles in evidence on every side of us?) these blessed "dead," who calmly stepped out into the great unknown that we might live more abundantly, are living still in green fields far away and looking down with faces glorified upon those who, still encased in prisons of clay, gather in groups to honor their hallowed memory.

THE AVERAGE MAN

Science has been studying the average male American and it finds him woefully deficient in intelligence. Taking as their basic material the statistics supplied by the government in making tests of 4,000,000 soldiers in training during the World War, college psychologists show the average man to be "superstitious, ill-educated, conventional and possessing the mind of a boy of 14."

These experts say that the average man left school at the eighth grade, has a smattering of local geography, knows a little history and a few elementary facts of physiology. He can do only the simplest sums in arithmetic. On a standardized intelligence test he makes about the same score as an average boy of 14. He generally learns a simple trade, marries at an early age and has from three to five children. This family he brings up on an income that very recently was not more than $1000 a year.

Beyond his trade he never knows anything very thoroughly, so the experts say, and falls an easy prey to mediums, salesmen with unsound investments and the like. In politics he votes as his father did. His conversation with his fellows consists largely in an exchange of personalities and comments on the weather. And yet he is quite convinced that he possesses common sense in a high degree. He uses bad grammar and his vocabulary includes about 7500 words.

Most of the men drafted for the World War were below 25 years of age. They have had time to learn many things since then and so to call them "the average" is hardly fair to our American civilization. But if the picture drawn by these scientists is really that of the average male American it is not that of the average California man, and certainly not that of the average Angeleno.

MEMORIES

BY ELLANORE J. PARKER

Tell me a story.

It is the cry of humanity; a story of other days, other days and other men. In all the history of man there is this never-ending plea—"Tell me a story."

From those far-away days when minstrels told the tale of brave deeds to the new age, when over the air comes a story, men and women have voiced their need for stories to quicken their own imagination.

All over the world the hungry hearts are fed by the magic of the cinema, tales of Jerusalem, tales of war with man or with nature, tales of savage lands or lovely islands where the wild orchid lures man on to new perils.

The traveler comes with his tale, and the people live his joy and pain, as he memorizes it all for them.

The soldier, with his scars upon his body, or those more tragic scars upon his soul, tells of his memories, the bitter and the sweet. He lives again the fierce, hot moment when he felt the urge to press forward into the thick of the battle; or in memory he feels again the kiss upon his cheek he fain would forget.

On Memorial Day old soldiers dream again of the days that can never return; old days folded away, almost forgotten; old faces fading into forgetfulness as the years go by.

An old perfume upon a woman's gown, and it comes again, the picture of the garden with its mignonette and pansies, and the fair young girl gone these many years into that shadowland of memories.

Memories that stir and will not cease their torment, growl like low threatening sounds in a jungle; hate, stirring in its slumber, half-aroused by memory, lifts its ugly head.

Tell me a story, cry the children, and men and women with the story of life branded upon their hearts are afraid to tell, for the ears of the children are not attuned to old tales of love and daring.

There is no jazz in the story of a young and untried youth with his comrade upon his shoulders struggling into a clearing hospital to die; no jazz in the story of the bleeding feet of men who have marched into battle with boots worn into tatters; no jazz in the tale of the men who starved and fell in the terrible gas attacks that purpled their faces into a hideous mask that was unhuman.

Tell us a story. Something to lift our hearts that we may dance and be merry, cries youth, laughing and gay, yet in their eyes the teller of tales may find a deeper note, may see the rock beneath the sand. Discernment is not lacking, it is there, an intelligence, quick and eager, thirsting for new knowledge and sensing something of that beauty of sacrifice that took their brothers over the sea or into new paths of peril that men might have tales to tell that were worth remembrance on this great Memorial Day.

All over the new land great tales are being interwoven today. Men and women, heroic sons and daughters of those pioneers who came to the Mississippi Valley to create homes, are now creating marvelous tales to be interwoven into the fabric of American history.

Mothers, clasping their children, cry aloud to a supreme force to control the waters that would sweep them to destruction; men, sleepless and worn with the unequal fight, are heroes of worthy remembrance and reward. Here are great tales for posterity, great tales for the silver sheet to portray. The cry of humanity for a story is the opportunity of the screen to tell a story without the ugly distortion that spells ruin for so many fine tales today.

Memory, that lovely tribute to the past, is stirred by the daring feat of the birdman crossing the wide waters as he winged his way to the old proud land of France.

All through the battlefields of France the memory poppies lie like drops of crimson blood. Wheat, golden ripe for the harvest, covers the scars in the brown breast of the earth, but within the souls of the people memory lives and will not die.

The little crosses are mute testimony of those other days when the space between two continents loomed like a dark abyss of raging seas. Youth and courage have bridged the space, and Memorial Day, with its tales of heroic deeds, will be enriched by the story of the Spirit of St. Louis and her brave young pilot.

SUES FOR CROSS-WORD PUZZLE

In connection with a benefit at Wellington, N. Z., recently, the Auxiliary Queen Committee conducted a cross-word competition. At the close Andrew St. George Hickson was told that his solution was the best that had been submitted, but that it was not perfect, and therefore he was awarded the third prize of $2.50. Hickson thought he should have the first money of $75. When the committee obdurately called his attention to the advertised rule that the decision of the judges was final, Hickson thought of other judges and sued for the $75. The judicial judge agreed with him, saying that the rules did not state in express terms that the solution should be perfect, and that the decision of the competition judges could not be final if they changed the rules. Hickson was awarded the $75.

TENNIS REVIVED IN ENGLAND

Tennis, once the popular game in England and neglected during and following the World War, is being revived with greater enthusiasm than ever before. It is distancing golf and dancing in the race for favor this year. Every municipality is making public courts, and the London County Council has constructed hundreds of taped spaces. Manchester has more than 400 courts and Aldershot alone has eighty. One firm is making 900 hard courts a year for private use, and in nearly every residential section may be seen the tearing up of lawns and gardens to make way for tennis. The increase in the number of private courts is affecting the sale of garden seeds. In Great Britain there are at least 2,500,000 tennis players.

The sweet fruit of your [illegible]
Shall we not with gratitude [illegible]
Our faith with the dead?

Look down from your [illegible]
bright,
Oh, souls of the slain
And let your smiles [illegible] night
That is veiling our eyes
Let us see you in fellowship [illegible]
With the valiant who [illegible]
In conflict with you [illegible]
Who fought by your side

JELLIED CHICKEN SANDWICHES

Chop the meat of a cold chicken with one stalk of celery. Season with a little grated onion and minced parsley. Soak one tablespoonful of granulated gelatine in one teaspoonful of water until soft, then add six tablespoonfuls of sweet cream and heat over hot water until the gelatine is dissolved. Add the chicken meat, lemon juice, salt and paprika to taste, beat all together thoroughly and pour into a shallow, oblong pan, wet in cold water. Set on ice to chill, then cut in slices to fit the bread cut for sandwiches.

FRICASSEE OF VEAL AND DUMPLINGS

Wipe two pounds sliced veal, cut from loin, and cover with boiling water; add one small onion, two stalks celery, and six slices carrots. Cook slowly until meat is tender. Remove meat, sprinkle with salt and pepper, dredge with flour and saute in pork fat. Strain liquor (there should be two cups.) Melt four tablespoonfuls of butter, add four tablespoonfuls of flour and strained liquor. Bring to boiling point, season with salt and pepper, and pour around meat. Garnish with parsley and serve with dumplings.

BANANA COMPOTE

Make a syrup by boiling together one cupful of sugar and two-thirds of a cupful of water ten minutes. Add grated rind and juice of half a lemon, one-fourth of a teaspoonful of vanilla, and let stand until perfectly cold. Pour over four bananas halved and quartered. When thoroughly chilled, sprinkle with finely chopped nuts, and serve with beaten cream.

COCOANUT BLANCMANGE

Mix one-fourth cupful of cornstarch and one-fourth cupful of sugar with a little cold water. Add to two cupfuls of scalded milk and stir until it thickens. Cook in a double boiler for twenty minutes, stirring occasionally. Cool slightly, add one cupful of shredded cocoanut, the stiffly beaten whites of three eggs, and one-fourth of a cupful of candied or Maraschino cherries, cut in small pieces. Chill in molds, wet with cold water, and serve with cream or a soft custard made with the yolks of eggs.

HOUSEHOLD SUGGESTIONS

Valuable Trimming

When putting away steel buttons or ornaments cover them with a coating of oil They can be washed and polished with fine emery paper when wanted and they will have the same appearance as new trimming.

Fold Them Differently

Folding napkins every week in the same folds tends to wear them out in the creases. One week fold them quarterwise and the next in three folds and see if they do not wear longer.

Shabby Ribbons

When black and silk ribbons begin to look wilted and shabby stretch them out and sponge thoroughly with vinegar. Roll for a short time and iron on the wrong side. They will be stiff and fresh as new.

Curtain Rods Instead

Curtain rods that are rounded at the corners and fasten into the wall are convenient hangers for towels in the kitchen and are much more decorative than the popular spiked towel racks.

In Style

If you have several pairs of white fabric gloves put away because they are not in style at present, take them out and tint them with coffee, tea or powder bought for the purpose, and turn them a more fashionable sand color. Then you can wear them out and enjoy them.

To Keep Fruit

Fruits should be held separately on a shelf, as the over-ripe contaminates the others if placed in a fruit bowl or basket where they touch each other. Put them in the decorative bowl when ready to serve, but keep them separately beforehand.

Household Data

If walls that have been whitewashed are rubbed down with vinegar, paper will adhere to them.

Pour boiling water over the hard-shell clams and allow them to stand a few minutes. They will open easily.

Try washing the linoleum with the leftover starch water. It will brighten it and keep it clean much longer.

Roll out lumpy confectioners' sugar with a rollingpin before attempting to use it in frosting, otherwise it will have ugly little lumps throughout the icing.

Excursion Rate on Coast Ships by Wednesday

Summer excursion fares for the liners Yale and Harvard, operating between Los Angeles, San Francisco and San Diego, will be in effect from Wednesday until September 10, next, inclusive, according to an announcement by the Los Angeles Steamship Company. Seeing California from these coastwise liners has become a popular outing with tourists. There has also been a marked increase in water travel on the liners among California residents desiring to visit in San Francisco, Los Angeles and San Diego, according to R. F. Cullen, general passenger agent for the company.

In addition to lower round-trip excursion fares, a special excursion rate of $5, including meals, has been made for Saturday sailings to San Diego, returning Sunday afternoon.

Officials of the steamship company also state that many incoming tourists from all parts of the United States are making reservations to San Francisco and San Diego by water, after arrival here by rail, in order to enjoy the water trip.

LUNCHEON THURSDAY FOR JEWISH APPEAL

The first organization meeting of the United Jewish Appeal will take the form of a luncheon next Thursday noon in the ballroom of the Biltmore, which between 750 and 1000 men and women are expected to attend. In addition to officials, chairman and workers engaged in the campaign, representatives of local Jewry will be present.

To present the scope and purpose of the drive, the quota of which for Los Angeles is $225,000, a group of notable speakers has been engaged, and an attractive array of entertainment features is being arranged. Reservations are being taken care of at the headquarters of the campaign, 807 South Hill street.

IMPROVEMENTS MADE IN PUMPING STATION

SOUR LAKE (Tex.) May 29. (Exclusive)—Extensive improvements are being made by the Texas Company to its crude oil pumping station here. Installation of two new 150-horsepower pumps here, now in course of erection, will give the plant a daily pumping energy of 1200 horsepower. The company now pumps from 50,000 to 60,000 barrels per day into its reservoirs here, consisting of eighteen steel tanks of 55,000 barrels capacity each.

GRAY TO COMMAND

ST. LOUIS, May 29. (Exclusive) Capt. Hawthorne C. Gray, of Scott Field, Belleville, Ill., holder of the world's altitude record for all types of aircraft, will be in command of one of two of the Army's nonrigid airships of the TC-type, which will be flown from Scott Field to Akron, O., to participate in the air carnival there May 30. The carnival is being held in connection with the national balloon race.

DIET and HEALTH

"ARE WE WEAKENING THE RACE?

Not infrequently we will hear one express the sentiment that our methods of child welfare, antituberculosis crusades and other preventive health measures are propogating the unfit and that ultimately the race will be weakened.

You know the germ of this idea is not at all original, don't you?

Among primitives and savages the same idea is prevalent and, either through superstition or fear of famine, cannibalism, infanticide and sacrifice of children in religious rites are the rule. Twins are frequently killed as unnatural and uncanny; children born on unlucky days, children born in stormy weather, children that sneeze shortly after birth and many other simple signs are taken as indications for speedy destruction. And savage children surviving are mutilated by defomation of the skull, face, hands and feet, tattooing, flattening noses, rings through lips, ears and noses, etc.

Even among the Greeks and Romans there was infanticide and glorification of the male element. I have read that in China the drowning of infants, especially females, still is prevalent, although there have been several imperial edicts against it. Even in the Old Testament there is record of sacrificing the first-born for ritual purposes.

In Egypt and Babylon they have always been reasonably fair to children, but there was no fear of famine because of the plenteous, fertile land.

With the advent of Christianity the status of the child was elevated. But we do hear occasional ideas that would indicate a reversion to savagery!

Spencer, the philosopher, thought that infectious diseases, especially among children, were beneficial to the race, as they cut off those who were unfit and so gave greater opportunity for development to those who were fit to live. He did not know that children did not acquire infectious diseases unless they were exposed, and that the danger to the individual child depends upon the state of its health at the time of exposure and the amount and virulence of the germs, and that these conditions are not modified or determined by the fitness or unfitness to live.

Vaughan says of this idea: "It would be just as sensible to attempt to improve the race by mustering all the children in the community and have them pass around the street while blind with repeating rifles fired into the crowd."

Children born from very diseased stock do not receive vitality enough to live, so they usually die and die early. They do not often die from infectious diseases. If it were true that the infections of childhood and infancy do weed out the unfit and improve the race, then in countries where the infantile death rate is high the death rate beyond that should be low, and this is not true. In fact, it is just the reverse. In European countries where the infantile death rate is high the general death rate is correspondingly high.

There is no doubt that in an ideal state those who are unfit to bear children—those mentally and physically diseased beyond hope of healthful redemption—will be sterilized so that they cannot propagate their kind, but we would be taking steps back to savagery and ancient superstitution if we accepted the ideas of those who believe the great movements for preventing disease and prolonging life are wrong.

My Dear Followers: When sending for material which we offer you, please remember to inclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope bearing your full name and address. The pamphlet on reducing and gaining is the only one for which you must inclose 10 cents in stamps extra. Address your letters to me in care of this paper. Make them as brief as possible, not over 200 words, and type or write them legibly with ink. Please sign your name as evidence of good faith—we will not use it in any way. Remember it is impossible for me to diagnose for you or to answer you personally. I appreciate very much the beautiful letters you send me and regret it is impossible to give you individual advice. The questions you ask will be answered in the column as soon as possible, if they are of general interest. Don't forget the stamped, self-addressed envelope if you expect me to send you the information I have offered.

YOUR BABY and MINE

By Myrtle Meyer Eldred

Mrs. Eldred will be glad to answer all questions pertaining to babies and children. A stamped and self-addressed envelope, forwarded to this office, will bring a personal reply.

WEIGHT AND HEIGHT

The best known and most frequently used means of ascertaining malnutrition in a child is to take note of his weight as compared to his height. This method has the greatest number of followers, though there are a few dissenters, and all things taken into consideration, is no doubt at the present time our safest index of a child's well being.

Mothers very often ask this question, and it is a sensible one: "If my baby is small-boned, as his father and I are, will he weigh as much as some other child his age?" The answer is no. Children are of various types, thin and slender, and stocky and fat. Height and weight charts take into account only the average child, who is a certain height and weight, but the mother knowing her own child's type can allow a certain difference in weight for her child, if he belongs to the slender small-boned type. If the child is comfortably covered with fat and shows every evidence of being healthy and well-nourished she need not worry, even if he does not come up to the average weight for his age.

In addition to the weight of a child, the mother must take into account his general symptoms of health. Has he a clear skin? Are his muscles firm? Is his body comfortably covered with fat so that his ribs are not prominent or the shoulder bones protruding like wings? Are his eyes bright? Does he run and play vigorously, instead of sitting still and showing no energy? All these are symptoms of the healthy child and if the diet is good and nourishing and the child eats with appetite and shows all these signs of being healthy and well nourished, the fact that he is not quite as fat as the neighbors think he should be should not cause her great worry.

The great danger in reassuring mothers that they should not worry as to whether their children are up to weight or not, is because mothers as a rule tend to be optimists anyway. They are all too inclined to argue themselves into believing that Willie is thin because all of the family is thin. This may be true, but the whole family's thinness may be due to lack of sufficient food, lack of enough milk per day, or to a generally inadequate diet, and to assume that Willie can't get fat because his family is not fat, simply causes the mother to lay down on the job of trying to bring Willie up to standard weight. It is the mother's duty to discover what is a proper diet for a child of any particular age and if Willie is getting this and has plenty of fresh air, three good meals and a quart of milk and still remains thin but healthy, she may decide that his weight is really inheritance and not bad feeding.

In considering height and weight one must take into consideration that a tall boy of two years will not weigh as much as a short boy of three years, though their heights may be identical. The older boy will weigh more for his height than the younger boy. So that in using weight for height it is necessary to think of age also as a contributing factor.

The LAST WORD

TRICKS OF FATE

It seems such a short time ago that I was writing a story about the clever actress. She was stirring the city to enthusiasm in a difficult role, and her name was writ in large electric sign above the theater.

She seemed so happy, so successful, so young and good to look at. I learned that she had a husband of whom she was apparently very fond, and that she certainly adored her little girl. She talked of them so much and with such affection . . . more so than about her career and her success.

Her manners were quite charming—they were, indeed, one important factor in her success. And particularly her well-bred speech and poise impress one—

And now the newspaper headlines are shrieking with the tragedy Her husband was killed in a fist-fight with her lover under peculiarly scandalous conditions. Everything about the case is shocking, ugly, outrageous. It doesn't seem possible that all this can have happened or be true of that young woman.

Weeping hysterically she means that her career is ended, that her life is wrecked forever. She is probably quite right. In just a few short weeks she is transformed from a reigning success, an admired and much-flattered woman, into the mere heroine of a nasty scandal.

As against that, there was the undernourished tiresome young man who used to haunt my office. He seemed such a very insignificant, unimpressive sort of a creature. He would bring in little verses and essays so difficult to read in his illegible longhand. With this he was trying to be a press-agent, with a dogged sort of persistence, although he was most unsuitable for such work.

Then I missed him for about six months. Yesterday he breezed in radiant, well-dressed, impudently gay. The world was his. It appears that he met an old man in a dairy-lunch room and chatted to him across the table, while they both strove to order the biggest and best lunch they could get for 15 cents. The boy was nice to the old man, jollied him, and was presently confiding in him. That old man was the president of a big company. He decided to give the boy a chance to show what he could do in the advertising department. And that opportunity, that friendship, transformed that boy. He is proving a whizz at writing clever advertising. He is being well paid for it, and he has bought an automobile, and is engaged to a particularly attractive girl . . . and it has all happened since last November He says I never snubbed him in the old days and he is grateful. (So am I . . . the poor chap had some narrow shaves, I'm afraid!)

But it just shows what tricks Fate can play in such a very short space of time. Also that we should certainly never be discouraged when things look black. And oh, we should never be too cock-sure, too reckless, too self-indulgent, when success is ours. The time to be most afraid is when things are going best for us. It is then that we must watch ourselves like hawks and live up to the best that is in us.

My clever actress was so abundantly, comfortably secure in her success and well-being. She felt safe in taking grevious and wrong chances, in challenging Fate . . . We can only afford to challenge Fate when we have little to loose . . .

GIRL SAYS SUITOR BIT HER HAND

Miss Angel Christian Has New Light on Reactions of Lover Scorned

When his former fiancee spurned him and refused even to talk to him in her home, George Laskaris became enraged and bit Miss Angel Christian, 956 1-4 West Vernon street, on the hand he had once graced with a diamond ring. Miss Christian testified before Municipal Judge Richardson. She had haled the man before the court, on a charge of disturbing the peace.

ANGEL CHRISTAIN

"He twisted my arm and bit my hand and it hurt terribly," she said.

Laskaris, according to Deputy City Prosecutor Chotiner, accosted the girl as she returned home from work. When she refused his request to enter her home and talk to her, the biting episode followed.

HELEN CHRISTAIN

Although the discarded swain pleaded not guilty, he was adjudged guilty by Judge Richardson after Miss Helen Christian, sister of the complainant, substantiated the story.

"I was awakened by the commotion and tried to separate them, but proved a poor referee." the sister said.

Judge Richardson imposed a jail term of 180 days, suspended for two years on the condition that Laskaris no longer annoys the girl.

Dream Steamer Asserted Basis of Stock Sales

Dreams of a large steamship company which would cover the Western Hemisphere and trade in many ports will be told in the case against Evans J. Maxwell, Walter S. Wheaton and Charles G. Grueger, said to be promoters of the Pacific Trading and Transport Company.

The three will appear tomorrow before Superior Judge Edmonds for argument on a demurrer and for entry of pleas.

It is charged the defendants represented to various persons that they owned and operated ships touching at many ports on the Pacific and Atlantic coast and had large contracts in trading, whereas they are said not to have such arrangements.

It is charged that on these representations, the three sold stock to investors.

Girls Invited by Corner Club to Hear Artists

All girls of Los Angeles are invited to a free musical program to be given tomorrow evening at Burdette Hall, Philharmonic Auditorium Building, under the auspices of the Girls' Corner Club, of which Mrs. Frances Neth is director. Among the artists will be Billy Hill, 8 years of age, violinist, and Sol Cohen, violinist and pianist. Addresses will be made by Miss Grace Stormer, Mrs. Neth and others.

MANY CITIES ASK TO SEE FILM STARS

Screenland Limited Train to Shrine Conclave, Will Stop at Inland Towns

With less than ten days intervening before the departure of the coast-to-coast Screenland Limited train to Atlantic City bearing stars of filmland to the Shrine conclave, June 9 to 16, inclusive, telegrams are coming to Hollywood requesting depot receptions all along the line of the Santa Fe special.

Nearly every community of importance between Los Angeles and the seaside resort apparently wants to do honors at the station for the galaxy of thirty-five film celebrities who will take part in the electrical pageant to be staged under the supervision of Harry D. Brown.

Brown, who has just arrived at the New Jersey resort from Los Angeles to make final preparations for the reception of the Screenland Limited, leaving here June 7, is endeavoring to arrange a schedule of brief stops along the route in twenty to twenty-five of the principal towns, when ten to fifteen-minute receptions will be held on the platform.

Among the screen celebrities who have definitely chosen to make the flying trip across the continent on the Screenland Limited are Marie Prevost, Madge Bellamy, Lila Lee, James Kirkwood, Lillian Rich, Helen Ferguson, Sylvia Breamer, Lilyan Tashman, Edmund Lowe, Dorothy Phillips, Francis X Bushman, Margaret Livingston, Marguerite De La Motte, John Bowers, Carmel Myers, Patsy Ruth Miller, Hedda Hopper, George K. Arthur, Gertrude Astor, Alberta Vaughn, Montague Love, Walter Pidgeon, David Butler, Betty Francisco, Charles Ray, Madeline Turlock, Julanne Johnston, Marjorie Daw, Fritzie Ridgeway, Bryant Washburn, Barbara Kent and Mary McAllister.

WAMPAS TO HEAR PROGRAM

Featured by the first appearance in Los Angeles of Maurice Menge's orchestra from Chicago, the Wampas will hold one of its most important meetings of the year tomorrow night at the Elks' Club. Members of the organization will receive their individual policies as provided for in the $518,000 group-insurance policy purchased by the organization. Ray Davidson is chairman for the evening. Guests will include James Smith, Jr., and R. Dunbar, prominent insurance officials.

NEW BRIDGE REQUESTED

The City Engineer and the Tunnels, Bridges and Viaducts Committee of the City Council has been asked to report on a request from the Grosvenor Inglis Corporation for the construction of a new bridge on Inglewood Boulevard across Ballona Creek. The corporation also asked that in the meantime the old bridge "be repaired and made safe for travel before the boulevard is opened to traffic."

LIVING FELLOWSHIP SHOULD COUNT FOR COMMON MEN

Dean Beal of St. Paul's in Sermon Says Democracy Must Carry on in Civilian Clothes

Stressing the need for men and women who shall be willing to live or die for the welfare of society, Rev. Harry Beal of St. Paul's Cathedral, in an address from The Times broadcast station yesterday declared that "Democracy must carry on in civilian clothes. Discussing "A Living Brotherhoo," Dean Beal spoke in part as follows:

"Can we continue to have a living brotherhood in America? Memorial Day pays tribute to those who gave themselves for their country, a reverent tribute to a great brotherhood that has moved forward through the dark but triumphal arch of death and that must therefore pass from this earth unless the living continue to be the builders of its fellowship.

"Lincoln pointed out the only way when he said i nhis Gettysburg address: 'It is for us, the living, rather, to be dedicated here to the unfinished work which they who fought here have thus far so nobly advanced.'

CHALLENGE FOR PEACE

"In an address at Cambridge, Eng., Theodore Roosevelt, in a tribute to the G.A.R., said that 'whether a man served as a lieutenant-general or a young recruit in the Civil War, so long as he was able to serve for six months and did his duty in his appointed place, then he was, and still is called comrade and stands on an exact equality with the other men. The same principle should shape our associations in ordinary civil life.'

"This is also the policy, I believe, of our American Legion and other veteran organizations. But is it not a constant challenge for our days of peace? Democracy has to carry on in civilian clothes. The citizens of the republic must be its citizens in the ordinary ways of industry, business and community life by unheralded fidelity to the fundamental decencies and loyalties. Yet we have in this country some of the most shameful conditions to be found anywhere in the world—corruption and waste in private life and in government, especially in our cities; law breaking and crime, connived at and assisted by those higher up, and a large complacency that we are the greatest nation on earth.

CALL TO BROTHERHOOD

"The heart of our people is sound but what can save us and make our nation not a great 'wild party,' that some day must pay for its excesses, but a living fellowship whose strength and happiness shall endure? Must we not make brotherhood in America count for the common man? This is the inspiration to stop being selfish and live for a common cause.

"Ironic realism, so much in fashion in plays and biographies, does not frighten me. It is but a reminder of the hard, grim facts which common faith and common effort must meet. A disturbed world is but a call to greater brotherhood among the nations of men. We can produce individuals but can we produce individuals who are big enough to throw in their lot with their fellow-men? Here in Los Angeles only about 150,000 persons are definitely affiliated with any kind of religious fellowship. We talk much of brotherhood but are slow to make it a simple, sincere, workable power in human life. Christ came with no pretensions but in the name of a fellowship and a new order. He made, and makes now, the greatest demands. He calls for better men and women, but they must be willing to give themselves for the great human cause for which He bravely died."

SAYS GODLESSNESS LEADS TO STRIFE

Describing how co-operation among individuals and nations depends on the degree of their consciousness of Christ and their knowledge of the soul Adrian Bha Sasha, head of the Universal Fellowship of the Laws of Life, spoke yesterday at the Hollywood Secretarial School auditorium on "Scientific Proof that There is a Soul and the Value of This Knowledge in Practical Life." He said in part:

"In periods of extreme neglect of the soul, when materialism gains uppermost control as a motive for life, strife becomes prevalent and co-operation extremely difficult. Those who believe that this life is all in all become so jealous of material things as to fall victims to the burning fire of their own greed. If there is no soul, then life is meaningless. Why develop our character when it is to be ended merely in a grave? The realizing that life has a meaning is the first step which every individual must make in his progress toward becoming conscious of his soul. The origin of intelligence and the capacity for inspiration lead to scientific proofs of the soul."

"IDEAL CHRIST" IS PRAISED BY PASTOR

"We have not sufficient evidence to prove that Jesus ever lived," declared Rev. Theodore C. Abel, minister of the Unitarian Society of Hollywood, in his address yesterday morning at the Hollywood Playhouse. "Whether Jesus ever lived, however, is not of the greatest importance," said Mr. Abel. "The remarkable thing is the composite ideal which people have built up during the last 1900 years, and called the Christ. In this ideal, we find the cry of humanity for peace, brotherhood and mutual helpfulness. The important thing is that we should seek to embody these ideals in our lives, rather than that we should cry, 'Lord, Lord' before an idol of our imagination. No belief about Jesus is of any value unless it expresses itself in nobler living."

VOICES HIGH TRIBUTE TO AMERICAN SOLDIER

Dr. Bruce Brown of the South Park Christian Church preached yesterday on "The American Soldier." He said in part:

"It is sad, but a fact that every blessing that mankind possesses has been bought with blood. It is easy enough to reason that the world would be better off without war, but the stubborn truth remains that white men have had to struggle desperately hard and sacrifice tremendously for every privilege that they enjoy. We may fondly hope and fervently pray that the scourge of war may soon pass away but we have to be always ready to die for home and native land. The American soldier has never lost a war and has never waged one for conquest or material gain. We can proudly aver that he has gone forth to fight only, when he believed that the rights of man could be preserved in no other way. His profound conviction of the rightness of his cause so far has made him invincible. The American soldier cherishes no malice toward his foe when the war is over. He readily forgives when his wrath has passed like a storm at midnight, demands no indemnity and makes no reprisals. This nation so far has been invincible for the common people have held a passionate devotion to and love for their government. It will be a sad day in American history when the ordinary citizen comes to believe that classes and cliques and sects are being shown special favors and that his boys will be ordered to other lands to fight against the peoples who are struggling for the principles for which our Revolutionary fathers raised their all."

BROTHERHOOD PLEA IS VOICED BY PASTOR

"American Heroes" is the subject of a sermon preached yesterday by Dr. H. C. Culbertson at Plymouth Congregational Church. Dr. Culbertson said in part:

"We revive today the glorious memories of the courage, endurance, initiative and self-sacrifice which characterized the heroes of wilderness pioneering, the Revolutionary War, the Civil War, the Spanish War and the World War. Precisely these same qualities are needed today in the great ethical struggle to get rid of war, to substitute a more Christian method of settling disputes, and to achieve international peace and world-brotherhood. We must sublimate the emotions of combat and harness them to the vastly greater achievements of victory throught good will. Moral and spiritual leaders of our land are demanding eloquently that the past policies of dictation and domineering toward weaker nations shall be abandoned, and that the right of other peoples who are struggling toward self-determination and self-government shall be recognized as superior to the claims of those who engage in the hazards of speculation and investment on foreign soil. To win brotherly confidence and co-operation between our own and another nation is as much grander than to subjugate that nation, as it would have been a prouder memory had we saved and uplifted the Indians instead of destroying them. Nations as well as individuals stand before the bar of God to be tested by their Christ-likeness."

VOICES TRIBUTE TO NATION'S HEROES

"Saints in Freedom's Cause" is the subject of a sermon preached yesterday by Rev. Dan Trundle at the Eagle Rock Christian Church. Mr. Trundle spoke in part as follows:

"The price of freedom is the price of blood. Liberty is the hope of every slave and the fondest dream of every free man. It is an invisible joy worth more to him than all his worldly possessions. Life is not counted dear in its defense, and no price is considered high when it is the coveted prize. The scantiest fare and humblest hovel is to be preferred with it to the luxuries of the super-rich. In the proportion that we are truly grateful to these heroes who gave their lives to serve us and preserve our priceless heritage, in just this much and to that extent are we safe guardians of this boon. One of the unerring signs of a decadent people is the neglect to honor the memory of those who gave their lives to serve them."

DECLARES LIFE DEALS WITH THINGS ETERNAL

Dr. Kerr Boyce Tupper preached at the Westlake Presbyterian Church yesterday on "God's Footsteps in Our National History." He said, in part:

"With Jesus Christ the term 'life' is the greatest word in all human vocabulary. He is ever contrasting it with 'existence.' Existence depends upon things, life upon being. The one is found in the region of the seen and temporal, the other in the realm of the unseen and eternal. In true living it is not so much quantity as quality, not so much mass as fiber. Every beatitude in the Sermon on the Mount is a benediction in some inward grace, some spiritual attitude. Christianity presents a new conception of life, a new ideal of personality. He is the noblest type of Christian who weaves the finest cloth of gold on these clattering looms of time. What God wants is not more of us, but a better brand of us."

SUMMONS DEAD PAST TO LIVING PRESENT

"Remembering Our Dead" is the subject of a sermon preached at the Highland Park Christian Church yesterday by Rev. Alden Lee Hill. Mr. Hill said, in part:

"In remembering our dead, we use the God-given faculty of memory, which is at once a vast storehouse of treasure and a magic power by which we make the past live always. We find that in Jehovah's dealings with humanity, He used such memorials as the Passover and the Lord's Supper to stir the memories of men into action. In remembering our dead we keep faith with them by deepening our appreciation and thankfulness for what they were and for what they did: and in doing this, we dedicate ourselves anew to the unfinished task which they have so nobly begun."

SAYS MAN'S DESTINY IS IN HIS OWN HANDS

Declaring that the universe is perfect and that all apparent imperfections are psychological in origin and effect, Swami Dhirananda, in an address at the Mt. Washington Educational Center yesterday, told his audience that even the catastrophes of nature and so-called accidents result from misperception and erroneous thought and action on the part of individuals and nations. Speaking on "Psychological Adjustments," the speaker said, in part:

"Acceptance of the doctrine of arbitrary destiny weakens the will and limits progress. The world of phenomena is operated by cause and effect and the kingdom of the mind is the realm of casualty. In the universe of infinite forms there is no flaw, no blemish, and all seeming cruelties of nature, waste, pain and the dissolution of animated forms exist only in the mind of man which sees only one or two facets of the diamond of unity, through a narrow slit of consciousness. All problems that disturb the mind must finally be solved by the soul. There can be no permanent psychological adjustment excepting through a realization of life's unity and eternal goodness. Body and mind are one in essence. If this were not true, their reaction upon each other would be impossible. When the heart is purified man sees all things with the eye of purity. While effect will always follow cause, there is a realm of truth and light beyond the empirical consciousness and when, in His own good time, the Lord reveals to a soul the glory of its own supremacy, that soul transcends time, space and circumstance and knows itself as one with the Eternal."

PLEA MADE ON SAFETY ZONE

Police Speaker Appeals to Motorists to Observe City Regulations

In the daily traffic talk from KHJ, Sergt. Johnson of the Police Bureau of Safety, appealed to motorists to keep safety zones inviolate.

There is, he said, no more dangerous form of driving than passing through safety zones, of which there is one of some form or other at nearly every street intersection. Each car towner should decide to be his own policeman and obey the regulation, he said.

Miner Learns About Women and High Life

Joe Pantelic, miner, soldier-of-fortune and what have you, has stamped from his feet the wicked dust of Los Angeles' paved city streets and has gone back to his mine at Daggett with the knowledge that he has lived and learned.

Joe returned to the unvarnished beauties of the desert after a short session with Municipal Judge Turney in which he learned blondes in distress, liquor that is red, and the free night life of the city are not what they are cracked up to be.

"I was standing in front of a motion-picture show and I saw a woman with a short skirt trying to start a car," Joe mournfully told Judge Turney.

"In Daggett," he continued, "when anyone's in trouble we just naturally help 'em, so I asked her if she needed any help. She did. I got the automobile started and she took me for a ride. Then she ran out of gas and I spent 97 cents for gasoline."

"Pretty soon she got hungry and it cost me over $2 for two steaks with the trimmings. Then she wanted some liquor. I finally found a fellow to sell me a pint. When I offered it to her, she winked at a couple of men and they arrested me."

Joe pleaded guilty to the charge of possession. Judge Turney suspended a fine of $150 or fifteen days in jail, and the miner started back to his mine.

Louis Graveure Lectures Today on Vocalism

Louis Graveure, famous baritone, begins his lectures and master-classes this morning. The assembly room of the Friday Morning Club will be filled with auditors interested in having a successful concert-singer's analysis of music and life.

Being of a keenly observant mind and gifted with an expressive and precise vocabulary, Mr. Graveure's lectures have attracted world-wide attention. He is eager to give to those who would learn, the immensely valuable suggestions which have put him on the top of the musical ladder.

So much is required besides vocalism for good singing that he will discuss subjects of great moment to every listener, whether he be singer, painter, writer or more general student of life.

FORMER PRESIDENTS

Sending gifts to the President has long been a popular pastime in America. Nearly every President receives a great collection of miscellaneous trinkets, including horseshoes, fish hooks, home-made medicines, rabbits' feet, sofa cushions, luckstones, table covers, cigars, firearms and books.

This slightly miscellaneous collection of treasures suggests an answer to the question, "What shall we do with our ex-Presidents?"—"Let them set up a general store in the hay regions, or a gift shop in the suburbs."

That question found a different answer in President Cleveland's case. It was raised by a hostile editor, whose answer was, "Take him out into a five-acre lot and shoot him." Cleveland's reply to this was: "That proposal has never had my support. In the first place, a five-acre lot seems needlessly large; and, in the second place, an ex-President has already suffered enough."—[Boston Post.

ORIGIN OF "RED TAPE"

Red tape, the Gordian knot that frequently binds government departments together into a sometimes tragic and sometimes ludicrous inaction, owes its origin as a colloquial expression to the fact that for more than two centuries red tape was used by lawyers and public officials for tying up documents.

As far back as December 6, 1658, an advertisement in the Public Intelligencer of London offered a reward for the return of "a little bundle of papers tied with a red tape . . . lost near Lincoln's Inn." The earliest known use of the term in its figurative sense is more than a century later in a letter written by Sir Gilbert Elliott, afterward Lord Minto, dated August 31, 1775. "Howe gets the command. The ships are in great forwardness. I can't say so much for the army. Your old friend (Lord Barrington) sticks to rules, tape and packthread."

Charles Dickens is credited with the first use of the full term. The novelist wrote: "There is a good deal of red tape at Scotland Yard, as anyone may find out to his cost who has business to transact there."—[Exchange.

RADIO TO SEND MOTOR CLASSIC

Description of Indianapolis Race to be Broadcast

Winning Driver Expected to Give Short Talk

Spirit of Memorial Day on Programs at KHJ

BY DR. RALPH L. POWER

Sports events of every type have entered broadcast activities. Promoters of prize fights, football and basket ball affrays, yacht races, marathons and even the Kentucky Derby went into the ether waves via broadcast results.

Today the big 500-mile International Sweepstakes at Indianapolis will be available to radio receptionists through the vivid word pictures to be given by Quinn Ryan at the microphone.

WGN of Chicago will go on the air at 7 a.m., Pacific time. The automobile race, one of the world's most spectacular and dramatic, will occupy some six hours and the station will be on the air continuously during that time. Between studio announcements Sam n' Henry, who are back from the Kentucky races, will give song and patter.

TALK FROM WINNER

Direct wires from the bowl to the Chicago station have been laid and advance plans contemplate having the winner give a short talk when the fifteenth motor classic is over.

The spirit of Memorial Day has been evident in KHJ programs of the last few days, the International Council talk of Friday and the reading of Col. Murray on Saturday night.

But the broadcast of last evening was in the form of a special Memorial Day program as tomorrow, the official day, is silent Monday for The Times broadcast station.

Violin solos by Leo Rabits and viola numbers by Frederick MacMurray were of classic form and rendered in splendid fashion. A. W. Simpkins, clarinet soloist of Roberts' Golden State Band played some specially arranged numbers and Wilfred Fletcher, tenor, assisted on the evening program by singing two group of solo numbers.

A brief talk on the relation of the flag to Memorial Day was given by Lieut. Lloyd H. Crouch, of the Air Corps Reserve.

BROADCAST GOSSIP

Here are some more choice bits of gossip from the broadcast world. Besides the red, blue and orange networks of the National Broadcasting Company, and the five station hook-up of the Atlantic Broadcasting Company in the East, the Pacific Coast will have a new chain soon. The American Broadcasting Company will call its network the ABC chain, including KEX, Portland; KGA Spokane, KRJ, Seattle, KYA, San Francisco, and KFXB, Los Angeles. The entire chain will operate during the summer but the Los Angeles and San Francisco stations are all ready and will be on the air this week. Tonight the simultaneous broadcast will be from 9 to 10 p.m. with program originating from KFXB and Friday night during the same hour with the program furnished from KYA.

The Wednesday night orange network program will be the first time one of the the chain programs has originated from KOMO, Seattle. It will feature the Amphion Male Chorus of 100 voices, one of the finest organizations in the Northwest.

A special motor generator will be necessary to operate the new KPO organ in San Francisco. The instrument is the latest word in organ construction and is one of the largest in a radio studio. The weekly organ recitals from KPO by Uda Waldrop are among the high lights of the radio entertainment from the bay district where Mr. Waldrop is a valued member of the music colony.

Set Date for Premiere With Duncan Sisters

The date of the world premiere of the Duncan sisters in "Topsy and Eva" in Grauman's Egyptian Theater was definitely announced as the night of June 11 by Sid Grauman yesterday.

The opening planned by Grauman will be an event of double significance in that it represents the Duncan sisters' initial film appearance in the United Artists' picture at the same time that Vivian and Rosetta are to be starred in the prologue with which the showman is preparing to introduce the film.

Grauman is conducting an intensive program of daily rehearsals of the prologue. A small army of stage technicians, artisans and costumers is busily engaged in carrying out the spectacular effects planned for the opening.

"Topsy and Eva" was directed by Del Lord for Feature Productions, an United Artists' unit. Principals in the cast with Rosetta and Vivian include Gibson Gowland, Noble Johnson, Marjorie Daw, Myrtle Ferguson, Nile Aster and Henry Victor.

Cordish Faces Trial Despite Lost Records

In spite of the fact that certain of the records and exhibits in the case against Nat Cordish and three others connected with the Mutual Motors Company, have mysteriously disappeared the trial will be continued tomorrow, it was announced yesterday. The case is being tried before a jury in Superior Judge Edmond's court.

Cordish and A. E. Smith, Earl K. Fleming and William H. Pond are accused of having sold and resold securities on automobiles to finance companies. The deals are said to have involved from $700,000 to $800,000.

The four are charged with obtaining money under false pretenses. The case is being prosecuted by Dep. Dist.-Atty. Aggeler.

RUBBISH FIRE CAUSES DESTRUCTION OF HOUSE

Sparks from a rubbish fire, according to police report, yesterday set fire to the home of R. C. Smith, 1846 Blake street, and destroyed it and its contents. Smith's garage and car also were burned. The loss was estimated at $5000.

In Gibraltar it is a crime to be born unless you are British, for a Colonial Office report declares that "under the Aliens Order in Council no alien may give birth in the colony."

TWO PLAYS WILL OPEN ON SUNDAY

"White Cargo" Goes Into Vine Street; Farce Will Occupy Majestic

Two stage premieres are announced simultaneously for Sunday night for the Vine-street and Majestic theaters, which will house "White Cargo" and "The Lucky Son of a Bishop," respectively.

"White Cargo," the drama of love in South Africa, with its more sensational features already fixed in the minds of the theater-going public, follows the Dickson Morgan production of Galsworthy's "Loyalties" into the new Wilkes playhouse for a special engagement of two weeks only, according to Arthur William Green, general manager.

The original cast headed by Arthur Clayton, who is also directing the mechanics of the staging, will be seen in the tropical melodrama. Marcella Zebala will be seen as the torrid Tondeleyo. Changing abruptly from sheltering this type of heavy histrionics, the Vine-street Theater will open its doors to a calm-eyed daughter of Nippon in the person of "The Geisha Girl" on June 22. She will be the central figure in the first of the comic operas that W. G. Stewart, former associate of Henry W. Savage, will put before the Los Angeles people for its approval.

"The Lucky Son of a Bishop," as J. H. Neebe, its author, has elected to call his play, is described as a "merry farce comedy in three acts." Ralph Cloninger, who directed and acted in "Appearances," is serving the new offering in similar capacities. In the cast are named Carol Wines, Harry Webb, Wilbur G. Mayo, Al H. Hallett, Pauline Pollock, Fergus Reddie, Myrtle Ferguson, Freddie Cummings and Harold Jordan.

The scenes are laid in a modern hotel in a small-size city and the background is said to give opportunity for an amusing series of complications.

Loud Speaker Sleep Brings Him to Court

Sleep is the acknowledged boon of Mother Nature to mankind, but it should be wooed in the privacy of one's own bedroom, never in a public railway station. In fact, sleep in such a place is liable to react against one.

J. Elijah Peek found this out when he went to sleep in the Pacific Electric station while waiting for a train to Watts. Instead of reaching that destination he ended up in the City Jail.

Brought before Municipal Judge Richardson on a charge of "sleeping in a place not a lodging house," Peek learned quite a bit about sleeping. He also learned that snoring in many ways is a bad habit. If he hadn't snored he might not have attracted the attention of Policeman Oliver.

"I went through the station three times and each time I saw this defendant stretched out on a bench asleep," the policeman testified. "He was snoring loudly, too."

At this point Defense Attorney W. O. Tyler cited the particular statute covering the asserted infraction of the law. He showed that the law specifically prohibited sleeping in barns and sheds but did not mention railway stations.

Judge Richardson agreed with the motion to dismiss on the ground that under the wording of the law, Peek had not committed an offense, and dismissed the charge.

Second Story Bandit Enters Two Homes

A "monkey burglar," the first to put in an appearance in Los Angeles for several years, early yesterday morning climbed into two apartments and obtained clothing, jewelry and furs valued at $3500.

Scaling a drain pipe the burglar gained a second-flood window and, after removing the screen, entered the apartment of Sibyl Riley at 1532 South Van Ness avenue. He obtained jewelry and clothing valued at $2000. A trail of burnt matches indicated how he lighted his way about the place while collecting the loot.

Later, by scrambling up the fire escape, the burglar cut the screen of a second-floor window and crawled into the apartment of Miss Leona Lowden at 661 Shatto Place. Here he collected furs and clothing valued at $1500, according to a police report.

SECOND EDITION OF SEX DRAMA IS SHOWN

A second edition of the sex educational film, "Is Your Daughter Safe?" is now showing at the California, the frank manner of its scenes prohibiting, as before, its exhibition before mixed audiences. Vivien Winston is the star actress whose fate is disclosed to women patrons in the afternoons and men at night. Others in the cast are Jerome Young, male lead, Henry Roguemore, Georgia O'Dell, Slim Mahoney, William Dennis, Bernice Breacher, Palmer Morrison and Winifred Jones. The new version was directed and edited by Leon Lee and Lou King.

POLITICS

THE WATCHMAN

Trend of Political Thought and Action

BY THE SENTRY ON HIS BEAT

Citing Councilman E. E. Moore's record of important street improvements asked by a majority of property owners, B. P. Miller, prominent in civic-betterment movements, has issued a statement urging Moore's re-election in the Sixth District. Miller mentioned that Moore has obtained the passage of a final ordinance for widening Exposition Boulevard to fifty feet on each side of the Pacific Electric right of way from Main street to Angeles Mesa Drive. The last-named thoroughfare has been paved from Sixtieth street to Seventy-ninth street and work is soon to be begun between Vernon and Sixtieth street. Widening of Arlington avenue from Jefferson to Forty-eighth street is under way, while Santa Barbara avenue is to be adjusted to a seventy-four-foot roadway between the curbs and the street-car tracks lowered and paved over. Besides these main arteries, scores of others have been improved in the district or have proceedings under way for their improvement, Miller said.

Throwing light on public declarations of the Los Angeles Development League that Proposition No. 1 on the June 7 ballot for the zoning of Beverly Boulevard should be defeated because it is "confiscatory, discriminatory and dangerous," President O. C. Wyman of the league, in a statement said:

"Proposition No. 1 is confiscatory in that it robs the small home owner of the right to build duplex houses or income properties near the new site of the University of California at Los Angeles and of Occidental College by changing existing B zones to A zones. This depreciates the value of property sold to innocent purchasers in these existing zones.

"Proposition No. 1 is discriminatory in that it zones similar property differently. It is dangerous in that it would undermine principles of zoning by making possible through initiative petitions changes of zones in property sold for certain purposes; it would mean that the people of any remote locality could vote away the rights of property owners elsewhere in the city; it would prevent in this instance the carrying out of the proper and orderly development of one of the world's greatest and most beautiful scenic highways, and it shakes the stability of property values."

The United Veterans of the Republic, Unit No. 212, have indorsed Ernest L. Webster for City Council from the Third District. He was assured of the hearty support of former Judge Bryce, commander, together with the entire membership of the unit, as well as of Harmony Auxiliary, No. 7. The letter was signed by William G. MYSTERY BAFFLES AUDIENCE

Melodrama at Morosco Is Overdrawn, but Furnishes Surprise Ending

BY MARQUIS BUSBY

Well, I must confess that I was completely fooled as to the identity of the real murderer.

In my past experience with mystery plays any chap with a straight juvenile make-up and college-cut clothes was reasonably safe from suspicion. Not so, however, in "The Creaking Chair," which opened to a packed house at the Morosco yesterday.

He looked like such a nice person but he murdered Mrs. Carruthers, nevertheless. You won't feel too badly when that lady passes on to her forefathers, for really, she was a pretty bad sort, and her wig was wretchedly unbecoming. In fact, you never in the world would have recognized her as Jane Morgan.

If completely fooling the audience all the time until precisely five minutes before the cash customers begin to feel around for their wraps constitutes a good murder mystery, then "The Creaking Chair" should go ringing down the ages as something quite superior. If there are one or two other requisites to be considered in the final reckoning, then this play will pass as merely an evening's entertainment. It is not one of the best plays of this sort by any means. The conversation is stilted, there ain't a great deal of action, and the characters are overdrawn. The fact that the Morosco players for the most part overplay the already overdrawn characters does not improve matters.

The central theme is interesting enough, based as it is on Egyptology—the lore of a land old thousands of years ago. An Egyptian society trails some treasures from a Pharaoh's tomb to an English household. There are all sorts of references to scarabs, idols, the "evil eye," and what not. It was a great opportunity for a playwright.

Why it was called "The Creaking Chair" is something perhaps the author can explain. It might just as well be labeled "Should a Daughter Tell?" or "A Scratch on the Wrist." There was an invalid's wheel chair that creaked dismally at times, but it meant little to the play.

There are some funny scenes between a Scotland Yard detective, dressed like Prince Albert, and the various suspects.

But you never will guess who killed Mrs. Carruthers until you are told, so there. Not even from reading this article.

Acting honors for the play go to Mitchell Harris, who sits in the creaking chair. He gives a polished performance, as the collector of Egyptian relics. Kay Hammond, usually a very charming leading lady, plays the wife, an English girl raised by half breeds in Egypt, in a Lady Macbeth manner. I admit I know no ladies reared under similarly diverting circumstances, but I doubt if she would behave in any such way.

James Bush is an effervescent and agreeable juvenile. Yes, a newspaper reporter. Hazel Reading comes in for her share of dirty work as the ingenue who plays bridge neither wisely nor well.

Arthur Belasco is domineering and incidentally very good as the detective. The Prince Albert effect was mentioned before. Jane Morgan was the unfortunate Mrs. Carruthers who does not live to see the third act. Just as well, perhaps, as the first two are much more interesting.

Armless Freak is Chaney Role in Circus Tale

Announcement has been made of the booking of Lon Chaney's latest starring vehicle "The Unknown," pronounced by Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer officials to be the outstanding achievement of this character actor, for Loew's State Theater.

It is scheduled to open on Friday. "The Unknown" was directed by Tod Browning, who was largely responsible for the success of "The Unholy Three," "The Road to Mandalay" and "The Blackbird," three of Chaney's pictures.

The supporting cast in "The Unknown," is called the best Chaney has ever had, being headed by Norman Kerry and Joan Crawford. It is a story of the underworld, with Chaney in the role of an armless Spanish circus sideshow freak. His characterization of the role of the armless knife thrower, which forces him to use his feet for all of the ordinary duties performed by the hands, is really just short of miraculous in its illusion.

RECALLS CAST AND DIRECTOR FOR MORE

Audience reactions on Paramount's "youth" picture, "Rolled Stockings" have been so favorable in two previews that Associate Producer B. P. Schulberg has recalled the director and cast for the addition of more scenes.

Louise Brooks, Nancy Phillips, James Hall and Richard Arlen are now at Berkeley, Cal., filming more boat racing scenes. Mr. Schulberg has given instructions to Director Richard Rosson to spare no expense in developing this part of the picture, as it has been found to be a most exciting and spectacular background.

"SING" LEADER WILL TRY OUT ANGELENOS

"The Billy Sunday of Melody," John Henry Lyons, international "sing" leader, will be the unusual and special Memorial Day attraction at the Orpheum. Lyons, who was formerly song leader of the famous Ninty-First Division, holds the world's record for "sing" leading. Lyons will induce the Orpheum audiences to accompany him in several appropriate songs and will demonstrate just how much an audience likes to sing.

"GIGOLO" DANCE IS NOVEL

It was that popular art, the dance, that completely ran away with honors on the new bill that opened yesterday at the Hillstreet Theater, with the famous team of the Mosconi Brothers as the headline attraction.

The dancing team presented an act that proved enjoyable from start to finish. It was composed entirely of new and novel dance Creations. "The Gigolo," an interesting combination of rather intricate steps, was introduced as a possible follower to the Charleston and Black Bottom, and from the applause the number received, it will prove a genuine contender for popularity honors.

Offering some entertaining moments of melody and syncopation were Jones and Elliot, with the Hollywood Playboys. The orchestra was a splendid organization and both Jones and Elliot pleased with their selection of dance novelties.

The comedy team of Ward and Van—remembered for their violin, harp and trick pants—also graced yesterday's offering with their usual bag of tricks. The violin squeaked as the trousers slipped just as of yore.

Acrobatics, as well, had its place upon the bill, with an unique act, "Broken Toys," presented by King and Brown. These two tumbling artists did some remarkable feats, considering that with each, one leg served as two.

Other acts were presented by Naughten and Gold, Ford and Cunningham, and Ward and Wilson.

The film feature was "The Night Bride," featuring Marie Prevost, Harrison Ford, Franklin Pangborn and Robert Edeson. It proved to be a light farcical affair in which a confirmed "woman hater" was caught by a live-wire, 1927 model flapper.

Shorter reels and news events completed the program.

Another One of Those Murder Affairs Plays Havoc With Audience

Skulking figures, dim lights, a blackguardly uncle about to disinherit his pretty niece, a pair of adventurers, a "scientific" detective, a woman scorned.

They're all at the Belmont this week in the new thriller, "The Devil Within," which opened last night. This mystery play built around the murder of the blackguard uncle, took one back to the old opery-house days, when mellerdrammers were mellerdrammers.

A lot of old familiar situations were present in the new short skirts and touhed up with the blase sophistication of the day. Women screamed and fainted, lights went out, the storm broke without as the dastardly murder was committed, a mother separated from her son for years found him, and so on.

One of the newer touches came in the characterization by Louis Dean of Driscoll, chief of the detective bureau, and inspector investigating the murder. Dean was not the usuel bull-headed, somewhat dumb sleuth, but a clear-headed calculating man of intelligence. And he did probably the outstanding work of the cast.

The story—well, John Blackwood, rich business man, is murdered at his desk on the eve of his wedding. Who killed him?

Was it his fiancee, an adventuress, her brother, the niece he was about to disinherit, the son of the woman whom he betrayed, this woman herself, or a turbaned Kaffir servant who bore him a grudge? And that's the play—the old hokum and pretty impossible sort of hokum at that.

Tudor Owen, English actor, who has been associated with the Ruth Helen Davis productions in several capacities for some time, carried the somewhat difficult role of the violent tempered John Blackwood, victim of the murderer's knife. Ruth Saville, Belmont leading lady, was seen as Blackwood's niece, a sweet ingenue thing whom the uncle sought to disinherit. Jeffery Williams had the part of Judge Warde, while Mia Marvin was Phyliss Delmar. Other members of the cast included Olaf Hytter, Henry Rostrum, Leonard Doyle, playing opposite Miss Saville once again, Mattie Edwards, Virginia Duncan, Kenneth Von Egidy and David Callis.

Photographs of Leslie Fenton Will Be Signed

The management of the Majestic Theater, in honoring the one hundred and twenty-fifth performance in Greater Los Angeles at the Wednesday matinee of Theodore Dreiser's novel, "An American Tragedy," has arranged to present each lady or girl occupying an orchestra seat with a special autographed photograph of Leslie Fenton, the Clyde Griffiths of Dreiser's powerful story.

Other details for the celebration of the one hundred and twenty-fifth performance are being worked out by the management of the Majestic, so that the matinee will be of special appeal to the feminine members of the audience.

Europe Knows Actress Seen Here in Film

Jenny Hasselquist, Swedish danseuse and film actress, who is seen in "Aftermath," the importation from National Film A. G., Berlin at the Forum Theater, is rated in Sweden as a dancer as highly as Jenny Lind is remembered as a singer. She first gained notice in the Royal Opera in Stockholm at the age of 16, after being selected by the Russian balletmaster Fokine as the most promising of all candidates for the ballet. Later she went to Paris, where she was acclaimed the equal of Anna Pavlowa.

When she decided to enter pictures, she returned to Sweden and played under the direction of Victor Seastrom and Mauritz Stiller, now both Hollywood directors. Her success in pictures was as great as in dancing. She has played with Lars Hanson, Greta Garbo, and other Swedish actors now in America. Mrs. Erik Stockiassa, wife of the Swedish actor now living in Hollywood, has been a warm personal friend of Jenny Hasselquist for years, and declares that the appearance of this talented woman in "Aftermath" is the most interesting event for the Swedish colony of Los Angeles within many months.

Shift Matinee to Provide for Holiday Crowds

A special matinee of "The Little Spitfire" will be held at the Hollywood Playhouse today. Because of this Monday performance the regular Tuesday matinee will not be held this week. However, the regular schedule of Tuesday, Thursday, and Saturday matinees will be resumed immediately.

"The Little Spitfire" with Dulcie Cooper, Harland Tucker and associate cast has repeatedly made a hit with Los Angeles theatergoers since its opening at the Hollywood Playhouse last Wednesday. It is said to have more laughs than "Alias the Deacon," the former comedy at the Hollywood Playhouse.

DESPAIR TO JOY IS COURSE OF EMOTION

One of the most powerful examples of the effect a strong and courageous mind has on the happiness of one's existence is dramatically portrayed in "Seventh Heaven," the William Fox production now enjoying a run at the Carthay Circle Theater. The story of faith told in this production, and of how Chico, the poor sewer cleaner of Paris by sheer force of will lifts himself and his little sweetheart, Diana, portrayed by Janet Gaynor, from the depths of despair to a bright and happy confidence in Le Bon Dieu is called a message of human hope.

RALLY TO THE FOLD

Because "Moulders of Men," now being shown at the Figueroa Theater has been sponsored by the B.P.O.E. of America, the local lodge 99 is going to do its "part" by having a special party tonight.

"WOLF'S CUB" HELD OVER AT ORPHEUM

Miss Ulric Remains in Playlet; Murray and Oakland Enliven Bill

Those who missed the all too brief and unsatisfying glimpse of Lenore Ulric in something called "The Wolf's Cub" on last week's Orpheum bill will be vouchsafed another opportunity from now until Saturday night—a fact which calls for sincere, if somewhat scattered, applause. The husky-voiced Miss Ulric is one of those gifted few among actresses who succeeds in bringing the last full measure of devotion to anything she does; hence her Mimi Toulon, as an heroic gesture flung toward the gods on Olympus, does probably reach as far as the less discriminating but still important gods of the gallery. All but the ending, that is, which certainly requires some tall explaining by its author, the erudite Mr. Willard Mack. In just three shakes of a lamb's tail—or maybe it is two—the curtain unexpectedly sweeps down upon an unoffending audience which has done nothing visibly to deserve such treatments.

There is a great deal of John T. Murray—but not too much—at the Orpheum this week. He appears first in an act with his wife, the blond Vivien Oakland, and later as Frisco Bey, a brother of Rahman Bey, the noted mystic. His act with Miss Oakland is divided, like all Gaul, into three parts; a burlesque on the mystery play; a delightful duet, "Excelsior!" in the costume and manner of 1892; and a Russian episode. A bit of terpsichorean endeavor in the last episode is prefaced by Murray's "On with the dance, and let the arches fall where they may!" He reveals another facet of his many-sided talents as a "mind reader," aided and abetted by Norman Frescott in such an indirect fashion as to completely baffle the audience.

Robert Ames and a company of one, Harry Hanlon, present a condensed version of Vincent Lawrence's comedy, "Kelly's Vacation," with Ames as a truck driver and Hanlon as his golf-mad employer. An unnatural situation is made credible by the naturalness of the lines and acting of the two, the so-called "human" note ringing clear above the laughter of the audience.

Bert Errol is a female impersonator. When one says that, one says almost everything. His vehicle is one of those general affairs called "Modes and Melodies of 1927," and the best impersonation in it is the one of Queen Elizabeth—known to her intimates as Good Queen Bess.

Charles Althoff, "the Yankee fiddler," gives a delineation of a decrepit old man which is little short of remarkable. A perceptible note of pathos creeps into his eager attempts to keep up with the marching years, finding expression in the tunes he evokes from his precious violin.

It is somewhat harrowing to watch the two Aerial Smiths in their gymnastics, so daring are they. The prospective Orpheum visitor is hereby warned to be on the lookout for the last of their stunts, which will get him if he doesn't watch out.

The four Clovelly Girls are jugglers.

Midnight Show to Be Revived at Music Box

According to announcements made by Louis O. Macloon, Saturday midnight performances will be revived at the Hollywood Music Box during the engagement of the New York musical comedy hit, "Peggy-Ann," which opens there shortly.

In presenting "Peggy-Ann" at the Hollywood Music Box, Macloon announces that the musical comedy will be an exact duplication of the New York production, with scenes, costumes, number of principals and supporting cast and other details in conformity with the musical show which is now in its eighteenth week at the Vanderbilt Theater in Gotham.

"Peggy-Ann" is said to be the long-looked for "realization" of something new and different in the show world.

LORD SUPERVISES

Del Lord's quarters these days are the projection room and cutting room at United Artists where he is busy night and day supervising the cutting of "Topsy and Eva," featuring the Duncan Sisters. His intense concentration is due to the fact that the picture will shortly have its world premiere, according to a recent anouncement, at Grauman's Egyptian. This was Lord's second feature and follows "Lost at the Front," the war comedy at Loew's State.

"ROUGH RIDERS" PREMIERE NEARS

Charles Farrell

Every Paramount star in the city at the present time will be on hand at the Million Dollar Theater Friday night to witness the premiere of "The Rough Riders," the management states.

The list of screen luminaries who will attend in person is one of the biggest, and contains the most prominent names, of any group ever assembled at the Third and Broadway house. Wallace Beery will act as master of ceremonies and will introduce the cast to the audience. Those of the cast who will appear are Mary Astor, Charles Farrell, George Bancroft, Noah Beery, Col. Fred Lindsay, and Fred Kohler.

NEW PASS ROAD PAVING URGED

Sherman Way-Glen Highway Fate Nears Council

Surfacing Now Needed on Valley Short Route

Heavy Traffic Predicted With Work Finished

Construction of a permanent pavement for the Sherman Way-Beverly Glen Road, recently graded over the Santa Monica Mountains, joining Ventura and Beverly Boulevards, is scheduled to be recommended by the Public Works Committee of the City Council tomorrow.

Under the proposed plan, the new pavement will be eight inches thick and thirty-four feet wide, with curbs. Construction work on the grading of the road has been completed, but because of the roughness of the surface the road is little used. The city and the county each appropriated $70,000 for the grading on condition that the property owners benefited would pay for the paving.

The completed road from Ventura Boulevard to Wilshire Boulevard will be seven miles long, but the new section to be paved is approximately four miles long. It is carried over the mountains at grades which never exceed 8 per cent. and the road has been so designed as to reduce the number of curves to a minimum.

The new road fits in with the major traffic street plan of the Traffic Commission, and in the opinion of Councilmen will be the heaviest traveled highway over the mountains west of Cahuenga Pass. All San Fernando Valley traffic bound for points west of Hollywood will be able to bypass Cahuenga Pass, and shorten the distance traveled by many miles. The road also will be of particular benefit to San Fernando Valley residents who wish to reach the new site of the University of California at Los Angeles.

Memorial to World War Air Hero Created

WASHINGTON, May 29 (AP)—As a memorial to Lieut. William H. Cheney, American aviator, who lost his life in Italy during the World War, his relatives have created the "Cheney Award" to be given annually to air corps or reserve fliers who perform outstanding feats of valor.

The donors are Mrs. William H. Schofield of Petersborough, N. H.; Cheny's mother, and his sister, Mrs. Thomas W. Streeter of Morristown, N. J. They have established a joint trust fund of $10,000, the interest on which will be used to strike off suitably engraved plaques and make up a cash sum for recipient selected by a board of officers.

Population of World Given as 1,906,000,000

BOSTON, May 29 (AP)—The population of the world is estimated at 1,960,000,000 in a report issued today by the World Peace Foundation on the basis of figures prepared by the secretariat of the League of Nations.

The report states that of the total population approximately 1,580,000,000 persons occupy territory "within the orbit of the League." Approximately 17 per cent of the total population, according to the report, were nationals of States which do not belong to the League.

BOWL DRIVE HEADS WILL BREAKFAST

First Annual Event of Kind Planned to Assist Ticket Sale in Southland Cities

The first annual Hollywood Bowl "breakfast" will be held in the open air tea garden at the end of Pepper Tree Lane, Hollywood Bowl, Wednesday morning at 9 o'clock, according to announcement yesterday by Mrs. E. B. Weirick, campaign chairman.

Several hundred Los Angeles and Hollywood women are expected to gather for the affair to hear reports on the progress of the ticket-sales campaign and to plan its final phases.

Mrs. Leiland Atherton Irish, general chairman, and Mrs. Weirick, in charge of the campaign, believe that the breakfast idea will be welcomed by women workers who admittedly are tired of formal luncheons and banquets.

Assisting Mrs. Weirick in plans for the "breakfast" will be the captains of her respective teams and members of her committee. Some of the outside city captains, Mrs. J. G. Braun of Santa Monica, Mrs. J. Edward Haley of South Pasadena, Mrs. A. H. Montgomery of Glendale, Mrs. Hal A. Irish of Burbank, Mrs. Ione Gale Ihm of Redondo and Miss Violet Hart of Pasadena, will assist.

Reservations for the breakfast should be telephoned to bowl campaign headquarters, Gladstone 7608. Headquarters are open every day and the thermometer is registering a daily rise as the book sale progresses with its goal of 4000 books.

Youth Captured and Accused of Attack Effort

Sam Freedman, 19 years of age, of 322 East One Hundred and Seventh street, was caught after a chase of several blocks last night and charged with attempting to attack Miss Thelma Rice of 343 East One Hundred and Eleventh street. According to Detective Lieutenants Duffy and Parmele, to whom Freedman was turned over by his captor, T. S. Wilson of 211 East One Hundred and Eleventh street, Miss Rice said that Freedman had feigned illness and asked her for a drink of water.

She started to take him to a house at 227 East One Hundred and Eleventh street, she said, according to the officers, and Freedman tried to attack her on the lawn. She screamed and Freedman ran, pursued by Wilson, who caught up with him at One Hundred and Ninth and San Pedro streets. Wilson held him until the officers arrived.

Speedy Arrests Follow Robbery of Gas Station

Within two hours after the robbery of the Seiring service station, Washington Boulevard and Hain street, Culver City, late yesterday afternoon, three suspects were arrested by Culver City police and are said to have confessed to the theft. The men gave their names as Ben Tabot 2524 Bedford street, John Hough, 3222 Hudson street, and C. Gale 556 Duquesne street, Culver City.

One of the men is said to have visited the station and told of having trouble with his car. While the proprietor went to examine the machine, two other men sneaked into the station and took the money from the till, according to his story. He did not discover his loss until they were gone. The men were overtaken by Assistant Chief of Police F. J. Roberts of Culver City.

VACATION—A JOY RIDE AMONG THE CLOUDS AND A PARACHUTE DESCENT TO THE JAGGED ROCKS OF IRKSOME TOIL!

Which shall it be—
Mountains or sea?
Gladsome vacation time—
Which shall it be?

Having reached this point in his ode to the joyous vacation season, the bard began gibbering to himself and a few minutes later he was removed to the psychopathic ward where he found many others trying to solve the same problem.

The vacation period begins Wednesday, June 1, and many Angelenos expect to get away to a flying start. There is, of course, no accurate method of checking to determine whether the majority will spend their holidays in the mountains or down by the sea, but a straw ballot, taken among what might be considered a fairly representative group, indicates that the seaside has the edge. Those fortunate souls who have two weeks or more said they expect to divide their time between the two places.

The recent increase in the number of divorce suits is attributed largely to family disputes over which of the two places is better. One couple, unable to reach an agreement, is reported to have called it all off. They will stay home and throw rocks at the alarm clock, and a good time is expected by both.

Vacation was invented to show the wage-earner what life might have been like if Adam had rejected the apple. Its origin is enshrouded in the dull gray mists of antiquity which, if you ask the writer, is no bad way of putting it. One historian has it that the idea was conceived by King Tut when he had a cook who was that in name only. He was afraid to discharge her, so he agreed to pay her her wages on condition that she would go away. "But you must vacate," said the monarch, austerely. She accepted his offer and departed.

Hence the term vacation, meaning to get paid for loafing.

WOMAN DIES IN AUTO CRASH

Four Other Persons Injured, One Perhaps Fatally, as Deputies' Car Figures in Double Collision

An aged woman was instantly killed and four other persons were injured, one perhaps fatally, last night when an automobile carrying two deputy sheriffs to San Fernando on an emergency call to apprehend a criminal, crashed into a machine occupied by six persons at a Van Nuys intersection and forced that car into a third automobile parked near by.

Mrs. A. Schlemmer, 71 years of age, of 2416 South Bronson avenue, was killed in the crash. Mrs. M. Anderson of 3168 Casitas avenue, received such serious injuries that she may die. Mrs. Anderson received a fractured collarbone. Others injured were: Leona Schlemmer, 38, fractured pelvis; Mrs. Frieda Schlemmer, lacerations on head, and her daughter, Margaret, cuts and bruises of face and body.

Deputy Sheriffs A. L. Hutchinson and Charles E. Kelly were racing to San Fernando on a hurry call with police sirens opening the highway to them when their car crashed into the machine driven by Arthur C. Schlemmer at the intersection of Tejunga Drive and Chandler avenue, Van Nuys, hurling the Schlemmer automobile into the car occupied by Mr. and Mrs. M. Anderson, which was parked on Chandler avenue. All three machines were demolished.

The deceased was an occupant of the machine operated by her son. Others in the car were her daughters, Leona and Ellen, her daughter-in-law, Mrs. Frieda Schlemmer, and the granddaughter. The deputy sheriffs were uninjured.

An investigation of the accident was being conducted last night by the Sheriff's office.

The "Pittsburgh stogie" got its name from the Conestoga wagon. In the days when freight was hauled in Conestoga wagons, the freighters smoked thin cigars of native tobacco. These became known as Conestogas, later abbreviated to stogies. [Liberty.

VISIT OF GIRLS LEADS TO ARREST OF PAIR

Jack Norwood, 24 years of age, and Weedon Herschel, 19, of 339 South Figueroa street, were booked last night at the City Jail on suspicion of possessing liquor in violation of the Wright Act and of contributing to the delinquency of minors. Two girls, 17 and 18 years of age, respectively, were turned over to juvenile authorities by the police and later returned to their parents, who are said to live in Hollywood. The arresting officers said they broke open the door of the young men's apartment and found the girls and some liquor there. The officers were called by neighbors who had seen the girls enter, it was said.

ANTS KILL AND DEVOUR GORILLA

No beast of the jungle is a match for the tiny ant when it starts to work in army formation. An English explorer named Burbidge has been in Africa endeavoring to capture a gorilla alive for a zoological garden. He suceeded in this at the risk of his life, having taken a 4-year-old gorilla weighing 126 pounds which would have torn the hunter to shreds if there had not been native help at hand. The animal was overpowered and taken to camp, where it was confined in a cage. It had been there only a few days when Mr. Burbidge went out to feed it one morning and there was nothing in the cage but the skeleton of what was a live gorilla the night before. The explanation was that the ants had attacked the animal, killed it and devoured it during the night.

Aged Musician Expires While Playing Piano

Death displayed an unwonted sense of the appropriate in summoning Francis Grierson, 78 years of age, of 1253 West Thirty-seventh Place, last night. Grierson, a musician and composer, dropped dead while playing his piano, police reported.

Grierson, according to L. M. Conners, with whom he lived, was playing a piece of his own composition when he was stricken.

Burns Received in Scalding Bath Fatal to Child

Burns which she received when she jumped into a tub of scalding water last week at the Adams School, 3677 Orchard street, caused the death yesterday of Ruby Clark, 10 years of age, of Butte, Mont.

The girl, according to police reter and plunged into it when another ter and pluged into it when another child entered her room. She was taken to the California Lutheran Hospital, where she succumbed.

PIGEON TAKES AIRPLANE RIDE

Defying "ejection," a pigeon recently had a free airplane ride from Cairo to Bagdad. As is customary on the naming of an air liner of Imperial Airways, those who perform the ceremony cut a cord releasing white pigeons from the cockpit of the machine. When King Fuad of Egypt named a plane on the Cairo, Karachi line "City of Cairo," one of the released birds returned to the cabin and refused to be "ejected." It, as a result, was a passenger on the journey to Bagdad, and flying out of the cabin at Gaza, where a stop was made, it alighted on the edge of the pilot's cockpit where it remained during the rest of the voyage to Bagdad. Covered with oil and other stains of travel, it thirstily consumed a little water, and returned determinedly to roost in the air liner. The staff at Bagdad have

EDUCATOR'S WIFE DIES IN SEATTLE

President Emeritus of Iowa University Bereft as Mrs. MacBride Succumbs

Mrs. Harriet MacBride, wife of Thomas H. MacBride, president-emeritus of the State University of Iowa, died yesterday in Seattle, according to word received here.

Dr. and Mrs. MacBride have resided in Southern California for the last five years, and have a wide circle of friends here.

No word regarding funeral arrangements has yet been received.

Mrs. MacBride was born in Iowa in 1854 and married MacBride in 1874. In 1878 the MacBrides removed to Iowa City, where the university was then a school of 300 students. They remained there forty-five years.

Mrs. MacBride was active in university and women's club affairs. She leaves her husband and two children.

PRISON SLANG IN TESTIMONY

Among the witnesses at the recent trial at Marseilles, France, of Dr. Bougart, charged with the murder of a cashier named Rumels, whose decomposed body was found in a cupboard of the doctor's home, were a murderer, a forger, thief, receiver of stolen goods, and a swindler. They were fellow-prisoners of Bougart while he was awaiting trial. Prison slang was freely used in testimony, and much of the evidence provoked laughter. The murderer declared several times with unctuous insistence that he was speaking solely in the interest of justice. One Versani, star witness of the prosecution, told of letters the doctor had asked him to write to several persons outside revealing that Rumels had been leading a dissipated life, and had been spending money freely on women.

HONOLULU CAPITALIST VISITS CITY

Walter F. Dillingham Pays Tribute to Southland for Hawaiian Progress

Tribute to the part Southern California is playing in the development of the Hawaiian Islands was paid yesterday by Walter F. Dillingham, Honolulu capitalist and sportsman.

The Islands, he said, are undergoing the greatest boom in their history. Honolulu has a population of 110,000, more than doubling in size since the war. Tourist traffic has increased 100 per cent since 1923. Much of this he attributed to the advertising and publicity efforts of Southern California.

Referring to the plans of the Los Angeles Steamship Company and the Matson line to add the City of Honolulu and the Malolo, respectively, to the island run, Dillingham said:

"Honolulu is awaiting with interest the entrance of these two great liners into traffic with California. We already feel the stimulation occasioned by the faith of the builders of California in her future."

Dillingham, who is a polo player of international reputation, came to the mainland to attend the twenty-fifth anniversary of the Harvard class of '02, which will be held at Cambridge on June 25. While here he will make arrangements for the Honolulu reception of the City of Honolulu, which sails from here on her maiden voyage next Saturday. Walter F. Dillingham & Co. are the Hawaiian representatives of the Los Angeles Steamship Company.

EVANGELIST POSTPONES SECOND TRIP

Mrs. McPherson Will Not Leave Until Thursday on Evangelistic Tour

Departure of Aimee Semple McPherson, Angelus Temple pastor, on her second evangelistic tour, which was scheduled for today, has been delayed until Thursday, she announced last night. She will remain in Los Angeles to assist Mr. Roberts of Indianapolis, who will fill the temple pulpit in her absence, for the few intervening days

The first stop Mrs. McPherson will make will be in Chicago. The meetings will be conducted there for three weeks, during which time a definite itinerary will be decided on. Members of the party will include Miss Emma Shaffer, Mrs. McPherson's secretary; Miss Mae Waldron and a quartet composed of temple musicians.

AN AMERICAN GOES HOME

Many American small towns are proud enough of the boys who have grown rich or famous in remote big cities. Few, however, turn out to a man, as did the 2500 inhabitants of Ricse, Hungary, to greet Adolph Zukor, the film magnate, upon his return to his native village. He has enriched the little place with new buildings and kept his old friends aware of his loyalty. His rise to power, like that of so many emigrants from obscure European hamlets, savors of the miraculous, even in this day of many miracles.—[Boston Post.

There's a Charming Home For You Here

Cozy bungalows worthy of June brides—

Roomy houses to accommodate large families—

Suburban homes built for freedom and rest—

Where else but in Los Angeles is it so inviting to live?

Prospective home-buyers need look no further than the real estate columns of Times Want Ads to pick out nice homes. All types are here—all prices—and convenient terms.

WANT-AD RATES

Effective January 1st, 1927

Rates per line insertion. 30 consecutive times 21c Daily 27c Sunday; 7 to 29 consecutive times 22c Daily 28c Sunday; 2 to 6 consecutive times 24c Daily 30c Sunday; ONE TIME 24c Daily 40c Sunday.

SITUATIONS WANTED. 7 or more consecutive times 16c Daily 19c Sunday; 2 to 6 consecutive times 17c Daily 20c Sunday; ONE TIME 24c Daily 27c Sunday. Advertisements for the subheadings "PAINTING, DECORATING, CARPENTERING," "DRESSMAKERS & SEAMSTRESSES" and "NURSES" are not classified as Situations Wanted Advertising and will be charged for at the General Want-Ad Rates 24c Daily and 40c Sunday.

"NOTICES OF SPECIAL INTEREST," "SOCIETY MEETINGS," "PERSONALS," "SPECIAL NOTICES," "STOCKS AND BONDS," "STREET IMPROVEMENT BONDS," "MONEY TO LOAN—DIAMONDS & JEWELRY," "PHYSICIANS," "MEDICAL," "SANATORIUMS" and "BATHS & MASSAGE." 30 consecutive times 23c Daily 31c Sunday; 7 to 29 consecutive times 27c Daily 33c Sunday; 2 to 6 consecutive times 30c Daily 38c Sunday; ONE TIME 42c Daily 50c Sunday.

To estimate the cost of want ads count 6 average words per line. Words containing more than 8 letters should be counted as two words.

Advertisers should retain receipts given by The Times for payment of Want Ads, as no mistakes will be rectified without them.

Cancellation of advertisements before appearance cannot be guaranteed to take effect until after the advertisements have appeared once. Countermands must be received by 5:30 p.m. for daily issue and 4 p.m. Friday for Sunday Times.

Rates for display advertising will be furnished on request.

The Times will not be responsible for more than one incorrect insertion of any advertisement ordered for more than one time.

The inadvertent omission or incorrect publishing of advertising will be rectified only by cancellation of the charge made for the service rendered.

EPISODE 47
WHILE TOM RISK IS PREPARING TO ADMINISTER A SOUND THRASHING TO JACK SNIPE, THE ESCAPED CONVICT, WHOM HE CAPTURED AFTER A SENSATIONAL CHASE THRU THE HILLS, LET US SEE WHAT THE TALKATIVE SPINSTER, MISS FORTUNE IS UP TO WITH HER TROUBLE-MAKING TONGUE—
THERE'S SOMETHIN' MIGHTY MYSTERIOUS GOIN' ON AROUND HERE, MRS. SMITH! WHY DID THAT MAN CLIMB IN NELL SHIELDS'S WINDOW? WHY DID SHE NURSE HIM AN' TAKE CARE OF HIM FOR OVER TEN DAYS? WHO IS HE?
I DON'T KNOW! I BIN SO BUSY TAKIN' CARE OF HANK, I AINT HAD TIME TO THINK ABOUT MUCH ELSE!
WELL, I'VE THOUGHT A LOT ABOUT IT, BUT I CAN'T GET A WORD EDGEWISE OUT OF HER FATHER, THE SHERIFF— AN' NOW THIS SELF-SAME STRANGER IS ALLOWED TO RIDE THE RANGE WITH HIS DAUGHTER!
IT SEEMS TO ME THAT A DECENT AN' RESPECTABLE COMMUNITY LIKE WILDCAT IS ENTITLED TO KNOW SOMETHIN' ABOUT THEM THAT COMES HERE AN' STAYS! BY THE WAY HOW IS YOUR HUSBAND GETTIN' ON?
OH, HANK'S MUCH BETTER NOW—
THE DOCTOR SAYS HE CAN GET OUT TO-DAY FOR A LITTLE WALK, BUT HE'S BIN POWERFUL ILL WITH THE "LA GRIPPY" EVER SINCE HE WAS DRENCHED TO THE SKIN CHASIN' THAT AWFUL CONVICT!!!
MEANWHILE NELL SHIELDS DECIDES TO WALK DOWN MAIN ST. AND SEE IF ANYONE HAS ANY NEWS OF TOM AND HER DAD'S POSSE—
I'M SO WORRIED I CAN'T STAY IN THE HOUSE A SECOND LONGER!
DON'T MISS "THE FIGHT" HERE TOMORROW

TROJAN SENIORS AT CEREMONIES

Baccalaureate Services for June Class Impressive

Southland University Head Addresses Students

Tribute Paid to Huntington and Capt. Lindbergh

With one of the most impressive ceremonies attending graduation, baccalaureate services for the June class of the University of Southern California were conducted yesterday afternoon in the Coliseum.

The Trojan seniors were clad in cap and gown as they marched into the bowl in double lines with the faculty between. But as they marched out to the stirring strains of the recessional, the scene was transformed into a blaze of color by the bright scarlet, blue, yellow, purple and white linings of their hoods, worn as a symbol of graduation from the various colleges.

Greater emphasis upon creed rather than deed was urged by President Von KleinSmid in delivering his baccalaureate address to the students.

VON KLEINSMID SPEAKS

"It is not so important to know what a man does, as what he thinks," said Dr. Von KleinSmid. "Most of the great blessings that we have in the world today are the result of thinking. Progress is marked not so much by what men and women acquire as by the influence they exert.

"In politics, in creed, there are many who have no reasons for their faith. The time has come when we must decide political and other questions not on the basis of immediate reaction, but of the ultimate good.

"I trust the college men and women of today to bring to the world not only good deeds and acts, but a philosophy of life which shall hold us steady."

President Von KleinSmid paid tribute to Capt. Lindbergh and to the memory of the late Henry E. Huntington. In referring to Mr. Huntington, he said:

TRIBUTE TO HUNTINGTON

"In recalling the simple, kindly thoughts, the love of humanity expressed by this man, in conversations with this man, it can only be felt that there was a man with a creed.

"We shall remember him not only as an alumnus of the University of Southern California, who gave great treasures of art and literature to the public, treasures which only a man powerful in the financial world could have given, but also a man who bestowed upon us a great wealth of kindly thoughts."

The Trojan Band headed the procession into the stadium, followed by the graduating seniors with their standard bearers and marshals leading. After them came the faculty, deans of the twelve schools and colleges, and finally the president's party, with President Emeritus George Finley Bovard and President Von KleinSmid.

PROCESSION LEADERS

Henry Oudermeulin, class president, and Miss Eloise Parks, vice-president, led the march of the senior class. Prof. William La Porte was chief marshal. Among the student marshals were Reva Hawkins of the college of music, Al Behrendt, Lee Conti, Arthur Syvertson, Mary Jane Rogers, Frank H. Badin of the school of architecture; Eleanor Veale of the school of speech, Moody Kilgore of the school of social welfare, Henry Oudermeulin of the college of liberal arts, Donald Bailey of the school of education, Don Edin, college of commerce, and Katheleen Campbell of the graduate school.

The seniors sat in a solid body in the west end of the bowl, flanked by a large crowd of relatives and friends.

HOW FATHER TRIED HIS SON'S MANHOOD

One of the most unusual wills ever written is described by Hugh Fullerton in an article in Liberty. "Only recently," Fullerton writes, "a very wealthy man came to a New York trust company to arrange a will. He wanted his son to have a stated allowance until his twenty-fourth year, and to leave him absolutely without income from his twenty-fourth to his thirty-fifth year.

"The boy was in college," the writer explains, "was showing inclination toward wildness and the father's desire was that he be compelled to earn his own way, without any income to fall back upon, for ten years.

"The experiment seemed to the bankers to be quite as dangerous as it was radical," Fullerton continues. "They urged that the father provide a small income, just enough to keep the boy from want or provide for him in case of sickness, but the father said: 'I had no such protection. Let him work it out for himself and see wh[illegible]r he is a man or not.'"

[illegible]BABY'S MILK VITAMINS

The nutritive value of certain foodstuffs, including milk, from the standpoint of their value in the prevention treatment of rickets, can be considerably increased by exposure to the radiations of ultra-violet lamps, says a foreign authority on the subject. In Germany, and, to a less extent, in this country, the treatment is being carried out with irradiated milk. If the irradiated milk forms the chief part of their food, the children will receive an inadequate supply of vitamin A, and may therefore show the retarded growth and lowered resistance due to insufficiency of this substance in the dietary.

Milk which has been exposed to the radiations of a mercury vapor lamp for as short a time as five minutes not only becomes unpalatable, in that it acquires an unpleasant, tallowy odor, but suffers chemical changes highly undesirable from the standpoint of nutrition. Of these, one is the destruction of vitamin.

NO WARMTH IN MOONBEAMS

The amount of heat received by the earth from the moon in a whole year is about equal to that received directly fro mthe sun in about thirteen seconds. Lunar heat is simply reflected solar heat, and moonlight is simply reflected sunlight. The moon has no heat or light of its own to radiate.

FOREIGN BEAUTIES INVADE CITY

One Comes to See, the Other to be Seen

Roberte Cusey and Marie Cassajuana

MISS MARIE CASSAJUANA, declared the most beautiful daughter of all Castile, arrived in Los Angeles last night after having represented Spain in the international pageant of pulchritude at Galveston and captured third position. Accompanying her was Miss Roberte Cusey, Parisian mannekin, who represented France and won seventh position in the pageant.

Both young ladies are 20 years of age and Miss Spain, a native of Barcelona, is here to join the Hollywood film colony, being under a five-year contract with the Fox Film Corporation as a result of a number of film tests made by that corporation in Spain. She explained last evening, through an interpreter, that she had been a stenographer in Barcelona where her salary was a trifle less than $25 monthly and—without her Fox compensation being named—evidenced surprise at the elaborate salaries paid in the United States. She explained that in her native land this country, and especially the film colony, is looked upon as a land of gold with salaries that to the ordinary Spaniard appears preposterous.

Miss Cusey, whose mother is a member of the party, is making a visit to Southern California and Hollywood in order that she may repeat to her friends in Paris the wonders of this portion of the world. She said she had no screen aspirations but was curious to see how the films are made.

GLACIER PARK RUSH SEEN

Road and Trail Development Program to Open Inaccessible Scenic Spots

GLACIER PARK (Mont.) May 29. (Exclusive)—A Greater Glacier Park is in the making, according to the plans of Uncle Sam in sending J. Ross Eakin back to his old stamping grounds to again take up the administrative work as superintendent of this Rocky Mountain tourist playground region.

Mr. Eakin, who has been in charge of the Grand Canyon National Park since 1924, replaces Mr. C. J. Kraebel who has entered the forestry service.

The National Parks Service is preparing this season for the greatest tourist travel in the history of Glacier Park and Mr. Eakin, who served in France during the World War in the Engineering division, is selected to take complete charge of a comprehensive road and trail development program that will open some hitherto inaccessible scenic spots in the heart of the Rocky Mountain range.

He has been on the job since April 21, and announces that despite unusually heavy snows during the past winter, all roads and trails will be in excellent shape for the opening of the season, June 15. He engineered the building of some difficult trails in the Grand Canyon and now has been brought back to Glacier National Park on account of his experience in mountain trail work.

The new superintendent said: "We have ample funds to put all trails in first class condition. A constructive trail program has been adapted which insures that all existing trails will be rebuilt and the new ones constructed to the highest standard. Among the most important of the new trails will be one from Ptarmigan Lake to Belly River which will shorten the distance from Many Glacier Hotel to Belly River by nine miles, and the continuation of the famous Garden Wall trail from Granite Park chalets to Flat Top Mountain.

"Arrangements have been made with the United States Bureau of Fisheries for a more systematic stocking of the hundreds of lakes and streams and fishing, which always has been excellent, should be even better."

AUTOMOBILES HELP HORSES' COME-BACK

Within the last ten years there has been an increase of nearly 50 per cent in the number of horse shows in the United States and the number of both exhibitors and entries is greater by far even than in the days when a buggy ride was a treat and there were no motor cars.

In 1893, when every vehicle in the streets of New York was drawn by horses, there were 137 exhibitors with entries in the New York horse show. Last year there were 175 exhibitors with horses entered in the national horse show.

Galloping across the continent for another example of this growth brings us to Los Angeles, where $35,000 in prizes were divided among the exhibitors last winter. In 1925 there were 222 horses exhibited in the arena of that show; in 1926 there were 246 horses This year there were 276 horses shown and about a dozen of them had been shipped out there from Philadelphia. This increase is believed to be a fair index of the growth of interest in show horses in all parts of the country, writes Boyden Sparkes in the Saturday Evening Post.

The type of the hundreds of new exhibitors who have made it possible for the country to support so many new shows is a man who apparently determined to adopt this expensive hobby after attending one show. He paid $7000 for a fairly good show horse and then revealed at one of the big eastern shows that his fancy had been captured by a gray horse which became more than just a horse after it had been ridden and complimented a few times by the Prince of Wales during his last visit to America.

"What's the price of that horse?" he asked in the tone of one who has recently sold half a dozen public utilities.

The owner lifted an eyebrow resentfully and said over his shoulder "$10,000," and then kept on walking, satisfied that he had put an impertinent busybody in his place. But he stopped short when he heard: "I'll take him."

A few transactions of that sort have served to help bring about a recrudescence of an animal that was popularly supposed a few years ago to be jogging onward to join in oblivion the dinosaur, the brontosaurus and the dodo.

As a matter of fact, motor cars, by enabling persons who make their living in cities to live in the country, have been accelerating the demand for horses, which is fair enough in view of what motor cars previously have done to these creatures that were once all-important to mankind.

LONDON'S ICE RINKS

London has an ice skating rink. Hitherto if one wanted to skate one had to go all the way to Manchester. Now Londoners are happy. Rare indeed is the English winter that permits skating upon natural ice, so this new pleasure ground is a great novelty, and such a sensation did its recent opening produce that, it is reported, one of the entrance doors was burst open by the throng waiting to get in.

The Englishman is nothing if not optimistic—with a keen sense of irony for seasoning, as some one once pointed out. Londoners would like very much to be able to go skating on the Thames, but since that is not possible they flock to their rink and have a jolly time.—[New York Times.

LESSON DIDN'T TAKE

Willie returned very proudly from his first day at school, and his father asked him what he had been taught.

He replied, "Teacher taught us how to say 'Yes, ma'm' and 'No, sir.'"

"Is that so!"

"Yep."—[Worcester Post.

NEW INQUIRY IN ENSIGN'S DEATH

Naval Investigation Will Be Resumed Wednesday

McShane Mystery to Yield Added Developments

Mother Determined to Carry on Her Own Queries

The second naval court of inquiry into the mysterious death of Ensign Julian J. McShane, Jr., descendant of a prominent Virginia family, whose body was found floating in the harbor at Wilmington last October, officially will be reopened here next Wednesday with the arrival of the U.S.S. Tennessee from San Francisco and Puget Sound, it was elarned definitely last night.

The new inquiry, which was ordered by Secretary of the Navy Wilbur after young McShane's mother had expressed disbelief that her son had died an accidental death, may result in unexpected developments, representatives of Mrs. McShane here believe.

INQUIRY PUSHED

Since the death of her son, the mother, although residing in Ellicott City, Md., retained Attorneys Lawrence W. Frankley and Joseph A. Spray here, and is understood to have ordered an exhaustive investigation of the circumstances surrounding the young ensign's death. In this connection, it was learned that Frankley and Spray employed the services of P. W. Mohan, head of the private detective agency bearing his name and former Burns agency manager.

Although Secretary Wilbur ordered the second inquiry some time ago, naval officers aboard the Tennessee persistently have refused to discuss the case since, other than to admit that the second court of inquiry would convene when the ship arrived at San Pedro At San Francisco, Capt. Stone, in command of the warship, again refused to comment on possible developments, dispatches from the northern city stated.

RESUME OF CASE

On the night of October 8, 1926, the officers of the Tennessee gave a dancing party at the California Yacht Club at Wilmington. The party broke up about 12:30 a.m. on October 9. McShane, about that time, borrowed $25 from two junior officers telling them that he intended to stay ashore. According to testimony given at the first court of inquiry, he was seen last on the yacht club grounds just as the party was breaking up.

At approximately 4:15 o'clock of the same morning, Orville Pate, night watchman on a pier directly west of the yacht club, discovered a young man leaning against a shed in a dazed condition. Pate testified that the man he saw was bloody about the head, his clothing was disarranged and his shoes untied. He refused to answer Pate's questions, however, other than to say he wanted to get to his ship, which he refused to name.

On October 11, a diving squad from the Tennessee fished McShane's body from the water at the upper end of Berth 191, a short distance from where Pate talked to the mysterious stranger. The night watchman since has declared that he does not believe that the man to whom he talked was McShane, but someone with whom McShane may have struggled.

INTIMATIONS MADE

The first naval court of inquiry, however, despite the unusual testimony, announced a finding that McShane apparently had fallen accidentally into the water and was drowned. The boy's mother, however, is known to have formed an opinion opposed to the findings and intimations were made that the Navy was trying to "cover up" the case.

At the hearing to open Wednesday, it is understod that Attorneys Frankley and Spray will be allowed to be present and to cross-question witnesses on various points on which the mother wishes further knowledge. Furthermore, it has been learned that several new witnesses may be called and their testimony is expected to open several new angles of the case.

Whether the naval authorities will hold an open court could not be ascertained yesterday, but it is believed that under the circumstances a resume of the testimony may be released.

COTTON DRESSES AS GRADUATION GARB

Some weeks before the date set for school graduation, mothers and daughters must make their plans for the dress that it to be worn on the great occasion. The main problem is to decide on some material that will be dainty and appropriate and at the same time useful all summer. It must not be unduly expensive, for girls outgrow much of their clothing at this age. Many schools specify very definitely that cotton dresses must be worn, in order to direct attention toward simple clothes and to assume complete democracy on graduation day. Common sense and good taste in any case indicate cotton fabrics as the most suitable, taking into consideration the youth of the graduates and the time of the year. Even when the exercises take place in the evening, as at many high schools, the United States Department of Agriculture suggests that there are a number of sheer and dainty cotton materials to choose from, and that graduation dresses made from any of these can be used later for party frocks. They include organdy, voile, batiste, dotted swiss, point d'esprit and net. All these fabrics lend themselves well to ruffles and gathered styles. After graduation a colored slip may be used instead of a white one, if preferred, and other touches of color introduced by means of a sash or shoulder flower. Some of the new lustrous rayon chiffons or rayon and cotton fabrics may be permitted for the older girls being graduated from high school.

Some schools decide on a sport type of graduation dress. For this purpose a very good, newly revived cotton material is wide wale pique Broadcloth, cotton suiting, cotton crepe, poplin, madras, gabardine and galatea are all good fabrics for use in one or two-piece dresses which will look smart and trim on graduation day and later serve throughout the summer for out-of-doors wear The great advantage in using cotton fabrics of any sort for graduation is that after the occasion has passed the dress may be laundered repeatedly and may thus be a valuable addition to the girl's summer wardrobe.—[Exchange.
